Eagles:

Twenty-five candidates are to be initiated at a ceremonial to be held by the Alvarado Aerie of Eagles tonight. The Fruitvale Aerie will have charge of the initiations and the affair is to be followed by a ball for the members of the organization and their families. The Fruitvale Aerie is to bring their drill team, which will give an exhibition during the evening. Box lunches are to be auctioned and refreshments will be served by the local aerie.

The Oakland Tribune, August 5, 1929

Alvarado Water:

The recent purchase by the Alameda County Water Company of 334 acres of land in Alvarado, the water pumping plant, a water pipeline from Alvarado to San Lorenzo and the water distribution system of Alvarado, Mt. Eden and Newark from EBMUD (The East Bay Municipal Utilities District) is hoped to have a positive effect on the usage of water pumped from the Alvarado water basin. The underground water table below Alvarado is becoming depleted and salt water is starting to intrude into our fresh water underground supply. The thirty years of unabated pumping of water from Alvarado is starting to show.

The Oakland Tribune, September 6, 1929

Little Tiajuana:

"Little Tiajuana," capable small brother of that brilliant spot across the border, has again flared into activity after a long period of suppression and is causing county officials to cast speculative glances in the general direction of Alvarado. This is the declaration of the operatives of the district attorney's office who have just made liquor raids in the miniature "Tiajuana" and who assess that a restless stirring in the sportive circles there is evidence of an eruption unless curbed quickly.

The most recent raid netted Frank Gama, 30, operating a hotel with which a boot legging operation was combined. He pleaded guilty to possession and sentenced to 250 days in the county jail.

Operation of the Alvarado sugar mill and employment of many men in the orchards and fields of this district are responsible for growing activity in "Little Tiajuana," according to sheriff's deputies.

Sugar:

The Holly Sugar Company is expecting to manufacture and ship about 400,000 sacks of sugar at its Alvarado factory during the fall season now underway. A trainload of beets from the North Bay districts is going to the plant daily by way of Oakland. Beets from the Mt. Eden vicinity also are being received by the factory.

The Hayward Review, September 21, 1929

Bandits Fail at Robbery:

At least two unsuccessful attempts are believed to have been made by bandits to hold up motorists Saturday night just outside Alvarado. In each case reported to the officer something of value was placed beside the road to lure motorists to stop and pick it up.

One motorist reported that a set of automobile tools had been laid out by the side of the road. When he turned around and went back to get the tools he caught a glimpse of two men who were hiding in the bushes by the side of the road. Another motorist reported that he saw a shotgun lying on the side of the road at the same spot where the car tools were set out.

New Branch Bank:

Conference rooms of the beautiful new home of the Niles Branch of Bank of Alameda County have been placed at the disposal of the Niles Chamber of Commerce courtesy of the President of the bank, Mr. August May of Alvarado. The new building is an attractive modern design, which gives it a distinctly metropolitan flair.

The Hayward Review, October 5, 1929

Sugar:

Construction by the Holly Sugar Corporation of a million dollar sugar beet factory in the territory of Disappointment Slough, San Joaquin County, will be undertaken as a result of the interstate commerce commission decision today, authorizing the Western Pacific Railroad to build a three-mile branch connecting with its main line at Harte, near Stockton, and running westerly to a point on Disappointment Slough.

The factory will have a daily capacity of 1,000 tons of sugar and is expected to result in the development on an extensive scale of the existing sugar beet industry in that area. The Holly

Sugar Corp. now operates factories at Alvarado and Tracy and at various points in Colorado, Wyoming and Montana.

Marriage:

Many people attended the wedding of Miss Lena A. Bernard of Hayward and Edward Vargas of Alvarado, which was celebrated at the All Saints Church on D Street in Hayward. Eva Mendoncia and Alfred Bernard, both of Hayward, were bridesmaid and best man. They will honeymoon in Los Angeles and will reside in Alvarado.

The Oakland Tribune, October 13, 1929

Light rains that fell last week brought hope for an early winter in the Newark section who have had to abandon their crops because of the low water level throughout this section of the county. Although the East Bay Municipal Utilities District has reduced its pumping from the Alvarado plant, due to the bringing in of the Mokulumne project, the water below the Niles fault is the lowest it has been in many years.

Many of the wells in the Newark vicinity have had to be abandoned because salt water is seeping into them. A number of ranchers have gone to the expense of sinking their wells to lower levels but the Alameda County Water District is advising against this as the district is taking over the properties which have been supplying water to the principal east bay cities. The wells are to be shut down and the winter rains are expected to raise the water level to normal.

Young Couple Terrorized:

Nick Traller, 26, of Livermore, was beaten to death and his girl companion, Ella Hibbs, 22, was slugged and brutally attacked by a mysterious assailant early this morning on a lonely road three miles south of Hayward in the Alvarado area in one of the most fiendish crimes ever committed in Alameda County. The girl, badly hurt and hysterical told several conflicting stories to detectives, denying the man who attacked her, a Negro, had attacked her.

Later, Miss Hibbs told the deputies that she has submitted to the attention of the attacker to save the life of her companion, only to have the thug break his promise and brutally bludgeon her companion to death. He then slugged her and she feigned death and managed to stay alive.

Screaming and hysterical Miss Hibbs staggered to the home of James Nesbitt, rancher on the Halvern Road (Later, Alquire Road, and then Dyer/Industrial Parkway) at 5 o'clock this morning.

The attack took place on the property of Fred Wiegman, well known Alvarado Rancher and dairyman. They have several leads on the assailant but he is not yet in custody.

The Oakland Tribune, January 19, 1930

Speed Demon Caught:

Gilpin's famous ride was duplicated on the highway between Mt. Eden and Alvarado late Friday afternoon, to the considerable alarm of all automobile drivers who chanced to be motoring peacefully along that seven-mile road. Dr. E.J. Lauber, of San Leandro, in his new automobile, enacted the role of John Gilpin at a speed reported at 87 miles per hour. According to the arresting officer, Dr. Lauber charged through Mt. Eden at a terrific rate of speed, passing the officer like a streak of greased lightning. As the officer gave chase the San Leandro doctor plunged down the road, forcing many motorists off of the pavement and dodging in and out of traffic. Two young women were also in Dr. Lauber's car.

The Oakland Tribune, February 25, 1930

Mrs. Sophie May Dies:

Last rites were held today for Mrs. Sophie May 87, Alameda Resident and philanthropist, who died Saturday after an illness of several weeks. Mrs. May came to California at the age of 18 years by the way of the Isthmus of Panama. She arrived in the Bay area by sailing ship in 1861, just as the Civil War was declared.

Soon after her arrival in San Francisco she met and married August May, who had preceded her from Germany by three years. The couple established their home in Alvarado. Mrs. May was actively engaged in charitable work in conjunction with the Lutheran Church of Alameda. She is survived by four grown children: August May Jr., President of the Bank of Alameda County and a resident of Alvarado; George B. May, San Jose; Henry May of Decoto and Mrs. Bertha S. Meyers, wife of Henry H. Meyers, Alameda County Architect.

Alvarado the Key to W.T. Water Problem:

Cyril Williams, of Oakland, engineer for the Alameda County Water District will explain details of the gravel beds and the underground reservoirs of this section in an effort to show that the purchase of the pumping rights at Alvarado owned by the East Bay Municipal Utilities District is the only way through which the water supply problem of Washington Township can be solved. At a special election to be held March 28th, voters of this section will be asked to approve a bond issue of $250,000 for the purchase of these pumping rights.

The Oakland Tribune, February 25, 1930

Retailer's Credit Association of Alameda County:

About 45 Hayward merchants attended the annual banquet of the Hayward Branch of the Retailer's Credit Association Alameda County at the Green Shutter Hotel Friday night, at which a keynote of high business optimism for 1930 was sounded repeatedly.

Several of the leading merchants in Hayward were optimistic regarding business conditions and the expansion of the Retailer's Credit Association. Jack Boyd, speaking on behalf of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce, said an organization such as this association has been needed in Washington Township for years.

The Hayward Review, March 1, 1930

Water:

Member of the Alameda County Water District, the territory of which includes the southern end of the county, Niles, Centerville and Warm Springs, hope to conserve the subterranean water supply in that area through the popular vote in a bond election to be held March 28th. The proposed bond issue is $250,000 and its purpose is buy 17 wells of commercial water companies.

Cyril Williams, engineer of the water district, said that the water in farmer's wells had been lowered by 40 feet since 1915 because of the pumping of the company wells. The East Bay Municipal Utility District already has stopped pumping from its wells at Roberts Landing, thus releasing about 4,500,000 gallons of water for use for agricultural purposes. The company is understood to have agreed to stop pumping at its Alvarado wells if the bond issue for purchase of the wells passes.

The total capacity of all the wells is about 13,000,000 gallons daily. This amount the district's farmers hope to have for irrigation. A meeting of the water district officials Saturday afternoon was to complete final plans for the bond election. J.C. Shinn of Niles is president of the district.

False Alarms:

Six Alvarado Grammar School pupils were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Allen Norris yesterday on a charge of malicious mischief. Their offense had been throwing the town into a state of excitement through an experiment with the fire alarm. They contended they did not know what the bell was for and merely wanted to make a noise. They were released after Judge Norris explained that he usually gave terms in San Quentin prison for second offenses of turning in a false alarm.

Alvarado Prosperous:

At one community in the United States has been found where the current "depression" has not been felt. That place is Alvarado. According to bank officials, merchants and citizens generally, business is good. There is little or no unemployment, and the farmers are doing well. This happy condition is due; it is agreed, to the fact that the community and region have long been one of the most prosperous in Alameda County.

Sugar:

The largest output of beet sugar in the history of the Alvarado sugar plant is reported by the officials of the Holly Sugar Co. refinery in Alvarado, which started its seasonal run in August. Some 200 persons are employed, and the daily production is about 4,000 100-pound sacks of sugar a day.

The facilities of the plant have been improved with the recent addition of a beet unloading conveyor, a new evaporator, and other new machinery. A new warehouse has also been built and the plant is now served by a new spur line, installed by the Western Pacific Railroad.

Enough beets are in prospect to warrant the plant continuing operations for three months, bringing the season to a close about January 1st, according to officials.

The Story of Mt. Eden:

Another version of how Mount Eden received its name was given here yesterday by E. H. Clawiter, pioneer resident of Alameda County. Struck by the beauty of the flowery green fields and the blue bay in the distance, the first settlers called the region "Eden," and because of an Indian mound near where the community now stands, bestowed the prefix "Mound," Mr. Clawiter related.

The second step in the evolution of the name, he said, came more than a half century ago when settlers at Alvarado, forced to take to boats because of a flood, sought refuge in the vicinity of Mt. Eden. "This is not a mound, but a mount," they exclaimed and "Mound Eden" soon became known as "Mount Eden."

The old Indian mound, covering about an acre of land and about 10 feet high is located on Mr. Clawiter's farm. From it, when he was a boy, he unearthed two Indian mortars and a number of pestles and arrowheads. He has kept the mortars over the years and they are said to be perfect examples of Indian stone-art.

Mr. Clawiter was born in Alvarado in 1852. His father conducted one of the first stores in the region. He traded with the ranchers for meat for which he found a ready market in San Francisco, and for marketing purposes kept a boat and employed a man to operate it.

Mr. Clawiter related that the Indians once yearly journeyed from the mountains to spend a season on the bay shore digging clams and gathering salt. The various mounds, which they left, he points out, no doubt were favored campsites, and were built up through the years.

Editors Note:

The Clawiter's were a prominent Mt. Eden family that originally settled in Alvarado. In 1851 the Clawiter's gave birth to the first white child in Union City, Union Clawiter. In the following year they added a son Edward (E. H. Clawiter). By 1860 they had established themselves in Mt. Eden.

Dummy Keyboards:

A new system of teaching the piano keyboard has been introduced in the local grammar school by Charlotte Huntley Foster, instructor in vocal music in township schools with the assistance of the boys in the manual training class. A silent keyboard of standard length containing both black and white keys was constructed for practice purposes. After the pupils have mastered the dummy keyboard, they are graduated to the silent keyboard made in the shop. The result is that they players are able to play simple tunes before they are given an opportunity to practice on a real piano. In this way other classes in the school are not disturbed by the practice.

Memory Lapse Aids Prisoner:

Raymond V. Turner, involved in a Post Office robbery at Alvarado, won a two-month reduction in his jail sentence today because Federal Judge Frank Kerrigan's memory slipped a cog. Although Turner and his "pal" Michael Saulter were not directly involved in the robbery, it was shown that Saulter signed the government checks stolen from the post office and Turner passed them. They were captured in Seattle and brought back here for trial.

Judge Kerrigan today sentenced Turner to ten months in jail and Saulter to one year. Joseph O'Connor protested at the difference in time imposed. But, said Judge Kerrigan, Turner furnished the government with valuable information, which deserves consideration. On the contrary, O'Connor said, it was Saulter who did that. After a moment's thought Judge Kerrigan agreed that he had made a mistake and reduced Saulter's sentence to ten months.

Auto Crash Claims Two:

Two men were killed in an auto crash at Niles Road and Orchard Avenue about one quarter south of Hayward yesterday afternoon.

James Logan, 65, of Alvarado and James Cleveland Whipple, 51, prominent Decoto farmer, drove a light coupe into a gravel truck driven by Robert a Roach of Oakland. Mr. Whipple is believed to have been killed instantly, while Mr. Logan died at the Hayward Hospital about 6 o'clock, three hours after the accident. They had been returning from a fishing trip.

Logan is believed to have dozed at the wheel of his car. It shot across the four-lane highway striking the truck and pushing the front wheel and axle back against its body. The coupe was telescoped in fearful fashion, both men being caught in the seat, crushed and deeply cut by the wreckage.

Mr. Whipple was a school trustee of the Decoto School District and a native of California. His wife, Edith, and three sons survive him. He was a member of the Centerville Masonic Lodge.

Mr. Logan was the newly elected trustee of Washington Union High School of Centerville and survived by his wife Rebecca, six sons, five daughters, and two sisters, Mrs. Maggie Fyffe and Mrs. Martha Kerr. He also was a member of the Centerville Masonic Lodge and of the Crusade Lodge of the Odd Fellows in Alvarado.

Sour Milk:

"Beet top milk" is the latest nuisance to invade the local milk market, according to City Milk Inspector R. L. Griffith today.

Last year, certain cows got into the garlic fields and the local milk inspection bureau was busy tracing the source of the milk, which was totally unpalatable because of its strong garlic flavor. In the previous year, dairyman fed raw tomatoes to their cows because of lack of water, and this produced "tomato milk" which was also unpalatable.

This year Griffith said that some of the dairyman at Newark, Centerville and Alvarado are feeding beet tops to their cows. The beet tops are often old and form a sour mash which the cows like, he said, but the milk from these cows is more bitter and unpalatable than even the tomato or garlic milk.

The Oakland milk inspectors are now striving to keep the producers of "beet top milk" out of the local market until after the cows have recovered from the beet orgy.

Niles Right of Way:

The Niles Chamber of Commerce and the board of supervisors are marking time while Earl Warren is deciding what action is advisable to procure the right-of-way through the California Nursery property which will permit the extension of First Street to make a direct connection between Niles and Alvarado. The extension will eliminate two sharp curves, an underpass and a grade crossing.

Through efforts of the Niles Chamber of Commerce, a right-of-way was procured and First Street extended through to the south line of the nursery property where it is now dead-ended. Efforts of the civic body and the Board of Supervisors to procure the remainder of the right-of-way have been futile.

The Oakland Tribune, December 8, 1931

Mosquito Abatement:

Extensive dredging operations are soon to commence in the salt ponds near Russell City and Alvarado it was announced today by the Alameda County Mosquito Abatement District. A contract was let this week to Paris Brothers Construction Company of Berkeley for clearing the ponds as part of the work of mosquito eradication work of the district.

It involves digging 7½ miles of ditches and excavation of 24,000 cubic yards of earth. Work is to begin in two weeks, and will be done by draglines. The contract price is $3,489.

The salt marshes include an abandoned salt-works southwest of Russell City and a duck pond west of Alvarado. Both are the properties of Leslie Salt Company. Excavation and drainage of the marshes are calculated to eliminate breeding places of mosquitoes.

The Hayward Daily Review, December 26, 1931

Flood:

Roads are blocked; creeks overflowed their banks and a large section in the vicinity of Hayward and throughout Southern Alameda County were flooded during the heavy downpour of Saturday and Sunday.

Seven inches of rain have fallen in the past week, the records of the high school weather bureau show. Since Saturday morning 3.8 inches have descended in this vicinity. Ashland, Tennyson and Valle Vista were largely under water. Reports from Alvarado indicated that Alameda Creek had overflowed its shallow course and that the surrounding country was a veritable sea.

The Oakland Tribune, December 28, 1931

Flood:

High water between Russell City and Alvarado is preventing the Oakland to San Jose Southern Pacific trains from getting through and they must be rerouted through Hayward and Niles.

At Alvarado a levee was broken, flooding the countryside and washing out the Alquire Road (today's Dyer Road) and the Nursery Road (Alvarado-Niles Road) between Alvarado and Niles. These roads were dangerous but passable.

Deportations Face Alvaradan's:

Having heard the Justice of the Peace Allen G. Norris announce last week he was determined to stamp out lawlessness in the Mexican quarter of Alvarado, even if it means resorting to deportation. Valderino Gonzalez will face Judge Norris tomorrow on a felony charge of violating the alien gun law.

Carlos Ramirez and Tony Quiroz were given 60 days in the county jail last week when they pleaded guilty to a charge of attacking Night Patrolman John Bates and taking Gonzales away from Bates after he had been placed under arrest.

Judge Norris of Centerville and Justice of the Peace A. J. Silva have joined forces in an effort to create respect for the law in the new "Little Tiajuana" in Alvarado.

Murder Charge Dropped:

Having been postponed many times during the past two years to give county authorities and opportunity to apprehend him, the murder charges against Guadalupe Gomes was dropped from the calendar of the local justice court yesterday, upon the recommendation of Deputy District Attorney Harry Styles. However, Judge J. A. Silva made the notation that the case was being dropped and is "to be reset."

Gomes is alleged to have murdered Jesus Heredia, an attendant in an Alvarado poolroom, in November 1929. Carmen La Gardo and Pedro Pineda, both of Oakland and companions of Gomes, were arrested and held in jail for several months. Later they were released under heavy bail as material witnesses. Gomes fled across the Mexican border. He was located and while extradition papers were being prepared he fled into the mountains and has not been seen since.

Alvarado Unhealthy:

Apparently harboring the opinion that the atmosphere of Alvarado is becoming too "unhealthy," several Mexican families are reported to have left that place during the week. A recent raid by Alameda and San Clara County authorities which is rumored to have cleaned up the remnants of the old "Little Tiajuana" gang and a report that another raid is being planned by federal authorities to round up aliens who are in this country without passports is believed to be reason for the Mexican migration.

Information obtained by the Muller Detective Agency, which maintains a patrol system in several communities of Southern Alameda County, resulted in the recent raid in which nine Mexicans were arrested by San Clara and Alameda County authorities. The men were charged with stealing hogs from ranches in Santa Clara County and butchering them near their home here.

Salt:

W. G. Stone of Hayward is the inventor of a new mechanical process to extract salt from ocean water and have pure distilled water as the by-product.

Leslie-California Salt Company in Alvarado has shown an interest in this new salt extraction process and may put it into use if a buyer can be found for the surplus water, which is a by-product of the process.

The Hayward Daily Review, February 3, 1932

Creek Creates New Land:

Heavy rainfall and the consequent wearing away of the foothills near Alvarado has resulted in Alameda County Supervisors finding themselves in possession of valuable property that did not exist 20 years ago.

Thomas J. Power called attention to the situation by offering to purchase a piece of property that lies between Alameda Creek and Levee Street in Alvarado. A description of the property on old maps shows the boundary line to the edge of the creek at the time when the watercourse was wide. Since that time silt has been deposited on the banks of the creek until now the county owns the land where water used to be.

District Attorney's Warren opinion states that the county is entitled to increases in area, which have been built up by the deposit of earth.

Editor's Note: Alameda Creek used to come into downtown Alvarado near the Alvarado Hotel where it crossed the highway \(the Horner's built a bridge here\) and continued south into town to within a few feet of Maiden Lane, just behind the old meat market. The channel for the Alameda Creek now lies between Alvarado and Mt. Eden. A good portion of the land behind Levee Street used to be Alameda Creek.

OAKLAND TRIBUNE SECTION FOR CHILDREN:

"The Reward"

Fiction written by: Richard Munger of Alvarado, age 10 years.

Aunt Elsie Prize Winner

One Sunday morning while Jack was in his bed reading the funnies, Billie burst in and said their mother said they could go to the woods. In a while Jack was up. Soon their lunch was ready and they were on their way.

Later when they were pretty far into the woods they saw a house, so they went over to the lawn to eat their lunch. When they sat down to eat their lunch, the ground gave way and they fell into a room with one window in it.

While they were looking around they heard footsteps outside the door. Just as they hid behind a curtain the door opened and in walked a man with his hands tied, and following him was another man. Later the boys heard the one man say that other must give him some money.

Pretty soon the boys were sneaking up behind the man giving the order. They put their feet in front of his and pulled back. The man fell over. Jack tied him and Billie ran for the police. The police said they had been looking for him. The boys received a big reward.

My Experience With a Ghost:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

One night on the way home from the house of a friend I had a terrible fright. I was thinking of the ghost stories we had told, when suddenly in the path before me appeared something in the dark. It looked as if it carried a great white sheet, which it waved first on one side, then on the other.

I stood as still as a post trying to think of what to do. The ghost stood still also. Finally I got enough courage to throw a stone.

The ghost bounded away, waving its white sheet faster than ever, but a familiar bawl let me know that I had nothing to fear. It was my own calf with a handkerchief tied to its tail.

My Puppy:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

I have a little puppy. His name is Skippy. One day Skippy ran away. I looked all over the house and did not find him. I looked in the barn and did not find him there.

About two or three days after I saw something in the cellar. I did not think it was my puppy. The next I woke up and heard a noise in the cellar. I got out of bed and ran down to the cellar. I saw it was my puppy. I got a big bowl and filled it with bread and milk. He liked it.

A week or two later he was fat again. Of course he was very glad to see me. I played ball with him all day long. The day I found my puppy I put a pink ribbon on him. He was very happy and so was I.

Sugar:

A plea for increased home consumption of California beet sugar was made by the secretary of the sugar beet growers association of the Alvarado factory district. It was pointed out that while many Southern Alameda County men are employed at the Holly Sugar mill at Alvarado, their product is crowded out of the local markets by cane sugar to a large extent in Southern Alameda County and throughout California.

When the California consumer buys beet sugar, 97 per cent of the money he expends stays in his home state. But when he buys cane sugar, no more than 17 per cent remains at home.

Despite this fact California, which produced 165,000 tons of beet sugar, consumed only 70,000 tons of it. At the same time she consumed about 230,000 tons of cane sugar. As a result 95,000 tons of California sugar product had to be shipped under heavy freight charges to eastern markets.

A Miracle:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

One bright summer day Jim and Jack decided to go fishing. One their way a black cat crossed their path, but the didn't believe in bad luck and kept on going.

When they reached the river (which was a fast flowing one) they fixed their poles and got ready to fish. When they were ready, Jim said he was going to go out on the tree that bent over the river. Jack warned him he wouldn't be safe out there and he couldn't swim, but Jim didn't say anything and climbed out on the tree.

In a little while Jim caught a fish and became a little excited and fell into the river. Jack heard the splash, looked over and saw Jim in the river. In a second he knew what to do. He started to run downstream until he reached a small rowboat. He hopped in and started to row. Soon he reached Jim, who just going under the third time.

As soon as he had Jim in the boat he started to laugh, because when Jim was in the water there was a great big fish on the line and the hook stuck out. When Jim was in the water the hook became caught on his trousers. They had a good supply of fish that night.

A Wise Dog:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

One day, when I used to live up in the hills, I decided to take a walk. I took my dog with me.

We were about two miles from home when all of a sudden it became foggy. The fog was so thick I couldn't find my way home. I whistled for my dog. I whistled for him because I though he would show me the way home I started to walk, but when I stopped walking the dog stopped too. I stopped because I thought the dog would go and I could follow him.

Then I came to a road. I walked up that road. I got excited when I saw my dog was walking down another road, so I followed him. Soon the fog began clearing and I saw the smoke from the chimney of my house. My dog and I reached home safely. From that day on I never went up in the hills unless my dog went with me.

"What! A kitten," exclaimed John. "I say not, we are going to have a dog in this house. I think Tom will give me one of his puppies."

"Oh dear!" protested Dorothy, "we could dress it up in my doll's clothes and wheel it around."

"That's just like a girl," declared John. "Now what I want is a dog to go with me when I'm fishing and camping. What good will a silly little mewling kitten be to me?" he inquired.

"Wait a minute," suggested wise Dorothy. "I know what to do. Let's ask mother for two pets."

Sugar:

Sugar beet production in the Bay region was set forth as one of the important keys to the solution of the agricultural depression, says Chester Gray, Washington representative of the Alameda County Farm Bureau federation in a speech at Stockton yesterday.

Mr. Gray pointed out that but 2,000 acres of sugar beets are being produced this year in the Alvarado factory district, which includes Alvarado, Mt. Eden and other territory near Hayward, in place of the 3,000 acres produced last year.

If more sugar beets were raised, said Mr. Gray, they would eliminate some of the surplus acreage in tomatoes, potatoes, corn and alfalfa now being produced in this region. Some way of eliminating the competition from sugar imported from Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines would assist the American farmer materially.

Witchcraft in Alvarado:

Constable Tom Silva and Patrolman Don Bates today are seeking to adapt modern police methods to primitive voodooism and witchcraft spells. The aid was sought to quell the demonstrations of witchcraft in modern California when Mrs. Selca Agundez collapsed and became violently ill after discovering a substance known "as the powder of death" on her doorstep.

A second victim of the same "charm," Mrs. Elvira Brown, also asked for police protection, in the firm belief that her escape from similar ill effects was solely due to the fact that she saw the powder in time to avoid stepping over it, for this traditions avers, is the means of escaping its potency.

Both women demanded that Silva undertake a full investigation (witch hunt) for only an authentic witch, which they assert can compound the potent powder. Its formula includes earth gathered from a graveyard, crushed pepper seeds and various herbs, prepared with incantations of necromancy.

Mrs. Ramona Romero, friend of Mrs. Brown, and her husband Casimiro Romero, childhood friends of Mrs. Agundez, also sought the aid of the authorities in putting a permanent injunction, or something, against the proactive of witchcraft in Alvarado. They feel some hidden enemy has engaged the services of a witch to bring them bad luck, sickness or even death.

The questioning of a woman suspected by the victims of witchcraft proved to have its own difficulties, as the woman, Ramona, speaks no English. Accompanied by an interpreter, the officers sought her out. With wildly waving Medusa-like black curls and gesticulating hands she poured forth a torrent of rapid and emphatic Spanish that even left the interpreter gasping.

"She says," he tersely translated about 20 minutes worth of speech from the woman, "that people talk too much and you all can go to the devil."

Nursery Road:

A valuation of $6,202.63 was today fixed by Superior Judge Leon E. Gray on the property sought by Alameda County from the California Nursery Company for opening the new road through the nursery from Niles to Alvarado. The land consisted of a piece of property 50 feet wide and 777 feet long running parallel to the state highway and being an extension of First Street in Niles.

The defendants in the action claimed a value of $7,500 for the land, $6,500 for severance damage and $1,000 as the cost of fencing made necessary if the land if used for road purposes. In fixing the valuation of the land, Judge Gray took into consideration the value of the shrubs and trees on the nursery grounds. The Board of Supervisors had refused to compromise at a $5,000 valuation.

Sugar:

Charges of discrimination in freight rates were made today by the Holly Sugar Co., which has refineries in Alvarado and Tracy, in a demand for a probe filed with the State Railroad Commission.

As one basis for a probe, the concern asserts that it is forced to pay 2½ cents more per 100 pounds from its plants to Los Angeles harbor than is paid by the Hawaiian Sugar Refinery from the latter's plant at Crockett.

As a second basis, the corporation charges that the carriers are absorbing the draying and switching charges on shipments originating at the Western sugar Refinery in San Francisco, but refuse to do this for the Holly Sugar refinery.

Labor Unrest in Pea Fields:

Special squads of deputy sheriffs, constables and state highway officers were ordered to patrol Southern Alameda County from Hayward to Warm Springs at noon today as a result of outbreaks reported between pea pickers and labor agitators.

Driven out of Santa Clara County by armed guards who are patrolling pea fields to prevent sabotage and threatened labor trouble, leaders of striking workers were attempting to invade Southern Alameda County. The situation had become so acute in Santa Clara County that Sheriff William J. Emig declared half of his regular deputies and a number of special officers had been assigned to patrol duty.

One man, Albert Vega, admitted San Jose radical, was arrested on vagrancy charges yesterday as a result of efforts to start a strike among pea pickers. Pickers working in the fields in the Valle Vista district suddenly quit their work this morning after a party of six unidentified men visited the fields. A spokesman for the laborers declared they had been threatened with beatings if they continued to work.

Agitators are reported to be working throughout Santa Clara and Alameda Counties urging pickers, mostly Mexican, to refuse to take part in the harvest unless a rate of 60 to 90 cents per hamper is paid for picking peas. The growers, who are receiving 3 cents per pound for their peas are offering 18 cents per hamper to the workers.

More than a score of indigents, who had been supported by the county during the winter months, were rounded up by sheriff deputies yesterday afternoon and brought before Judge Norris to explain why they had refused to accept work when it was offered them.

Representatives of the Southern Alameda County Welfare Board were present in the courtroom and assured Judge Norris that the county would aid would be denied to any person who refused to work when a job was offered to him.

Deputy sheriffs started through the camps today and demanded that the strikers either go to work in the fields or move out of the county. Hundreds of residents of Decoto, Alvarado, Niles and Centerville who have been provided with food, clothing and medical attention by the county are to be informed today they must either work or arrange for their own support.

The Oakland Tribune, April 11, 1933

Labor Unrest in Alvarado Fields:

Communist sympathizers, it is stated, are behind labor unrest and strikes in the Bay area fields. Threats of violence accompanied their demands upon the spinach field workers to leave the fields, and as a result, seven additional deputy sheriffs were sworn in for 24-hour guard duty.

That the threats against spinach field workers has been partially effective was evidenced through the inability of truckers to load their trucks and trailers with spinach in accordance with a prearranged schedule.

Twelve trucks and trailers that were to have been loaded with spinach remained empty at Alvarado. Many workers were reported in both the pea and spinach fields to have refused to continue their labors in the face of the threats against them.

Old Niles Friend Is Doomed:

One of the oldest landmarks in the motion picture industry is being dismantled and will soon be only a memory. The old Essanay studio at Niles, where Charlie Chaplin, Ben Turpin, Gloria Swanson and a score of other screen celebrities began their careers, was sold recently to Frank Rose, Niles businessman. He has made arrangements with a building contractor to dismantle the large wooden building for the material within it.

The studio was erected in 1911 by George Spore and G. M. Anderson, from which combination came the name Essanay, conspicuous on screens pictures for several years. The studio was abandoned in 1914 and has lain idle ever since. Recent attempts to revive its use by Hollywood firms have failed.

In those early times of the screen business, the hills about Niles and the canyon nearby served as "sets" for train robbery scenes and Wild West pictures.

Mysterious Death:

The mystery of the death of Alvino Hernandez, Alvarado farmer whose dead body, with skull crushed, was found underneath his overturned auto on the Alvarado-Newark highway between Alvarado and his home last week, remained undisputed today.

A coroner's jury, sitting at the Pratt Mortuary, received no evidence that threw any light on the factor, which caused Mr. Hernandez's machine to overturn on the side of the highway. While it was near a telephone pole, it had not struck it. No skid marks or other evidence told what had happened to the car.

Mr. Hernandez's young son told officers that he had believed his father had been driving homeward at the time of the accident, which killed him. The car, however, was found facing the other direction.

The jury returned a verdict of accidental death due to skull fracture and hemorrhage.

A Happy Day:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

Last year, before Thanksgiving Day, the teachers of our school planned to let us give some food to the poor people for their Thanksgiving dinner. They told us we could bring anything we want.

When the day came for us to bring the vegetables and any other things to school, we had about two, or maybe three boxes full. Some of us brought money to buy some meat for the poor people.

I am hoping that we will have something like that again this year.

Clairvoyant Nets $5,600:

Two families of "English Gypsies," comprising 16 persons, were arrested today by police in Oakland Calif. as being fake mediums. The raids followed the complaints of several persons that have given large sums of money to clairvoyants who then disappeared without producing any results. One of the principal complainants was S. Daviner, 55, an Alvarado mechanic, who said he had paid a "Mme. Boyd" $5,600 for "readings" who disappeared as soon as she had received the money.

Old Days Transportation:

Stagecoaches, high wheeled freighters and boats were still depended upon for transportation by the greater part of Washington Township when the Tribune was established (1874). The eastern part of the township could be served by the Central Pacific Railroad, but the western part was still dependent upon the landings at Jarvis, Mowry's and Union City (Barron's). Small steamboats and schooners operated on a regular schedule between these points and Oakland and San Francisco. These boats handled practically all the freight and produce from this section. Boats regularly came up as far as the sugar mill in Alvarado and some low draft boats in the 1850's were said to have navigated the Alameda Creek as far as the Bell Ranch Bridge (just east of Paseo Padre Parkway and Decoto Road).

Chiseling Labor Contractor:

Labor contractors that chisel on their workers cause labor stoppages that cause harm to the farmers who are not at fault on workers being shortchanged on pay. At an Eden-Washington Township Farm Center meeting here ways were discussed to insure that workers receive their proper pay.

The opinion expressed at the meeting was that most labor contractors are fair to their workers. Nevertheless there are contractors that take more than they should from their workers, and this causes strife amongst the workers and strikes against the farmers.

Several ways were discussed to pay workers directly and take workers money out of the hands of the labor contractor.

Farmers Debt Relief:

A movement to seek appointment of a federal "Debtor's Relief Court Conciliation Commissioner" for Alameda County was launched last night during the monthly meeting of the Eden-Washington Township Farm Center meeting held in Alvarado. With such a plan farmers in distress may apply to the federal conciliator, who will survey his resources, pull all his creditors together and suggest agreements for settling debts upon the farmers ability to pay. In several other counties where this program is in place they have been able to save many farm homes and ranches from foreclosure.

The Hen in the Doghouse:

Last summer daddy bought four-dozen roosters. At least we all thought they were roosters, but it happened there was one hen.

They were always flying out the pen so we had to cut their wings. Lately the hen has been flying out all the time and we can't find its eggs. My dog has his house near the pen, and, boy does he chase those chickens.

One day we had a man clean our yard. As he was raking around the doghouse there was an egg in the doghouse. He picked it up and gave it to me. Since then we have found two more eggs there.

The Unhappy Day for Me:

One day a girl came over to my house. My big doll was on my bed. The girl thought I was not looking so she knocked the doll to the floor and the doll's head broke. I was very sad for my doll.

So I grew angry and sent the girl home and said, "I don't want to see you here again." She never did come again.

Gomez is Freed:

John Gomez, theater operator of Alvarado and Irvington, Alameda County, is free today on a charge of sending obscene letters through the mail. But Manual Vargas, also of Alvarado, the star witness for the government in its prosecution of Gomez, is in jail for contempt of court.

This unusual termination of the case came about yesterday when Gomez declared he couldn't possibly be guilty because he cannot read or write. The government immediately called Vargas to testify that he had written the letters at Gomez' dictation. Under cross-examination discrepancies appeared in Vargas' testimony and he refused to answer.

Federal Judge H. Kerrigan stepped in and threatened Vargas with contempt of court. Vargas still refused.

"Thirty days," said the Judge.

The jury retired and within a minute returned with a verdict acquitting Gomez.

Calaveras Dam Releases Water:

After one of the most generous releases of water from the Calaveras Dam in recent years completed by the San Francisco Water Department, officials of the Alameda County Water District believe that there will be sufficient water in the wells of this area to meet the requirements on all ranches.

Several huge gravel pits in Alameda Creek, west of Niles, had to be filled by the flow before the water could reach the Alvarado District. These pits, according to W.D. Patterson, veteran member of the water district, will serve as reservoirs now that the annual release has been terminated, and the water will seep into the gravel strata and keep the wells supplied for several months.

Mosquito Abatement:

Work done last week with a tractor and a grass-cutter is expected to lessen the woes of John A. Clark, Eden Township foreman for the Mosquito Abatement District. Acting temporarily as a "cat skinner" on a borrowed tractor, Clark mowed tall weeds covering approximately 80 acres of marsh west of Alvarado. This area is flooded each fall with the wastewater from the Holly Sugar mill. Until the resulting pond drains it must be sprayed with oil to prevent the emergence of millions of the once familiar salt marsh mosquitoes.

The tall weeds in the past made oiling difficult, expensive and only partially effective. Clark says he expects the mowing to improve the effectiveness and reduce the cost of oiling this year.

Bio: Fred Muller, Alvarado Ballplayer:

In about another month Major League ballplayers will be headed to spring training camps and by that time it is expected that the New York Yankees will have a pretty fair idea of what players they will send to the Oakland Oaks. On the reserve list of the Yanks are 36 experienced players besides a lot of youngsters who are too green to make the camp.

A tip from an easterner yesterday was that Fred Muller, who starred for the Seattle Indians in 1932, when he set a double-play fielding record along with "Chick" Ellsworth, will come to the Oaks.

Muller was purchased by the Boston Red Sox during the 1933 season and later became the property of the New York Yankees. He was in the International League last season and it is reported that Manager Joe McCarthy may not be able to make a spot for him in the 1933 Yank infield because he specializes at second base, where he would have to beat out Tony Lazzeri. Tony hit .294 and fielded in the same stellar way.

It is a known fact that the Oaks are in the market for a second sacker and it is possible, now that the local club has been made a Yankee farm that McCarthy would willingly let Muller come to the Oaks rather than keep him on the bench. The more experience he gets the sooner he will be ready to step in at second when Lazzeri's legs or batting eye go back on him.

Muller would make an ideal batsman for the Oaks as he is of the long distance variety. He hit .327 in 1933 and drove in 66 runs in 83 games before he reported to the Red Sox. He hit 20 home runs and led second sackers in fielding. In 1932 he hit .282, but batted in 121 runs and among his hits were 49 doubles and 38 home runs.

Muller seems like too good a player to be shunted back to the minors without a fair trial, but our informant says he know that Muller would prefer to return to the Coast, rather than spend his time on the bench. And no doubt nothing would suit him better than to come to the Oaks, for his hometown is Alvarado.

Woman Gives Birth in a Car:

Little Junior Villegas, weight seven pounds, started the "adventure of life" in the driveway of Alameda County Hospital during the storm before dawn this morning, as his mother lay in her wrecked auto.

Junior, son of Mrs. Isabel Villegas of Alvarado, 18-year-old wife of Thomas Villegas, had hoped to have her son born in the hospital. She, her husband and Mrs. Rosie Camacho, 27, had started from Alvarado in Villegas' old roadster at 2:30 o'clock this morning. A few blocks from the hospital, their car collided with another car. Villegas' machine was almost demolished by the impact.

Although he begged the motorist, whose license number he failed to obtain, Villegas could not persuade him to take his wife to the hospital before the child is born.

Frantically he tried to re-start his own car, and managed to jockey it a few feet along the driveway to the Emergency Ward of the hospital. Again the car stopped. Mrs. Camacho ran to the ward crying for a doctor.

Dr. George Mainwaring, on duty, heard her story, grabbed up a few instruments, and dashed with her back to the stalled auto. There, with the rain whipping through the uncurtained roadster, Dr. Mainwaring successfully conducted Junior into this world.

A few minutes later Junior was in a crib in the nursery, and his mother is doing nicely in a bed in the hospital.

The Public Works Administration has given preliminary approval to a huge drainage project in Southern Alameda County. Allotment of funds under the five billion dollar Work Relief Act recently signed by President Roosevelt is now awaited.

The project is expected to achieve the following objectives:

1. Open the outlet and lower the depth of the channel of Alameda Creek between Alvarado and the well of the Hayward Municipal Water wells, and eliminate winter flooding of a large flatland area in the Alvarado-Tennyson section.
2. Forward the possibility of re-establishing a boat channel in Alameda Creek, which in the early days was navigable. The Alvarado Sugar mill, founded in 1870, shipped out sugar on barges by way of the creek, according to Mr. Erle Ruus.
3. Provide an improved outlet into San Francisco Bay for surplus rainwater for the city of Hayward, South Hayward, Tennyson, Valle Vista and the territory drained by the Alameda Creek, which runs through Niles Canyon.

Through the years, it is explained, the mouth of the Alameda Creek, which runs through the salt company property, has become heavily silted, as has the lower part of the channel. Winters of exceptionally heavy rainfall, it is felt, would witness the flooding of a large area of lowland because of the stoppage at the bay outlet.

The drainage project calls for the dredging of the old Alameda Creek channel as far as North Slough west of Alvarado, or the dredging of one or both of two channels between Alvarado and the Hayward wells, with provision made for drainage into these channels of adjacent low territory.

Dyer Home Destroyed by Fire:

Fire last night destroyed one of southern Alameda County's oldest structures, the two story, 14-room home on the Dyer estate on the Sugar Mill Road near here. The house was built in 1864 by the late Ephraim Herrick Dyer, who in 1867 organized the California Beet Manufacturing Co., the oldest beet-sugar manufacturer in the United States.

The blaze, first noted about 7:30 o'clock, apparently started in the attic of the old house, presumably from an electrical short circuit. Inasmuch as the place is outside the Alvarado Fire Districts limits, and far from a fire hydrant, the Alvarado Fire Department could do nothing but bucket brigade work and assist neighbors and volunteers in removing furnishings from the house. Virtually everything of value was removed from the house, which burned to the ground. Mr. & Mrs. C. H. Langdon had occupied the place.

The Holly Sugar Co recently purchased the surrounding farm, which is planning to erect a large addition to the sugar mill next year. The old house was to be wrecked over the summer.

Portuguese Discover California:

\(Editorial Page of the Modesto Bee\)

Editor of the Modesto Bee, Sir:

To the average Californian every phase of California's earliest history is associated with the deeds and exploits of the Spaniards.

Few people know that the man who discovered California, Juan Fernandes Cabrillo, was a Portuguese navigator in the employ of Spain, that Don Gaspar de Portola, who discovered San Francisco Bay, also was a Portuguese navigator in the employ of Spain. Also that one Alvarado, not the Don Alvarado (California Governor) after whom the town (Alvarado) is named, but the man who had charge of much of the first surveying in California, canal engineering and in mining, was a Portuguese army engineer also in the employ of Spain.

As an English historian put it, "In the great age of discovery no ship's crew was complete without a sprinkling of Portuguese sailors."

Country Club of Washington Township:

The Country Club of Washington Township, who in 1904 published the History of Washington Township in California, will now bring the volume up to date with the history of the township after 1904. The 1904 version of this book is cited as reference material and is on the shelves of the University of California.

The book gives this interesting account of the meeting of the first court session with interesting insight into the beginning of Alvarado:

"Washington Township will celebrate its 82nd anniversary on May 18, 1936. Alameda County's first court session convened at Alvarado on June 6, 1853, in a room above the store of A. M. Church and Company. The settlement formerly known as New Haven and established, it is recorded, because of "political spite" against its rival, Union City, a half mile away (to the west), was named Alvarado in honor of Don Juan B. Alvarado, Governor of California in 1836 (then under Mexican rule).

Continental Salt Works Destroyed:

Fire of an undetermined origin completely destroyed the plant of the Continental Salt Company on San Francisco Bay a mile west of Alvarado yesterday, with damage approximating $100,000. The "Haze M," a $14,000 tugboat and a $7,000 barge belonging to the Miller Launch Company of San Francisco, beached by low tide, were also destroyed, as were the transformer poles and equipment of the Pacific Gas & Electric Company.

The plant, which handled about 30,000 tons of salt a year is one of two operated by the Leslie California Salt Company. A third plant is located at Mt. Eden. The 25 men employed at the Continental plant will be put to work at other branches.

Rolly Montalbo, captain of the "Hazel M" stated that it was impossible to save the boat and barge as low tide had left them stuck in the mud. Crude salt transported in 150-ton loads from the plant to the San Francisco waterfront is used for salting fish, curing hides, etc.

Some of the employees have been connected with the salts works for more than thirty years, among them William Johnson who in the early days operated freight boat between Alvarado and San Francisco.

Selling Papers:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

Once upon a time there was a boy and a girl. They lived Antioch. They were about five-years old. They never had gone to school. One day a man gave them papers to sell. He told them to sell them for five-cents. After awhile he came back.

He said, "Have you sold any?"

They said, "Yes, we sold them all."

"How much did you make?"

They said, "We can't count money yet."

He said, "I will count the money." He told them that they had made two dollars. So he gave the girl a dollar and the boy a dollar.

Then they went home and told their mother. She was so proud of them that she let them stay up until 12 o'clock. Boy, weren't they lucky?

Washington Township Civic Meet:

Warning that the tax situation in California holds ominous portents for the owners of real estate, Lt. Gov. George J. Hatfield addressed a meeting of civic groups from Washington Township at the Alvarado Hotel last night.

A dinner for 75 at the Alvarado Hotel was followed by a mass meeting at the grammar school with about 200 persons present. The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce sponsored the meetings.

He cited current tax proposals in the state as promising additional burdens for real property owners. Proposals to tax chain stores, repeal of the income tax and substitution of a real property tax to replace the sales tax are being advocated by many. If the sales tax is repealed and the "single tax" is substituted, an overwhelming burden will be placed on real property owners.

Flood:

With this season's rainfall 14.00 inches above normal, the scene north and east of Alvarado is one huge lake. The Alvarado flood, nearly a dozen feet deep near the bridge over the Alameda Creek, sent that stream out of its banks yesterday afternoon. A lake nearly a mile long stretched eastward toward the Tennyson neighborhood.

The Hayward Daily Review, February 14, 1936

Tomato Growers:

At a meeting of southern Alameda County tomato grower's fears were voiced over the contracts presented to the growers by the farmers. The canneries contract was denounced as discriminatory against growers because it gave the canneries free reign over scores of tolerances, credits, cull allowances, dockage, box rents, seed costs and other charges. All of these charges are designed to reduce the net paid to growers under complete control of the cannery.

At the suggestion of M. F. Silva, of Alvarado, the group decided that a special meeting of the tomato growers should be called soon to hear reports of tonight's meeting of growers and canners representatives.

Child Beaten:

Charged with beating her 6-year old niece so severely that the girl's left arm was broken and her face and body badly bruised. Mrs. Celia Morano, mother of a 3-week old baby, faces a battery complaint in Justice Court at Niles.

Mrs. Morano was arrested yesterday following an investigation of the case by Alvarado Grammar School Principal J.C. Wasley. The little girl was taken to Alameda County Emergency Hospital for treatment.

Officers declared the woman, said to be a mental incompetent, scrubbed the girl's bruised face with warm salt water to remove the black and blue coloring. The result, they said, was the creation of a large spot of raw flesh on the left side of the face. Two open wounds were found on the girl's head.

The woman, wife of an Alvarado section hand (railroad laborer), was said to be of Shoshone Indian and Mexican ancestry. She was caring for the child during the absence of its mother, Mrs. Mabel Bell, in Mina, Nevada. She was said to have told the officers that Rosie (the child) had refused to obey her and that she had beaten her with a stick. Mrs. Morano posted bail and is back at home.

No, I Won't Share:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

I had three pennies in my pocket
While down the street.
Along came a boy and said,
Look! I've got a penny,
Have you any money?
Sure. I have three pennies in my pocket.
Good! Let us share,
You give me one and then we will be even.
No, sir. I won't share,
I saved these three pennies
To buy a stamp to join the Aunt Elsie Club.

Alvarado Annual Holy Ghost Festival:

One of the largest crowds in several years gathered at Alvarado over the weekend to take in the annual Pentecostal celebration held under the auspices of the S.D.E.S. Hall.

Several hundred people witnessed the opening ceremonies Saturday evening, including a procession to receive formally Miss Shirley Perry, the queen, and her attendants, Lucille Vierra and Irene Mello, and the crown at the home of Mrs. A. Santos, custodian. A huge display of fireworks followed the procession and a dance wound up the evening.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock the queen, her attendants, and several queens from neighboring towns, drill teams from Alvarado, Niles, and Mission San Jose, several bands, including St. John's from El Cerrito, and numerous lodge members made a colorful parade around the community. High mass followed at St. Anne's Church, led by father Valin of San Rafael. A barbeque, an auction, and another dance concluded the festivities. Throughout the fiesta a carnival midway reigned.

President Ernest Perry and his committeemen: M. P. Goularte, Manuel Martin, Seraphine Daviner, John Menezes, J. E. Lewis, Manuel White and Frank Goularte are responsible for the success of the affair.

Alvarado Bank Robber Murdered In Prison:

Thomas Kelly, 59, already serving a life term for a Los Angeles murder, probably will face a new charge of murder because he was jealous of a flower garden.

Kelly is in solitary confinement today while District Attorney Otis Babcock investigates circumstances under which he yesterday stabbed and killed John (Jack) Beebe, 48-year old Oakland man, who was serving time for the spectacular robbery of the Bank of Alameda County, Alvarado, on March 24, 1921. Both men had been imprisoned twice before on felonies.

Beebe, according to Warden A. Larkin, was playing catch with another convict when their ball rolled into a flowerbed under the care of Kelly. The latter seized the ball and threw it into a nearby canal. A fight, ended by the stabbing.

Around Town:

Construction will begin today on a new backstop on the Alvarado Grammar School baseball diamond, made possible by contributions of material and labor from the Leslie Salt Company, the Holly Sugar Corporation, and the P. C. Hansen Lumber Company. Location of the field has been changed from the rear to the middle of the school grounds, near to the old manual arts training building, providing better fielding space and better wind and sun conditions. The Alvarado ball club will be responsible for maintaining the field. When completed, the best playground facility in the township will be offered. A suggestion has been made that lighting of the grounds would offer the best equipped baseball field this side of San Leandro.

"Getting off to a flying start," an Alvarado Boy Scout Troop, sponsored by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce, was organized Monday night by William T. Lindsay, Southern Alameda County Scout executive. John Forth of Hayward will act as scoutmaster. Four temporary patrol leaders, Benny Joyce, John Ziegler, Tony Paredes and Jim Wasley, were elected from the 14 boys present, forming four skeleton patrols to be brought to eight boys each. These four boys have been attending Hayward Troop 4 meetings for four months and ranked highest out of the six being transported regularly by Principal James C. Wasley. Five Alvarado boys were among the number who qualified at a recent Boy Scout tryout in Hayward to attend a jamboree in Oakland last Saturday and Sunday at Lakeside Park. Jim Wasley, John Ziegler and Jimmy Critchfield had the time of their lives pitching tents and doing their own cooking, at which they were judged along with handicraft and numerous subjects.

Child Given Away:

Three-year old Barbara May Tyler was back at her home in Oakland last night after typical Alice In Wonderland adventure that for two weeks made her a member of a Mexican fruit picker's family.

The little girl was discovered in an Almaden (San Jose) camp with Steve Rangel, his wife and their brood of children. Startled by the blonde loveliness of the child, a passerby reported the matter to the San Jose authorities.

When questioned, Rangel said the child had been given to him by an Oakland woman, known to him only as "Grace." Asked to cooperate, Oakland police found the child's mother, Mrs. Grace Tyler, at her home.

Hysterical, Mrs. Tyler said her landlady, Mrs. Rosario Serna, had taken the child July 1st for a two weeks' vacation at her Alvarado home. When neither Mrs. Serna nor Barbara May returned at the appointed time she said she began to search for them.

She denied having given the baby to Rangel, stating she saw him only once, and that on the day when Mrs. Serna and Barbara May departed.

In broken English Rangel said the child had been given into his care for a few days. Mrs. Tyler declared that she has not yet decided whether to bring charges against Mrs. Serna and Rangel.

The Lost Dollar:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

One day a lady was walking home. While she was walking she dropped a dollar from her coat pocket. A boy who was walking back of her picked it up and gave it her. The lady gave him a dime, so he went to the store and bought a dish of ice cream. He went home and told his mother a lady had given him a dime.

Sugar:

Organized sugar beet growers of Southern Alameda County have joined in demands for haulage allowances from the Holly Sugar Company, which operates the Alvarado sugar factory, it was revealed today.

The haulage proposal would affect growers within a six-mile radius of the sugar factory who are now not receiving any haulage allowance. At present farmers outside the six-mile radius receive an allowance of 5¢ a mile, which amounts to about $1.20 a ton for farmers in the Concord neighborhood.

A major proportion of the hauling expense to the farmer is incurred in loading the beets and trucking them out of the fields, which are often muddy and sticky. The growers want a minimum of 50¢ per ton for the haul within the six-mile radius, correspondingly more for those outside the area.

Sugar:

Following close on the annual sugar beet harvest, the Alvarado factory of the Holly Sugar Corp. is now the scene of building operations that will complete a three-year million-dollar construction program.

Reports of this seasons sugar beet campaign shows that the factory cut 139,660 tons of sugar beets, making there from 419,000 bags of sugar. The campaign lasted 107 days, as compared to 113 days last year and 153 days the year before. Shortness of the campaign is attributed to a new Holly Sugar factory at Chico and a short crop in some of the central valley supply.

Alvarado Butt of Joke:

Speaking of Egypt, you must know of the romance of the desert moon. The idea is you stand there and "The Desert Song," if you like, and watch the moonbeams play on the face of the Sphinx. Great men, including Napoleon, have journeyed far for the experience while the Sphinx, according to tradition, has remained unimpressed.

But what we are leading up to is a little note from a travel company, which would stimulate us to think of Egypt and about buying a ticket, if we had any money. Well that company has defeated its own end.

This travel company says it has rigged up some floodlights and that "under the velvet-blue sky of the Egyptian desert, the Pyramids and the Sphinx will glow with rainbow hues."

Not for us! We've changed our mind about Egypt and are going down to Alvarado to look at the salt piles by good old moonlight.

A Kind Deed:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

One night as I was going to bed I heard a queer sound. I got up and went downstairs. When I got out I saw a poor little dog with a sore on its leg. I took him in the house. Then I put a rag around his leg.

Mother came running in and said, "What were you doing outside?"

I said, "I found a poor, hurt dog." Then she said, "Why did you pick it up?" I told her that every Friday we have to tell something kind that we have done.

Mother said, "You kind-hearted thing. I did not think you had such a kind heart."

I made a soft bed and put the puppy to sleep. That night I was so happy because I had made the puppy happy.

Flood Control:

A new attempt of Washington Township farmers and townsmen to control the floods in Alameda Creek, which nearly every winter wash out crops and damage homes from Niles to Alvarado, will be made at a community meeting scheduled for 8 o'clock next Thursday night at the Alvarado Grammar School.

Although rainwater from Niles Canyon is spread out over Patterson Slough to relieve the main channel, it is said that the main problem is still far from solved. A year ago a part of Alvarado was flooded after heavy rains, part of the sugar mill dyke being broken.

Farmers attending this weeks' meeting were reported to have expressed themselves strongly in favor of organizing a flood control district. Farmers and property owners of Niles, Centerville, Decoto and Alvarado are expected turn out for next Thursday session.

At a meeting under Alvarado Chamber of Commerce auspices this week, plans drawn up by a consulting firm for flood control were considered. Prevailing opinion, though, was the estimated cost of $1.5 million is excessive.

Flood:

The Alameda Creek went over its banks between Centerville and Alvarado flooding the highway. Hundreds of acres of orchards and farmlands in the area were covered with water. Some 400 acres of farmland at Alvarado were flooded. The Leslie Salt Works at Alvarado was closed because of high water over the approaching road.

Southern Pacific trains from Oakland to San Jose were rerouted through Niles because the tracks in the region of Alvarado were under water.

The Oakland Tribune, February 12, 1938

Flood:

Floods spoiled a Valentine's Day party for Judy Hill, 7, and her friend, Ruth Ziegler, 6, both Alvarado girls. The only way they will be able to reach the scene of the party, at Mrs. Andrew Logan's home in Centerville, is to go by rowboat over a four-mile expanse of water.

Two old time residents at Alvarado, Mrs. Walter Robie and A.D. Moffitt, said the flood there was the worst the town has seen in 22 years. Main streets were covered with three feet of water. Fifty families were marooned along Canal and "V" Streets, and at Union City west of town. The 1916 flood occurred before Calaveras Dam was built.

Floodwaters breaking through the levees of the Leslie Salt Company near Alvarado "diluted" brine in the ponds and washed away nearly 1,000 tons of salt, officials said. Production at the plant has stopped. Floods were increased by a 6 ft. 4 in. tide at noon yesterday.

Flood Control:

Washington township residents totaling 400 persons gathered Wednesday evening at the Alvarado Grammar School with government officials in a mass meeting to discuss establishment of a flood control district. Various government officials and engineers gave explanations of what could be done. Cost of the project was estimated at $1.4 million to be financed by the federal government. The taxpayers would pay maintenance.

As a result of the heavy rains over the weekend only the main road to Alvarado remained open. Residential sections in Union City and the sugar mill section were under water. The main water main in town collapsed and water is being supplied from the school supply. The line cannot be fixed until the floodwaters recede.

Flood Control:

Lessening the cost of control of floodwaters and conservation of water are two factors in the program to be suggested by Will D. Patterson, president of the Alameda County Water District to the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce at its next meeting. Patterson was appointed as one of a committee of seven to draw up a plan of action.

The plan is designed to conserve sufficient quantity of floodwaters to fill the needs of dry lands in the summer and to maintain a year-round water level to act as a natural salt-water barrier in wells along San Francisco Bay.

Engineers employed by the water district will report in a few weeks on a survey now being made regarding the cost of a reservoir in the Arroyo Del Valle, which would conserve at least a third of the water of the 10 creeks flowing into the Alameda Creek, Patterson states.

The Calaveras Lake formed by the Calaveras Dam was planned to take off the peak of the storms, releasing the water twice a year into the gravel beds near Niles. With the additional storage by the proposed reservoir, only one-third of the storm waters would flow into the Bay, thus eliminating flooding of farm lands and homes and also reducing the cost of channel dredging and disposal of excess water.

OUR TRIP TO ALVARADO

Last Sunday we took a trip to Alvarado to see the floodwaters. It was a very exciting trip. Some men came rowing down the main street in a rowboat. We have friends down there and they lost three cows, one horse and 20 chickens. Their barn was just filled with water. The water was up to their front door and rising. I sure hope it goes down soon.

George Hellwig:

(An Editorial comment by The Hayward Daily Review on Mr. Hellwig)

Supervisor George Hellwig, of Alvarado, has filed with the county clerk to enter the race to succeed himself on the Board of Supervisors of Alameda County. Mr. Hellwig has ably represented the southern end of the county from Alvarado to Livermore, and during the two years of his incumbency he has won many friends. Such a capable official should be retained in office and undoubtedly the voters of southern Alameda County will vote for him.

Theodore Harvey Divorce:

The divorce battle of Theodore Harvey, 34, and his wife, Marguerite, 33, was expected to close Tuesday in Supreme Court. Mrs. Harvey filed the original divorce complaint charging Mr. Harvey with "cruelty and indifference, unexplained absences from home and occasional blows." In a cross complaint, he accused her of "continuously accepting and persistently seeking" the society of an 18 year old high school boy, football and oratory star from Alvarado. Letters introduced in evidence identified the youth as Paul Rivers, member of a prominent Alvarado family. Under cross-examination she admitted to writing letters to the youth. Each of the litigants seeks custody of their four-year old daughter, Eleanor Jean, and division of $75,000 in community property.

Oh Sunny May:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

Sunny May, oh, sunny May

When all the May flowers come,

And too 'tis the month of our Blessed Mother

She loves our little altars, and she loves our little prayers,

And her kisses fall to us as raindrops

And they fall, oh, everywhere.

Vegetable News:

Bagnani Brothers, one of the leading commission houses of San Francisco praises the quality of Alvarado vegetables. Valentino Bagnani is a live-wire businessman and has bought much cauliflower through Dave Caeton of the Alvarado Vegetable Growers at Hall Station. Bagnani sells our cauliflower to major stores in San Francisco.

T.P. Harvey sells his potatoes to Hayward Poultry Association. If the Hayward people haven't time to come to Alvarado to buy the famous Alvarado Burbank potatoes, they can purchase them from the Hayward Poultry Association of Hayward. This week the Association took delivery of a large amount of T.P. Harvey's potatoes. Ted says they cook better than any other potato on the market.

This Friday the Alvarado Vegetable Growers started packing green tomatoes in boxes to be shipped via refrigeration system in Southern Pacific cars to the Eastern market. In ten days they will reach the capacity of one carload a day. They expect to ship 100 carloads this season from the Hall Warehouse.

Something entirely new in spraying in Washington Township is under way. It is the use of an airplane to spray calcium arsenate from the air upon the tomato plants to keep worms from getting a hold on our luscious quality tomatoes. Lloyd Bailey's were sprayed this Thursday and others to be treated in the same way are those of F.C. Harvey, Ed Harvey, H.T. Granger and A. M. King.

Around Town:

William Martinez is spending his last two weeks of summer vacation in San Francisco before school starts.

Mrs. Wasley was a visitor at the school and the children were so glad to see him able to be up and looking so well.

Miss Bernice Lezand is engaged to Raymond Diaz, popular young Alvarado butcher and baseball fan. Both young folks are well known in Alvarado and the community wishes them well. Ernie Bettencourt has just returned from San Francisco where he was spending his vacation with his mother, Mrs. Mary Campos.

Mrs. Nora Vargas won a prize at the County Fair for a bed spread and home made candy. Geraldine Rogers won a prize for her Afghan.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lemos and children have moved to Hayward where they have a beautiful home on A Street near the Hunt's Cannery. Mrs. Lemos is an employee of the Salt Works.

Alicia Machado is making her some with Mr. & Mrs. A.E. Vargas of Alvarado. Her father is the well-known barber.

M.J. Goularte has recently had his home painted white by Mr. Marlin.

Visiting Mrs. Allegre on the Creek Road is Mr. & Mrs. Sanchez of Newman.

The Alvarado Pioneer team won the pennant in the southern Alameda County League. The playoff for the pennant will decide the championship soon.

The Misses Marjorie Goularte, Mary Pimentel, Emelio Re and brother "Dutchy" were a happy quartette enjoying the Fair at Treasure Island last Sunday.

The Pinto Brothers, who have such talent in their family, put Alvarado on the map with their float at the County Fair parade at Pleasanton recently.

Adeline Silva and Ernest Vierra are intending to marry, two more fine young folks.

Mrs. Virginia Fiske of Woodland was tendered a birthday party by her sister, Mrs. Joseph Jacinto Sr., our well-known storekeeper.

On their return from the swim at the Hayward Plunge the boys and girls of the Alvarado School voted Miss Wiley and Clarence Ferreira the two best coaches in the south County.

The Recreation Building will be closed for four days starting Friday the first of September until Tuesday the fifth, owing to a new set up in the WPA program.

Jeanette Goularte has fully recovered from her broken arm, which she sustained from falling off her bicycle.

Bernice Lezand sustained a burn on her arm, which she has been treating for two week.

Jeanette Montalbo was back at the Recreation Building Monday after a lovely vacation spent in Yosemite with her brother Bobby and parents, Mr. & Mrs. Jose Montalbo.

Miss Wiley has been entertaining her uncle, aunt and cousin from Jackson Michigan.

Mrs. & Mrs. Joe Martin and daughter, Wilma and Mildred, have returned from a vacation in Santa Cruz.

Joseph Jacinto's Market at Alvarado is a bright spot in the heart of the business district and he deserves a lot of credit for building up such a fine business.

John Ralph's Store:

John Ralph's store is a landmark in Alvarado and has been in existence in the same spot, with various owners, for 60 years. John Ralph's relatives have had quite a hand in shaping the history of the township and no better liked man is to be found than storekeeper John Ralph. By the way, he has an extremely large stock of groceries and dry goods and has hardware and pains suitable to the farmer's everyday needs.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 8, 1939

Tony Lee's Store:

Mason fruit jars are kept on hand to help the housewife preserve her fruit, and are kept in large quantities at Tony Lee's Store at Alvarado

Kitchen utensils and frying pans, dish pans in many varieties, also sets of dishes should be seen on Lee's shelves to be appreciated. We mention these articles to show that right here in Alvarado you can get groceries and cooking utensils without going out of town to larger stores, local merchants carry an adequate supply and their prices are OK and meet the prices of the out of town store on nearly every article.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 8, 1939

Tony Mello:

Tony Mello of Alvarado has been in business for 30 years and has come to make friends with many folks in Washington Township. Tony sells the finest of beers, carrying Lucky Lager, Wielands and Raineer on draught, and it is a cool and refreshing drink on these hot days. He also carries the leading wines and liquors.

This man spends his time and energy helping the town prosper. He always gives money to fire a night watchman when a capable man is on the job and serves on committees for benefit whist parties etc., to help raise money for charity or to aid our splendid church. Surely a man like this deserves to be patronized and given a boost.

Mr. Mello is one of the men who helps the Pioneer meet running expense by subscribing and he gives us a pat on the back when we boost his town, Alvarado.

Alvarado Grammar School News:

The attendance at the Alvarado Grammar School is ahead of that of the last six years. The total is around 180 and more are coming in every day. Principal Wasley has charge of the eighth grade as usual.

Moving pictures will be shown at the school auditorium Friday by an old African game hunter, J.W. Tompkins. Admission will be 10¢. Tompkins has been here every year. He is an Australian with an English drawl.

With several seasoned veterans from last year's orchestra on hand at the school, this year's musical organization should be up to par. Mr. Dwight Thornburg is in charge as usual, being here three days a week. Mr. Thornburg covers Alvarado, Irvington and Niles.

A volleyball court is to be erected on the playgrounds back of the school by the trustees, Mrs. Robie, Joe Martin and William Avila. The volleyball court will be next to the basketball court.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 15, 1939

Around Town:

A birthday party was given at Alvarado for Wilbert Martin, son of Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Martin, who resides near the Sugar Mill. The S.D.E.S. Hall was decorated and good dance music was enjoyed. Mrs. Charles Baird is mourning the passing of Elmore Roe, her brother who passed away suddenly at his home in San Francisco. Mr. Roe was well known in Alvarado.

Mrs. Mamie Roderick, an employee at John Ralph's store is spending her vacation in the Santa Cruz Mountains.

Coach Clarence Ferreira is organizing a baseball team at the Alvarado School, also the volleyball and basketball teams for the school league.

Thelma Jean Logan and Joyce Harvey are enrolled in the Alviso Grammar School this year, as is Barbara Smyrl of Alvarado.

The Ladies Aid Society met at the Odd Fellows Hall, Mrs. George Harvey is the President and Miss Mary Hughes is the Secretary.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 15, 1939

Around Town:

A hand made quilt, which was made by the Alvarado Ladies Aid is soon to be raffled off. Mrs. George Harvey and Miss Mary Hughes are now selling chances on this lovely quilt.

The Alvarado PTA will resume its monthly meetings with the opening of school. Mrs. George Davis, President, will preside.

Leslie Salt Company will begin harvesting their annual salt crop this month.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 22, 1939

Bicycle Injury:

Dimas Gonzalez sustained slight injuries when he was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph Lima, 51, of Newark, while riding his bicycle on Marsh Road Thursday night. Mr. Lima said he could not see Gonzalez because he was blinded by the glare on an oncoming vehicle.

Local Pharmacy to Close:

Mr. & Mrs. L.W. Russell, who have conducted the local pharmacy for the past two years are moving to San Mateo to open a drug store there. We regret very much to lose this progressive young couple, who have become such a part of the local community life since moving here such a short time ago.

Mr. Russell has taken an active part in the Chamber of Commerce and Eagles Lodge, being President of the Eagles at this time while Mrs. Russell has been President of the PTA here and has taken an active part in the Rebekah's and Ladies Aid.

Their son Wayne, who delivers the "Pioneer" around town will be greatly missed too and the Main Street of Alvarado will not seem the same without Thais Jean on her tricycle with the doll buggy holding her favorite kitten, hitched on behind. The Pioneer wishes them success in San Mateo.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 29, 1939

Around Town:

Dr. Bettencourt and his wife (nee Miss DeKidos) of Alvarado attended the Dental Congress on Treasure Island in the Hall of Science Building. They were accompanied by their daughter, Norma, Mrs. Bettencourt's mother, Mrs. DeKidos and Dr. Bettencourt's brother from the Hawaiian Islands.

Mrs. Cordoba, residing on Union City Road in Alvarado, was seriously ill as the result of the heat wave last week, but is now much improved.

Mr. & Mrs. Al Bailey and family will spend Sunday in Turlock visiting Mrs. Bailey's folks.

The Odd Fellows hall has been undergoing a house cleaning in the last month. New rugs, new paper and a paint job make it look like a million dollars.

Fernandes Paredes of the local restaurant served breakfast to the Knight of Columbus lodge at the Odd Fellows Hall.

Mr. George Thayer is making his home at the Alvin Bailey's while being employed at the Sugar Mill.

Mrs. Annie Forbes has been on her vacation recently, spending most of the time Healdsburg. Miss Mary Hughes substituted for her.

Mrs. Joe Lewis went to Oakland Thursday on a shopping tour.

Mr. L.W. Russell, President of the local Aerie of Eagles tendered his resignation to take effect at once on account of moving to San Mateo.

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Ainsley are the proud parent of a baby boy born September 20th.

Mrs. Annie Baird went to San Francisco Wednesday, returning Thursday.

Miss Marjorie Goularte of Alvarado and her party of young friends enjoyed a lovely time last Sunday when they motored to Fleischacker's Zoo in San Francisco.

Fred Muller is back in Alvarado after playing ball back east for the Toledo team in Ohio. Mr. Muller has asked Toledo to try and make a trade so as to get him a berth with one of the Pacific Coast League teams next years. Fred is now farming with Joe Langdon on Creek Road and is glad to be back in the cool climate of Washington Township.

Red Cross:

Demonstrations on how to make dressings for European war hospitals will be made at two meetings next Monday under the auspices of the Washington Township Red Cross Committee following an organization gathering at the Washington Union High School yesterday. Residents of Niles, Decoto, Alvarado and Mission San Jose will meet at Niles Grammar School. Trained workers from the Oakland Chapter of the American Red Cross will be present to demonstrate the making of the dressings.

Alvarado Man Ends his Life:

Despondent because he had been unemployed for two years, Lew W. Nelson, 39, an unemployed Alvarado carpenter drove to a little used fragment of the Old Tunnel Road near Orinda, attached a hose to the exhaust of his automobile, ran it up through the floorboards and waited for death. He was found yesterday by deputy Sheriff P.R. Donaldson.

George Brothers Petroleum:

The amount of business done by George Brothers, distributors of General Petroleum products amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly. Their headquarters is in Alvarado. Frank and Tony George sell their products, not only to the biggest farmers of the interior, but have a long list of outstanding service who are their year in and year out customers. They deliver gas and oil products to service stations in Castro Valley, Hayward, San Leandro, Newark, Mission San Jose, Mt. Eden, Irvington and to Alfred Schaub whose station is at Smith and Levee Street in Alvarado.

Frank George, manager of George Brothers, says that the growth of General Petroleum in this end of the county has been due, in great measure, to the success user have had with his product. Besides he has tried to give his customers every service and attention. Tony George, in charge of delivery by their modern motor transportation, also deserves credit for keeping George Bros. big list of customers satisfied by good service.

Some of George Bros. largest customers are farmers who take big orders of Diesel Oil and stove Oil located in their tanks at their place on the Creek Road. Stove oil is a very economical fuel for the farmer's home uses, while diesel oil is the fuel used in farmer's tractors.

The Alvarado Pioneer, October 8, 1939

Alvarado Rebekah's:

A card party for the benefit of the Gilroy Children's Home will be given by the Alvarado Lodge of the Rebekah's at Alvarado Grammar School Friday night. The public is invited. Arrangements are being made by Mrs. James Hunter, chairman, Laura Orelli and Mrs. Charles Baird.

The Oakland Tribune, October 10, 1939

Around Town:

A group of four hunters, Lester Silva, Joseph Dutra, Nick Lewis and Tony Baptiste, had a fine 8 day hunt, with Lester and Joseph both bringing back trophy bucks.

Another hunting party from Alvarado consisting of Al Searles, Joe Allegre, Louis Caldeira and Al Degermark brought back two fine bucks.

Joseph Dutra and wife had his uncle and aunt of Hollister as their guests over the weekend. Joe and his uncle will go fishing on Sunday to try and land some bass.

Joe Priego had his sister, Miss Salida from Fresno, visiting this week.

Recreation Leaders Ferreira and Wiley will host a Halloween party at the Alvarado Grammar School on October 27th. Prizes will be given for the Best Costume in the Grand March.

A.E. Vargas and son Edward, and Chris Skow went fishing on Sunday of last week and brought home a nice batch of bass.

Eddie Martinez, who works for Sam Dinsmore Jr.'s Shell Gas Station, took his girl friend to the Exposition last Thursday. And believe us, Eddie was dressed up like a millionaire! That boy has the looks too! His friend was a charming queen herself.

Mr. Diaz, who owns a long business block in Alvarado, deserves a great deal of credit for remodeling the empty drug store with intentions of probably having another drug store there before long. Otherwise some other business will take it, as it is one of the finest locations in town.

The last occupants of the Alvarado Hotel have moved out this last week and Mr. Fernando Paredes, the Hamburger King, will remodel the hotel and stucco the outside. In time he may put some cottages and an auto court on the adjacent ground.

The fine Alvarado potatoes raised by Lloyd Bailey boost our community as much as any other individual, and we want to congratulate him on the red and black attractive lettering printed on the bags with the name, Alvarado, printed thereon. This tells the State what superior potatoes are grown here. Lloyd Bailey had some 55 acres in potatoes this year. He has one of the largest acreages in cauliflower coming up in a few weeks.

Frank Silva said he was visiting his good friend, Tony Santos of the Silver Dollar Café, and wanted to give Tony a boost for having such an attractive place, and serving such fine refreshments, which made it a fine meeting place for so many folks who like to enjoy a fine social time.

The Alvarado Pioneer, October 13, 1939

The Washingtonian:

Old Alvarado Hotel:

The historical old Alvarado Hotel will be remodeled and redecorated by the new owner, Fernando Paredes. The hotel was one of the buildings moved from the original site of Alvarado, then known as Union City more than 75 years ago. It was the stopping place for men on early day boats, which carried grain from the Union City wharves to the San Francisco docks. Employees of the early flourmill at Union City, which had been annexed to the hotel structure after it was moved, used the hotel as a place of residence. The hotel was formerly run by Paul Bruhn who passed away several months ago.

Farm Home Dept. Meets:

The county committee of the Alameda County Home department met at Alvarado Wednesday afternoon for a dessert-luncheon served by the Alvarado center. Mrs. Charles Sweet, county chairman, conducted the meeting.

The Hayward Daily Review, November 2, 1939

Alvarado Fire:

Deputy Sheriff R. E. Condon of Hayward is investigating a weekend fire, which last Wednesday destroyed a house occupied by George Lewis, 52, and his family on the Dan Riley ranch near here. The fire broke out while the family was away from home. Mr. Lewis voiced an opinion that the place was set on fire. It was learned that an electric heater had been left burning to keep a brood of Chihuahua pups warm.

The Hayward Daily Review, November 7, 1939

Man Sues for Loss of Livestock:

Poison sprayed on grasslands at Alvarado was blamed for the loss of 26 cows and one steer today by L.E. Silva in a $1,620 suit filed in Superior Court. Silva charges that the property was improperly equipped with cattle guards and that his cows strayed upon land where the poison had been sprayed.

As a consequence 21 cows died and six had to be destroyed, the rancher alleges in his complaint. Delta Finance Company, Ltd., Western Pacific Railroad Company and others are named defendants.

The Oakland Tribune, November 9, 1939

D. Diaz Business Block:

You have to hand a bouquet to D. Diaz, owner of the Diaz business block in Alvarado, because he is always trying to boost the town and to improve the business section.

Right now he is doing a glorious thing that will make his store and the adjoining ones look like a San Francisco place with its new stucco front over a distance of the 75-foot frontage of his building. Along the base of the stucco front will be tile, which will give it a real fine appearance.

In front of Mr. Diaz' Union Meat Market there will be installed a large new plate glass window, also the step at the entrance will be removed and a slanting sidewalk will afford a gradual approach to the main floor of the market.

Surely Mr. Diaz deserves a great deal of credit and we anticipate more owners of business buildings here will follow suit and modernize also. There are four stores in the Diaz Building, the Union Meat Market, the drug store, the Manila Pool Hall and John Menezes Barber Shop.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 10, 1939

New Pharmacy for Alvarado:

D. Diaz has shown his progressive spirit by improving the drug store formerly occupied by the Russell Pharmacy at Alvarado. This attracted a new comer to start a new drug store here, with the promise of being one of the equipped pharmacies in the whole of the interior of Alameda County.

Mr. D. Cubicciotti, owner of the Estudillo Pharmacy in San Leandro has leased the store and we anticipate that he will develop a great business in this growing and thriving farming community, which never experiences any seasonal depressions.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 10, 1939

Around Town:

November 30th and December 1st & 2nd are the dates of the Bazaar of St. Anne's Church. M.F. Silva and Joseph Martin are in charge of the program.

Alvarado merchants show their patriotism with their decision to close Saturday in honor of Armistice Day (today's Veterans Day).

Miss Winifred Santos, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Tony Santos of the Silver Dollar Café, will lead the Washington Township Legion Post Drum Corp as majorette for the Armistice Day Parade.

A.E. Vargas started buying cauliflower for the Valley Growers of San Jose. The local growers sell much of their produce to Mr. Vargas.

Principal James C. Wasley was taken suddenly ill with appendicitis on Monday of last week and was operated on at the East Bay Hospital.

Mrs. Ruth Hellwig has replaced Mr. James C. Wasley as the Eighth grade teacher at the Alvarado Grammar School during his recent illness.

On Nov. 14th the Order of the Rainbow for girls will hold a card party at the Masonic Hall in Centerville. Linda Jane Hellwig of Alvarado heads the organization and is working hard to get out a good crowd from Alvarado.

Fred Muller, Alvarado's Big League baseball player loves to shoot ducks with Lewis Amaral and Kenneth Ferry near the Barton Salt Works. Fred had a good season in Ohio this year but wants to be transferred back to the Pacific Coast League.

The Ladies Aid met Thursday at the Hall and decided to buy some small chairs for the Presbyterian Sunday School. They also decided to buy material and make drapes for the dining room of the Odd Fellow's Hall.

Mrs. Forbes, our librarian, reports some very interesting magazines now on the tables at the Alvarado Library. A good attendance at the library is reported. Mrs. Forbes is making an effort to interest the children in some beautiful editions of favorite classics that have been recently sent here.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 10, 1939

Man Found Dead:

An unidentified man about 65 was found dead today in a ditch on the Alvarado-Centerville Highway near here. Death was apparently due to natural causes, according to Deputy Coroner Tom Berge, of Niles. The man was red-haired and had a reddish moustache.

The Oakland Tribune, November 12, 1939

Odd Fellows Rededicate Old Hall:

Alvarado's historic Odd Fellows Hall that dates back to 1861, was the scene of a celebration at their meeting last week on the occasion of completing remodeling operations, when Odd Fellows and Rebekah's from all Alameda and San Francisco lodges were guests of the two Alvarado lodges.

The old IOOF hall at Alvarado, a state landmark, first was occupied in 1861 by the Alvarado Guards, a militia company organized to fight for the North during the Civil War. A flag presented to the Guard still hangs in a prominent place in the lodge room as a treasured relic.

Arrangements for the celebration given last Friday evening were made by James Hunter and George J. Reinking of Crusade Lodge and Desda Brown and Annie Baird of the Alvarado Rebekah Lodge. Speaker was Judge Louis J. Hardie of Albany, grand representative to the sovereign lodge.

Mrs. Wilma Miller, noble grand of the Alvarado Rebekah's, served refreshments.

Reliance Garage:

Our good friend Clyde Smith, who made such a fine record in the employ of the Montgomery Ward store in Hayward, has been a year in business in Alvarado and worked hard to deserve a fine auto repair business here.

Clyde as fine equipment and promises to give everybody satisfaction. His ability to handle machine shop work should make Reliance Garage a busy place. He also does tractor work and is an expert with tools and dies as he used to be a foreman at the Caterpillar Tractor Company at San Leandro.

Mr. Smith features the TRI-PLEX TIRES and asks you to try them. Try his gas and oil.
The Alvarado Pioneer, November 17, 1939

Santos Brothers' Garage:

Wallace Santos thinks Alvarado people have been very nice to him and his brother at their garage, which they lease from Steve Smith. They call it Santos Brothers' Garage. Here they have increased their business to such an extent that they have added new equipment. Among these the new hydraulic jack of 7,500 pound capacity. They have bought an auto-painting outfit complete. The auto repair work has brought many customers from the farming districts.

Wallace Santos calls attention to the special on tires. He has Re-Caps 600 X 16 size which sell for $6.50. A guarantee is given by the Dower Tire Co., the makers. They handle that fine Texaco Gas supplied them by Jack Holland of Hayward.
The Alvarado Pioneer, November 17, 1939

Around Town:

Friends and relatives joined with Mrs. John Menezes at a birthday party in her honor last Sunday evening and enjoyed a very pleasant time.

The chrysanthemums of John Ralph's are now blooming in his downtown garden spot at the rear of his store.

Frank George and George Enos of Alvarado won the Pedro Championship by defeating Joseph A. Silva and John Smith of Newark three games out of five.

Alvarado Postmaster, Mrs. Genevieve Dutra, attended the Alameda County Postmasters' dinner at Sophie's Place at Irvington last Wednesday.

Funeral services were held Friday in Alvarado for Mrs. Maria Coit, 65, of the Creek Road, who was killed instantly when she was struck by a car driven by an Irvington youth.

Don't forget to patronize Chris Skow at his Alvarado Garage, Phone Alvarado 28W.

That smiling young man, "Sig" Diaz, certainly has built up a fine business in Washington Township the past few years. He trained in his father's Union Meat Market in Alvarado to learn the butcher business and when he was batting around 500 average, he decided to get into his own league, so he bought a fast auto delivery and has developed a fine business with farmers who appreciate him coming right to their farms to offer his wares. "Sig" serves Decoto, Alviso, Newark and Creek Road customers.

One of the handsomest young men in all Washington Township was captured by a San Jose when Sam Dinsmore Jr., of Alvarado, was wedded to Miss Jewel Brady at the bride's home in San Jose. Sam Dinsmore Jr. is interested with partner in the Shell Gas Station in Alvarado but has been very busy in the daytime with business affairs in San Francisco. He is a real go-getter and has a sunny disposition. His wife comes from one of the most prominent families in Santa Clara County. Mr. Dinsmore's folks have the well-known Dinsmore Store in Alvarado.

From Hayward a few weeks ago came the championship flag to the Alvarado Pioneers for winning the softball leaguer pennant in Southern Alameda County. Raymond Diaz of Alvarado deserves all the credit along with his fine players for winning the championship.

Miss Alvina Santos:

One of the most charming young ladies of Alvarado, Miss Alvina Santos, was honored at a dinner gathering of relatives and friends this week. Her parents, Mr. & Mrs. Anthony Santos announced her engagement to Mr. Brune of Alvarado. Mr. Brune is employed at Nelson's Planing Mill at Hayward where he has been for some five years and is a well-liked young man. Miss Santos is a graduate of Washington Union High School and is an active member of the Auxiliary's Juniors.

Last Saturday evening Mr. & Mrs. Antone Santos of the Silver Dollar Café in Alvarado, entertained in honor of the birthday of their daughter Alvina, to which relatives and friends were invited.

Cards were played and refreshments and a good time was enjoyed.

Five cars were involved in a double accident a mile south of Mt. Eden Saturday night. In one-mishap cars driven by Domingo Cicairos, 30, of Alvarado, C.W. Faber, 55, of Oakland and George Rose, 38, of Oakland collided. In the traffic jam that followed, cars driven by Frank J. O'Dea, 49, Oakland and Carl Oliver, 17, of Santa Clara, came together.

Men Meet Train:

The old saying that "God takes care of drunkards and children" was borne out early Wednesday morning when three Alvarado Mexican laborers were involved in a collision between their auto and a Southern Pacific train. The three men reportedly conceived the idea of meeting the train when they neared the T. P. Harvey crossing 1½ miles south of Alvarado. The driver, Baptista Cortez, 39, turned his auto onto the tracks and with two passengers in his car drove down the tracks until they "met" a train. This was at 2:15 a.m. Fidencio Mesa and another man whose identity was not learned, leapt from the car before impact, or ran away after the impact. The driver was tossed to one side and slightly injured. The car was dragged about 150 feet and is a total wreck.

T. P. Harvey Divorce:

Litigation between the parents of the recently divorced couple was disclosed today in a filing of an appeal in the Alameda County Superior Court. Involved are Dr. Alex Galbraith, socially prominent Piedmont physician, and F. C. Harvey, wealthy Alvarado resident. Harvey's son, Theodore, obtained a divorce from Dr. Galbraith's daughter, Marguerite, in a bitterly fought case last March.

The action appealed was a Berkeley Justice Court decision, which gave Mr. W. M. Larsen, assignee of Dr. Galbraith, a $389 judgment against Harvey, plus interest and court costs. J. W. O'Neill, attorney for Dr. Galbraith, said the money represented medical fees incurred more than two ago.

The Oakland Tribune, November 22, 1939

Farm News:

Talk about quality and large too in the line of carrots! Well, Ted Harvey has that real quality, which is being shipped east in iced cars from the Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association warehouse at the Hall Station warehouse at Alvarado. Some mighty fine lettuce is being shipped from that plant also. It is being grown by Edward S. Harvey and also by Ted Harvey.

M.P. Rose, who farms 16 acres next to Hall Station, had a big crop of potatoes, which make Alvarado famous. This property belongs to Mr. Rose. He also farms 30 acres on the Fair Ranch Road. This is particularly fertile soil. Carrots, potatoes and cauliflower are its products. Cauliflower will be harvested soon, says Mr. Rose

Dave C. Caeton, manager of the Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association warehouse, will go to the hospital in Oakland to have his foot operated on. He fell while at work several weeks ago and has been hobbling around since then. Since it has not heeled or responded to treatment, Dave's specialist ordered him to the hospital for about 10 days of treatment. Dave's brother Manuel will handle the work with the boys in that warehouse while he is away.

WOMAN WANTED:

Young for housekeeper on dairy ranch, close in, no objections to one child.

Post office Box 178, Alvarado

The Oakland Tribune, November 26, 1939

Around Town:

Eddie Martinez and Sam Dinsmore Jr. are trying hard to build up an even bigger trade in their Shell Station in Alvarado. They speak highly of Shell products.

Two former residents of Alvarado visited her recently. Mrs. Cecelia Otto and Joseph Otto. They are both now living in Hayward. Joseph used to work at the Central Bank here in town.

Continuation of the present program for establishment for game refuges on sub-marginal lands seems to be the only practical answer to preserving an adequate population of ducks.

New Pharmacy in Town:

Alvarado is indeed fortunate in having a new pharmacy, which opened this week in the former drug store location in the Diaz Building. The store was newly remodeled and re-tinted and the whole space within is used for drug store purposes. The tremendously complete stock of drug supplies needs all this space because never before has such a complete stock been displayed in Alvarado in recent years.

It would do justice to Oakland, and the owner, Mr. D. Cubucciotti, is an experienced pharmacist with the title Pg. G., Pharm. Dr., who first learned his profession over 35 years ago back in Philadelphia, and has followed it ever since.

Mr. Cubucciotti has been in California for around eight years, having drug stores in San Jose and Santa Rosa, and recently the Estudillo Pharmacy at Foothill Boulevard in San Leandro. He has a very interesting family and has an interesting business background.

He graduated from Temple University in Philadelphia, and got the gold medal (highest general average) on graduation. His high record gave him the privilege of becoming an instructor in pharmacy at that university, 1910 to 1915. He started a drug store in his spare moments and he operated a very successful business in Philadelphia from 1909 to 1931.

Folks, we invite you to call and see for yourselves, and make a friend of this man. He is one of the kindest and most accommodating professional men ever to come to Southern Alameda County and his ability to handle drug prescriptions cannot be beaten. He has Kodak supplies, stationery as well as all kinds of drug supplies.

Manuel F. Silva Buys Gas Station for Son:

Joseph G. Silva is the new General Petroleum dealer at Alvarado (service station, not distributor), taking the place of Al Schaub who has departed for San Diego for his health. Joseph Silva, is a live-wire young man who was born and raised in Washington Township, and is well and favorably known.

He is a graduate of the Alvarado Grammar School and the Washington Union High School class of 1938. His father is Manuel F. Silva who resides on Fair Ranch Road. Manuel Silva has been the secretary of the Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association, which for many years cooperated and kept up a fair price for tomatoes, which were canned in cooperation with the Ball Cannery in Oakland and other canneries. The many friends of this splendid businessman won't forget to patronize his son Joseph Silva at his gasoline station in Alvarado.

The well known Mobilgas and Mobiloil are products, which are some of the finest in the country today. Here in Washington Township Frank and Tony George of the well-known George Bros. are the distributors. And believe me, they have built up a tremendous business for General Petroleum

Cauliflower:

Hall Station is a busy shipping center these days for cauliflower going east via iced cars of the Southern Pacific Railroad. Each day six carloads of luscious "flower" are brought in by growers from the fields where it has been packed into wooden crates, about a dozen heads per crate to the Hall Station packing headquarters in Alvarado. Here tops are nailed on by an automatic nailer, which applied all the nails at one stroke. The crates are then stacked in the cars and the top is covered with a layer of crushed ice. The car is then sealed airtight for the trip east.

PTA Founders Day:

Founders Day will be observed by the PTA of the Alvarado Grammar School at the school February 28th at 2 o'clock. The public is invited and refreshments will be served. The committee on arrangements consists of Mary Hughes, Mrs. Mike Gardetto and Isabelle Ferry, assisted by Mrs. George Davis, President.

The Oakland Tribune, February 18, 1940

Around Town:

The PTA has planned a card party for January 31st with Mrs. Michael Gardetto as chairman assisted by Mrs. Leonard Silva and Mrs. Joseph Lewis.

The Alvarado Eagles initiated ten new members.

Joe Martin, Angelo Cosso, Joseph E. Lewis, William Silva and E. Quaresma attended an Eagles meeting in Livermore last Wednesday.

The Alvarado Grammar School defeated the Niles Grammar School Wednesday by a score of 29 to 18. Marcelino Ledesma led the scoring with 13 points.

The boys regret losing Clarence Ferreira for the basketball season, but his 18 month layoff is due. Mr. Wasley will supervise the boy's team for the rest of the season.

Mrs. Wm. Robinson writes from Chicago that she and her husband are enjoying good health. She is the granddaughter of Mrs. Fannie Robie.

John A. Bettencourt, aged about 44, passed away recently. He had been ailing with heart trouble. He was employed at a local dairy and lived above Sam Dinsmore's store in Alvarado.

Sam Dinsmore Jr. bought a new DeSoto coupe recently. Sam has the Shell Gas Station in Alvarado adjacent to the Silver Dollar Café.

George Enos, the driver of George Bros. Gasoline delivery truck purchased a new Pontiac from McKissick Auto Co. of San Leandro.

Joe Lewis, local booster for the Standard Oil in the Alvarado district deserves credit for being a 24-year employee of the Standard Oil Company.

Andy Anderson is at a hospital where he was operated on Thursday. We trust that he will soon be back with us.

Frank Goularte of Fair Ranch Road is improving after an operation at the Alameda Sanitarium at Alameda.

A birthday party in Oakland was attended by Mrs. John Bettencourt and daughter Norma and Mrs. DeKidos Saturday afternoon in honor of Lloyd Frates' birthday.

Portland of the Pacific Coast League is dickering with Fred Muller who was last year with the Toledo, OH. Baseball team. Fred is an Alvarado boy who just won't go east again to play but insists on playing on the west coast.

A fine brand of cosmetics is sold by Mrs. Robie. She is doing fine with this line of Avon Products. They are manufactured by the California Perfume Company and are pure and up-to-date in every detail. Why not give Mrs. Robie your next order? Her line comprises dental creams, hand creams, etc., as well as face creams of all kinds, powders, lotions and perfumes.

For the convenience of those who are required by law to file Federal Income Tax Returns, a Deputy collector of the Internal Revenue Service will be the Central Bank in Alvarado on February 23rd to assist taxpayers in preparing their returns. There is no charge for this service.

The Alvarado Pioneer, January 19, 1940

Alvarado Vegetable Growers:

Alvarado Vegetable Grower Association is indeed fortunate to have such a well-known pioneer grower as F.C. Harvey as Secretary Treasurer. Thirteen growers who ship through the association at Hall Station are:

T.P. Harvey	F.C. Harvey	Wallace McKeown
Weston Emery	Ed Lebon	Herbert Young
M.P. Rose	Harvey Granger	Joe Langdon
Soares Bros.	Al Caeton	Morrill King
Andrade Bros.

The cauliflower takes spurts in ripening and with favorable conditions will last till May.

The Alvarado Pioneer, February 2, 1940

Flood:

Rising water in the Alameda Creek in the Alvarado area flooded many roads in town. Marsh Road was under water for more than three miles, as was the Valle Vista-Alvarado (Alquire Road), and Canal Street (Marsten Ave.).

The Oakland Tribune, February 28, 1940

Flood:

Continuance of a week of rainstorms Wednesday night and early Thursday added an even inch of moisture to the season's total. This insures an ample water supply for wells and agriculture.

Meanwhile this extra rain caused the Alameda Creek to continue its flooding of low-lying areas around Alvarado. Homes in the outlying area of Alvarado are surrounded by water.

The Oakland Tribune, February 29, 1940

Flood:

The arrival of more than five and a half inches of rain the past week is expected to be of vital benefit to Southern Alameda County farming operations this year, some damage was inflicted on crops planted in the lowlands, Bayshore areas of San Lorenzo, Mt. Eden, Tennyson, Alvarado and Newark. Considerable acreage planted to spinach and sugar beets were flooded during the rains, and water is still standing in some parts.

Hobo Dies from Fall:

The body of a man who fell to his death from a Western Pacific train near the Holly Sugar mill at Alvarado Tuesday night, was identified tentatively as that of Sidney V. McCarthy, 45 year old hobo.

The Sheriff's office believes that the man fell from the top of a boxcar, his head striking the rail beneath. He suffered several broken bones also. The body was found by a passerby. Death is believed to have occurred shortly after the fall. Identification was made by a Social Security application found in the dead man's clothing. The application had been made in Oakland.

Alvarado will enter a float in the Oakland City "Old West Parade" to be held in Oakland on May 24th. The Alvarado entry will be a buggy unit depicting Emperor Norton, the mad San Franciscan who reigned in the 1880's, proclaiming himself to be the emperor of California and Mexico. Lazy Bar A Rancho of Alvarado is sponsoring the float.

The Hayward Daily Review, April 30, 1940

Niles Gypsies Have Alvarado Connection:

Two Gypsy women terrorized an aged Niles couple after promising to tell their future. The Gypsies told the wife "she would die soon" if they did not give them what they wanted. The Gypsies then tried to extort $300 from the couple, who refused them the money. They then asked for the couple's new radio set, chickens, the tea kettle, dishes and some onions. The terrified couple gave them what they asked for. Meanwhile their thirteen year-old daughter had called the police who arrived just as the two Gypsy ladies were leaving the house with large bundles of loot. The Gypsies were forced to return what they were taking and told them to get out of the county.

It was later learned the same Gypsies had operated a booth at the Alvarado Holy Ghost before being run out of town.

Alvarado Wedding:

Isabelle Pinto, orchestra leader, will become the bride of Wilbert Martin at a ceremony to be performed at St. Anne's Church Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The bride-to-be is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. C. Pinto and the groom elect is the son of Manuel Martin, all of Alvarado. Both young people graduated from Alvarado Grammar School.

The Oakland Tribune, June 7, 1940

Septic Tanks:

The Alvarado chamber of commerce will call a meeting to consider septic tank conditions in this community, since they are very bad, according to word from the County Health Department. An epidemic of sickness is feared if conditions are not improved, since every house uses a septic tank or a hole in the ground for sewage and the ground is contaminated as a result.

The Hayward Daily Review, June 19, 1940

Sewage Problem:

Gerald L. Worthley, coordinator for the Castro Valley and Oro Loma Sanitary District board of directors, was called in by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce Thursday night to assist this community with its growing sanitation problem.

At the close of an enthusiastic meeting of Chamber members and residents, Mr. Worthley and Cedric Macabee, engineer for the Castro Valley District had agreed to run a quick survey of sewer possibilities for Alvarado and report at a later meeting.

Mr. Worthley pointed out that Alvarado, being near the Bay shore, would have comparatively little expense for an outfall sewer line, which would carry off water from the treatment plant, under a suggested plan.

Mrs. Pauline Oakes, wife of George H. Oakes and publisher of the Alvarado Pioneer, has been re-elected president of the Hayward Campfire Guardians Association, it was announced Thursday. The Hayward Daily Review, June 21, 1940

A Poem to Grandma:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

A poem to you, dear grandma
To you from your grandchildren gay
To show that we all love you
And I can't find the right words to say

But just the thought of you
Makes everyone wear a smile
Why, even the thought of seeing you
Would make us walk a mile

Now sometimes we get angry with you
But don't mind a word we say
Because we get up from the side of the bed
When sometimes we still there should stay

Now, I hope you like poem
It's not very fancy, you see
But this you must remember
To our hearts you have the key
By: Mildred Martin, Alvarado, age 14

Around Town:

Mr. & Mrs. John Ralph went to the Santa Cruz Mountains this week leaving his employees in charge of the store. Adam Lewis is assisting the ladies on the jobs.

D. Diaz of the Union Meat Market went to Oakland on business Friday.

Mr. & Mrs. John Menezes attended the Fair on the Fourth when 131,000 was the total attendance.

Mr. & Mrs. Antone (Tony) Brune the newlyweds went on the Fourth of July to Yosemite and will return Sunday. They reside in Hayward.

Anyone wishing to seek information on the raising of canaries should see Angelo Cosso. We understand he has been trying to teach a cage full of brown canaries to sign and to his surprise they turned out to be sparrows. They were a gift from a friend. Someone is having a good laugh.

The Alvarado Vegetable Growers are now shipping lettuce from the fields of Ted Harvey, M.P. Rose and Weston Emery. The lettuce is packed by Superintendent Dave Caeton, assisted by Jack Carey, Walter Caeton, Mrs. Dave Caeton, Mrs. Elizabeth Vargas and Mr. Copeland (the bookkeeper). Golden State Creamery has lost a good employee in Walter Caeton, who has been a very faithful employee the past 19 years, but the Alvarado Vegetable Growers have gained a valuable worker who feels right at home working with the rest of the employees for his brother, Dave Caeton.

James Wasley, son of Principal and Mrs. James Wasley of Alvarado, deserves credit for his initiative in trying to get business experience by acquiring orders for the Oakland Tribune. He represents Alvarado in the Alameda County contest, which closes July 15th. The highest contestants are to go to Yosemite Valley for a week's vacation.

The splendid pleasure boat built by Dave Caeton a few years ago, which reposes on dry land at the Alviso dock near Centerville Road, is soon to make history. In three weeks Caeton will launch the boat at the Oakland Estuary. The ship weighs ten tons and has as sweet lines as any pleasure boat on the coast. Dave's boat has a Chrysler engine and plenty of power.

Santa Cruz Holy Ghost:

Santa Cruz experienced a "mass invasion" yesterday as 10,000 members of the Bay and northern California Portuguese Holy Ghost Society trekked here to participate in the annual Holy Ghost fiesta.

One of the largest delegations from Alameda County came from Alvarado, where the Holy Ghost fiesta is inaugurated each year. Alvarado sent more than 100 persons, who came in two large trucks and an auto caravan under the chairmanship of John Costa.

The Sons of the American Legion Drum Corps took a prominent spot in their parade from Washington Township, headed by Winifred Santos of Alvarado as majorette. The legions post's Junior Girl's Auxiliary also marched in the parade. Another unit from Alvarado was the Echoes of Portugal Drill Team.

Alvarado Explores Sewage District:

Engineer Cedric Macabee interviewed George Oakes and Charles Baird on Friday and stated that the sewer district boundary would approximate those of the old fire district, with a valuation of about $230,000. He said that his estimate of 990 cents a $100 would have to be increased to at least $1,00 a $100, as he had figured on a higher valuation.

Charles Baird motored around the district with Mr. Macabee and noted that there was a possibility of Alvarado having its own disposal plant by buying the already large reservoir formerly owned by the People's Water Company on the Union City Road and now a part of the Alameda County Water District. He said that this reservoir could be used as a foundation and a plant built around or near it, with most healthy conditions pervading it all.

In interviewing Ben Koontz, Superintendent of the Holly Sugar Corporation at Alvarado on Friday, he said the Sugar Mill was ahead with the clarifier, which would remove solid particles before they went down the flume to the marshes.

When asked if the Holly Sugar Corporation would be interested in combining with Alvarado in the use of the clarifier, he said he would have to get in touch with the main office at Colorado Springs. He said the clarifier had more capacity than Alvarado needed and could handle the needs of a city like Hayward. In other words the expense of upkeep for the eight months of the when the Sugar Mill is not operating beets, might be too much for the town to handle. He said that he would have a representative at the meeting on July 18th. It was understood that it might be Andrew Logan.

Here is what Alvarado people told the editor:

Fritz Hafen: "I will give $100 when the district starts working as I believe it is one of the finest things to help Alvarado."

Sam Dinsmore: "I am for the sewer district as it will fill a long needed improvement and I will be at Thursday's meeting."

A.A. Lee: "I am in favor for the sewer district which will improve conditions in Alvarado at a reasonable cost, which the taxpayer can handle."

James Wasley: "I have talked to many people and they have realized like the County Health Officer has said, that sooner or later a real epidemic will occur if we don't act soon."

Frank Machado: "I have lived in this district for long time and have seen that Alvarado needed a sewer district to permanently care for the needs of the district and help her grow. It will lead to more homes and better living conditions."

Matt Machado: "Count me as a big booster for the sewer district"

Supervisor Hellwig: "I will try to be at Thursday's meeting and I will always try to do the best thing for the townspeople. I will study the proposition thoroughly.

Sugar:

Holly Sugar Corporation, reporting success with its present feed yard at the Alvarado sugar mill, has started to enlarge the system by constructing a new yard at a cost of $30,000. The corporation has similar yards at Tracy and Hamilton City.

Through these feed yards, the corporation combines its mill operations with those of feeding nutritious sugar beet pulp to cattle after it has had the sugar extracted in the mills.

George Gillespie, who built the new Tracy unit last year, has been sent here from Colorado to build the Alvarado yard. The Alvarado mill last year completed a million dollar addition to its sugar extraction plant.

Four Men Being Held:

Four San Jose Mexicans were held by the Hayward Sheriff's Office and the Highway Patrol Wednesday following a supposed auto accident at Alvarado where conflicting stories were told.

Treated at Fairmont County Hospital was Albert Negret, 20, who suffered severe cuts on the head, either as the result of the supposed accident or a fight. Also in custody were Ventura Ruiz, 19, John Gonzalez, 18, and James Robledo, 20.

One of the stories told by the four was that, prior to their apprehension in Alvarado early Wednesday, their auto had struck a pole and they had tried to get help for Negret.

Officers were called after a window in the Sam Dinsmore store at Alvarado was broken. Negret said he broke the window as means of getting help.

Battery Charge Nets Jail Time:

A sentence of thirty days in the county jail was meted to Clarence J. Pimentel, 26, Alvarado man who formerly resided on Belmar Street in Hayward. Pimentel had pleaded guilty to a charge of battery preferred by his estranged wife, Mrs. Marie J. Bettencourt. Pimentel claimed he had merely picked her up and placed here in his car by force "because I wanted to talk to her." Pimentel said divorce proceedings are pending, and that the couple have a houseful of furniture in their former home in Hayward.

Alvarado Sewer System Planned:

Residents of Alvarado will attend a mass meeting here Thursday night, at which the possibility of organizing a sanitary district and installing a sewer system will be discussed. Two possible methods of providing a disposal plant have been noted. The first is building a large reservoir on Union City Road on property now owned by the Alameda County Water District. The second is to use the clarifier now being built by the Holly Sugar Mill.

Around Town:

A. Davilla, the pioneer Alvarado businessman who makes his home with relatives in Santa Clara, is visiting his daughter and son-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. A. Santos for a few weeks.

Miss Winifred Santos has been elected President of the Junior Auxiliary, Unit No. 195 at Niles, of Washington Township.

Bernice Lezand, one of the most charming young ladies in Alvarado, was taken to the Highland Hospital where it is feared she is suffering from spinal meningitis.

Manuel Andrade was returning from work at the Sugar Mill when his auto was hit head-on by a car driven by a nineteen-year old. He was injured and will miss several weeks of work.

While diving into the pool at the Hayward Plunge last weekend, Bobby Rodgers of Alvarado struck another boy under water and broke his eardrum. His hearing has returned somewhat.

We understand that Mr. Naharro of the Alvarado Theater will be the new owner of a new Packard car next week.

Miss Hernandez, a young lady of Alvarado, was taken to the hospital where she will under go treatment for a growth on her shoulder. She is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Hernandez of the Union City Road.

St. Anne Festival Canceled:

St. Anne's Festival, an annual celebration of St. Anne's Church in Alvarado, set for July 28th has been postponed until August 3rd or 4th because of conflicting dates with the Alameda County Fair in Pleasanton.

The Oakland Tribune, July 21, 1940

Alameda County Fair:

Josephine and Frank Cordoba, popular Alvarado dancers, will appear at the county fair showing their skills at Spanish dances.

The Oakland Tribune, July 21, 1940

Sewers:

There was plenty of enthusiasm to secure the needed sanitary district for Alvarado shown by the 35 people who attended the Chamber of Commerce meeting on Thursday evening at the Alvarado Grammar School auditorium.

Joseph Lewis presided over the meeting in the absence of Charles Baird who is on vacation. George Oakes was Secretary. Engineer Cedric Macabee and his assistant had real good news for the large assemblage of Alvarado business people and property owners. They had surveyed the district and had a map showing the probable limits to be served. They had studied the sewer district from every angle and felt that they could make a success of the district.

The Chamber's permanent committee was appointed, which was the same one as last week, to go ahead and cooperate with engineer Macabee. They include Charles Baird, Frank Machado, John Ralph, A.A. Lee, George Oakes, Fred Wiegman and A.E. Vargas.

The Hayward Daily Review, July 23, 1940

Alameda County Fair:

James C. Wasley of Alvarado took away many prizes in the poultry division judging. He won most of the ribbons in the Brown Leghorns, with a large display of that variety. In the sugar beet judging, Ralph Logan of Alvarado took the first prize.

Sorority Rush:

About a score of the Zeta Tau Alpha Sorority members (UC Berkeley) attended a swimming party Wednesday afternoon last at Orinda. It was the first rushing affair of the summer and those in charge were Miss Kay Fox, President, Miss Katherine Rathbone of Centerville and Miss Marion Ziegler of Alvarado.

Sewer:

To hire an engineer to make a survey of the cost of sewerage Alvarado, merchants and citizens generally have guaranteed a fund of $250, each agreeing to pay $5. The list was signed after a report was heard from engineer Cedric Macabee of Hayward, who will be employed to make the survey.

Joseph Lewis, chairman at the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce, suggests that with sewers installed in this city, it will be in a position to offer acceptable homes to more Holly Sugar and Leslie Salt employees who now live elsewhere.

Sewers have become a necessity here according to a recent report from the County Health Officer, Dr. I.O. Church.

Vegetables:

The packing shed at Hall Station in Alvarado just completed the loading of peas into three freight cars for shipment east. The packing plant is now working on lettuce, trucks coming from Northern California cities to haul the lettuce packed in crates, states manager Caeton. Mr. Caeton has just begun a trip to the Northwest and upon his return will launch his new boat in Oakland.

The Hayward Daily Review, July 31, 1940

Sewer District Moves Forward:

Folks! You should have attended the Sewer District meeting and seen the enthusiastic endorsement of the proposal of putting sewers in the Alvarado District. The Flood Control meetings used to draw larger crowds and then when the flood receded so did the interest of the people. But no so with the Sewer District meetings because they are getting more enthusiastic with each meeting.

At the mass meeting held Thursday night, Joseph Lewis made a motion that the sewer district should be formed and upon seconding by Frank Machado, the district was definitely on its way toward formation. The next step was the OK put on the boundaries of the district, which were practically the same as those of the old fire district.

The Alvarado Pioneer, August 2, 1940

Alvarado All-Stars:

Leland Telles, pitcher for the Silver Dollar All-Stars started erratically but finished with a strong performance to lead the Alvarado club to a tie with Strom's Clothiers in a game played the Sports Field on Treasure Island.

Hitting stars for the Silver Dollar were George Sweeney, Joe Dutra and Manuel Azevedo who got two hits apiece. Eddie Lebon and Mike Ramos each got one hit apiece. Ray Diaz, flashy buck short, made a spectacular play to cut off a couple of runs in the fifth. Jimmy Perry, the iron man leftfielder madder a swell peg into home to cut off a run in the fourth. The game ended up tied at five all. The game was called due to time constraints.

A Ride to Santa Cruz:

(From The Oakland Tribune's Aunt Elsie's Children Page)

One Sunday mother said that we were going to Santa Cruz. We ate breakfast and mother made a lunch to take to Santa Cruz. We then left. On the road going to Santa Cruz we saw many mountains. It was pretty to see lots of green trees and to be up high on the mountains. Arriving at Santa Cruz we went to the beach. It was a very nice day there. We put on our bathing suits and went wading in the water. The waves coming in suddenly would sometimes knock us down.

It was soon time to go back home. We had a nice time on our visit to Santa Cruz.

Supervisor Hellwig:

Gladiolus grown by Supervisor George P. Hellwig in Alvarado won first honors at a Treasure Island display recently, which was judged by floral experts. The flowers were said to be the largest of the variety ever grown in Alameda County.

Hellwig, an amateur gardener, is now experimenting with a new species of sweet peas, the original seed having been brought here from Hindustan by a traveling missionary.

The Oakland Tribune, August 7, 1940

News Note:

Linda Jane Hellwig, a graduate of the 1940 class at Washington Union High School, has chosen to attend the University of California at Berkeley.

The Oakland Tribune, August 15, 1940

Around Town:

The SPRSI lodge of Alvarado enjoyed an outdoor barbecue at the Hayward Plunge. In attendance was Mrs. Angie Vargas President of the Alvarado Council and Clara Flores secretary.

Elisia Machado, popular Alvarado young lady will soon wed Anthony Dutra of Irvington. They will make their home near the Baumberg Salt Works where the groom is employed.

Mr. & Mrs. Manuel A. Silva are on vacation at Santa Cruz. Mr. Silva is one of Alvarado's pioneer businessmen, whose place of business is opposite the Central Bank.

Bernice Lezand has returned to the hospital after having been home for a while.

Delores Hernandez, who has been in a cast at the hospital in Oakland, is improving slowly.

A dance and raffle given for the benefit of St. Anne's church was a success. Close to $60 was received. On the committee were Joseph Martin, Joe Lewis.

Mr. & Mrs. Frank Folger entertained Los Angeles friends this week. The Folger's reside in one of the Varni cottages near the Riverside Hotel.

Mabel Rodgers of the Creek Road is better after a month's attack of arthritis.

Sugar:

Thursday has been set as the opening day of the 1940 "run" of the Holly Sugar Company's mill here, with one of the heaviest production seasons in the mill's history. A good sugar beet crop and increased facilities at the plant are expected to result in last years' 700,000-bag record being exceeded this year. The run is expected to last about four months.

Two innovations mark the opening of this season, the completion of a clarification unit, which will take care of all waste-water and sewage at the plant and the construction of a new feed yard where approximately 2,500 head of beef cattle will be brought to fatten for the 1941 market. Feed for the cattle is furnished by the 75,000 tons of wet beet-pulp, by-product of the sugar manufacturing. Some of the pulp is dried and sacked and sold for feed.

Most of the beets used at the plant are from the Bay area, San Leandro, Sunnyvale, Pleasanton and Washington Township and some from San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys. Last year 220,000 tons of beets were processed.

Pioneer Updates Its Printing Press:

With this week's issue, the Alvarado Pioneer prints its last paper on the Campbell Press that it has used for the last ten years in Alvarado. Next week a larger press will be installed that will print four pages at one time.

Our old press has been purchased by the Washington Union High School to be used in their printing department where the school paper, The Hatchet, and other material is published. Mr. Kibby, instructor in printing at W.U.H.S. arranged for the purchase of the press and deserves credit for the fine type of work that he does with students there.

Sewer District Marches Forward:

Engineer E. Cedric Macabee, who has done splendid work in planning the sewer district for Alvarado, at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce and public spirited citizens, announces that the District Attorney's Office will give him typewritten petitions which have been long awaited. The press of business has made it impossible for the District attorney to get them out sooner. This means that Frank Machado can take the petitions around to have them signed by about 20 property owners. The next step will be to take these petitions and formally present them to the Supervisors.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 20, 1940

Alvarado Eighth Grade Class:

Principal James C. Wasley teaches the eighth grade at the Alvarado Grammar School and he has the following 18 pupils to which more will be added later:

Bertille Amaral
Stanley Lewis
Kay Sakamoto
Emily Dominguez
Andy Hill
Lorraine Sa

Ernest Bettencourt
Frank Pinto
Tatsuo Tanaka
Susie Gonzales
Doris Martinez
Agnes Silva

Robert Hernandez
Clifford Rogers
Yotsuo Tao
Jeanette Goularte
Rosie Nieto
Manuel Priego

This class will largely be those who will graduate June of next year. We also admired the new desks that were installed for the convenience of the eighth grade.

Around Town:

Evelyn Correia went to visit her sister, May Campos in San Francisco Sunday and returned on Wednesday night.

Bobby Lemos was twelve years old Thursday. He is in the 7th grade at the Alvarado Grammar School.

Next Tuesday there will a benefit card party for St. Anne's Church at the S.D.E.S. Hall. On the committee are Mrs. A.E. Vargas, Mrs. A.S. Mello and Mrs. Frank Roderick.

Lucky Lager and acme beers are the leading brands sold by Matt Machado at his place of business at Alvarado next to Manuel Silva's blacksmith shop (directly across the street from Alvarado School). Nehi beverages are also kept on hand and many brands of wine.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 20, 1940

The Alvarado Sweet Shop:

Next to the Alvarado Theater is the new Alvarado Sweet Shop, which is a thing of beauty with modern interior decorating. We met Miss Naharro in charge of this corner ice cream shop and she handled everything like an experienced person. The modern soda fountain must be seen to be appreciated and the tables and chairs make it very inviting for a party of friends to enjoy a cool soft drink these hot days or light refreshments if desired.

Borden's Ice Cream is used and their ice cream guarantees an especially fine treat. Borden's desserts are kept in the refrigerator and they make something excellent to take home and ser along with your dinner. All the delicious flavors of ice cream to be found in the big city are found here.

We might say in passing that Mr. Naharro, the owner of the shop, has made quite a success of everything he and his son have undertaken in the many years they have lived in Alvarado. Mr. Naharro Sr. owns the shoe repair shop opposite the Alvarado Pioneer. He has many homes, which he rents out. His son has proved himself a splendid movie theater manager and brings to his Alvarado Theater just as fine pictures as are to be found on Broadway in Oakland.

All the family pulls together and now the daughter is showing her remarkable ability in handling the new "Alvarado Sweet Shop," which has been open only a short time.

The Alvarado Pioneer, September 20, 1940

Around Town:

Community night will be held at the Alvarado Grammar School October 4th at 7:30 p.m. Among the entertainment will be Jeanette Montalbo, Carol Lon Nelson and Clifford Rogers.

The petition blanks for the sewer district have been received from the D.A.'s office and Frank Machado and A.J. Vargas are going around town getting the necessary signatures.

The next meeting of the Chamber of Commerce will be on Sept. 30th. Supervisor Hellwig, a strong supporter of the sewer district will be present.

Miss Mary Jane Hinckley, formerly of Alvarado, was married to William Wetzel of Mt. Eden Sunday at the Mt. Eden Presbyterian Church.

Former coach Clarence Ferreira will be on hand Friday night to meet all his friends at the community dance. Save him a dance girls.

Mr. & Mrs. Tony Correia announces the birth of a son on Sept. 22nd. The father is a former resident of Alvarado and is the son of Mrs. Zelma Correia.

Mrs. Shinn of Niles is the teacher of the night school at Alvarado Grammar School, which started Thursday of last week. The night classes are preparing aliens for their citizenship exam at Oakland.

A.E. Vargas of Alvarado purchased a De Luxe Dodge from the Judd Motor Co. next to the Montgomery Ward store on A Street in Hayward. He has made two fishing trips the last two weeks, one to Petaluma Slough and the next to McAvoy near Pittsburg. He got the limit of striped bass each time. He was accompanied by his son Edward.

William Platt, the new coach at the Alvarado Grammar School, has really gotten in and worked during his short time with us. He has been given the barn at Dutro's place and made a nice gym for the boys who are getting lot of recreation as well as good bodybuilding out of his program. What we really need here in Alvarado is a Boy's Club, how about it folks?

The Alvarado Farm Scene:

Ever since the writer of the Pioneer was a boy he heard that Alvarado Burbank Potatoes were considered of the highest quality and that is still true. The thousands of acres of potatoes that are being dug out of the ground at this time are in demand at the markets. Right here in Alvarado, Hayward or Oakland people who want to buy these potatoes fresh from the grower and save money from the middleman, should call on these growers and buy a sack.

Ted Harvey has a fine salesroom on the Alvarado-Centerville Highway next to the Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association (Hall Station).

Lloyd Bailey has a large warehouse near by the Association where he sells potatoes.

M.P. Rose, whose farm is on the Fair Ranch Road, has just as fine potatoes as anybody. You can reach him by calling at the Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association as he ships large quantities of cauliflower through them
Al Caeton on the Beard Tract (Beard Road) at Alviso has fine potatoes for sale.

The Alvarado Vegetable Growers Assoc. has their usual busy season of packing lettuce, which is called for each day by trucks from San Francisco and San Joaquin County Markets. Cauliflower is also packed at the local plant and shipped to the San Francisco market. November is the month that the cauliflower arrives at the packing shed at Hall Station and continues well past Christmas.

The Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association at Hall Station held their annual mass meeting last week and re-elected the same and directors, Weston Emery, President, and F.C. Harvey, secretary of the association had acted in their usual capable manner and were re-elected. The association has some twelve of the largest growers in this part of the township between Alvarado and Centerville shipping from Hall Station on the Alvarado-Centerville Highway.

Local sugar beet growers from District 1 (which includes Alameda, Santa Clara and a part of Contra Costa County) are balking at the prices offered and are withholding signing contracts with the sugar refineries until the price situation looks a little better, according to L.E. Silva from Alvarado, a member of the Advisory Board.

Pheasant Season Opens:

One half hour after sunrise Friday morning, pheasant season will open in this area. Hunters will invade every open piece of ground around here for Chinese pheasants. Farmers will prosecute hunters who hunt on property which have signage forbidding hunting. That said, Mt. Eden and Alvarado would probably pan out as the best hunting grounds according to local game wardens.

Sewer District:

One of the important routine matters in the preparation for the anticipated passage of the Alvarado sewer District by the voters was attended to by Frank Machado, Tony Vargas and Mr. Azevedo; it was the $400 bond, which was secured from E.A. Ellsworth, the insurance man at Niles. The premium has been paid and just in case the district is not formed this $400 provides for the advance work of the engineers.

But it is a sure thing that the bonds for sewer will be passed as the people are unanimous for their needed public improvement. One change has recently been made to district boundaries and that was the cutting out of the ten acres of William Avila near the S.P. tracks from the sewer district.

Jury Spares Alvarado Man:

The recommendation of a jury has spared the life of Benito Lopez Ortega, 46, convicted slayer, from death in San Quentin's gas chamber.

Ortega will appear before Judge Lincoln S. Church Monday morning to be sentenced to life imprisonment for fatally stabbing Norberto Aragonéz at Alvarado on September 12th.

The jurors deliberated three hours and by their recommendation made the life sentence mandatory. Ortega, father of six children, killed Aragonéz following a quarrel in a bunkhouse occupied by fellow field workers.

Chamber of Commerce Revived:

With 80 paid-up members the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce, after a period of inactivity for several years, reorganized at the grammar school this week with more than half of its members present.

Frank Machado, who is credited with signing up the 80 members, was unanimously elected president, Joe Lewis was elected Vice President, George Oakes was chosen as Secretary, and John Menezes Treasurer. Directors are: John Ralph, Joe Dutra, Clarence Flores, A. E. Vargas, Manuel Azevedo, E. Perry and J. C. Wasley.

One major issue discussed at the initial meeting was the formation of an Alvarado Sanitary District. The membership heard from J. N. Stage, consulting engineer, from the L. Cedric Macabee Co. on the prospect of setting up our own district.

Ladies Serve Refreshments At CC Meeting:

A wonderfully happy ending to the historic Alvarado Chamber of Commerce meeting was the refreshment served by the committee of ladies. Sandwiches, coffee, cake, pickles, olives, etc., were arranged on daintily decorated banquet tables in one section of the auditorium. The good cheer bespoke the success of the ladies' effort.

Mrs. Mike Gardetto, chairman, was ably assisted by Mrs. F.E. Machado, Mrs. M.E. Perry, Mrs. M.B. Azevedo, Mrs. Nora Vargas, Mrs. J.C. Wasley, Mrs. Charles Baird, Mrs. George Oakes and Mrs. Joe Lewis.

Eagles Hold Annual Banquet:

Monday night, December 2nd, was a gala one for the Alvarado Eagles when they enjoyed a regular Christmas turkey banquet, which is an annual affair. The refreshment committee prepared something exceptional at the Odd Fellows Hall and President Louis Silva of the Alvarado Eagles welcomed many local and prominent Alameda County Eagles. There were some 75 present.

The membership has been growing right along, says John Menezes, secretary. A coming event this month is the East Bay Council banquet at the restaurant, formerly known as the "Alabam," on the corner of San Lorenzo Junction and East 14th Street.

Pinto's Orchestra of Alvarado has been playing weekends at this newly popularized eating-place and many dancing couples have been attracted by their fine music. Mr. Pinto belongs to the Alvarado Aerie of Eagles.

Beet Growers Unhappy With New Contract:

Grower member of the Central Beet Grower's Association (which includes Alvarado) charged today that the beet sugar companies have accepted the advantages which have accrued to them as a result of the Department of agriculture regulation for stabilizing the sugar industry but are now refusing to abide by the department's recommendations for prices to be paid to growers.

"Contracts now being offered sugar beet growers in Central and Northern California do not give a proportionate share of profits to the growers because they do not follow the Department of Agriculture's recommendation for a fair contract," says Gordon Lyons, secretary of the Association.

"It is a well known fact that when sugar companies were losing money under the old 'minimum guarantee' contracts, they asked the growers to agree to a 'share of the profit' contract. This the growers did, but now, in the 1941 the Holly Sugar Corp., the American Crystal Sugar Co., and the Spreckels Sugar Co. are refusing to share the present profits of the sugar business with growers."

"In other words, by agreeing to a participating contract, the growers helped the sugar companies out when they were in desperate straits but now, when the grower profits are small and the company profits are high, the companies are unwilling to adjust the contracts to bring about an equitable distribution of the sugar dollar income.

Sugar:

The Alvarado harvest of sugar beets ended Tuesday, says Superintendent Ben Koontz. From now until the end of the season on January 1st, the mill will use beets from Sacramento. These beets arrive via the railroad. They arrive at the rate of 42 carloads a day.

The 42 carloads represent some 1,700 tons of beets and they are raised in the island and delta district. They are put on the railcars near Sacramento.
The Hayward Daily Review, December 18, 1940

Cauliflower:

The Alvarado Vegetable Association is shipping 5 carloads of luscious cauliflower daily to eastern markets. It is going via fast express refrigerated cars and is finding a fine market in the east where it is advertised as the superior Alameda County vegetable. Some of this cauliflower is of the Snowball variety the remainder is of the Broccoli variety.

Board of Supervisors Approve Alvarado Sewer District:

On Thursday morning before the Board of Supervisors in Oakland, Alvarado citizens witnessed the approval of the report of Engineer Cedric Macabee regarding the Alvarado Sanitary District. Those present from Alvarado were: Frank A. Machado, A.E. Vargas, Joseph Priego and D. Diaz. Supervisor George Hellwig was present to see that everything was well taken care of and gave his town, Alvarado, a good boost.

The meeting served as a hearing for protests but everything went off nicely and much credit must be given especially to the largest holders of acreage in the proposed sanitary district for the willingness to accept added taxes in order to give Alvarado a chance to grow by reason of having the modern convenience of sewers.

Frank Machado took particular interest in explaining to the Board how necessary all of the boundaries were as selected by the engineer in order to give a financial success to the district.

Thank must be given to Mr. Vargas for taking time off as well as to Mr. Priego and Mr. Diaz.

The bond election date has been set for Saturday, January 25, 1941.

Christmas Day At Antone Santos':

On Christmas day there will be a gathering at the home of Mr. & Mrs. A. Santos, when Mr. & Mrs. Davilla and their daughters and their husbands and children will gather for the annual get together. On Christmas Eve this same group will gather with Mr. & Mrs. John Menezes when a midnight supper will be enjoyed, which is quite a tradition with the family.

Their Christmas tree is one of the big features and presents are distributed. Those present will be:

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Jacinto and children, Joseph Jr. and Betty

Mr. & Mrs. John Menezes and children, Alberta and Alice

Mr. & Mrs. Hubert Jacinto

Mr. & Mrs. A. Santos and daughter Winifred

Mr. & Mrs. Tony Brune

Mr. & Mrs. A. Davilla

The Alvarado Pioneer, December 20, 1940

Around Town:

Mr. & Mrs. John Ralph are going to spend Christmas Eve with Mrs. Ralph's mother, Mrs. Hughes in Oakland.

Miss Vivian Mae Logan, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Andrew K. Logan, is attending San Jose State College where she is planning to become a teacher.

One of the first places in town to decorate with an outdoor Christmas tree is Frank George at the General Petroleum headquarters in the center of town. The beautiful cedrus deodora beside the office has been growing so fast that Frank says he has to add an extra string of light each year to decorate the tree sufficiently. All of which reminds the publisher, (who used to be her father's secretary at the Oregon Nursery Co.) that it is never advisable to plant a cedrus deodora unless one has 60 feet of space to fill.

Silver Dollar Café to Have Free Eats:

The Silver Dollar Café at Alvarado will serve free eats New Year's Eve to all their friends says owner Anthony Santos. Tony says to the public to come and have a good time and dance the old year out. The treat of delicious homemade linguica is presented free by Santos and you buy the liquid refreshment. That's fair enough!

Tony knows how to make homemade linguica like an expert and people who have tasted his brand tell us that it can't be beat.

Santos had a caller to see him on Christmas. It was Charlie Brown, who used to operate the Alvarado Theater over six years ago. Brown is now a judge in the San Francisco courts.

Sugar:

Forwarding of a letter from the secretary of the Beet Growers Association, Gordon Lyons, to Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard, marked the opening gun in the fight for California sugar beet growers to obtain an adjustment in the acreage allotments for 1941.

Mr. Lyons writes in his letter to Secretary Wickard, "In so far as the state (California) was the first in the United States to go into the processing of sugar beets, the first factory being created at Alvarado in 1870, at the site of the present Holly Sugar mill, some consideration should be given to the farmers who have done so much in proving out the sugar beets. Huge sums of money have been spent in eradicating the pests that infest the beet fields, in improving the crop and sugar content of the root and in the development of labor savings devices."

The petition urges Secretary Wickard to grant the sugar beet growers of this section at least their proportionate share of the country's sugar beet acreage for an increase of at least 7,766 acres.

Sugar:

Thirty five thousand tons of beets out in the field have been harvested the past two weeks from the San Joaquin delta and distributed between the Alvarado and Tracy sugar mills. The season was never so long as this year. The heavy yield of beets plus the extremely wet weather throughout January has been the cause of the extended beet harvest season. Usually the beet harvest has been through by Christmas.

The Niles Selective Service Board at Niles has inducted Kenneth S. Mulholland and Richard Mateo of Alvarado report for induction on Feb 21st at the Niles Board No. 75 on 1st Street in Niles. Mrs. Genevieve Dutra, our local Postmaster, will attend a banquet with other Alameda County Postmasters on Feb. 28th. Visiting in Alvarado Saturday were Arlene Bettencourt and Lucy Medina who came from San Diego to see Miss Bernice Lezand, who has been ill for some time and is slowly recovering. Isabell Pinto's Orchestra played at the Alviso School dance on February 22nd. Jim Wasley Jr. is an ambitious young man. He is working Sundays at Pete Rose's General Petroleum Station (Mobilgas) at Alvarado. Jim used to work for Sam & Eddy's Shell Gas Station last year. This lad is attending San Jose State College, taking the pre-dental course.

Cauliflower is being shipped at about five carloads a day to the Eastern market by the Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association. During January and the first part of February, the price was low back east and the grocers lost money. The early March cauliflower will bring a higher price and help the growers break even on the season.

The Rodrigues Garage:

The Rodriguez Garage at the old Steve Smith Garage corner at Alvarado is going places and doing things. The gas pumps are to be modernized and this corner is to become one of the most attractive and busiest in this part of the township. So says Mr. & Mrs. Rodrigues, who operate the garage. Mr. Rodrigues is a good mechanic and he does auto repair work. We recommend him.

Around Town:

The Entertainment Committee of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce is making plans for a monster Whist Party to be held at the Alvarado Grammar School auditorium on Friday, April 18th. The price of admission will be 35 cents. Those on the Entertainment Committee are Pete Rose of the Mobilgas Station in Alvarado, chairman and Joe Lewis, Manuel Perry and Tony Rivers. Three new members joined the C of C last week, Sam Vecchio, F. Rodrigues and E. Naharro.

Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Gaspar and son Gilbert were tendered a goodbye party at the home of friends. Those present from Alvarado were: Mr. & Mrs. Pimentel, Mr. Silvestre de Mello, and Mrs. Tony Alexander and daughter Sharon. The afternoon was spent in dancing and playing games.

The Leslie Salt Co. plant at Alvarado is hauling by trucks the usual large amount of packs salt to the Southern Pacific Depot at Alvarado. They load it on three cars daily.

Mrs. Isabel Martin is now taking beauty culture in a very prominent Oakland Beauty School.

Miss Irene Freitas of Alvarado and Mr. Raymond Freitas of Hayward are making plans for their wedding.

Lawrence Telles and Miss Hambey spent a week with Mr. & Mrs. William Avilla. Mrs. Telles is Mrs. Avilla's nephew.

Mr. & Mrs. A.E. Vargas entertained friends from Hayward last Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Joseph Lewis attended the funeral of her late uncle Mr. Maciel. The deceased was the husband of Mrs. Rose Maciel, president of the SPRSI lodge.

Mr. Antone Lee is still in the hospital and expected to be home soon. His friends all wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Helen Goularte celebrated her birthday last Tuesday. She was entertained at the home of her nieces, Jeanette and Marjorie Goularte of Alvarado.

A.K. Culver, who formerly lived next to Mrs. Laura Orelli in Alvarado and who worked at Holly Sugar for 10 years, died on February 14 at Los Angeles. He leaves a wife, a daughter and son.

The Alvarado Pioneer, March 7, 1941

Cauliflower Takes a Hit:

Quantity has been reduced in the cauliflower harvest, the quality has increased but it is tough on the Alvarado growers. The March and April harvest of cauliflower has seen 150 carloads flooded out in the fields and made unfit for harvesting, crating and shipment.

The Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association has managed to ship out 25 or 30 cars the past 10 days. They expect only 10 or 15 carloads more of this March and April harvest.

Santa Maria cauliflower is really the only competition for Alvarado cauliflower in the past, but Santa Maria has been almost completely devastated by flooding and Alvarado had a chance to get in on the high prices until the recent set back.

Fred Hafen Dies:

Alvarado will miss Fred Hafen, 71, who died last week in a San Francisco hospital. A resident for many years, Mr. Hafen was employed at the sugar mill. There are no local survivors although he has a niece in Bend, Oregon. He will be interred at Albany, Oregon.

The Hayward Daily Review, March 11, 1941

Alvarado School Basketball:

The Alvarado Grammar School basketball teams played Irvington on Monday at Alvarado.

Alvarado's lightweight team won 14 to 3. The players were: Bert Amaral, Willie DeAnsley, Tatsuo Yatsuo, Dave Priego and Bradley Martinez.

Alvarado's heavyweights lost 27 to 6. The players were: Capt. Robert Benjamin, Kay Sakamoto, Robert Lopez, Robert Hernandez, Manuel Priego, John Samarron, and Joe Who.

John Varni Buys Church Land:

We need more men like John Varni. He has a record of building some 12 homes the past few years near the S.P. Depot at Alvarado. This week he bought 5.5 acres of land back of the St. Anne's church. He bought it through A.E. Vargas and other men handling it for the Catholic Church.

The Alvarado Pioneer, March 14, 1941

Around Town:

Mr. A.E. Vargas has now completed shipping cauliflower for this season.

Miss Jeanette Goularte celebrated her birthday by having a family party Friday evening. Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Goularte, Betty & Lavern Medeiros and Mr. & Mrs. Frank Goularte attended.

Two new members joined the Alvarado C of C this week. They are: Joseph A. Rose and Alvin Silvey.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. Charles Baird is at the Hayward Hospital. She is expected back home in Alvarado in a few days.

A.A. (Tony) Lee is back at home after five weeks in the hospital. He looks as good as ever and was glad to be back home.

Due to the heavy storm the natural gas line to the Leslie Salt Company plant at Alvarado was broken. The gas line furnishes heat for the dryers and his cost the plant two days of work.

The Alvarado Pioneer, March 14, 1941

Tom Abreu Dies:

The death of Thomas Abreu at Highland Hospital removed a picturesque character from Alvarado. Mr. Abreu had lived in a little cottage at the end of the Union City Road for nearly fifty years. He was about 72 years of age at the time of his death. He was a very interesting character to those who knew him well. They remember that he was always a jolly fellow, who took part in local celebrations. At the turn of the century he went each year to Alaska with the salmon fisheries.

At one time here years ago he created considerable excitement by winning about $1,200 in the Louisiana Lottery. This was about 1895 when this national lottery was creating tremendous excitement and was going strong.

Tom was short in stature and as old age caught up with him we saw him walking slower and slower on his way home along the Union City Road. He was nicknamed the "Mayor of Alvarado" by many people.

There are many men around here who were very kind to him, Frank Machado, Jim Wasley and others, calling on him often to see if he needed help. Last month they took him to Highland Hospital.

The Alvarado Pioneer, March 14, 1941

Sugar:

The Holly Sugar Mill, for the first time in its history, is milling new beets in the month of March because of delta floods, which caused the beets to remain in the ground until a dry spell made it possible to harvest them. Usually the harvest is over in late December.

Around Town:

Norman Silveira celebrated his 18th birthday at his home on Granger Avenue, March 19th. A party was held at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Goularte.

Hubert Jacinto had a birthday party Friday night, March 14th at San Leandro at the home of his wife's folks.

Tony Mello is having his café nicely painted inside and beautified by Frank Dutra. Keep up the good work, Tony. You are always civic-minded and help the town grow.

Someone else is ready for the Army draft, Marian Cordoba, who celebrated his 21st birthday last Sunday March 16th.

Peter Pinto holds accordion band practice twice a month at his home on Smith Street next to the school.

Lorraine Silveira of Granger avenue is to wed Bill Silva of San Leandro soon. Her parents are Mr. & Mrs. Frank Silveira. Mr. Silveira is employed at the Salt Works.

Thursday at the Alvarado School ground the Alvarado lightweight basketball team won from Warm Springs, 12 to 9. Our heavyweights lost.

John Aguiar has been at home in bed with a fractured leg. The accident happened when he was learning to skate at the Hayward rink.

Mrs. William Avilla and Miss Bernice Lezand spent Friday in Oakland shopping.

Monday evening Mrs. Edith Mello, Mrs. Nora Vargas, Mr. Emilio Re, Miss Marjorie Goularte, and Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Perry of Alvarado attended a card in Newark for the benefit of St. Edward's Church.

Walter and Andy Gardetto of Alvarado have won the $5.00 prize given at the Down Town Theater in Oakland. They were the first out of ten contestants, which is putting Alvarado on the map. Some time ago they appeared on the State Theater program at Hayward and won first prize. They play the accordion and the saxophone. At one time they also won at the Granada Theater.

We must congratulate Manuel Silva, the blacksmith whose is opposite the Alvarado School because he is a splendid mechanic. We saw a cauliflower and tomato planter that he is building. It's well built beams support a tank that looks like a work of art. Two large pneumatic tires make it easy and fast to handle on the farm.

Local St. Anne's church parishioners will miss Father Flatley, who was transferred to the Rodeo parish. They are glad however to greet Father McLaughlin, the new pastor of both Alvarado and Newark parishes.

Morris Davilla's orchestra expects to play in Alvarado Saturday night. Those in the orchestra are: Joaquin Naharro, Andy Gardetto, Walter Gardetto, Marion Cordoba and Morris Davilla. They practice regularly at the Santos home.

Silver Dollar Baseball Team:

Alvarado will have a softball team entered this year in the Washington Township Softball League, which opens in Centerville on May 19th. Tony Santos, the proprietor of the Silver Dollar tavern, will sponsor the team to represent this end of the township. Wilbert Hendricks, who played with the Native Sons of Centerville the past two seasons, will manage the team for Tony.

The team will be called the "Silver Dollar" and almost all of the boys are from our hometown.

Here is the line up:

Tony Rivers	Catcher
Peter Rivers	Pitcher
Manuel Pinto	Pitcher
Johnnie Silva	1 st Base
Sonny Daviner	2 nd Base
Wilbert Hendricks	2 nd Base

Next week Mr. & Mrs. Gaspar and son Gilbert will move to Milpitas where they are going to operate a large dairy. They will take their Alvarado herd of cows with them.

Mr. & Mrs. A.J. Bailey and family will make their home in the Gaspar residence. Mr. Bailey is a section foreman for the S.P. Railroad.

The Alvarado Holy Ghost is being planned for May 10th & 11th. Mr. Frank Goularte is president of the affair and is now busy making arrangements for the festival.

Joe Allegre and Lawrence Roderick received their draft induction notices from the U.S. Army. Both young men are graduates of Alvarado Grammar School. Joe of the Creek Road is planning to leave next week to serve his year in the Selective Service. His cousin Albert Borges has been training for six months.

Manuel Goularte celebrated his birthday Friday evening. A party was given at this home. Those attending were: Mr. & Mrs. Frank Goularte, Mr. & Mrs. Joe Goularte, Mr. & Mrs. Frank Pimentel and sons and the Misses Betty and LaVerne Medeiros.

The Alvarado Pioneer, April 4, 1941

C of C Celebration:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce celebrated its great victory in passing the Sanitary Bonds at last Saturday's election. At that election the vote was 151 to 2. This vote was the splendid reason for giving three big reels of moving pictures and special music by an orchestra topped off with a feed put on by the women of the community.

Joe Lewis and Peter Rose took the lead in securing a movie about the part petroleum has had in the development of our modern civilization. George Oakes secured the baseball sound picture, "Play Ball America" featuring National League ball players.

Morris Davilla's Orchestra sure "went to town" in a big way playing for the large turn-out of the Chamber of Commerce people at the school auditorium in Alvarado Friday night. The music was excellent and it should be a good advertisement to help get out the crowd this Saturday evening when they for the dance at the S.D.E.S. Hall in Alvarado. Here are the member of the band: Morris Davilla, trumpet; Andy Gardetto, 1st saxophone; Joaquin Ojedo, 3rd saxophone; Walter Fasolis, accordion; Marion Cordoba, guitar; Ernie Machado, drums; and Winifred Santos, piano.

Pete Rose looked cute in his organdie apron, when Mrs. Gardetto put him to drying dishes after the Chamber of Commerce feed on Friday night. All he needs is few more lessons and he'll be all right.

The banquet was special and the committee desires to thank the following ladies for cakes and sandwiches: Mrs. Alvina Brune, Mrs. Corinne Munger, Mrs. Joe Flores, Mrs. V. Perry, Mrs. Nora Vargas, Mrs. Annie Baird, Mrs. Mary Silva, Mrs. Frank Machado, Mrs. Anna Roderick, Mrs. Isabelle Menezes, Mrs. Aurora Lewis, Mrs. Annie Flores, Mrs. Frank Silva, Mrs. Antoinette Pinto, Mrs. M. Rose, Mrs. J.C. Wasley, Mrs. Tony Mello, and Mrs. Angelo Cosso. And also, Mr. Joe Dutra, Joe Silveira, Frank Mateo, Peter Rose, James Wasley, John Ralph, D. Diaz and Joseph Priego.

Boy Suffers Severe Burns:

Basil Hunt, 18, of Alvarado suffered extensive second and third degree burns on his legs and groin area when he tried to douse a hot bolt he had just cut with an acetylene torch with gasoline.

Mistaking the gasoline for water it exploded into a ball of flames when it touched the red-hot bolt. His brother-in-law, Alfred Rozier, 32, and his brother Eugene Hunt 22, co-owners of the garage where he was working came to his aid.

Chamber of Commerce:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce will meet at the grammar school tonight at 8 o'clock with Frank Machado, president, in charge. Future activities of the organization are to be planned in connection with the new sanitary district recently established by an almost 100 percent vote of the residents.

Chamber of Commerce:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce met Thursday evening, April 24th at the Alvarado Grammar School. President Frank Machado presided and Secretary George Oakes was on the job. The very successful Whist Party netted $67 and Treasurer John Menezes says the Chamber now has $240 on hand.

Plans for the next meeting on May 29th were discussed. John Ralph suggested that the comedy "Let's Get Married" featuring the Washington Union Evening High School players would be a good thing to put on. Adam Lewis of the Chamber made arrangements to put on this township home talent play at the next meeting in the auditorium May 29th. It should play to a packed house.

The Alvarado Pioneer, April 25, 1941

Around Town:

A benefit card party will be given at the Alvarado Grammar School on Friday, April 25th for the benefit of the SPRSI

Peter Prentice of Granger Avenue underwent an operation on his eye at an Oakland hospital this week. He is much improved.

Mrs. Gardetto and children visited Tuesday night with Mrs. Gardetto's mother, Mrs. Columbo in San Mateo.

Peter Pinto gathered his local musicians together Friday night to play for a program at Hayward. His accordion band scored a hit.

On April 22nd, Lorraine Silveira of Granger Avenue had a birthday party.

We wish Patricia Noia of Granger Avenue congratulations on her second birthday this month. She is the daughter of Serafin and Emily Noia.

Morris Davilla's Orchestra is playing Sunday afternoon for a dance given by a Spanish lodge of Decoto.

The friend of Joe D. Luiz will be glad to know that he came back from the hospital. Mr. Luiz is now up and around. He met with an accident a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Aldena Goularte, Mrs. Helen Goularte and Miss Marjorie Goularte spent last Thursday in Oakland shopping.

Mrs. Evelyn Costa is planning to hold a Whist Party May 2nd at the S.D.E.S. Hall for the benefit of the church.

Miss Eleanor Rose celebrated her 10th birthday last Friday. Friends who attended her birthday party were: Joe'll O'Niel, Betty Ann Jacinto, Cherrie Davis, Sally Cordoba, Betty Silva, Agnes Silva, Barbara Diangson, Dolores Pine, Clarabelle Silva, Mary Ann Silva, Dorothy Tudy and LaVerne Medeiros.

Three Alvarado boys will be featured in the local play "Let's Get Married" to be put on by the Washington Union Evening High School class. They are: Leonard Silva, who works for E.A. Richmond at the Water Dept.; Warren Silva, employed in the high school office evenings; and Adam Lewis, in the employ of the John Ralph Store.

Andy Gardetto played over the radio Monday, April 21st. He did very well and got a big hand on his accordion work. He played "Amapola" and "I Hear a Rhapsody." Peter Pinto also played the accordion rendering "Trieste Overture."

Marriage:

St. Anne's Church in Alvarado was filled with guests Sunday afternoon for the marriage of Miss Irene Freitas of Alvarado to Mr. Raymond Freitas of Hayward.

Mr. Freitas gave his daughter in marriage at the reading of the marital ceremony by Rev. Father McLaughlin. Soloist was Mrs. Adeline Vierra who sang "Ave Maria," and Mrs. Isabelle Martin was the organist. Herman Silva was the best man, while Joe Amaral and Wilbert Hendricks seated the guests.

Alvarado Car-Train Crash:

The crossing at the Southern Pacific tracks at Hall Station was the scene of a grisly crash. Two Japanese nurserymen were killed instantly and a third occupant severely injured when a boxcar being pushed by an engine hit the car broadside. The driver survives, but is badly injured; the two Japanese were thrown from the car and badly mangled. All three men were from out of the area.

The Hayward Daily Review, April 26, 1941

Around Town:

The Silver Dollar will again sponsor a softball team for the upcoming season. Wilbert Hendricks will again manage the team

Mrs. Zelma Correia of Alvarado spent the last four days in Turlock visiting a friend. She left here last Saturday returning on Thursday.

Mrs. & Mrs. Manuel Goularte celebrated their 21st wedding anniversary last Monday evening as guests of Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Gaspar of Milpitas.

Lefty Amaral of Alvarado will be pitching for the Pine Ball team of Hayward, which plays independent ball on Sunday afternoons.

Two Alvarado young men play ball with the Native Sons team in the Township Softball League. They are Joseph Dutra and Hubert Jacinto.

Ray Diaz of Alvarado will be playing ball this year for the County Yards Team of Niles in the Township Softball League.

We must give credit to John Varni of Hayward for his progressive way of putting up homes in Alvarado. Varni, known locally as the "cauliflower king," has built 9 homes near the S.P. Station as rentals.

The State Convention of the Eagles will be held June 20th at Santa Barbara. The Alvarado lodge elected as delegates: T.E. Amaral of Decoto; Joseph S. Martin of Alvarado; President Louis Silva of Alvarado; and Past President E.A. Quaresma of Irvington. Next Monday the election of officers will be held. It looks like Angelo Cosso will be elected president.

County Fair Parade:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce made a great showing in the parade at Pleasanton on Sunday morning at the County Fair. President Frank Machado worked with Manuel Goularte, Manuel Perry and Adam Lewis to put the big float portraying Alameda County's first Court House, in beautiful shape. They worked nearly half the night before (especially Manuel Goularte) on this miniature Court House. They placed it on Joe Avila's truck and made it look fine by adding a green lawn and flowers about the office. This took the eye of the crowds, as Alvarado has the honor of being the first County seat and they were proud of its early history.

The miniature Court House in private cars were:

M.E. Perry (displaying a big American flag and ribbons to good effect), Mr. & Mrs. Frank Machado, Mr. & Mrs. Antone E. Vargas with Mr. & Mrs. A.A. Lee, Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Goularte, Mr. & Mrs. James Wasley and daughter Peggy with Manuel Hendricks, Mr. & Mrs. Elvin

Rose, Mr. & Mrs. Peter Pinto, Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Silva, Mr. & Mrs. Joe Goularte and Laverne Medeiros and George Oakes.

Also showing up was Manuel Silva of the Whipple Road. He had his six-horse team, which attracts attention at all times in front of the grandstand.

Sugar:

The wet spring which retarded planting of sugar beets has caused the harvest of beets to be late. This in turn will cause the Holly Sugar Company to begin processing beets later this year.

The Hayward Daily Review, August 27, 1941

Tomatoes:

The Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association at Hall Station will start packing tomatoes between September 7th and 14th for shipment to the eastern market. This is the report from Dave Caeton, manager of the packinghouse.

The Hayward Daily Review, August 27, 1941

Alvarado Boys Club:

Merchants of Alvarado will support the proposed Boy's Club in Alvarado. So much has been seen of the result of no well-directed play for boys that the merchants thought it was something worth encouraging. Especially as seeing that an experienced boys activities leader was willing to volunteer his time gratis. He is Chester Phillips of Decoto, who is the WPA playgrounds coach at Alvarado School. This young man, about 23, has had some fine experience coaching the Alvarado boys this summer in their baseball games on Friday afternoons with teams of neighboring towns.

Civil Defense:

Two thousand fingers (with but a few missing here and there) were massaged over a fingerprinting pad Monday night as 100 emergency deputy sheriffs were organized at Alvarado under the direction of Division Chief Douglass Webb and Detective Richard E. Condon of the Hayward substation.

Each man had to be fingerprinted twice, once for Alameda County Records and once for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, and both Webb and Condon will agree that's a lot of digits.

Digging Starts for Sewer Lines:

The digging has begun for the laying of sewer pipes to the processing plant near Union City Road. There are 29 men employed and they are getting paid good union wages. The ditch digger has had to skip quite a few big gas mains and water mains, which run across Union City Road. The even ran into an old wharf, used in the old days when steamers crossed part of what is the Union City Road. The old wharf had long ago been forgotten.

The work is now approaching town and is within two blocks of Levee Street. It reached the intersection of Union City Road and the street that George Hellwig lives on this Friday morning. The work started from the lower end of the Union City Road.

Among other things the engineers found Friday was a 15-inch concrete jacket built around a water main to prevent leaks. It was built across Union City road by Ed Richmond of the Water Dept. many years ago. Another big pipe they had to excavate under was a huge storm sewer, also near the concrete mentioned above.

Around Town:

Mrs. Robie is a real booster for our school and Chamber of Commerce, so let us return the compliment by buying her line of Avon Products of face creams, soaps, powders, etc.

The speeding by boys in their autos from 17th Street and also V Street into 19th, was reported to the Highway Patrol. So it like this dangerous practice of wild driving is going to be stopped, as fines will be levied on future speeders in Alvarado.

Sunday, September 28th, President Frank Machado figured would be a good time to burn the dry willows cut down at the mouth of Alameda Creek to prevent floods this winter. Those men who volunteered to begin work in the morning of that day are: Charles Baird, E. Wilson, M. Silva, M.P. Perry, Clarence Flores, Frank Machado and E. Bailey.

John Ahern's permission to allow the Chamber of Commerce to cut willows on his place on the Alameda Creek to guard against floods was real, being a legal document to protect the Chamber of Commerce efforts.

The Alvarado Chapter of the Red Cross meets every Wednesday at the Odd Fellows Hall from 1 to 4 p.m. in the upstairs hall. The ladies are doing something very patriotic with their knitting and sewing, and they would like still more workers to put their shoulder to the wheel and turn out. Mrs. James Logan is directing the group and last week she was assisted by Mrs. Vargas, Mrs. Mello, Mrs. Gardetto, Mrs. Robie, Mrs. Rivers and Mrs. Baird.

Manuel Silva, our genial blacksmith here in Alvarado is building a recreation room over his garage at his home on Smith Street. During his spare moments from his blacksmithing, he has done his own building. Soon his "rumpus" room will be finished and a thing of beauty. He says that his wife and son can entertain nicely with music and games in the new recreation room.

Flood Control:

Protection against possible winter flooding of Alameda Creek has been carried out under the joint auspices of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce and private citizens. The chamber donated $50, that sum being matched by a resident of Alvarado to pay laborers to clean out the creek bed. About a mile of the channel was cleared of brush and debris, which will be burned Sunday under the direction of Frank Machado, President of the Chamber of Commerce.

Alameda County Water District:

Louis S. Amaral, Alvarado rancher and president of the Canning Vegetable Growers Association has been elected a member of the board of directors of the Alameda County Water District. He succeeds Emanuel S. George, Deputy County Tax Assessor for 41 years and one of the water district organizers in 1914. Amaral is 47 years old and lived in the Alviso district between Alvarado and Centerville since 1900.

Arrangements for the harvest festival to be given by the Toyon and Tamarack Branches of the Children's Hospital of the Eastbay will be completed at a meeting of Toyon Branch at the home of Mrs. Walter Robie in Alvarado on Monday at 1:30 o'clock. Mrs. James R. Whipple, chairman, asks that all members be present.

The Oakland Tribune, September 26, 1941

Farm News:

Green tomatoes are being shipped by Southern Pacific railway from Hall Station, says Ted Harvey, member of the Alvarado Vegetables Growers Assn. They are being sent to Chicago and other points.

Lloyd Bailey has planted about 400 acres to cauliflower, which will be ready as usual to be shipped to the Eastern Market in iced cars in November from the Centerville S.P. Station. Lloyd Bailey only planted 50 acres of tomatoes this year as he figured that the high wages of the shipyards offered would lure many employees away from their usual jobs on the farm. In fact all the growers are moaning over the shortage of farm labor, although you can't blame the Government either. It is just that the National Defense has caused more jobs and higher wages.

About the greatest harvest of potatoes in all Southern Alameda County is that of Ted Harvey, who with his father has a tremendous yield and a high quality as usual. Ted's uncle George Harvey also has quite a crop at the adjoining farm on the Centerville-Alvarado Road near Hall Station. Ted Harvey says that the Alvarado Burbank potato can't be beat and we think he is right.

Wes Emery, President of the Alvarado Vegetable Grower Assn., says that there is such a shortage of labor that he would not be able to cultivate and harvest his cauliflower even if he had planted it. We were visiting his farm the other day and he has a large acreage all cultivated, irrigated and ready for planting cauliflower and it seems tough when high wages and shortage of labor hit some of the farmers dependent on such labor.

Sewer lines Progress:

The pipes were laid up to around Levee Street this week, with much of the work being done on Maiden Lane, extending from V Street toward the back of Naharro's property. The right pipeline of the sewer pipe toward the disposal plant site on lower V Street has been scientifically followed by the engineers. This all mean that Alvarado will have a job, when completed that will be second to none in the country.

Alvarado Lad in Canadian Air Force:

Paul Rivers, alumnus of Washington Union High School, has written to Principal A. J. Rathbone from Edmonton, Alberta, Canada, where he is connected with No. 4 I.T.S. Royal Canadian Air Force. Rivers volunteered and was given a send-off by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce several months ago. The hospitality of the Canadians and the necessity of a good foundation in mathematics for would be pilots are commented on in the letter.

"It's a pity to see a boy handle a plane smoothly and easily, then get washed out because he doesn't know his navigation," writes Rivers.

A visit to a German prison camp where a thousand Germans "seemed very pleased that they are out of it all," and flights over Banff, Lake Louise and Jasper Park are among the experiences related in the letter. "I also saw the Duke of Kent when he came to our station for inspection. He stopped and asked me if Canada was treating me well," the letter said.

Rivers said he would be glad to correspond with high school students as "letters from home are worth their weight in gold."

Natural Gas:

A natural gas shortage caused by the need for national defense may cause the cancellation of Hayward's "Waterade" at the Hayward Plunge if gas service is not restored to the swim center. The Plunge heats its pool with surplus natural gas from PG&E at a much lower rate than households. However their supply has been cut off because of national defense needs.

Of a more critical nature, the Hunt Bros. Cannery at Hayward, the sugar mill at Alvarado and the steel mill at Niles are now forced to look for standby sources of gas to power their plants.

Burning Brush:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce had workers burning brush at the mouth of the Alameda Creek on Sunday Sept. 28th and Oct. 12th. President Frank Machado said there were 15 workers who donated their time on Sunday Sept. 28th and burned the lighter brush, but the heavier wood could not be reached on account of the neat, so it was finished on October 12th.

These merchants who donated food and refreshments for the workers on Sept. 28th were:

Tony Mello, a case of beer
Mrs. Sugimoto, 2 cases of soda
Mrs. Felix Diangson, case of beer
John Ralph, 6-dozen buns
Supervisor G. Hellwig, 9 lbs of wienies.

These merchants who donated food and refreshments for the workers on Oct. 3rd were:

Frank Macahilas	2 ½ lbs of linguica
Diaz Union Meat Market	3 cases of beer
Manuel Silva	½ bottle of wine
Julian Yabut	Richfield Ser Station, a case of Coca-Cola

Around Town:

A.E. Perry of V Street, Alvarado has been ill. He operated on Wednesday of last week at a San Jose hospital. It is still a serious case, but he is slightly improved.

S.P. Section foreman, Alvin Bailey, who lives next to the Alvarado Post Office, will leave soon for a promotion with the S.P. down in the valley.

Marion Cordoba left for the service of the United States and was given a present of a carton of cigarettes by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce.

Frank Machado reports that on Saturday the sewer pipe will be laid across the highway in town, from V Street across to John Ralph's store. The pipe is being laid deep under ground without cutting though the surface of the street.

On Monday of this week, Otto von Seggern of the Army Engineers Dept. was an Alvarado visitor. The wanted to secure copies of the Pioneer for 1937 and 1938 where ever the flood condition was mentioned or articles of meetings held by the Chamber of Commerce group, pertaining to the matter of flood control. These were needed to complete his report.

The Dinsmore's:

An Alvarado young man is employed by a large oil concern. We refer to Clifford Dinsmore of Alvarado, who is employed by the Signal Gas distributor whose territory stretches from Hayward to Warm Springs.

The work of Clifford Dinsmore takes him around Washington Township, where he knows everybody. He was born in Alvarado and attended Washington Union High School. Being a naturally jovial person and a good mixer, we understand he has many friends who are patronizing signal products because they want to throw some business Clifford's way.

Clifford's father has been in the general merchandise business here for over 30 years, owning the pioneer Harvey store on Smith Street. Sam Dinsmore, long an employee of the Harvey's purchased the store years ago, when the F.C. Harvey decided to his time full-time, with his son Ted, to their large farming interests.

Mrs. Sam Dinsmore belongs to the pioneer Lund family of Hayward. She was brought up there and has brothers who are building contractors and carpenters.

Some months ago Clifford Dinsmore wedded a charming Hayward girl, Miss Bonnie McDonald. The couple reside in Hayward.

Auto-Truck Collision:

A downtown crash between a truck and a sedan caused a flood on Alvarado's Smith Street and put three persons in the Hayward Hospital today. The crash occurred when a truck driven by Fred Noia, 47, of Newark, collided with a sedan driven by Dr. John F. Bettencourt, 41, with his wife, 35, and her father, Dominic Dekidos, 71, as passengers. The Bettencourt's and Dekidos live in Alvarado.

The sedan caromed into a pole and the truck veered to one side and snapped a fire hydrant, which flooded the street. The occupants of the sedan were treated for minor injuries at Hayward Hospital. The truck driver was uninjured.

Bad Accident at Sugar Mill:

The serious head injury in an accident at the Holly Sugar Mill here two weeks ago came close to ending the life of Fred Joyce, Jr., son of Mr. & Mrs. Fred Joyce of Alvarado.

A centrifugal machine went to pieces and threw a part toward Fred, who was working near there. It hit him on one side of the head near the top of the brain, and it was a miracle that he was not killed.

He was rushed to Hayward Hospital where he was operated on by Dr. Crockett and Dr. Allen, a brain specialist from Oakland. Slight hope was held for him at first but his condition has improved, so that he seems on the road to recovery. All Alvarado is glad to know that this fine young man will live.

Sewer Pipes

You have to give credit to the engineers in charge of laying the sewer pipe along the Alvarado Streets for their efficiency. They have done their job with speed, aided by some very good workmen. The mechanical ditch digger has been working to perfection. Lately it has been digging along Smith Street as far as the S.P. tracks, after digging ditches along the rest of the business and residence sections.

The work of installing pipes is expected to be completed this month. Following that the disposal plant will be built on the acre of land purchased near the old Union City Pumping Plant (Water Works).

The drainage leading this lower part of town has been nicely gauged by the engineers. This means that the sewage will run naturally to the disposal plant.

S.P. Employees Interested in Town:

E.J. Wilson, the Alvarado station agent of the Southern Pacific, is surely a civic-minded man and takes a big interest in the Chamber of commerce and Alvarado civic affairs.

The same interest was shown by Mr. Bailey, the section foreman, who lately was promoted to a larger field in the employ of the Southern Pacific in the San Joaquin Valley.

Another Southern Pacific employee that we think is a live wire also is J.H. Sweat, first trick operator who is a fine telegrapher.

Civilian Defense Volunteers Called to Duty:

Sheriff Jack Gleason has hired twenty-five special deputies for duty during this attack on Pearl Harbor crisis. The 90 regular officers are working 24-hour shifts, thus further augmenting the manpower. Gleason said today that 200 volunteers enrolled as a special sheriff's office squad are fully trained and ready for emergency.

They have received fourteen weeks of training in the prevention of sabotage, handling of traffic, fire prevention, first aid and laws of arrest. Half of them are serving in Washington and Eden Townships under the direction of Douglass Webb, deputy sheriff, and J. C. Wasley, Principal of Alvarado Grammar School.

The other 100 men will serve in Livermore and Pleasanton Townships directed by Judge Charles Gale and Deputy L. E. Van Patten.

The Oakland Tribune, December 18, 1941

News Notes:

Matt Machado of Smith Street in Alvarado has a big supply of fine holiday wines. See him for a cheerful gift, he says. See how reasonable his prices are.

Mrs. Vernon Willard has been named to the Emergency Nursing Service representing the town of Alvarado.

Red Cross sewing rooms will furnish bandages and dressings for the Emergency Nursing Services; Mrs. Rebecca Logan has been named to head up the sewing room for Alvarado.

The sheriff's office notified the Sewer District officials that the red lanterns should be removed to add to the blackout safety measures. To make it safe for traffic on the streets where holes have been dug or have been filled in barricades have been put up and have been painted white.

The Alvarado Eagle's enjoyed a dinner on Monday, December 15th at the Odd Fellow Hall. The ladies committee, who put on the banquet, were Mrs. Joe Martin, Mrs. Joe Lewis and Mrs. Tony Rodgers. A good time was had by all. President of the Eagles is Louis Silva.

Nearly the entire corps of 120 sheriff's deputies of Washington Township met at the Alvarado Grammar School here Monday evening to receive instruction from Sheriff Gleason and Deputy Webb of Hayward. Felt armbands bearing the official blue "CD" seal and the words Sheriff's Deputy in black letters were issued. The men were instructed to take a census and keep a written list of the number of persons living in every house in their towns, so that in case of an accident, the number of occupants in the house will be known.

Alvin Silvey, with his clearing out of the sand embankment at the mouth of the Alameda Creek below the Sugar Mill did a fine piece of work for the Chamber of Commerce. A three foot sand embankment had formed in front of two culverts and tended to make floodwater back up toward the town of Alvarado. The Chamber of Commerce hired Alvin Silvey to clear up these obstructions and he did a swell job.

A call is going out for donations of coal oil to help keep the men warm who man the Alvarado Air Raid Observation Post at Hall Station. Andrew Logan is appealing for donations to help warm the tent when the temperature falls into the 30' in the evening.

The Alvarado houses will have house numbers soon thank to the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce. Peter Rose's committee will start Sunday, he says, to interview the house owners regarding buying these numbers. It will be a good thing to help locate homes in case of fire or disaster in the future.

About nine or ten ladies have been sewing at the Odd Fellows Hall in Alvarado on Wednesdays for the Red Cross. They have had Mrs. Rebecca Logan as their leader. More ladies are asked to help this charitable work along.

Walter and Andrew Gardetto, sons of Mr. & Mrs. Mike Gardetto of Granger Ave., will sing over the radio Saturday evening at 8 o'clock on radio station KFRC. They will be on the Amateur Hour. Why not send in a postal card boosting the local boys?

Rush Manbert and Joe Lowrie of the engineering staff of the sewer installation project in Alvarado, report that the work is progressing. In fact, five new men will be hired Monday in addition to the other crewmembers. They are presently installing a pump station on a lot alongside V Street, which will boost the sewage a distance of 1,800 feet to the sewage disposal plant, which will be erected in the spring on an a 1 acre sight next to the old Union City Pumping Station (the old Water Works).

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce has reelected Frank Machado as president of the Chamber of Commerce. Also elected were Adam Lewis, secretary; John Menezes, Treasurer; George Oakes, Public Relation and Publicity. The Directors chosen were: Frank Machado, James Wasley, Charles Baird, Clarence Flores, Joseph Dutra, Anthony Azevedo, A.E. Vargas and John Ralph.

Alvarado School Pageant:

Mrs. Sallee, teacher of the Alvarado Grammar School had charge of a Christmas Pageant, which was enjoyed by the community on Friday afternoon at 1:30. Principal Wasley deserves credit also for cooperating with all the teachers in the fine success.

Outstanding in the cast were the three Kings, portrayed by Manuel Villareal, Bob Lemos and Charles Gonzalez. The Madonna was Irene Souza. In connection with the opening number there was a violin obbligato played by Haruwe Tanaka and two saxophone obbligatos by Dave Priego and Andrew Gardetto.

Miss Jung had three little angels for her song portrayal. Her third and fourth grades sang, "There Came a Little Child."

Many songs were sung by combined groups with fine success. All the pageant depicted the Nativity scenes and gave the children and the audience the true meaning of what Christ and Christmas means to the world.

Chamber Backs Scout Troop:

The C of C held a meeting in Alvarado Thursday evening with William Lindsay of the Boy Scout Executive Council in attendance. All present were heartily in favor of forming a Boy Scout Troop in Alvarado, with headquarters at a clubhouse in the playgrounds behind the schoolhouse. Bob Whipple of Decoto who has a Scout troop there boosted the idea. Anthony Silva was elected Scoutmaster and George Vargas as Ass't Scoutmaster. The Directors chosen were: Charles Baird, President and Joseph Lewis, Secretary. Other directors are: Anthony Rodgers, Frank Machado, James Wasley, Anthony J. Vargas, Anthony Silva, Mike Gardetto, Julian Yabut, Manuel Perry and George Vargas.

Sugar:

The Holly Sugar plant closed here this week, completing a 4½-month season with work to resume next August. A total of 400,000 hundred-pound sacks of sugar processed from 130,000 tons of sugar beets was the season's output according to Ben Koontz, Superintendent of the plant. This was slightly less than last year due to government curtailment of crops.

During the year the company has also built a new 75,000-bag storehouse for pulp, which is sold for cattle feed. Of the 235 men employed all but 75 are seasonal workers who are engaged in harvesting and cultivation of vegetables and fruit or engaged in other activities during the remainder of the year.

The Oakland Tribune, December 28, 1941

Siren:

A siren formerly used by the Holly Sugar Company for fire alarms and other factory signals has been donated to the town of Alvarado for use in air raid warnings. The siren has been installed on top of the Dinsmore General Store and in a test made several days ago proved to be very effective throughout Alvarado.

Registering for War Service:

Registration of the potential manpower in California for America's military services will be completed on February 14th, 15th and 16th, when the third R-Day during the present emergency is held throughout the state. The State Director of Selective Service pointed out that it affects every male resident in California between the ages of 20 to 45, with a few exceptions made by Congress. All male persons not previously registered, who attained their 20th birthday on or before December 31, 1941, and who have not attained their 45th birthday on or before February 16, 1942 must register at one of the registration places between 7:00 a.m. and 9:00 p.m. on the registration days.

The registration place for Alvarado males is the IOOF Hall in Alvarado.

U.S. Hints at Japanese Internment:

Hints of a possible mass evacuation of Japanese aliens from California and other Pacific coast defense areas to abandoned CCC Camps were received here last night as a special Congressional committee meeting in San Francisco opened hearings into the enemy alien population.

California State Attorney General Earl Warren, appearing before the committee headed by Rep. John Tolan of Oakland, warned, "we too, will have a Pearl Harbor unless something is done immediately."

"California", Warren declared, "is the most likely objective of the first blow of fifth columnists."

Warren says he believes the greatest potential threat lies with American born Japanese, and not Japanese Aliens. He said that all enforcement officers with whom he has consulted are of similarly convinced. There are twice as many Japanese who are United States citizens, he said. And the majority of Japanese aliens, he added, are elderly, about 55 years of age.

He asserted that while the aliens have become "far removed" from their native land, many of their children have gone to Japan for their education and have become "indoctrinated with the ideas and policies of Japanese Imperialism."

The Hayward Daily Review, February 26, 1942

Japanese Dictionary:

Chief of the Alameda County Sheriff's Department, Jack Gleason, today revealed portions of the contents of the Tokyo published dictionary of the Kendyusha Japanese Language School at Alvarado.

Gleason was the authority for the statement that the text had been used there and had been found in the possession of M Tsutsui, secretary of a Japanese association who was taken into custody on February 21st.

After stating in the foreword "should emergency arise, offer yourselves courageously to the State; and thus guard and maintain the prosperity of our Imperial Throne co-equal with heaven and earth," the text adds.

"The way here set forth is indeed the teaching bequeathed by our Imperial Ancestors, to be observed alike by their descendants and the subjects, infallible for all ages and true in all places." The text was apparently written primarily for Japanese subjects but had been utilized, Gleason said, in local language schools.

State Maps Japs:

The state of California has mapped the locations of Japanese households. The maps showed that Alameda County's 1,785 alien and 3,382 American-born Japanese were settled on property along main railroad lines, adjacent to the Livermore airport, entirely around the Newark power station, along the Hetch-Hetchy aqueduct at Mission San Jose, near approaches to both the Dumbarton and San Mateo-Mt. Eden bridges, and adjacent to the Alvarado sugar refinery.

Schools May Lose Teachers:

With the impending relocation of Japanese families to internment camps further inland comes that fear that the loss of population will cause a lesser need for schoolteachers in Washington Township.

A little less than 10 per cent of the total township enrollment of 2,427 pupils in the Washington Union High School and the 10 township grammar schools are Japanese, these totaling 216 pupils. At the high school 91 of the 632 students are Japanese. At Centerville Grammar School 40 of 230 students are Japanese. Other schools are as follows: Warm Springs, 20 out of 96; Alviso 16 out of 86; at Irvington 18 out of 205; at Alvarado 12 out of 187; at Newark 7 out of 191; at Decoto 5 out of 379; at Mission San Jose 2 out of 80, at the Lincoln one-room schoolhouse 4 of 7 students were Chinese, Niles did not report.

The Oakland Tribune, March 8, 1942

Black Dragon Society:

Speculation grew today over whether the Southern Alameda County hamlet of Alvarado was the pre-war nerve center of the dreaded Black Dragon Society, as Japanese groups in San Francisco quarreled among themselves in an attempt to achieve unity on an evacuation plan. From one quarter came the report that while Alvarado was the "ostensible" National Headquarters of the half-century old group whose "front" organization was the mysterious Military Virtue Society or Botoku-kai, San Francisco furnished the actual directive force.

This theory was supported by Sheriff Gleason who declared that it was "merely a coincidence" that some of the Black Dragon leaders lived in Alvarado, and that it was a remote control organization with financial and administrative headquarters in San Francisco.

Alvarado School:

Exemplifying the part that the public schools are playing in the civilian defense program is the set up which has just been completed at the Alvarado Grammar School under the direction of Principal J. C. Wasley, who is also Chief Air Raid Warden and special sheriff's deputy. The school auditorium is being blacked out for the duration and an improvised foyer is being built up so that the interior can remain lighted even when entrances and exits are being made.

This is also the first grammar school in Washington Township to give first aid instruction to all Eighth Grade students. A first aid unit will be placed in the school auditorium and arrangements have been made to have a staff on 24-hour duty if necessary, Wasley says. Newest of Alvarado School's duties will be as a sugar rationing registration site in May.

Alvarado turned out in toto for its first test incident when a simulated bombing was staged here this week. The call for help was sent to the Hayward Sheriffs, which relayed the alarm, by short wave to township officers and the mobile first aid unit at Niles. The new Alvarado Fire Department under the direction of Chief J. C. Wasley extinguished three "planted fires" and several victims were given first aid under the direction of Mrs. A. B. Leask, graduate nurse in charge of the Niles first aiders.

The affair was arranged through Dr. T. C. Wilson, Niles first aid chairman at the request of Mrs. S. I. Lemas of Alvarado, Alvarado first aid chairman.

Shooting Accident:

Gilbert Faria, 13, of Niles is in critical condition today in Highland Hospital with a bullet wound in his left chest and a punctured lung following a freak accident yesterday. Physicians have been unable to remove the bullet.

The story told at the Sheriff's Office in Hayward said that Faria was struck by a bullet accidentally discharged when the barge on which several youths were riding bumped into the bank of the Alameda Creek in the Alviso District. The bullet hit a paddle that had been thrown from the barge (into the water), ricocheted up the bank and struck Faria.

The bullet barely missed William Diangson, 14, of 1437 Smith Street, Alvarado, owner of the gun according to John Samarron, 15, of 1215 Marsh Road, Alvarado, said to have held the .22 caliber pump gun.

Samarron said he and Diangson had been shooting at birds. They were taken to the Sheriff's Office for questioning. Two other small children were on the barge at the time of the accident. The wounded youth was taken to Irvington after failing to find a doctor in Niles. He was then moved to Highland Hospital by ambulance.

Sugar:

Invaded by female processors for the first time in its nearly 75 years of existence, the Holly Sugar Company plant at Alvarado, first of its kind (successfully) established in the United States, has opened its 1942 season to turn out millions of pounds of sugar from beets grown mostly in the area. The season's output will consist of 200,000 tons of sugar beets from which will be produced about 600,000 100-pound bags of sugar from Alvarado alone.

Girls have been employed for the time in the processing department, and represent 75 of the 300 plant employees. Another 400 workers are harvesting and topping the beets, workmen, including 75 Mexican youths imported from Mexico City, 100 high school boys from San Francisco, 75 local beet workers, and another 150 service club men from the bay section who have signed up to spend weekends in the beet fields. The season will continue until the beginning of January.

Rats Move Into Town:

ALVARADO: WANTED ONE PIED PIPER!

This was the appeal added to the manpower search in Alvarado after the Chamber of Commerce heard complaints from local grain farmers that rats from the dump on Union City Road were raiding local grain fields and devastating shocked grain.

In view of the danger from possible epidemics and plague carrying propensities of rats the Chamber appointed a committee at its October meeting to contact Alameda County health officials regarding an extermination campaign. J.C. Wasley, Clyde Lewis and Charles Baird were empowered to take steps necessary in this regard.

A previous warning had issued by Fred Duffie, agricultural inspector for the district, that exterminations of rats be placed among the top items on the home front defense program.

War Secrets:

If you know what ship a sailor is on, or what company or regiment a soldier is with overseas, then you know a military "secret," the Office of Censorship in Washington Warns.

This secret ought not to be published. This is why:

A general needs to know the strength of his opponent; how many men, how many guns, ships, planes there are in each theater of war.

The Nazis and the Japs want to know this thing about our forces. Their agents assemble the information like this. From one paper an item reveals the 600th Infantry is in Australia; another, the 206th Tank Battalion is in North Africa.

Add hundreds of these bits of information together, and our enemies have a too accurate estimate of American military strength.

These are OUR soldiers, Americans all of whom we endanger by these "little slips." This is not a 'blackout' on the news about our soldiers. Considerable latitude in reporting personal experiences gives the enemy little military information, if the troop units and the ship names are kept secret. But in articles about soldiers and sailors and in the addresses for them, don't give away their fighting units.

News Notes:

A meeting on Monday night, March 8th of all deputies and Air Raid Wardens at 7:50 pm will be held at the Alvarado Grammar School.

Nearly 100% attendance is the fine record of the Alvarado Firemen at the weekly gatherings. It occurs on Thursday nights.

Principal James Wasley and helpers issued 1,066 No. 2 Ration Books to the local people. This was 300 short of the expected issue.

Ensign James Wasley, Jr. is now spending the weekend at home after studies in dentistry at Affiliated Colleges in San Francisco.

Thursday and Friday from 1:30 to 8:30, Mrs. Ewing a government representative, has put on a fine course for local women. It instructs them in the use of Ration Book No. 2. Her course has not only taught them efficient use of stamps in the book, but she has also instructed them in home canning, home drying and kindred subjects.

A Meat Rationing Story:

And now comes the meat-rationing story that tops them all. Deputy Sheriff Richard E. Condon on patrol in Southern Alameda County when he spotted a car weaving in an erratic manner on the highway near Alvarado. "Hmmm," muttered Condon, "a drunk driver, and at this time of the day."

He waved the car to the side of the road and then approached the driver with the intention of issuing a citation.

"Pretty bad job of driving," Condon said in opening the conversation.
"Oh, I didn't notice; you see I'm hunting for meat," the man replied.

Hunting meat, a likely story, Condon thought, and then he glanced in the back seat of the car. There sat two streamlined greyhound dogs, and beside them four dead jackrabbits.

The driver explained, "I just drive down the highway until I see a rabbit, then I release the dogs and they catch it and bring it back to me. Beats standing in line at the butcher shop and the meat is good."

Local Red Cross:

Robert A. Blacow, manager of the local Central Bank at Niles has been made a director of the Oakland Chapter of the American Red Cross. This is the first time that the Oakland board has named more than one director for Washington Township. F. T. Dusterberry is also on the board from Washington Township.

Canvassing for the 1943 Red Cross roll call and war fund is now being made and in the township, contributors being asked to double the amount they gave last year, if possible. Checks may be mailed to town chairman: To J. R. Blacow at Alvarado, campaign chairman; Loren Marriott at Centerville, Treasurer; or F. T. Dusterberry, to save time and gasoline for those making donations.

Richard Munger Pays Tribute to Mother:

Lieutenant Richard Munger of Alvarado dipped his big plane as he signaled from the sky last Sunday to his mother of Alvarado. Mrs. Corinne Munger waved her handkerchief in recognition of the high tribute he paid her before leaving on his destination. Munger enlisted in the Air Corps last April after graduating from the Washington Union High School and completing two years at the University of California. The youngest of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Munger of Alvarado, Richard is the brother of John, with the Pacific Telephone Company at Hayward and Milton Jr., a Berkeley civil engineer. Both are also U.C. graduates. A sister is Mrs. Robert Munger Whipple of Davis.

News Notes:

Mr. & Mrs. Frank Goularte are the very proud parents of a new baby son. George Douglas is doing very nicely.

Frank George, wholesale agent for Mobiloil and Mobilgas in Southern Alameda County, was proud when his dog Flash was accepted by the Army on February 3rd.

A lot of credit should be to Mrs. Mary Rivers of Alvarado for being so active. She has recruited 16 Alvarado women for the Red Cross bandage work at Centerville. Among these women are Mrs. Mary Rivers, Mrs. Mike Gardetto, Mrs. Hubert Jacinto, Mrs. V. DeVincenzi, Mrs. Joe Lewis, Mrs. F. Silveira, Mrs. Charles Baird, Mrs. E. Borges, Mrs. A. Perry, Mrs. J. Utile, Mrs. F. Machado, Mrs. Anthony Lee, Mrs. M. Perry, and the Misses Angie and Josephine Borges. Mrs. Rivers is very proud of the two stars in her window.

Eric Ruus of Tennyson appreciated the response of the Alvarado Fire Department with the fine fire truck and efficient firemen at the recent fire, which saved his house. The tank house and barn were beyond saving when the firemen arrived, but timely work kept the flames under control.

OPA Cites Local Butcher:

The Office of Price Administration Tuesday filed an injunction in San Francisco against George P. Hellwig doing business as the Hellwig Meat Co., in Alvarado.

The Hellwig Company was charged with exceeding meat quotas by 80% in the quarter ended December 1942, and in the amount of 82,914 pounds of meat in the period between January 1st and March 12th, 1943.

Stanley A. Weigel, OPA official, stated this action is part of the follow-up of OPA's drive against black market operations on the West Coast. Now that meat rationing is in effect, sale of meat under legal rulings is more important than ever.

The Hayward Review, March 30, 1943

Hellwig Meat Co.:

George P. Hellwig and his partner, John Brugge, doing business under the firm name of the Hellwig Meat Company at Alvarado today were charged by the OPA with exceeding wholesale meat quotas.

The OPA today asked the U.S. District Court at San Francisco for a restraining order against Hellwig and Brugge to prevent possible further violations.

News Notes:

Carl Wente, President of Central Bank, has named J. A. Blacow of Alvarado to head the Victory Bond Drive in the northern Washington Township area.

Where it was a matter of several hundred dollars raised for the Red Cross last year it has reached the remarkable sum of $1,200 this year says J.A. Blacow, chairman of the Alvarado drive.

The Southern Pacific reports that 175 carloads of crude salt were shipped from the Baumberg Depot during the month of March.

Christmas Seal sales in the township reached $548 this year. The committee in Alvarado was headed by Miss Mildred Nauert assisted by Mrs. August May and Mrs. W.S. Robie.

The Alvarado Vegetable Growers reported the Hall Station shipped 29 carload of iced cauliflower to Chicago and New York in March. They have also sold their high quality cauliflower to the local S.F. markets.

The Alvarado Pioneer, April 2, 1943

Farm Home Women:

A donation to the Red Cross was voted by the Alvarado Farm Home Department at the home of Mrs. Mary Gastelum at Newark. Mrs. Maryetta Holman, county demonstration agent, discussed the pressure cooker, and urged all members to attend the demonstration at the Country Club Building on April 16th. An exchange of plants took place after the meeting.

The Oakland Tribune, April 11, 1943

News Notes:

Adam Lewis is with the Engineers section of the Army at Fresno.

Alexander Borges is with an anti-aircraft detachment.

The Alvarado school trustee election takes place May 21st. Mts. W.S. Robie deserves to be reelected.

"Nowadays, with less driving due to rationing, car batteries often fail without any warning," declares Joe Langdon of the Mobilgas station. This is because most cars aren't driven enough to keep batteries fully charged, or they stand idle so much that sulphate forms rapidly on battery plates and put them out of commission.

Ray Soares, manager of the California Pine Box Factory, has a fine bunch of machinery busy on making 200,000 boxes for the U.S. Navy. His plant is in a fine big warehouse across the tracks from the Southern Pacific depot. He has four ladies among the crew of employees, all doing a fine job.

The Alvarado Pioneer, April 16, 1943

Another Meat Rationing Story?:

Either meat rationing has driven someone to desperation here, or has led to the taste for exotic entrees. Mrs. C. M. Anderson, whose home is located on Whipple Road near Alvarado, has reported that someone shot one of her peacock's dead and wounded another. She told sheriffs deputies that she saw a young Mexican cut across the plowed field, shoot one peacock dead and seriously wounded the other. The man fled when he saw Mrs. Anderson, leaving both birds behind.

The Oakland Tribune, April 19, 1943

Alvarado Post Air Raid Tower:

Joseph Jacinto Jr. serves almost 500 hours on the Air Raid Tower. That young man, Joseph Jacinto Jr. has a great future, judging by this remarkable record at the Alvarado Observation Post, where he has served between 400 and 500 hours. So also has his pal, Frank Pinto, another equally fine fellow.

Mrs. Joseph Jacinto Sr. has 100 hours there, Joseph Jacinto Sr., 200 hours. Even little Betty Jacinto is an expert on reporting when keeping her folks company at the post, because one day she efficiently reported 100 airplanes observed. It was on a Sunday.

Alvarado Boy Writes from the Army:

Dear Sir:

I have been on this rock for a year next month and I longed and missed lots of news from our hometown, but I didn't realize it before until this day. I think it wise to get hometown news like most of the boys here in Hawaii. I have been in that town for the last eight years and it seems to me that it's now my birthplace to me. So please send me every copy of the Alvarado Pioneer and I'll certainly appreciate your kindness.

But you can count me as one subscriber and let me know the price to subscribe for a year.

Respectfully yours,

Sugar:

A call for increased plantings of sugar beets in Alameda County was issued this week by Herbert W. Young, chairman of the county AAA committee, who declared that earlier reports of farmers intentions to plant showed a prospective acreage below the level necessary to supply the nation's needs for the coming year.

"Although sugar beets is not one of the crops of which an increased production is asked in 1943, plantings at about the same level as last year will be necessary if our needs are to be supplied without diverting ships badly needed to transport men and supplies to the fighting fronts," Young said.

Girl Scouts:

Organization of Alvarado's first Girl Scout Troop has been completed with 15 girls prepared to receive their second-class awards. Their first hike is to be made on May Day. Leader of the troop is Mrs. Anelda Hulse. Officers are Barbara Diangson, Secretary; Betty Silva, Treasurer; Delores Santos and Betty Diangson, Color Guards. Ardis Hulse, 14, daughter of Troop Leader Mrs. Anelda Hulse has won the curved bar, highest award of the Girl Scouts. She is a student of Washington Union High School. Teachers at the Alvarado Grammar School are serving on the sponsoring committee. Girls from age 10 to 14 are eligible to join.

New Ground Observer Chief Named:

Joseph Jacinto, Sr., local grocer, 49, has been appointed chief observer of the Alvarado Observation Post for the Fourth Fighter Command. He succeeds Frank Machado who resigned because of other civic duties and illness. Jacinto has served more than 400 hours at the post where plane spotting is a family affair. Mrs. Jacinto has put in more than 100 hours and even Betty, 11, assists her mother in the tower.

The Oakland Tribune, April 30, 1943

News Notes:

Beatrice Fields recently announced her engagement.

Mr. & Mrs. Mike Gardetto visited her sister, Mrs. Brown of Burlingame on Sunday.

Andy Gardetto is delivering the Tribune alone now that his brother, Walter, has joined the service. Frank Gaspar is walking again after four years of having to use of his legs. He is responding to his new medical treatment.

Alvarado Postmaster Genevieve Dutra will attend the Alameda County Postmaster's Ass'. Meeting to be held at the Hotel Alameda next week.

Major Charles R. Nauert of Los Angeles made an official trip to San Francisco recently. He is with the Amphibian Corps of the Armed Forces.

Walter Fasolis, son of Mr. & Mrs. Mike Gardetto, joined the Navy. He is leaving Thursday. He is to be stationed at Idaho.

Joseph Silva, employee of the Holly Sugar Company at Alvarado and resident of V Street, went to the hospital to have an injured nerve muscle in his neck operated on.

One by one all the buildings of Alvarado are being connected with the Sanitary District. The latest is the SDES Hall.

Here are five Alvarado boys employed at the Hayward Poultry Producers Ass'n. They are: Manuel Rose, William Machado, George Roderick, Emilio Re and Joe Pimentel.

Seraphine Noia is employed now at James Graham Co. plant at Newark, which is busy with defense work.

Mrs. Lena Dutra, formerly of Granger Ave. of Alvarado, has undergone an operation the week at Peralta Hospital. She is now back home and we hope she continues to improve.

Delinda Pimentel and her husband were given a housewarming Saturday night. This happy young couple were in their new residence near the Bell Ranch Bridge. Delinda used to captain the local Alvarado Ladies Drill Team. Those in attendance were: Mr. & Mrs. Joe Goularte, Jr., Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Goularte, Mr. & Mrs. Emilio Re, Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Maciel, Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Silva, Jr.,

Mr. & Mrs. Ed Owen, Mr. & Mrs. Clifford Serpa, and the Misses Jeannette Goularte and Laverne Medeiros.

President Frank Machado has given out seven wallets to departing Alvarado men to the Armed Forces on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce of Alvarado; two of the boys are the Paniagua boys whose folks reside in the old pioneer Hellwig home; also Mr. Norman Silveira, Joe Brune, Frank Lewis and Walter Fasolis.

Mrs. Bill Dickie of San Diego was in Alvarado Sunday calling on her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Flores. Mrs. Dickie (nee Ruth Flores) is also the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Anthony Flores of Oakland and also the niece of Mrs. Frank Machado of Alvarado.

Anthony Alexander attended the Firemen's meeting last Thursday with a full pack of cigarettes. There were 13 firemen attending the meeting and some of the boys were worrying about the unlucky number until Joe Dutra's hound showed up making 14 present, so nobody had to go home.

Some months ago when the firemen were moving the scrap metal from the schoolyard in the wet weather, the fire engine got stuck in the mud. Joe Avila was urged to use his equipment to haul it out, and this he did. Sorry we forgot to thank Joe sooner.

Frank Machado is doing a fine job collecting dues for 1943 memberships in the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce. He signed present members Alvin Silvey, Emilio Castro, Joe Silva, Antone Borges, Gerald Gamardo and Seraphine Daviner.

Cyril Flores, son of Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Flores, arrived this week from Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas to visit his folks. He said he enjoyed the fine wallet from the Chamber of Commerce of Alvarado.

Henry Heitmuller (husband of the former Oscarina Nauert) made a notable contribution to the Alvarado Grammar School Scrap Metal Drive (sponsored by the Alvarado Fire Department) by donating an Acetylene Generator.

Hubert and Joseph Jacinto Jr. both went to San Quentin Sunday, but they got back all right. They were only playing baseball with the Three Brothers Team of Pinole. These two sons of storekeeper, Joseph Jacinto Sr., seem to have become sparkling semi-pros. The Sunday before they went to Mare Island Navy Yard to play.

Stanley Roderick was in Alvarado with his charming young wife (a Newark Miss) on Saturday. Stanley is on a Navy Repair ship, and is a First Class Electricians Mate. The Alvarado Vegetable Growers shipped about 6 cars of mixed vegetables to Portland the first week in May. Mr. & Mrs. Graydon Spurlock, who reside in one of Varni's cottages, have a visitor from Kansas. The guest is Mrs. Spurlock's grandmother, who at 79 years made the trip all alone. A baby girl was born to Mr. & Mrs. Peter Pinto (nee Antoinette Rose) on May 8th. Ms. Dutra, formerly of Granger Ave., of Alvarado, has undergone an operation the past week at Peralta Hospital. She is now back home and we hope she continues to improve.

Isabel Rodriguez is back from a vacation in Mexico. Our local Alvarado beauty shop operator, Isabel Rodriguez, returned to Alvarado where she is especially well liked. An example of this was shown by the fact that Mrs. August May and Mrs. Charles Baird met here when she got off the Greyhound Buss at Hayward and brought her home by motor car to Alvarado.

George Lucas is able to come home at stated intervals to visit his home here from his work in the Navy See-Bees at Livermore. His wife, Mrs. Isabel Ferry Lucas is the well-known teacher of our 6th and 7th grades at Alvarado Grammar School

D. Carrillo, who has had the New Manila Pool Hall for over a year, has added another business. It is the former Half Way House sandwich eating place, which he now call the New Manila Café. He serves beer.

Edward Martinez is in the Navy. So is his brother Eugene. Another brother, William Martinez was the heavyweight-boxing champ at Camp Farragut, Idaho. He battles at 205 pounds.

The California Conserving Company has purchased the Riverside Hotel in Alvarado last year. They have been able to house some of their workers, newcomers from Missouri and some from Arkansas. Two of the young men from the town of Steel, Missouri, seem headed for the Army as Bob Michie and Eugene Doran take their physical exam on May 18th.

Matt Machado of Smith Street has been a long time member of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce, and has always done his best to help Alvarado grow. He has built an addition to his liquor store, which is very bright, and would be a fine location for a barbershop. Matt has wines, which his customers claim are the best.

Evelyn Naharro has announced her engagement to Joseph Sanchez of Decoto. Mr. Sanchez is on furlough from Camp White in Oregon. The engagement was announced three days ago with a party at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Mike Salido. Mrs. Mary Salido is a sister of Evelyn.

Mrs. Joseph Priego is much improved after her operation a few weeks ago at San Jose Hospital. She is now home and gaining her former strength. Her sons David and Manuel worked hard at the store meanwhile. You have to give a lot of credit to Joseph Priego who goes daily to work at the shipyards because of the great shortage in labor. And he can "take it" too! Good luck Joe.

Farm Home Dept:

Mrs. Leda Santos has been chosen chairman of the Alvarado Home Farm Department and will be installed in Pleasanton. Other new officers are: Mrs. Mary Gastelum, Vice Chairman; Mrs. Lena Bettencourt, Secretary-Treasurer; and Mrs. Mary L. S. George, Publicity. The next regular meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Jesse Perry in Decoto on May 18th.

Baby Born in a Barn:

Doctors at Highland Hospital today cared for a "manger baby," born early today on a bare barn floor at Alvarado and joined more than an hour later by a twin at the hospital. The first infant, a girl, born unattended to Mrs. Amelia Aranda, 31, in an unheated barn and by light of a kerosene lamp.

Dr. G. S. Holeman, of Centerville, called to the place by the father, Jose Aranda, 36, found the child unconscious. While two deputies held flashlights for him, Dr. Holeman wrapped the baby in a piece of blanket and laid it between two of the seven other children in the family for warmth.

There were only three beds in the one-room barn home and the seven youngsters filled them. There were only a few ragged blankets for the whole family, and a dog lay among the youngsters on one bed, calmly sleeping through the entire proceeding.

Fearful that the mother might have difficulty if the second child were delivered there, the doctor summoned an ambulance from Hayward and had her taken to Highland Hospital, where the twin boy arrived a few minutes later.

Deputy sheriff's Glen Davidson and Ernest Sabina, who aided the doctor, said the family had been living in the barn for about four months. The father, they said, worked at the General Metals Corporation plant in Oakland. Part of the barn has a wooden floor, but the rest is earthen.

Dr. Holeman said he had never been consulted by the mother before the father came to him at 11:30 last night for help. By the time he had arrived at the barn, the first child had been born.

News Notes:

Observation Post Chief Joseph Jacinto has three chief assistants in Miss Flora McKeown, Mrs. Corinne Munger and Mrs. Isabelle Martin.

William Silva of Granger Avenue is leaving for the Army Tuesday. He is the husband of the former Lorraine Silveira.

Al Smith, of the Holly Sugar Company, will make a trip down to the valley for the company.

We neglected to record the birth some seven months ago of Claire Joanne Pimentel, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Pimentel who resides in one of the Varni cottages.

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Pimentel were host and hostess at a reception given in honor of Leonard Taormina, who was baptized on Sunday May 2nd.

Beginning his recruit training this week at the Farragut Naval Training Station at Farragut, Idaho, is Frank A. Lewis, son of Mrs. M.S. Dutra, 940 Watkins Street, Alvarado California.

Ray Diaz and wife (the former Bernice Lezand) expect to come from Arizona to visit relatives the last of this month.

Frank Vargas' birthday will be honored on Sunday at a birthday party, when relatives will gather at the Vargas home.

On May 26th, in San Francisco, Delphino Ledesma will take his physical examination for the U.S. Army Service. He is the son of Mrs. Ledesma of Alvarado.

One of the busiest mechanics in Alvarado is Manuel Benites who is assisting at his father's garage, known as the Manuel Benites Machado Garage. They do a big business in wrecking cars and in selling used parts to the public.

Adam Lewis looked fine in his Army uniform last Sunday. He dropped in to surprise his mother, Mrs. Dutra of Watkins Street.

Mr. & Mrs. Clifford Dinsmore were visitors at the home of his parents, Sam & Viola Dinsmore, in Alvarado week ago Sunday. Clifford is a busy man at the shipyards. His brother Sam is still feeling fine at his post with Navy down at the Canal.

Alvarado Boys in the Service:

At the Chamber of Commerce meeting on Thursday night at the Alvarado Grammar School, the purchase of money belts to give the servicemen was decided upon. The local men had formerly received wallets. This makes a nice variety, and on Friday some fine belts were purchased from Kelly Bros. of Hayward. 43 men have left Alvarado so far for the Armed Forces. 37 of them have received wallets. Six of these have yet to receive a present from the Chamber of Commerce. They will get the money belts, which fasten around the waist.

List of Alvarado Men in the Armed Services:

News Notes:

Reelected to the Board of Washington Union High School was Andrew Logan
Reelected to the board of Alvarado Grammar School was Mrs. Walter Robie who has served in that capacity since 1912.

A case of necessity takes Mr. & Mrs. Andrew Anderson and son Stanley to visit Mrs. Anderson's sister, Mrs. Snead in Modesto.

Mrs. Munger of Watkins street has a guest in her granddaughter, Janet Lynd Munger of Hayward.
Mrs. Anthony Rodgers of the Creek Road, Alvarado, paid a visit to her son in Idaho, where he is attending radio school at the University of Idaho at Moscow for the Navy.

Andrew Anderson has been doing a number of first class painting jobs lately. One was the building housing the rumpus room at Manuel Silva Jr's; another was the house of Sam Dinsmore and soon he will paint at George Harvey's. And best of all, Andrew is feeling fine after his heroic pull through a major illness of a year's duration.

St. Anne's Church of Alvarado is to keep a record of all her young men in the Armed Forces. There will be a new flag and a frame for the Honor Roll at the church. Frank Machado is now collecting the money for this worthy cause.

Leslie Salt Co. is shipping crude salt from the large salt mound at Baumberg at the rate of five carloads a day. The mound will be very nearly all gone when they start to harvest the salt along the Bay Shore in August. Baumberg is between Alvarado and Mt. Eden, adjoining the S.P. tracks. Larry Dutra is foreman there.

Ray Soares, manager of the California Pine Box factory at Alvarado surely gets action. He made 2,869 boxes the other day, which seems a fair average of the steady production of boxes to fill an order for the government. The box factory is next to the Hall Station.

There will be an installation of officers in June at the SPRSI Lodge in Alvarado as follows:

Mrs. Eleanor Azevedo, Pianist	Evelyn Silva, Past President	Mamie Roderick, Pres.
Mrs. Aurora Lewis, V.P.	Mrs. Flora Flores, Secretary	Mrs. Clara Martin, Marshl
Mrs. Mabel Rodgers , Trsr	Mrs. Angie Vargas, Emcee	Edith Mello, Director
Anna Amaral, Director	Nora Vargas, Director	Mrs. Mary Amaral, Guard

Mr. & Mrs. Anthony Rodgers entertained for Anthony's niece's husband, just back from the battle area in the South Pacific. He is Edward Ferreira who is in the U.S. Navy and saw service at New Caledonia, right on the fighting map with the Japs.

At the last meeting of the Chamber of Commerce President Frank Machado favored a tablet or service flag and to have all Alvarado men in the service written on it. This would be placed in some public place, at the Post Office if possible. Named on the committee were Joe Lewis, Charles Baird and Mike Salido.

Area Produce:

Southern Alameda County is certainly a point from which much produce and goods are shipped to various sections of the nation. It ought to be a highly prosperous community, and fact it is. Consider these figures:

Newark's two salt companies shipped 41 carloads of salt east last week.

The Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association ships a carload of peas and lettuce to the Northwest (Portland) every other day.

Hayward sends out carloads of canned goods from its canneries each week.

The Centerville cannery will pack 5,000 cases of turkeys for the government this summer.

Harry Rowell takes his rodeo stock, including horses and Brahma bulls to rodeos from San Francisco to Madison Square Garden New York.

If all this material was shipped out from here were trade marked, Hayward/Southern Alameda County, it would become a national by-word, known favorably for its great productions of things the nation uses.

Editor's Note: This article is from a Hayward newspaper, hence the reference to the "Hayward/Southern Alameda County" trademark.

Postmaster Conference:

Local Postmasters Mrs. Genevieve Dutra of Alvarado and Mrs. Mary Janeiro of Decoto will attend a three-day conference to be held at Hoberg's south of Clear Lake. An official from the United States Post office Department, Washington D.C., will address the audience.

The Hayward Review, June 3, 1943

Sugar:

The Holly Sugar Mill in Alvarado will not process beets this year in Alvarado. The beets will be shipped to their Tracy mill for processing. The reason given is that late rains delayed planting of the crop and only 50% of the normal beet acreage was planted this year.

The Hayward Review, June 8, 1943

News Note:

Mr. & Mrs. Philbert Quintal and Mrs. Lucille Vierra of Hayward, were guests at a recent family gathering at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Frank S. Dutra at Alvarado.

The Hayward Review, June 10, 1943

Sugar:

Definite announcement that the Holly Sugar Corporation's plant at Alvarado will not process this year's crop of sugar beets, because of the small acreage being raised in this area, was made Monday by company officials. Local beets, about 50 percent of the usual acreage planted will be processed at the Tracy plant. The Holly Sugar Corporation maintains plants also at Hamilton City and Santa Ana and at eight or ten other locations outside California.

Reduced acreage this year is said to be due to the late rains in the spring, which delayed the planting, also there was anticipated difficulty in obtaining harvesters and the tardiness of announcement of Federal bonuses to offset increased cost of production.

Failure to open the Alvarado plant this fall will release about 3,000 processors and 300 harvesters from the list of laborers needed in Washington and Eden Township during the fall of the year. The plant usually begins work on the season's crop during September and runs full force through December. The maintenance staff at the plant, it was explained, will be absorbed into other Holly plants or will transfer to other industries.

The Alvarado mill is the oldest sugar processing plant in the United States. It was established in 1869 and was taken over by the Holly Corporation in 1927. Its average annual output of sugar is from 500,000 to 600,000 100-pound bags, processed from about 200,000 tons of beets. Ben Koontz is the superintendent of the Alvarado sugar mill.

News Notes:

Walter Fasolis is in the Navy at Camp Hill and is still in the boot camp for beginners says his brother Andy Gardetto.

Albert Borges of the Creek Road left New York for overseas, the Government notified his folks. He is a Master Sergeant.

George Oakes of Hayward and Lloyd Bailey of Alvarado, classmates of Robert Sproul in the 1913 class at UC Berkeley expect to attend the class reunion on June 20th.

Joe Abreu is at Camp Cook at Santa Maria. He lives on V Street.

Manuel Silveira of V. Street is in the Army at Camp Haan near Riverside Calif.

Norman Silveira of Granger Lane is in the Glider Corps, located in North Carolina.

Manuel Borges of V Street is proud of his nephews in the Armed Forces.

Sergeant Warren Silva is in the 16th Bomb Operations Training Wing in Arizona. Warren's father is Frank Silva of V Street.

Corporal Leonard Silva of V Street is in the Medical Corps in Hawaii.

Melvin Allegre went to the Marines at San Diego training station recently. He lives on the Creek road.

Sergeant Joe Allegre of the Creek Road is in Africa where there is big sighting. He left Palm Sunday for Fort Ord.

The Editor admired the flower garden of Mrs. Frank Machado at her home on Smith Street. And besides the flowers, her victory vegetable garden showed fine results of her gardening.

Mencho Paredes leaves on the 15th of June for the armed Forces. He is the son of Mrs. And Mrs. F. Paredes of the Alvarado Hotel.

Ernie Machado, brilliant student at Washington Union High School, goes into the Service on June 20th. He is the son of public-spirited Matt Machado.

Clarence Pimentel of Alvarado was surprised by a birthday party thrown on his behalf by his wife to celebrate his 29th birthday.

Mrs. Hilda Pinto Allegre of Alvarado has been visiting her husband, Melvin Allegre in Los Angeles. He has been in the Marines several weeks and is stationed there for the time being.

Arrangements are being made for the wedding of Manuel Pine and Angie Borges, both of Alvarado. Manuel works at the Harvey ranch and was born and raised here. Miss Borges is the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Borges, who resides at the corner house next to the Post Office.

Anthony E. Vargas, fruit buyer and chicken fancier with a splendid bunch of laying hens, is much improved. He has been gaining back his health gradually since his illness started in January. Tony is one fine fellow, and his wife Nora has been helping him back to health.

Plans for the establishment of a County Farm Labor Recruiting Office, with sub-offices in Centerville and Pleasanton, were outlined at Hayward at an organization meeting of the newly formed Alameda County Production Committee. T.P. Harvey of Alvarado is among the members.

When you want a nice Hamburger or cheese sandwich, the Half Way House at Alvarado invites you to drop in there. The place is across the street from the Central Bank, and is conducted by a young lady by the name of Evelyn C. Miller. She is originally from Seattle and her mother still lives here. Besides hamburgers she serves coffee and beer. She has made many friends and is very friendly and accommodating.

We want to compliment the Alvarado Post Office for having such accommodating people both in Postmaster Genevieve Dutra and her assistant Alice Menezes. They dress in such cheerful looking dresses that they make it a pleasure to do business at this place run by happy people.

Jack Binder, second trick telegraph operator at the Alvarado Southern Pacific depot for the two years, has been called in the draft and will report next Thursday to go to Monterey. He has made his home at the Alvarado Hotel while in this town. He was always very cheerful and efficient. Station agent Wilson will miss him.

Miss Eleanor Silva, charming daughter of Mr. & Mrs. M. F. Silva of the Creek Road, has announced her engagement to a prominent young man in Washington Township. We have not yet learned the name of the lucky young man.

St. Anne's Church is going to get two service flags like other Catholic Churches have in their place of worship. The Alvarado church will also have a roll of honor of their local men printed on a list called a Roll of Honor, which will be enclosed in a wooden case. These patriotic improvements were made possible by the money donated locally by our good people, the sum of $222.50 being raised. Frank Machado collected $181.50 and Matt Machado collected $41.00

Alvarado Soldier Killed in Attu:

Mr. & Mrs. Dominic Allegre of Alvarado-Niles Road received a telegram that their son, Sgt. Joseph Allegre, 39, was killed in action of the Island of Attu in the Alaskan Aleutians. A telegram from the War Department was received by Sergeant Allegre's widow in Berkeley.

He was inducted in April 1941, and returned home for a furlough last April. His brother, Melvin Anthony, was inducted a few weeks ago.

He was the brother of Angie Vargas and Pauline Dutra.

Girl Scouts:

A public investiture service and court of awards was held by the Lone Troop Girl Scouts of Alvarado at the Alvarado Grammar School last week by Mrs. Anelda Hulse, leader in charge. Twelve girls were raised to second-class rank. Betty Ann Jacinto, Margarette Hulse, Joyce Layton, Joel Andrada, Sherry Davis, Claribel Silva, Delores Santos, Barbara Diangson, Eleanor Rose, Janet Layton, Betty Jane Silva and Madeline Hernandez. Dorothy Endy received her tenderfoot badge.

Alvarado School Graduation:

Mrs. Walter Robie, oldest Elementary School trustee in point of service in Alameda County presented 21 diplomas to Alvarado Grammar School Graduates. Florice Di Vincenzo was Valedictorian and Placido Paredes gave the welcome address.

No further information on Alvarado and Alviso graduates was found for 1943.

The Township Register, Niles Calif., June 25, 1943

News Notes:

Eileen Wilson of Alvarado passed the Subject 'A' English test at UC Berkeley. She is undecided whether to attend the coming term or not.

Miss Janet Decoto, niece of Mrs. August May, is engaged to a very fine young man in the Navy. She is the daughter of Ezra Decoto Jr.

Saenz Claudio is in the Army overseas and is a brother of Mrs. Fernandez, 1026 Maiden Lane. Mr. Claudio formerly lived in New Mexico.

A birthday party was given in honor of Mrs. Madeline Pimentel of 2025 Smith Street, Alvarado at the former Tony Mello's place.

Tony Santos, son of Mr. & Mrs. Tony Santos who resides next to the Alviso School, was a seven-day furlough this past week. He is in the Navy.

Joe Sanchez of Decoto, who is in the Army at Camp White, Oregon, will visit Alvarado the latter part of July. He is engaged to our lovely Alvarado girl, Miss Evelyn Naharro.

Anthony Pine of Alvarado has been in the Army about two weeks. He is located at Los Angeles.

Alice Menezes, Assistant Postmaster and sister Elberta are vacationing at Boulder Creek as guests of Dr. and Mrs. John Bettencourt. Elberta will stay three weeks. She will resume her studies in the fall as a sophomore at San Jose State College. Alice will come home on Sunday.

Considering that Frank Gaspar was bedridden for over two years, it is good news to hear that he was so much improved that he was able to walk up town this week. Frank lives on V Street, and for many years superintended the feeding of sugar beet pulp to Owens Packing Co. cattle near the sugar mill.

Victor Naharro, the pioneer shoe store man residing across from the Pioneer office, is much improved after two years illness. He is able to get about very well, although he is far from strong. His many friends are glad to hear of his improved health.

Clayton George, son of Frank George of the General Petroleum distribution agency, has graduated from a Boy Scout to a businessman. He has been hired during the school vacation by his father to drive a truck to deliver gasoline in southern Alameda County, and is doing a good job.

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Dutra returned Saturday from attending the war conference of Postmasters of California held at Robergs in Lake County, Their son Robert attended also. They went horseback riding everyday and enjoyed swimming. Robert Dutra showed himself quite an expert at softball and large crowds watched him hit the ball for circuits every trip. Mother, father and son were all dressed alike in cowboy sombreros and like shirts and jeans.

Arlo Barton and wife who formerly conducted the Halfway House across from the bank six years ago are now living in Placerville. Mrs. Barton is just recuperating at her home from a serious illness, having lost her newborn baby. This news was reported by Mr. Barton when he visited Alvarado friends Friday. He also called on Lloyd Bailey of Alvarado, one of his many friends.

Believe it or not, Tony George, formerly of the firm of George Bros., distributors of General Petroleum products, drills for the United States army one day a week at Newark. You see, since January 1, 1943 Tony George has been a guard at Westvaco Chlorine Corp. He wanted to help win the war with defense work, so he took a job at Newark.

Manuel Vargas, 835 Watkins Street, brother of Chic Vargas, was seriously injured at the Richmond Shipyard Thursday at 2:30 pm. He stepped on a piece of iron, which gave way and caused him to fall 85 feet. He was lucky to live at all. He was rushed to the Richmond plant field hospital. We are glad to hear they have hopes for his recovery. Mrs. Vargas has suffered a severe shock, but is carrying on well, and she and her son are hopeful for Manuel's recovery. A few others who have plunged in this manner never lived to tell the story. Manuel Vargas has two brothers, Frank and George, and a sister, Mrs. Mary Goularte.

Dog Makes Good With U.S. Army:

Frank George got news of his dog "Flash" who was accepted by the "Dogs for Defense" department of the U.S. Army. Our Alvarado distributor of General Petroleum products heard that his dog is being trained for sentry work at San Carlos in San Mateo County.

"Flash" had been sent by Mr. George to police school at San Pablo where they trained Doberman dogs, and the Army appreciated this early training. Thus they decided to continue his development along this line. Many dogs which are not previously trained are put in the sled hauling teamwork. But Frank is happy now that he encouraged "Flash" to become proficient in guard and attack tactics, as well as detective work.

News Notes:

Arthur Silveria, son of Mr. & Mrs. Joe Silveria of V Street, writes to the folks that all is well with him at Camp Roberts.

Miss Roseline Daviner, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Seraphin Daviner of V Street, Alvarado, announced her engagement on graduation day.

The much-hated State Sales Tax will drop, but will not be dropped. Starting July 1st the State Sales Tax will fall from 3% to 2.5%.

Lorraine Perry of V Street Alvarado was tendered a lovely party on graduation day of Washington Union High School at her folks home of V Street.

Frank Lewis of Watkins Street is home on furlough from Camp Walden, Farragut, Idaho. His brother Adam Lewis is still at Buckley Field, Denver, CO.

Manuel Silveria of V Street was home Sunday. He is located at an Army Camp near Los Angeles. His folks are Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Silveria.

Joseph Silver of V Street, who is recuperating at his home since his operation on injured nerves says he expects to go back to work in about a month from now. He was asked to work at Holly's Tracy plant, but is undecided whether to work there as he would rather work closer to home.

The Alvarado Sanitary District Commissioners are desirous of making the local system a great success. And so they invite the property owners to help them to see that all homes ARE CONNECTED WITH THE SEWER, as required by law. The cooperation of those who have already signed has been appreciated. The eyes of the rest of the county are on the progress of the Alvarado Sanitary District, as it is know to be one of the most modern. So let us keep up the work and see EVERY HOME IS CONNECTED WITH THE SEWER. Permits for signing up for service may be secured from Frank Machado, Inspector of the District.

Wilma Martin, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Martin of the Whipple Road at Alvarado, is employed at the Oakland Post Office. We are proud of Wilma, who is a graduate of Washington High in 1941, as she has the honor of selling U.S. Defense Stamps at one of the prominent windows at the Oakland Post Office. Another daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Martin is Mildred, who will graduate from Washington High in June 1944. Joseph Martin has always been one of Alvarado's finest citizens, and has made a good school trustee. He is a prominent worker to help St. Anne's Church, and is a prominent member of the Eagles.

Manuel Perry, son of Mrs. Mary Perry of the Creek Road, will be home on a furlough next month for about a weeks stay. He is located at an Army camp in Alaska. Manuel's brother, Ernest Perry, also lives on the Creek Road.

Ramiro Machado, our popular barber at Alvarado, will move his barbershop location to the new shop built by Matt Machado next to his famous wine depot. This town social center for many men makes his location right across from the Grammar School. At present he is adjoining the former Tony Mello Café. For about 20 years Ramiro has had a steady business here.

Summer Classes:

Four Washington Township young people leave today for Berkeley, to enroll in summer semester classes. Jacquelyn Burtch of Newark will return as a high freshman. Henry Borghi of Decoto as a sophomore in the Naval Reserve. Margaret Williamson of Niles and Linda Hellwig of Alvarado as seniors in the Department of Political Science classes.

The Oakland Tribune, July 4, 1943

Hawaiian Shirt:

Winifred Santos Harper has received many interesting presents, which are typical of the Hawaiian Islands, where her husband William Harper is stationed in the Army.

Her husband sent her a complete dancer's outfit consisting of a dance skirt, halter-top and leis. Also included were a cocoanut ukulele, necklaces and silver charm bracelets.

News Notes:

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Jacinto and son and daughter visited relatives over the Fourth of July. Miss Alberta Menezes arrived home from Brookdale Saturday where she enjoyed a few weeks of vacationing in Santa Cruz.

Delegates to the SPRSI convention in Fresno were Mrs. Clara Flores, Evelyn Silva and Mamie Roderick. Mrs. Mary Borges of the Creek Road attended as a visitor.

15-year old Frank Pinto has been awarded the pin for 500 hours service on the Air Raid Observation post. No other person on the post has served as long.

Manuel Silveria Cardoza of V Street was home on a furlough lately. He surprised his folks as they did not expect him.

James Wasley Jr., is making a name for himself with the Navy. And is now a regulation cadet in the Naval Service.

Mrs. Nora Vargas has been ill in bed but is much improved and is up and around again.

Mrs. Helen Roderick of Creek Road has her father visiting her. He is from Decoto and has been quite ill. He is 75 years old.

Tony Perry of V Street has been busy right along at General Engineering in Alameda for about a year. Tony is going to take a couple of weeks vacation soon.

Mrs. Mary Goularte of the Fair Ranch Road was shopping in Oakland on Friday.

Having a boy of her own in the service and knowing how they live from one letter to another in their lonely stations of Army and Navy, caused Mrs. Mabel Rodgers to take on the big job of writing to 19 young men in the service. Her visit to the Navy camp at Idaho where her son Robert was stationed brought her in touch with many lonely hearts far away from home. Well, if Mabel with her jolly remarks cant drive the blues away form the boys we don't know who can.

One of the most efficient workers in defense work among the young ladies in the East Bay is Miss Lucille Slaviero, who is employed at the Radich & Brown Navy Construction plant at San Leandro. Her fiancé is Robert Rodgers of Alvarado, who is in the Navy studying radio work at a big Navy base near Los Angeles. This weekend Miss Slaviero enjoyed the sparkling hospitality of Robert's parents and brother on the Creek Road.

The Haunted House:

(From the Aunt Elsie's Children's Page of the Oakland Tribune)

One day June and Babs asked their mother if they could go to the haunted house. She said they could. So they packed a lunch and started.

Meanwhile Bob finds it out and decides to scare them.

When they got there they were hungry so they decided to eat. Just then they saw a bear and climbed a tree and the bear ate all their lunch.

When they got down they went into the haunted house. While they were there they saw a ghost and they ran all the way home without stopping. At supper Bob told them he was the ghost. June and Babs laughed and said they were very scared.

Alameda Creek:

(This is a report from the Hayward Review's wandering reporter)

The other afternoon I was out scouting about trying to learn more about our great Southern Alameda County. I was talking to some farmers down below Alvarado and found that Alameda Creek, which runs through Niles, disappears in a gravel bed west of town, and reappears as a lot of smaller streams that finally reach the bay. All the little concrete bridges you drive over on the highway between Alvarado and Centerville cover little fingers of the Alameda Creek. Farmers like the creek water to pass over their land slowly, to deposit the silt it carries to enrich their soil. Most of that water comes from the Calaveras Dam, above Milpitas.

The Hayward Review, August 19, 1943

News Notes:

Neighbors gathered at the home of Mrs. Clarence Pimentel, at the end of Smith Street, Friday to enjoy her hospitality.

Alvarado is not the only Holly Sugar Corp. plant, which is not working this year in California. Two others at Manteca and Hamilton City are also shut down.

A carload of lettuce and cauliflower leaves Hall Station every other day for Portland and other northwest points. It is shipped by the Alvarado Vegetable Growers and is the usual good quality, says warehouse manager Dave Caeton.

Miss Muriel Oakes, 21, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. George Oakes of the "Pioneer" left this week by airplane for Mexico City where she will attend the University of Mexico, continuing her education in anthropology, which she has specialized in at U.C. Berkeley for the last three years.

Word has been received by the Pioneer that Private First Class Adam Lewis of Alvarado graduated August 17th from the Armament Department there. Adam is the son of Mrs. Mary Dutra of 940 Watkins Street, Alvarado.

The Alvarado Pioneer, August 20, 1943

Alvarado Fire:

While the Ledesma family was in their home, flames started pouring from their house, and despite the heroic efforts of the Alvarado Fire Department the house was half burned. It seems that neighbors noticed the fire first and turned in the alarm. Not an awful lot of their belongings were saved. The house is owned by John Ralph.

The house is located next to the poolroom, which would have burned except for the prompt response of the firemen with their fine apparatus. A fine stream of water promptly subdued the fire. Al Cadero played an important part in operating the truck and fire hose, and so did Manuel Silva Jr., the blacksmith.

A little delay was seen in the giving of the alarm to the fire department. In the future if the telephone operator is notified directly, she will give the warning to the firemen. This is done by her authority to switch on the fire siren, which located on the top of Dinsmore's Store.

Vernon Perry noticed the fire first, and neighbors had a hard believing his attempt to tell of the flames. They'll believe him from now on. That boy knows his onions, even if he is only about 7 years old.

News Note:

Ronald Allen, son of Mr. & Mrs. Ray Lawrence of Hayward, is spending a vacation with his aunt and uncle, Mr. & Mrs. Henry Flores, of Alvarado.

The Hayward Review, August 24, 1943

News Notes:

Mrs. Verbie Perry of Hayward visited with Mr. & Mrs. Emilio Re Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Perry and Mrs. Re are employees of Gorrie & Yeoman Feed Store at Hayward.

Our fine local citizen, Mrs. Diangson is home from an operation at the San Jose Hospital. We are glad to hear that she is much improved.

Eugene Pine is visiting his folks in Alvarado. He visited his sister, Mrs. Emily Noia this Sunday. He is in the U.S. Army Service at Los Angeles.

Vivian Logan, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Andrew Logan of Alvarado, attended the wedding of a classmate at San Jose State College.

The State Agricultural Dept has set a limit of 17¢ a box picked for round canning tomatoes. The pear shaped tomatoes, smaller and more difficult to pick will have a 21¢ ceiling.

Mr. & Mrs. John Machado of Union City Road returned this week from a vacation at Santa Cruz.

Bobby Rodgers, son of Mr. & Mrs. Anthony Rodgers, is stationed at Treasure Island in the Navy service now. He visited here and together with his fiancée was entertained in glorious style by Mr. & Mrs. A.E. Vargas at a lovely dinner this week. A guest at the same time was Mrs. Isabel Lucas.

An afternoon dinner was given in honor of Private William Silva of Granger Avenue on furlough from the Army Camp near Portland Oregon. Those who attended were his wife, Mrs. Lorraine Silva, and his folks Mr. & Mrs. Frank Silva. Also in attendance were Mr. & Mrs. George Goularte, Mr. & Mrs. Frank Goularte, Mr. & Mrs. Frank Goularte Sr. and the Misses Jeanette and Isabel Silveria.

Frank George, distributor of General Petroleum products, has a splendid interior-decorating job done on his office in Alvarado by Al Cadero. The carpenter work is excellent and the knotty-pine grain look reminds one of a noted drawing room. Another room was added also.

The splendid big feed firm of Hayward Poultry Producers has five Alvarado men employed by them. They are: Edward Vargas, in the service department; Emilio Re and Joe Pimentel as truck drivers; William Machado and M.P. Rose, floor men. Mr. Eric Ruus is manager. He lives near the Tennyson district.

In speaking to Fire Chief James Wasley this week, he is worried about the public's seeming problem of how to GIVE A FIRE ALARM. Mr. Wasley advises running to the telephone immediately and telling the Alvarado operator. She will immediately cause the fire siren on top of Dinsmore's Store to sound out the warning to the firemen, who will respond immediately as usual, and start on their way to the blaze.

The Alvarado Pioneer, August 27, 1943

Sugar:

To the Hayward area belongs the distinction of having the first sugar beet mill in America. The sugar mill at Alvarado was the first (successful) of its kind ever to be erected in the United States. It has been kept modern and is today in splendid condition.

But the war has played havoc with the beet sugar industry and local congressman are being asked by members of the California Beet Association to aid in planning now for the 1944 crop. The following plea on the behalf of the sugar beet industry has been released from San Francisco:

"Unless Washington announces its program by October 1st, there is grave danger that the whole sugar beet industry of the Nation may be jeopardized," said Gordon Lyons.

Federal regulations covering the current crop were not released until five months after the planting season, with the result that California's production was 100,000 acres below normal.

Alvarado School:

The Alvarado Grammar School will open on Monday, September 20, according to Mrs. Walter Robie, clerk of the school board of trustees. Principal J. C. Wasley and other members of the faculty will return with the exception of Mrs. Ruth Davis who has resigned. Anticipated decreased enrollment will result in dropping the sixth teacher.

The Oakland Tribune, September 12, 1943

Tent City:

There has been a tent city erected in Alvarado for colored farm helpers, and it has doubled the population, but there seems to be enough work for them.

The Hayward Review, September 15, 1943

News Notes:

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Pimentel of Smith Street visited James Knight who has just got back from overseas, where he served his country for eight months.

Everybody buying a Victory Bond now at the Central Bank in Alvarado, or at the Alvarado Theater from E. Naharro, will be given a ticket, which will admit that person free to the Bond Night Preview on September 28th. A film from Hollywood, which has not been seen here before will be a feature. So the local citizens who make a patriotic sacrifice and in an investment in a bond will be honored by being admitted free. So, we repeat, to enjoy this BIG BOND NITE, you will have to secure a ticket from on of the two places mentioned above, the bank or the show house.

Washington Township War Dead:

The first gold star to hang in the window of a Niles home is that which replaces one of the five stars on the service flag of Ignacio and Maria Avila, of the Mexican settlement in Old Town. A telegram from the War Department has informed the parents that their son, John, the first born of their 11 children died at the age of 24 in the service in Sicily. Avila has four brothers in the service.

This is the third Washington Township boy to be killed in action, the other are: Pvt. Kenneth Santiago, 31 of Decoto, who died in the South Pacific; and Sgt. Joseph Allegre, 29, of Alvarado who died on the Alaskan Island of Attu.

Of the approximately 1,000 boys enlisted or sent from Draft Board No. 75 (Niles), only four have been listed as missing: PFC Joseph Bernardo, 32, of Centerville, tank corps at Bataan; Paul Rivers of Alvarado, U.S. Army Air Corps in the Solomons; Sgt. James Sinclair 26, of Irvington, Infantry in New Guinea; and Lieut. Douglas Rorabeck of Sunol, bombardier in the European area.

The first casualty from the township was Pvt. Ernest Azevedo of Mission San Jose, who died while in training in the United States.

Tent City:

Last year the colored farm workers of Alameda County established a harvest workers camp at Alvarado entirely for Negroes who wished to do farm labor. There were about forty there last year and the camp earned a fine reputation for neatness and the thrifty work done by the colored hands there.

This year the number has doubled but the work has not kept pace with the increase. Last week there were too many idle days at Camp Alvarado.

News Notes:

Adam Lewis of Alvarado is being trained to become an aerial gunner and expects to get his 'wings' soon. He is to be transferred for six weeks training in Utah.

Mr. & Mrs. Ferdinand Paredes of the Alvarado Hotel can be proud of their three sons. Two are in the service. Fred Paredes was on furlough here this weekend from his Navy duties at Farragut Idaho. Anthony Paredes is with the Air Corps in Florida. The youngest son, Placido, is going to high school in Centerville.

"Bring'em back for sure" Joe Dutra returned last week with a nice buck from Dardanelles. Also on the trip were Anthony Vargas, Iver Paulsen, Nick Lewis, Lloyd Silva and Julius Himlig. They also returned with bucks.

Robert Dutra, of Alvarado, accompanied by his mother, Postmistress Genevieve Dutra and his Uncle Morris Davilla attended the Cole Brothers Circus in Oakland for the 3rd consecutive year. Robert returned home with a live chameleon, which he has been pinned on his lapel and which has also been scaring his girl friends away.

A week ago the Alvarado Fire Department responded to a fire in the vicinity of Valle Vista and made a good showing with eight men. This weekend a grass fire along the S.P. Co. tracks near the Holly Sugar Mill was responded to and the fire quickly put under control. The fire siren sure brought the firemen from their supper.

Farm Camps:

The terrific need of getting migratory workers to pick the ripening crops in California caused the problem to arise of how to house the more than 50,000 workers who had come lately from parts outside of California. This problem was immediately solved by men in the employ of our great

Governor, Earl Warren. They decided to erect some 20 migratory camps right away. So on the July 1st of this year the construction firm of Nelsen and Ewing of Hayward was awarded a contract to supply for the State of California some 20 migratory camps.

When we refer to these migratory camps, we mean dwellings that are comfortable and people can enjoy living in them. The contractors furnished only the buildings, but plumbing, etc., making it ready for occupancy. And where do you think these buildings were built first of all? Well, believe it or not, right here in Hayward at Nelson's Hayward Mill and Lumber at No.1 Castro Street.

These prefabricated homes were transported by the trucks to the sites. One building can be put together in a few hours, and a whole camp can be assembled in less than a week in this method. You see, the speed was necessary to compete against the ripening crops.

One of our prettiest young women, Mrs. Hilda Allegre, left this last week for Oklahoma to be with her husband who is in the U.S. Marines. She expects to be with him until February.

Mr. & Mrs. Frank Dutra and son are now making their home on Granger Avenue. They resided above the saloon formerly known as Mello's Saloon.

Mr. & Mrs. Graydon Spurlock and daughter Beverly are now home after a two weeks vacation at Colorado. Mr. Spurlock's brother is now home on a twenty-day leave after being in Sicily, Palermo, and many foreign fighting fronts. His tales and souvenirs are of utmost interest.

Miss Judith Ann Serpa, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Clifford Serpa, of Fair Ranch Road, celebrated her first birthday on the 6th of October. Many friends and relatives were present for the occasion and many gifts were given in her honor.

Mrs. Anna Hendricks and Miss Jeanette Goularte are employed by Dave Caeton at the Alvarado Vegetable Growers packing plant at the Hall Station. They are packing and shipping vegetables here for boys in the service.

The former Miss Doris Johnson has been recently married and is making her home at Ashland. She is employed at Friedens factory in San Leandro. Her family resided at the end of V Street a few years ago.

Friends of Robert Rodgers, who is in the Navy, destination unknown, will be glad to hear that his parents, Mr. & Mrs. Antone Rodgers, have received mail from him this past week mentioning that some mail has already reached him.

Miss Jeanette Silveira of Alvarado, who resides on Granger Avenue, is being visited by her fiancée who is in the United States Army. Jeanette and her beau have been engaged for several months now.

Miss Lorraine Alameda, another one of our charming Alvarado girls, who resides with her parents on V Street, has announced her engagement to Anthony Pine this past week. Miss Alameda graduated from Alvarado Grammar School and Washington Union High School. Mr. Pine, who is now in the U.S. Army is here on a furlough, is a graduate of the class of 1940 from Washington Union High.

Mr. & Mrs. Emilio Re of Smith Street had as guests this past week Corporal Frank Re who is stationed in Louisiana and also Miss Josephine Re and her fiancée, who is stationed at Camp Parks in the Navy.

Natividad Saucedo is serving nice sandwiches and beer at her Half Way House in Alvarado. She is giving good service and has a good trade. She is very accommodating and very appreciative of increased patronage. The assistants are very polite and cheerful and we wish them luck.

Miss Irma Borges has been proudly wearing an engagement ring from Sgt. Warren Silva, recently home on a furlough. Both are charming. Miss Borges and Sgt. Silva are both graduated from Alvarado Grammar School and Washington Union High School.

Frank George's Dog "Flash:"

The splendidly trained dog "Flash" has arrived somewhere in Europe. This was the word received by Frank George from the U.S. Government regarding his dog.

Frank George is the very well known General Petroleum distributor for Southern Alameda County, with offices in Alvarado. He has a hobby of training the intelligent Doberman dogs and also the German shepherd variety. This hobby of Mr. George's paid good dividends for the Government. The Army Dogs for Defense Department uses them for sentry duty and for bringing supplies to the wounded, and this is probably what Frank George's dog will do in helping win the war.

The dogs that Frank trained were super intelligent and even now the U.S. Government has its eye on another trained dog, called Judy, also belonging to Frank.

Tin Can Drive:

J.V. Goold, principal of the Washington Union High School in Centerville, chairman of the tin can drive, has asked school children to assist in collecting cans, which are to be picked up by Oakland trucks from a central dump site in each town. Town chairmen have been appointed as follows: Alvarado, J.C. Wasley; Warm Springs, Leslie H. Maffey; and Alviso, Mrs. Elsie Madruga.

Cans must be dry and clean, free of wrappers, and flattened after the tops and bottoms have been removed.

Chamber of Commerce:

The boarding up of the sides of the Observation Post in school grounds temporarily (until needed again for active duty): saw action by the Chamber to foot the bill for the lumber.

Frank Machado presided as president of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce at the meeting on Thursday, October 21st, at the Alvarado schoolhouse. A good turnout was there to hear Postmaster Enos of Niles explain about the need of making the War Chest Drive a success. He said he had appointed Joe Lewis as Alvarado chairman. Endorsement of the War Chest Drive was passed by the Chamber body. Mr. Enos said many towns were raising $2,000 each in the Township. It is expected that a day's pay will be appreciated for a donation.

John Ralph's Service Flag is to be hung in the Post Office having the names of every Alvarado boy in the service and it made a big hit. It was intensely patriotic with its American Flag background. The names are written in ink at the bottom of the flag, and the wooden frame has a glass front, which will always keep the flag bright and clean.

There was hope of continued cooperation from the Scout Executive, and so the Boy Scouts will make another try of it. The Chamber of Commerce has quite a live sponsoring committee, and Mike Salido has undertaken the job as Scoutmaster.

Our Station agent (E.J. Wilson) was named chairman of a committee to contact the County Health Officer and ask for cooperation for a united effort with local homeowners to help exterminate the rats, which have increased in all East Bay cities.

Local Veggie Report:

The most Cauliflower that is being packed at the Hall Station Warehouse has been from the fields of Manuel Rose, Ed Lebon and Al Caeton says David Caeton, manager of the warehouse. Broccoli and peppers are also raised here and packed at Hall's.

Sweet Spanish onions are a big crop at Wes Emery's ranch. He has been selling it at a very satisfactory price.

The largest acreage of potatoes around here was that of Ted Harvey, who had about 100 acres. Lloyd Bailey and the McKeown's had next in large amounts of potatoes.

The vegetables packed at Hall Station have been sold to the local central California market and not shipped east.

News Notes:

A war bond will be given away to some lucky winner, the object being a worthy one, to raise funds for St. Anne's Church in Alvarado. Frank Machado has sold over 600 tickets already. Everybody seems glad to buy them.

James Wasley Jr., Cadet in the United States Navy and now studying dentistry at the Affiliated Colleges in S.F., looked swell in his Navy uniform while in Alvarado on a visit a few days ago. He was given a money belt by President Frank Machado of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce.

Frank George of Alvarado gave a wild duck dinner on Thursday evening October 28 at the Alvarado Hotel to his Mobil Gas Dealers in Southern Alameda County. The dining room of the Alvarado Hotel was used exclusively for this banquet and F. Paredes head chef, was in rare form. All said they had never tasted more delicious wild duck in their lives. The tables were attractively decorated with flowers.

War Chest Drive:

The drive for the War Chest for the needy resulting from the war, as well as for men in the service, will start this Monday November 8th in the Alvarado area. Joseph Lewis has been appointed by Postmaster Enos from Niles as the Alvarado chairman. Some $17,000 is to be raised in the Township and Alvarado is asked to do its share of around $2,000. Joe Lewis has gone to work in an earnest manner and has a fine committee of dependable workers from various parts of Alvarado.

Mr. Lewis has named the committees as follows:

SAM DINSMORE: In charge of fraternal organization and civic bodies.

GENEVIEVE DUTRA: (Postmistress) In charge of the Business District collections.

Mrs. Joe Flores	Mrs. Ethel Borges	Mrs. Helen Alameda	Mike Salido
Miss Mamie Silveira	Mrs. Aurora Lewis	Mrs. Marjorie Re	Miss Amelia Silva
Mrs. Melvin Peterson	Mrs. Harvey Granger	Manuel Amaral	George Hocking
Mrs. Felix Diangson	Jesus Martinez	Joseph Rose	John A. Silva

JAMES C. WASLEY: In charge of distributing educational material.

News Notes:

This past summer Miss Hughes of Watkins Street visited up in the mountains of Mokelumne Hill, near San Andreas.

Patricia Vargas, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Frank Vargas (nee Mary Diaz), celebrated her third birthday.

Mr. & Mrs. Russell Davis of Smith Street are parents of another baby daughter named Charleene. They have another daughter, Miss Marleene.

The Alvarado Service Club soon to be unfurled testament to the Alvarado fighting boys in the war was made possible by the work of John Ralph, who served on the committee of the Chamber body. He reports that he received cooperation from Morris Davilla for painting the frame. Also Tony Pine who fashioned the frame moulding at the planing mill, and from Miss Perry of the Grammar School staff of teacher who wrote in the names.

Mr. D. Diaz of the Union Meat Market brought up his sons and daughter here and they have married and stayed in this vicinity. Here they are:

Sig Diaz: Married Antoinette Torquemada some years ago, and they reside on the Creek Road. He works at Moore Shipyard.

Cip Diaz: He and his wife (nee Erma Machado) live on V Street.

Ray Diaz: He and his wife (Bernice Lezand) are at Phoenix, Arizona at which point he in the service.

Mary (Diaz) Vargas: Frank & Mary Vargas, live in a nice cottage near the Meat Market.

Ray Diaz, who is with the Medical Corps at the air base at Williams Field, Arizona, made a trip with his wife and another couple to the Roosevelt Dam, 100 miles away. Ray played on the championship service baseball team, starring in center field.

We hear reports on the Union City Duck Club members getting their limit on ducks. Surely this is one of the best clubs around here. Among those getting their limits lately were Nick Lewis, Al Searle (from Decoto), Joe Dutra, Clarence Flores and William Buchen.

We want to compliment Mrs. Frank Machado, head gardener at the Machado home on Smith Street for her lovely garden, Right now the wonderful begonias of various colors of red, pink and lemon color are truly beautiful. They are planted in front of the house.

E. Naharro, of the Alvarado Theater, show real up-to-date film features. For next Sunday here are two top-notches:

"WE'VE NEVER BEEN LICKED," an aviation romance.

"SALUDOS AMIGOS," a Walt Disney feature length.

Two interior county men made history last week. Judge Lincoln Church (born in Alvarado) who recently retired from the Alameda County Superior Court at Oakland was succeeded by the popular Ezra Decoto Jr., who was born in Decoto. Mr. Decoto is the brother of Mrs. Janet Decoto May of and Alvarado and Peter L. Decoto of Decoto.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 5, 1943

Machado Garage:

Mr. Machado of Machado's Garage (across from the Alvarado Theater) has many used cars for sale. Also he has good buys in auto tires and batteries and auto parts. Buy here at home; you will be surprised at his big stock. You can save money we are told.

This garage is trying to give the town of Alvarado auto repair service, so why not patronize them. Their mechanic does a fine job, we are informed. Mr. Machado's son is assisting him.

He believes in backing up the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce and he and his son attended the last meeting in October at the school. They sell Texaco gas and oils.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 5, 1943

William Diangson:

William Diangson of Alvarado has been making a fine record at the Brown Military academy at Pacific Beach, San Diego, California. This is the news the Academy wrote to us this week:

"On Tuesday, October 19th, Cadet Diangson was awarded the Commandant's Ribbon for conduct in the Brown Military Chapel."

His folks are very fine citizens, very patriotic and their son William comes by this wonderful leadership naturally. His parents are Mr. & Mrs. Felix Diangson, who are in business on Smith Street. They belong to the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. Diangson is collecting funds from local Filipinos and even before the War Chest Drive had started here, she has collected over $100 already. She is a real fine woman and Mr. Diangson is a fine man.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 5, 1943

New Owner of Gas Station:

The gas station known as the "La Entrada" at the entrance to Alvarado from Mt. Eden where they formerly sold Richfield gas has been reopened by Mr. Machado of Machado's Garage.

They are selling Golden Eagle gas, and they claim to save car users money. Trucks can save 1 cent a gallon, and many are using it they say. Mr. Machado has the sole agency of Golden Eagle gas for Alvarado, and his daughter Sacramento has personal charge of the station.

Julian Yabut, now in the armed forces, once handled this gas station.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 5, 1943

Alvarado Library:

Books you will enjoy at the Alvarado Library:

Why don't more people enjoy that up-to-date Alvarado Library, a branch of the Alameda County Library. Mrs. Forbes is a fine librarian, and so accommodating. The Editor asked Mrs. Forbes for a few top-notch books she has, which are also much in demand in bigger cities. She gave us this list:

"An American Doctor's Odyssey," by Victor Helser, backed by the Rockefeller Foundation, he has probably more movements to save and prolong life than any other person.

"Keep Your Powder Dry," by Margaret Mead.

"Forgotten Waters" By Randolph Seigh.

The Moon is Down," by Steinbeck; the scene of the book is any conquered country in any time. Although the weapons and ideologues may be of the present they are only vehicles for the theme that a free people are unconquerable.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 5, 1943

Girl Scouts:

Girl Scout week the past week was observed by all the girls going to church and attending mass. They wore their uniforms too. In fact they showed their colors all week, most of them wearing it to school too.

Its leader, Mrs. Anelda Hulse, who has three daughters in the troop, gives fine leadership to the Girl Scout Troop.

Among the girls in the troop are: Artis Hulse, Anelda Hulse, Marguerite Hulse, Betty Ann Jacinto, Clarabel Silva, Jolle O'Neil, Betty Silva, Joyce Layton, Janet Layton, Madeline Hernandez, Georgia Davis, Cherry Davis, Elinor Rose, Dorothy Eudey and Barbara Diangson.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 5, 1943

Mrs. Anna D. Pimentel Dies:

Funeral services were held Tuesday for Mrs. Anna D. Pimentel, 76, of 1311 "I" St., Decoto, who died there November 5th. She was the wife of the late Enos Pimentel.

Mrs. Pimentel was the mother of Mrs. Mary Nunes and Helen Pimentel of Decoto, Tony L., William and Ernest Pimentel of Hayward, Mrs. Minnie Lawrence and William Rose of Alvarado, and the late Mrs. Margaret Lazarus of San Jose.

The Hayward Daily Review, November 9, 1943

Alvarado Church Bazaar:

On Friday & Saturday nights the annual bazaar was held for the benefit of St. Anne's Church and over $1,000 was realized. The live-wire committees and all of the parishioners united with all our local people to make it a success. Both nights of November 11th & 12th were well attended.

We heard many expressions of appreciation of the cheerful leadership of Father McLaughlin, of St. Anne's Church. A tireless worker himself, his table at the bazaar brought in almost $200. Manuel Perry used his smile and cheerful bidding voice to interest local people as well as folks from Alameda and Oakland for his fortune wheel. This was good for between $200 & $300.

Frank Machado handled the tickets for the $25 Bond, and over $100 was realized on this. We understand he sold around 2,000 tickets. He was paid a public compliment for his outstanding work.

Frank Roderick won the calf, and $65 was realized on this. The ladies who took care of the kitchen surely deserve a big vote of thanks for their painstaking labor, and wonderful refreshments. They brought in a fine sum too. Mrs. Mary Rivers, Mrs. Borges and Gertie Machado were the leasers here.

Many well-decorated booths were well patronized. Mrs. Eleanor Azevedo, Mrs. Manuel Borges, Clarence Flores, Joe Dutra, Henry Flores, Joe Goularte and wife, Mrs. Emilio Re, Tony Alexander and Mr. & Mrs. Frank Roderick also were hard-working members of the committee.

We understand that the $1,000 raised by Alvarado was more than the bazaar at Centerville's Catholic Church made. Both did well, however.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 12, 1943

Cauliflower:

Alvarado is at the heart of cauliflower growing area in Southern Alameda County, called the "Cauliflower center of the West Coast." Cauliflower is planted in July and August and is harvested from Thanksgiving in to April. Our biggest market is the East Coast where cauliflower is scarce this time of the year. They are shipped in rail cars from the Hall Station via iced boxcars.

The Oakland Tribune, November 16, 1943

News Notes:

Sgt. Adam Lewis, former secretary of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce, has been visiting his family here after completing basic training as an aerial gunner at Buckingham Field in Florida.

Pvt. Presciliano B. Gurrea, trainee at the Western Signal Corps Training Center in Camp Kohler, Calif., has been awarded the Good Conduct Medal. Before joining the Army Pvt. Gurrea lived in Alvarado, California.

Robert Aranda, aged 6 months, one of the twins born to Jose and Amelia Aranda in Alvarado last May died at an Oakland Hospital and was given final rites in Alvarado Thursday. Services were held at the home of the grandmother, Maria Mercado of 19th Street, Alvarado.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 19, 1943

News Notes:

Mrs. Marguerite Cadero has been chosen as Associate Matron of the Orient Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Joe Lewis, Chairman of the Alvarado War Chest Drive, reports that Alvarado has about half the local quota and expects more soon.

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Silveira, Mr. & Mrs. Seraphine Daviner of V Street, and daughter Rosalyn, who is one Alvarado's most attractive young ladies, attended the Whist Party given by the Hayward Eagles.

On Wednesday evening, Cpl. Arthur Silveira arrived at his V Street home on a furlough from Camp Ord. Just to show what good time he made coming home, we understand he made the whole distance in about two hours.

Seraphine Daviner Jr., son of Mrs. & Mrs. S. Daviner of V Street has returned home Jackson Lake Hospital in Oakland. He is on the way to recovery after being operated on for appendicitis, which had left him in poor health. He will soon be strong enough to resume his duties at Mare Island Navy Yard where he was a sheet metal worker.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 26, 1943

Anthony E. Vargas Dies:

There wasn't a finer man in Alvarado than A.E. Vargas. Tony was interested in his hometown, Alvarado, practically his whole life. His passing is a hard blow to an equally fine citizen, his good wife, Mrs. Nora Vargas. There was a love match if ever there was one, and in recent years when both had sieges of illness, there was that devotion that we call 100 percent.

We went to that home weekly, and it was a happy home, too. Tony had been conducting business in this city and later became a fruit buyer for a large fruit concern. His smile and cheery ways were known in fraternal orders like the Eagles, and by his large number of friends all over Alameda County.

The Alvarado Pioneer, December 3, 1943

Anthony J Vargas:

We didn't know that Anthony J. Vargas had such a fine hobby of thoroughbred canaries until the other day, when we had the opportunity to see them. We met Tony Vargas at his father-in-law's store, A.A. (Tony) Lee. Well we got to talking about these birds and Tony invited us to see some 75 birds, all with a pedigree. He has a record of each one. Right now he is getting ready to exhibit some of birds at a big show.

The big event is the Oakland International Roller Canary Club exhibition to be held in the Pacific Building at 16th & Jefferson Streets in Oakland.

His Rollers are registered birds, which means they have pedigreed records. This will be Mr. Vargas' first entry in competition. He belongs to the International Oakland Roller Canary Club, which is sponsoring the exhibit of best birds in the West.

News Notes:

The Washington Township Christmas Seal Drive will be headed by Miss Mildred Nauert, Mrs. August May and Mrs. W.S. Robie in Alvarado.

Tony Paredes, son of Mr. & Mrs. Ferdinand Paredes of the Alvarado Hotel, is home on furlough from his camp in Florida.

Mrs. Walter Robie received the shocking news that her grandson, Tom Muller of Davis Cal., had been shot by the accidental discharge of a .22 rifle. He is expected to make a full recovery.

The firemen of the Alvarado Fire Dept. have been receiving lessons in the use of the resuscitator machine, which is a first aid means of often time saving lives. The Fire Commissioners deserve credit for buying this up-to-date apparatus. It cost some $400.

Beet Harvester:

Ranchers of Washington Township and from surrounding territories will witness the second local demonstration of the new automated sugar beet harvester, which is expected to revolutionize the industry from a labor standpoint. The first demonstration was given two weeks ago when local beet growers saw the machine dig, top, pile, and load beets all in one operation.

Twenty of these machines and as many men can replace 500 hand-harvesters, according to Andrew Logan, agriculturist for the Holly Sugar Corporation at Alvarado.

The Oakland Tribune, December 5, 1943

Lawrence Rose Dies:

Lawrence Rose, 38, a native of Alvarado passed away on December 7, 1943. Husband of Delphine Rose, father to Lawrence LeRoy Rose, brother of Mrs. Mabel Rogers, Mrs. Aldena Andrade, and Manuel L. Rose, all of Alvarado. Lawrence was a native of Alvarado.

Disturber of the Peace:

Jose Aranda, 38, father of eight children with a ninth expected, was found guilty of disturbing the peace after a hearing at the Centerville Justice Court. The trouble arose, according to a sister-in-law's testimony when Aranda made a disturbance at her home regarding funeral arrangements for his six-month old son, one of the twins born in a barn here last May. Aranda was placed on probation for two months and ordered to provide for his family.

Service Recognition:

In recognition of the 500 hours, which she has donated to the Washington Township Rationing Board, Mrs. Blake Hill of Alvarado recently was presented with an emblematic pin by George C. Roeding Jr., member of the board.

Chamber of Commerce:

Election of officers of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce was held on Thursday evening, December 16th, at the Odd Fellows Hall. Frank Machado, who has done such a wonderful job of single handedly make it what it is today, even collecting 110 memberships a year at $2 each, declined to run for president, and suggested that some young blood be added as leader. Charles Baird nominated Mike Salido, who has shown a wonderful interest in Boy Scouting here as scoutmaster. He was elected the new president.

Charles Baird was elected vice-president. Baird has been a big help in the C of C and is the headman of the Scout Committee. Other officers re-elected were George Oakes, Secretary and John Menezes Treasurer.

Directors elected were John Ralph, D. Diaz, Frank Machado, Manuel Silva Jr., Matt Machado, Joe Priego and Joe Langdon. John Menezes reported that the sum of $121.34 was still in the bank after paying $97.95 in bills at this December meeting.

Flowers have been sent to Mrs. Nora Vargas and a sympathetic letter regarding the passing of her husband, A.E. Vargas.

Station Agent Wilson had a fine report to make regarding the big campaign to have local people cooperate in exterminating rats. Wilson told how the Agricultural inspector furnished poisoned grains free and how it had succeeded in killing many rats. Those who had used it and reported success included J.C. Wasley, Charles Baird, D. Diaz and others.

The Alvarado Pioneer, December 17, 1943

News Notes:

Supervisor George Hellwig was instrumental in getting improvements made to roads in Alvarado. The County Surveyor was brought to Alvarado lately to see the condition of the streets after the sewers had been laid down. He thought they needed fixing, and so did other Supervisor, so out local Supervisor has a word of thanks coming from every local resident because Hellwig got a $9,000 street job done. It shows he knows local conditions.

Three more Alvarado boys left for the service this week and were given the usual money belts by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce. Robert Sanchez joined the Marines and left Monday and Arnold Borges and Manuel Pine joined the Army and left Tuesday. Young Sanchez and Pine were born and raised in Alvarado and Arnold Borges was born in Newark but later moved to Alvarado.

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce entertained some sixty members at a wonderful turkey dinner held on December 16th. Joe Lewis acted as toastmaster of the even. After dinner the guests repaired to the Lodge room where Joe Lewis introduced that Irish tenor deluxe, Ray Hansen. Say but he was good, he sang popular songs, Irish ballads and told of jokes that sure made them laugh. He lives in Newark and is the Southern Pacific man who is in charge of signal maintenance between Newark and Oakland. He was the hit of the evening, and years ago sang over the leading radio programs.

Alvarado Chamber of Commerce:

Just for about 30 minutes after the banquet of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening, December 16th, at Odd Fellows Hall, a short business meeting was held. Frank Machado, who has done such wonderful work to single handedly make it what it was, even collecting 110 memberships in one year @ $2.00 each; declined to run for re-election as president, and suggested that some young blood be added as leader. Charles Baird nominated Mike Salido, who has shown a wonderful interest in Boy Scouting here as scoutmaster. He was elected the new president.

News Notes:

Joseph E. Dutra of Alvarado welcomed home his brother, Cpl. John Dutra, who is at Oak Knoll Hospital recuperating from wounds received at the battle of Tarawa. The corporal will soon be awarded the Purple Heart.

Around $1,000 has been raised in Alvarado by Joseph Lewis and his committee. The goal was the sum of $2,000, but it was thought that it was a pretty fine showing. Some of the outstanding checks received in Alvarado were from:

Holly Sugar Co.	$50
Leslie Salt Co.	50
Eagles	25
SPRSI	10
Chamber of Commerce	10
UPEC	2.50
IDES	2.50
Rebekahs	2.50

News Notes:

William Avila, of Smith Street who works at the Caterpillar Tractor Co., had the misfortune to injure his arm lately.

Bobby Rodgers of the U.S. Navy has been visiting his folks Mr. & Mrs. Anthony Rodgers of the Creek Road.

Joe S. Goularte, Jr., is remodeling his home on the Creek Road. He bought it recently for renting purposes.

Pvt. Ernest Foster of the U.S. Army, stationed in North Africa, was the news received by his wife, the former Carmen Vargas.

Manuel Cardoza Silveira of V Street who is the Army, visited here recently.

Walter Fasolis, of the Navy, was visiting his folks, Mr. & Mrs. Mike Gardetto.

Hubert Jacinto of the Sea Bees arrived Friday evening in Alvarado on a visit to his wife and parents, Mr. & Mrs. Jesse (Joseph Sr.) Jacinto.

The charming Miss Eleanor Silver of the Creek Road was married last Sunday at St. Anne's Church in Alvarado to Edward Perry of Irvington.

Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Goularte and daughter Jeanette, and Mr. & Mrs. Emilio Re enjoyed New Year's Eve as party guests of Mr. & Mrs. Serafin Noia. Another party the Goularte's and the Re's attended recently was in Oakland as guests of Mr. & Mrs. Elois Binek, formerly of Alvarado. Mrs. Binek is a sister of John Brugge here.

Alvarado pupils will again be back in classes at Washington Union High School on Monday, January 3rd. Among those from the business district are Jesse (Joseph Jr.) Jacinto, Joaquin Naharro, Stanley Lewis, David Priego, Andrew Gardetto, Laverne Diangson, Placido Paredes, Doris Martinez, Cecilia Martinez, Dorothy Eudy, Norma Bettencourt and Adrian Silva.

Mrs. Manuel Maciel of Creek Road is staying with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Lewis of Alvarado while her husband is undergoing treatment at the San Jose Hospital. Among the visitors Mrs. Maciel had on Sunday were her son and her daughter-in-law, Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Maciel Jr.

Mr. And Mrs. Fred Wolff called on Mrs. Nora Vargas Sunday and they were glad to find her feeling so well. The Wolff's also called on Fred's mother here, who we are sorry to hear has been sick. Mrs. Vargas has borne up wonderfully well since the sad death of her husband. Such fine neighbors as Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Goularte help make this possible as well as kindly visits by her son Edward Vargas of Hayward.

The Alvarado Pioneer, December 31, 1943

Alvarado Road Improvements for War's End:

Alvarado will receive two road enhancement projects at the conclusion of the war.

The first project is for improvements on Marsh Road south of Alvarado, which connects Alvarado with Newark and the Dumbarton Bridge.

The second project is improvement of five miles of highway of the Alvarado-Niles Road.

The Oakland Tribune, December 31, 1943

New East Shore Freeway Route Close to Being Set:

(The East Shore Freeway, A.K.A.: New Hiway 17, and the Nimitz Freeway is today's I-880.)

Speculation has been rife the past several years as to the final routing of the proposed East Shore highway to run from Oakland to San Jose. Traffic is so congested in normal times that Oakland complains bitterly that its traffic cannot get through bottlenecks to the south.

The fear in Hayward has been that the roadway would be so far west, in the mud flats, that traffic would by-pass Hayward entirely. However it is definitely indicated that final plans calls for location of the freeway to run through the western edge of Hayward, a half mile east of the pickle factory (Hunts Bros. Cannery between "A" and Winton Sts.) and east of the present Hesperian Boulevard.

Surveyors have been busy locating the new route and getting everything in readiness for post-war building, to give idle men work. The new speedway will be six-lanes, 200 feet wide, with underpasses. It will not use the present right-of-way of Hesperian Boulevard and will join that roadway just south of Alvarado near Beard Road in the Alviso District.

The Hayward Review, December 31, 1943

War Chest Drive:

Alvarado raised $1,000 for the War Chest Drive. Of the sum, Leslie Salt gave $50, Holly Sugar Corp. gave $50, etc.

The Hayward Review, January 6, 1944

News Notes:

Mrs. Mamie Roderick, of the Alviso district, reports that the good people of the Alviso School district raised $672.75 for the War Chest Drive.

It is claimed that the beet-harvesting machine, demonstrated recently at Herbert Young's ranch near Alvarado, is to replace 25 hand workers and do even more efficient harvesting. It is emphasized that racial prejudice and war hatred are not involved. On the basis of economics alone, it has been proven that Japs are not necessary for the successful agricultural operations in any type of crop.

V. Naharro Dies:

A pioneer of Alvarado, V. Naharro, passed away last week at the age of 68 years, having lived here in Alvarado over 30 years. Here he prospered through thrifty methods and progressive ways in his shoe store and shoe repair shop. His acquisition of much property here proved him an exceptional businessman, and with his good wife, raised a fine of children who are a credit to the community. A son, E. Naharro, owns the Alvarado Theater and the corner building block in which the theater is located. The children grew up here and have always called Alvarado their hometown. One of the Naharro daughters is Mrs. Mike Salido.

OPA:

Service award certificates from the Office of Price Administration were presented to two Alvarado ladies this month in celebration of the board's second year in operation. Topping the list for the Washington Township War Price and Rationing Board was Mrs. Blake Hill of Alvarado with 940 hours of volunteer service. Second was another Alvaradan, Miss Nancy McKeown with 568 hours.

Fourth War Bond Drive:

Washington Township has organized a new committee, which will assist in the fourth war loan campaign. The quota announced by L. R. Burdick is 563,000 for the township. Mrs. M. P. Munger will spearhead the drive in Alvarado. Also aiding in the drive is Jack Blacow of Alvarado.

The Oakland Tribune, January 13, 1944

New Notes:

Alvarado Lodge of the SPRSI is making plans to welcome the Supreme Grand President. The local president is Mrs. Mamie Roderick and Mrs. Clara Flores is secretary.

Joseph Maciel Sr., of the Creek Road, is so much improved that he is able to leave the hospital and to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry Garcia of Hayward.

Joe Goularte of the Creek Road is busy driving truck for Joe Cunha, the San Jose big shipper of vegetables. They get much produce from Decoto.

Stanley Lewis is one of the stage managers at productions at the High School at Centerville. By the way, Stanley tells us that his brother Joseph wrote of the Guadalcanal section some time ago that it rains nearly all the time. He is in aviation ordnance.

Clyde Lewis, residing at the end of Smith Street, had an accident at the shipyard toward the end of last week and sustained a broken arm. It seems he slipped on some oil on the floor and was thrown heavily to the floor, causing the break. He is on enforced leave.

Frank Dutra, son of Mrs. Dutra of Watkins St., Alvarado, is either in England or some nearby place with U.S. Forces. Another son, Adam Lewis, is in Texas as an Air Cadet. A third son, Joseph Lewis, graduates from Alvarado Grammar School this year. A fourth son is the youngest, Andrew.

The pupils of the Alvarado Grammar School held a paper drive the second week of December and gathered 14,320 pounds of newspapers and magazines. It averaged 100 pounds per pupil, surely a record of some kind. The collection has been sold to the Livermore Junk Co., bringing an average of $65.00. This money will be used to help patriotic drives by the students for different causes like the Red Cross, United War Effort and U.S.O.

Election of officers for the firemen's association at the Alvarado Firehouse will take place on Wednesday evening, January 19th. The present officers are: President, James Wasley; Vice President, Anthony J. Vargas, Secretary-Treasurer, Joe. E. Lewis; and Sergeant-at-Arms, Tony Alexander.

The Alvarado Pioneer, January 14, 1944

Farm Home Center:

Slip-fitting is the project for the next meeting of the Alvarado Farm Home Center to be held at Washington Union High School on January 26th at 1:30 p.m. Plans will be made at this time for the annual pal's dinner to be held in February. The committee consists of Mrs. Virginia Enos, Mrs. Mary Gastelum, Mrs. Aldena Santos, Mrs. Rose Peixoto and Mrs. Edith Pfau.

The Oakland Tribune, January 16, 1944

News Notes:

Robert Rogers of the U.S. Navy is returning to the Naval Hospital for a minor operation. He has been home while convalescing from a previous operation.

Recently on leave, Cpl. Eugene Pine visited friends and relatives. When returning to Camp Haan he was promoted to Sergeant.

Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Silva, Jr., and Mr. & Mrs. Joe Goularte, Jr. spent Sunday at San Jose where they enjoyed a very nice dinner.

Seriously ill at home is Martin Rose of Smith street. His sickness is of the utmost grief to his friends and relatives.

Walter Fasolis was also home on liberty from the Navy, but left to go back on Sunday. His home is on Granger Avenue.

Mrs. Mamie Silveria of V Street will give a Whist Party for the St. Anne's Confraternity of Alvarado on Sunday.

Mr. & Mrs. Wilbert Hendricks are now proud owners of a 1941 Chevrolet purchased this past week.

Dave Caeton, former warehouse manager at the Hall Station, is in business for himself, shipping at an interior township town.

A crew of men under the guidance of Wes Emery, in charge of the Alvarado packing plant of the Alvarado Vegetable Growers, is shipping a couple of carloads of the high quality local cauliflower to the Eastern markets. Every day a couple of Southern Pacific Co. cars are iced and shipped.

Fred Paredes of the U.S. Navy paid his folks a surprise visit on last Thursday evening. He has since left, possibly out to sea. His parents are owners of the prominent and modern Alvarado Hotel.

Miss Margaret Pfau, of the Creek Road, was given a party at the home of her parents, Mr. & Mrs. Joe Pfau. The young lady was five years old, with children of her age attending, also members of her family. All had a nice time.

Friends and relatives received word from Pvt. William Silva saying he was well and is stationed at Oahu in Hawaii. He wrote that he saw Pearl Harbor and has been eating pineapples and coconuts galore.

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Pimentel of Smith Street are the proud parents of a baby boy born last Thursday at the Hayward Hospital. Mother and son are doing fine and she is now home with her husband and son Melvin. The new boy is named Robert Joseph.

You don't have to go out of Alvarado to buy most of the used parts you need to fix up your auto, as Machado's Garage has a good supply on hand. Mr. Machado returned from the Peralta Hospital in Oakland about three weeks ago, where he had undergone surgery. He is also assisted by his son who repairs autos. They sell tires and batteries.

The former Lillian Silva and her husband, Edward Hernandez of the Army Air Force are now at home while Hernandez is here on a furlough. Mrs. Hernandez is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Silva. A brother John, and Louise are also in the service. Johnny is stationed at Fort Ord and Louise is somewhere overseas.

J. A. Blacow, manager of the Alvarado Branch of the Central Bank, announces that the sum to be raised in the VICTORY LOAN 4TH DRIVE in Washington Township is $565,000. Mr. Blacow has named his Alvarado committee, each in charge of their own section, as follows: John H. Ralph, Sam Dinsmore, Joseph A Rose, Mrs. M.P. Munger, Mrs. Pearl Peterson, and Mrs. Genevieve Dutra.

The annual meeting of the beet growers of this southern Alameda County section takes place on January 31st at the Washington Union High School at Centerville. Andrew Logan, field man for the Holly Sugar Company plant at Alvarado, is working for a bigger acreage to be planted to the beet industry if present cooperation with the government continues as in previous years.

Chamber of Commerce:

At the meeting of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce on January 20th, Mike Salido presided as president. There was a decision to get behind the Alvarado Troop of Boy Scouts, of which Mike Salido is Scoutmaster, and to make it grow. The committee that is in charge of Boy Scout activities is: Charles Baird, Manuel E. Perry, Mike Gardetto, E.J. Wilson, Frank Machado, James Wasley, Joe E. Lewis and A.J. Vargas.

Much discussion centered about the unsanitary condition of the Japanese home next to the Jap laundry on Smith Street. Although the owners are not here now, their overseers or caretakers do not seem to have the authority to fix up this breeding place for rats, as well as sewage that runs over the lot.

Manuel E. Perry reported that there are many stray dogs about Alvarado. Mike Salido is going to see the Hayward pound man to seek some solution to removing some of these dogs.

Mike Salido collected 14 members' dues at $2 each the week before the meeting and showed all kinds of pep. Those who have paid for 1944 are: John Ralph, James Wasley, Charles Baird, E.J. Wilson, A.A. (Tony) Lee, Matt Machado, William Machado, A.J. Vargas, Joseph E. Lewis, George Oakes, D. Diaz, Sam Dinsmore, John Menezes, Manuel A. Silva Jr., Lloyd Silva, Joseph Jacinto (Sr.), Mike Salido, Manuel E. Perry and Henry Miller.

Past President Frank Machado was unable to attend on account of sickness that evening. Frank made the Chamber what it is today and we like his cooperation.

Sugar:

Jeryl Frye, President of the Alameda County Farm Bureau, in an informal talk at the meeting of the board of directors of the Farm Bureau at Livermore, Thursday night, February 3, stated that despite wishes of Federal Bureaus at Washington, the sugar beet situation is not hopeful in Alameda County. And the bad situation is the fault of the local growers he feels.

Last season, he mentioned, sugar beet growers were given allotments and inducements so that they made a pretty fair investment in growing sugar beets, with hard work and careful planting. This year, officials in charge of the sugar beet production, have deferred definitely stating what Federal regulations would be for beet growers until it is now too late for many to plant crops here. And the outlook is that there may be as small a crop here as there was last year, though authorities at Washington want an increase over last year's figures.

New Highway:

Marking the most important post-war highway improvement program so far designed for this area, the Alameda County Board of Supervisors today granted the State a 12-mile freeway in Southern Alameda County.

The freeway extends from the southern Oakland city limits near the Oakland Airport to a point between Alvarado and Centerville (Alviso district) from thence to join with a proposed new highway into San Jose, forming the completed link in the proposed super-highway from Richmond through Oakland and into San Jose.

The Oakland Tribune, February 11, 1944

Mrs. Philbert Borges Dutra:

This is almost the outstanding news of the week, where four Alvarado brothers are in the service. We were speaking to Mrs. Philbert Dutra (nee Josephine Borges), and we asked about her four brothers. Here is where they serve:

In England, Alexander Borges is in the Army Air Force, being there some nine months. At San Diego for a couple of moths now, Armand Borges is in the Infantry at Camp Callan. In Missouri is the oldest boy, Joseph Borges, going from Monterey last week. He is in the Army. Overseas is Manuel Borges who is in the Army. He has been there a couple of months.

Philbert Dutra is employed by Ted Harvey. Filbert was born and raised here.

Sugar:

Announcement in Washington yesterday of Government subsidies for sugar beet production came too late to aid Alameda County growers it is claimed here. Despite a favorable price paid of $12.50 a ton this year's crop will not be more than 25% of normal farm officials declared.

Alameda County beet growers will receive a price substantially over the $12.50. The tonnage price in this area will be $10.60 with the Government and processor subsidies to be added, bringing the total to about $13.90 a ton, 80 cents over that of last year.

While the Washington announcement of a base price of $12.50 a ton to the grower is considered a fair price, many farmers who might have planted beets were deterred by uncertainty regarding the price ceiling which has existed for the past two months, beet growers instead say that they have turned to other crops, chiefly tomatoes, and are now unable to engage in sugar beet production.

A similar situation existed last year with the result that the Holly Sugar Mill in Alvarado, normally employing 300 men, remained closed. Local beets were shipped to Tracy for processing. While the company refused to make any announcement it was indicated that the same situation would prevail this year.

We are glad to hear that our fellow townsman, Fred Harvey, is improved after his recent illness.

Walter Robie, Mrs. Robie's grandson, is with the Marines in the south Pacific. He is located somewhere near the Fiji Islands.

The results are in for the election of directors for the Water District. Forty-eight votes were cast, 26 for Grimmer and 22 for Amaral. They were running unopposed.

A pool table has been added to the equipment of the Firemen's social room at the Alvarado Firehouse. It was donated kindly a couple of weeks ago.

Harvey Granger of the Creek Road is a Lieutenant in the army and is stationed in the Fiji Islands.

Last Friday 24 people attended a reception given Miss Lemos at the home of her parent, Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Lemos of the Creek Road on the occasion of her recent marriage.

We are sorry to hear that William Avila, who injured his arm while at work with the Peterson Tractor Co. at Hayward a couple of months ago, is still suffering from his injury.

Emilio Re, our handsome Smith Street Romeo, who the Editor thinks in one of our finest young men, joined the Army last week. His wife (Marjorie Re) is carrying on like a brave soul, like so many of our splendid ladies who have loaned their husbands to Uncle Sam.

William Diangson, son of Mr. & Mrs. Diangson of the Luneta Café at Alvarado have a right to be proud of the education that they are giving their children. William is doing well at the San Diego Military Academy, known as Brown Military School where he is a Corporal in rank. His sister, Barbara, is graduating from the Alvarado Grammar School this year and expects to attend Holy Names Academy in Oakland next term. She will major in music.

Cyril Flores of Alvarado is somewhere in Italy. They have been doing things over there recently, it would seem by the S.F. newspapers.

Donald Flores is up at Puget Sound in the submarine service.

Mrs. Andy Anderson, of Watkins Street Alvarado, tells us that her nephew, Clifford Stone of Modesto, was injured in the heavy fighting when the Allies invaded Sicily.

Petty Officer 2nd Class Hubert Jacinto has been transferred to the West Coast from Virginia. He is now stationed at Point Hueneme.

Our local lad, Joseph (Jesse) Jacinto Jr. is the starting shortstop for the San Mateo Blues in the Peninsula League.

Joseph Dutra took his son Robert and his niece Betty Jacinto the circus at Hayward last Saturday. Patricia Noia enjoyed a birthday party at the home of her parents, Mr. & Mrs. S. Noia on Granger Avenue. She was five years old.

Do you remember Mrs. Otto and her three sons who used to live at the Alvarado Hotel before they moved to Hayward? Well, all three of these boys are now overseas. They are Albert, Carl and Joseph.

The Editor was glad to say hello to Mr. Eudy of Alvarado, who was such a faithful watcher at the Observation post in the early morning hours when the post was still in active operation. He says his son-in-law and his daughter are visiting here from Chico. They like it here so well they may decide to remain permanently. We refer to Mr. & Mrs. Biehler.

Ruth Figueroa tells us that a brother, Manuel Escandon, is in the army, located at New York at present and may soon go overseas. Ruth has a son, Albert Figueroa, of Alvarado, who passed his physical exams for the Army and may leave in May. Mr. & Mrs. Figueroa resides here with their son Albert.

Andy Anderson has three nephews in the service. One was injured at Anzio beachhead in Italy.

A baby boy (Gary) was born to Mr. & Mrs. Graydon Spurlock, who resides in one of the Varni cottages on Smith Street.

We asked Fred Joyce recently about his son Bunny and found out he is still in England.

An Alvarado soldier was wed today to Helen Guzman. He is the son of the well-known Chavez family who own the Anita Café.

George Andrade, son of Henry Andrade of the Whipple Road, is training with the Air Corps in Texas. He has been in the service for two years.

If he gets his fair price of $400 Clyde Lewis of Smith Street says he will sell his 1936 4-door Ford sedan. It has a good engine, radio and the tires are in swell shape.

Edward Soares and John Aguiar have belts coming to them because they joined the service. John Ralph and Joe Roderick were asked to deliver them.

Mrs. V. Best has returned from North Idaho where she had been visiting one of her married children. Her husband is custodian of the Marsh Gun Club where prominent East Bay men shoot ducks.

At the last meeting of the C of C one of the matters raised was the unsightly cattle loading corral next to the depot and adjoining Wilbert Hendrick's property. It was stated that this corral, which has not been used since 1925, would be torn town, and members heartily endorsed this move. Our local station agent, Ed Wilson, thought it would be an improvement to remove the corral.

The Alvarado Pioneer, June 16, 1944

C of C: Boys Recreation Hall:

The matter of so many boys getting into mischief because of no recreation open to them, prompted James Wasley to suggest that the Chamber of Commerce go ahead full-steam and try to secure a recreation hall in Alvarado, and have it open for games of volley ball, handball and games of pool to the boys of high school age. He mentioned the need of a vigorous young man who understood boys and suggested Wilbert Hendricks. After unanimous support Wilbert Hendricks was asked to accept and pick his committee.

It was suggested that some large store, like the old Japanese school might be remodeled inside to fit the need. Two adults are asked to be present each night to see that things are conducted right. And the lodges are asked to contribute a certain amount a month to finance the project. A helping hand will be asked from the businessmen. As the need is great, it is thought all will contribute a little each month during the duration.

Alvarado Theater Bond Drive:

The Alvarado Theater will hold a War Bond Premiere on Wednesday evening July 5, 1944. To gain admission it will be necessary for you to present a ticket showing that you have bought at least a $25.00 War Bond. There will be a swell picture, possibly local singing talent.

E. Naharro, manager of the Alvarado Theater, is very public spirited and has donated the big show house for the occasion. He is cooperating with Mr. Walter Oakey II of the Central Bank here, who is the local man in charge of the drive.

The extraordinary picture "The Story of Dr. Wessell" starring Gary Cooper will be shown. This is a top-flight picture and ought to be the means of drawing a crowded house. Here is exactly how to be one of the lucky people to see this picture, and class yourself as one who helped put the drive over the top: Buy a bond of at least $25 from the local bank or post office, and they will give you a show pass.

The Alvarado Pioneer, June 23, 1944

News Notes:

A baby girl was born to Mr. & Mrs. Seraphin Noia at the Providence Hospital in Oakland. Do you want a splendid singer? Frank Machado has for sale a male Cinnamon Canary that is 3 years old for $3.50. Mrs. Joel Langdon of the Creek Road is mourning the loss of her brother and her father who both passed within nine days of each other. Trustees Mrs. Robie and Frank Machado have arranged with Orland Close of Hayward to pave the school grounds at the Alvarado School.

Miss Kathleen Brownlee celebrated her birthday with a party at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Pimentel of Vallejo Street. Guests at the party were Elizabeth and Patricia Flores, James & Beverly Bush, Beverly Ann Spurlock; Troy, Joan Russell and Stanley Anderson, Arnold Gardetto and Kathleen’s cousin, Andrew Pimentel.

J.R. (John R.) Blacow Retires:

President Frank N. Belgrano, Jr announced the appointment of Walter M. Oakley II as manager of the Alvarado Office of the Central Bank effective as of August 1st, succeeding John R. Blacow. following a meeting of the Board of Directors of Central Bank yesterday.

Oakey, an employee of Central Bank for the past 16 years, started in the Oakland main office of the bank in 1928. In 1941 he went to the Alvarado branch and since 1943 has been Assistant Cashier and executive for Blacow.

Blacow will retire on July 31st after 40 years of banking experience, serving with the Bank of Alvarado in 1904. This bank was later merged with the Bank of Alameda County, which merged with Central Bank in 1938, so that his whole banking career was spent in one institution. We must pay tribute to the late August May of Alvarado for making the Bank of Alameda County the great success it was from the start of his promotion of it. In this enterprise J.R. Blacow at Alvarado and his brother Robert Blacow of Niles Branch, were his two right-hand bowers.

John Blacow was born in Centerville and attended grade and high schools there. He has made his home in that city all during his career. When presented with a testimonial watch at a banquet given by 40 friends and banking associates in honor of his retirement, Blacow said: I am just a small town boy who was born and lived on Main Street all my life."

Blacow was formerly chairman of Group Six of the California State Bankers Ass'n. In Alvarado he was chairman of many War Loan Drives and also of the Red Cross drives, and when it became known that he was named chairman for Alvarado, it was a big guarantee that it would "go over the top here," the Editor says.

News Notes:

Standard Oil's Joseph Lewis and family are making their home on the old home place of Mrs. Lewis' folks on the Creek Road. It will be remembered that she lost one of her parents lately.

Mrs. Frances H. Robie, who resigned as Clerk of the Board of Trustees at Alvarado, was the longest in length of service of all the trustees in southern Alameda County, around 40 years. She has been one of the most patriotic, friendly and helpful members of our community.

In speaking to Frank Machado of the Board of Trustees of the Alvarado School District, he called attention to the splendid improvements, which the Board contemplates to put the building in first-class shape. The roof is to be done, the floor in the auditorium sanded, a general overhauling as new curtains, etc., will taken care of by putting the work out for bid. The prevailing hourly wages for certain types of workmen who would be involved in the renovation of the school would be: Carpenters, $1.50; Building Laborers, $1.00; General Laborer, $1.00; Truck Laborers, $1.00; Roofers, $1.50; Roofers (foremen) $1.75; overtime, Saturday, Sunday and legal holidays, time and a half.

The Observation Post, which is of no more use, may be sold by asking for bids on the same, so learned Mr. Machado, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce Committee, which raised the money to build the tower on the school grounds. The money from the sale of same would go to the Chamber of Commerce.

The History of Washington Township:

(John Sandoval, author of this piece in the Hayward Review, would later author the book, "The History of Washington Township")

On November 1, 1769, Gaspar de Portola sent Sgt. Ortega and a squad of men up a hill on the coastal range of California. This hill turned out to be King's Mountain and when they had climbed to a ridge they were greeted with the view of entire southern portion of San Francisco Bay from the Yoruba Buena Island to the sloughs of Alviso (Santa Clara County).

"While it is not recorded just what the conversation was on that November morning in this little band of Spanish scouts, it is easy to conjecture that they looked toward the present site of Hayward. They must have referred to it as the "contra costa" or the "other side." They must have seen the San Lorenzo Creek, lined as it still is with willows and creek trees, making its way to the bay near the site of Robert's Landing."

"And they must have seen the larger stream, emerging from what is Niles Canyon and emptying into the bay at what is now Alvarado. This watercourse, appearing green with the foliage of the trees along its bank, must have resembled a long roadway. And one of the warriors must have said, "Vista le la alameda!" For alameda in Spanish is the term used to designate such a green-bowered thoroughfare. And that creek is still referred to as Alameda Creek, and gave its name to our county."

News Notes

Eileen Wilson, daughter of Ed Wilson, the S.P. Railroad agent, is returning to San Jose College in her second year.

Alberta Menezes returns to San Jose College as a fourth year student. She is the daughter of John Menezes, our prominent tonsorial artist.

Miss Vivian Logan, who graduated from San Jose State College last term, has accepted a teaching position at a school.

Sally Logan is attending College of the Pacific in Stockton this term, having transferred from San Jose State.

As labor is a problem, Ted Harvey, who grows great quantities of the famous Alvarado Burbank potatoes yearly, will only plant half the usual amount this year.

The planting of cauliflower in large quantities is being done by three members of the Alvarado Vegetable Growers; Welsey Emery, Ted Harvey and Gus King (on the Patterson Place).

Combining a business trip to Capitola last weekend with a visit to his aunt, was Joseph Dutra, accompanied by his wife Genevieve, also by his niece Betty Jacinto and son Robert David, who we understand the New York Yankees ball team have their eyes on for a future delivery. Great prospect.

The proposed budget for the Alvarado School District will have a routine public hearing at the schoolhouse on August 1st. The budget has been figured at $20,425, a trifle less than last year. Trustees Frank Machado, Manuel Goularte and George Hocking are the board members.

Laverne Madeiros' Alvarado News Notes:

A surprise birthday party took place for Jerry Pimentel who celebrated his 7th birthday. Present from Alvarado were Walter Luiz and Vernon Perry.

Johnnie Shestack, U.S. Navy fiancé of Laverne Madeiros is overseas.

Walter Fasolis is overseas in the Navy, stationed in the vicinity of New Guinea.

Pvt. Ray Bautista of Alvarado is now stationed at Camp Roberts California. Ray was inducted into the Army a new week ago.

Mrs. Montalbo and daughter Jeanette are nurses at the Fairmont Hospital in Oakland and are doing very well.

A whist party will be given for the benefits of St. Anne's Church at the SDES Hall at 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon.

Ernest (Doc) Rose, son of Joseph F. Rose of the Alviso District, was overseas about one year. He returned to his work in the oil refineries near Richmond.

Mr. Luiz is home from the San Jose Hospital and getting along nicely. Mr. & Mrs. Luiz live on the Creek road.

Manuel Andrade of the Creek Road was taken to the hospital after a few months illness.

Wire and lumber is for sale at Tony Jardine's, the last house at the end of Smith St., No. 2085.

Chicken mesh wire and redwood 2 X 4's are for sale.

Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Perry and son Vernon are enjoying themselves at Santa Cruz this week.

Aldina Andrade celebrated her birthday with a bang Thursday. In the afternoon a few friends arrived including Madeline Rocha, Helen Goularte, Miss Judy Ann Serpa and Miss Laverne Madeiros, who is now employed by Andrade. Also Aldina's two sons (Elmer and Ronald) attended.

A party was given to honor the birthdays of Mrs. Marie Davilla and Jesse Jacinto, Jr. on Tuesday at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Dutra of Alvarado. Mrs. Davilla was 70 years old on August 9th and Jesse Jr. was 18 on August 8th, so they celebrated their birthdays together. Mrs. Davilla has three grandchildren in the service, Hubert Jacinto in the Navy, William Harper in the Marines, and Jesse Jacinto Jr. who may join the Navy soon. Those attending the big happy event were: Alice and Alberta Menezes, Mr. & Mrs. John Menezes, Mr. & Mrs. Jesse Jacinto Sr., and daughter Betty; Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Dutra and son, Robert David, who by the way is to start school this year; Morris Davilla; Mr. & Mrs. Anthony Santos and Mrs. Winifred Harper and son Billy.

If you want your car serviced see Elmer Andrade at Manuel Andrade's service station here, because Elmer is a first class amateur mechanic. Young Andrade is a champion when it comes to changing a tire or to servicing cars. Good old Standard gasoline is sold, says Elmer.

On July 30th a barbecue was enjoyed in Alvarado celebrating the 79th birthday of Anthony Davilla who lives in Elmhurst. The barbecue was held at the home of Mr. & Mrs. Antone Santos, with Joseph Dutra as head chef. Mr. Santos has made a notable improvement to his home by a low, dignified brick wall at the front and side of his property.

Chamber of Commerce:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce met Thursday evening in the office of John Ralph, our storekeeper. The school building is undergoing improvements, this being the usual meeting place. Mike Salido presided as president and George Oakes as secretary. Among those present were John Ralph, Joseph Priego, Manuel Machado, Charles Baird, Edward Wilson, Mile Salido and George Oakes. Much for the good of the community was considered.

Two boys were reported as going into the service next week. They are Jesus Valencia and Louis Apodaca, brother of Lawrence Apodaca the contractor who is living in the Naharro cottage.

Here are eight young men to have their names added to the service flag at the Post Office as they enter the service now: Marsh Ledesma, Raymond Bautista, Jesse Jacinto Jr., Louis Apodaca, Jesus Valencia, Edward Leon, Sonny ....., and Bobby Hernandez.

A motion was made by Manuel Machado, and seconded by Charles Baird, to ask the Highway Patrol to assist in keeping the parked autos out of the driveways and in the front of garages in the business section in the evenings.

There is a chance that there may be a flood in the business section if a heavy winter rain is experienced by reason of the creek bed being filled up with weeds, etc., near the Holly Sugar Corp, and Ed Ahern property vicinity.

Ed Wilson has been asked to contact Holly Sugar and Adolph Oliver, who also has a piece of property near the end of the creek, about teaming with the Chamber of Commerce to clean up the creek.

Charlie Baird has already received word from Peter Decoto, Ed Ahern, and Ed Wilson that Holly Sugar will help. The Chamber of Commerce is ready to spend money if necessary to hire a man to assist in cleaning up the creek.

The Alvarado Pioneer, August 18, 1944

Laverne Madeiros' Alvarado New Notes:

On the job this week during vacation season are George Jung of Tennyson, Andy Gardetto and Annie Mateo. Andy has a brother Walter out in New Caledonia.

After being contacted by Ed Wilson about the weeds and brush in their part of the creek, Holly Sugar has graciously offered the help of a work crew to clean up their side of the creek. The town is in fear of a flood this year if the rains are heavy. Mr. Jack Ahern and Peter Decoto assisted very nicely a couple of years ago.

Sgt. Richard Thayer is home from the Solomon Islands after 47 months of service. He served in Bougainvillea, Guadalcanal, Liga Islands and was in Pearl Harbor at the time of the bombing. He is visiting with his father who works at the Holly Sugar Mill here, and his sister, Mrs. Pauline Ward.

One of the biggest improvements to the business section this past week was the installation of a concrete sidewalk (replacing the wooden planks) in front of Joseph Priego corner business property on Levee Street. The front and side of his entailed quite an expense. He is one of the local men who attended the Chamber of Commerce meeting this week.

Having put in a big year farming as well as handling his fine Mobilgas Service Station at Alvarado, Joel Langdon decided he needed a vacation. So from August 20th to August 29th you find him away from his Alvarado station.

News Notes:

A ten-pound son was born to Mr. & Mrs. John Roderick of the Creek Road on August 18th. John Homberger is the new conductor on the daily Southern Pacific freight train, which comes through Alvarado.

Peggy Wasley, daughter of Mr. & Mrs. James Wasley of Alvarado, will teach in the Bakersfield schools this year.

Miss Vivian Logan, also a graduate of San Jose State College, is to teach the primary grade at one of the big Martinez grammar schools.

Manuel Andrade, the storekeeper, has been ill for a few days. His wife and Miss Medeiros have kept the business going. Manuel is up and around now.

Frank Machado, one of our school trustees at the Alvarado Grammar School was taken to the Peralta Hospital in Oakland Sunday. He is much improved already.

Bill Rose of the Creek Road is quite ill at the San Jose Hospital. He was found alone after an all-night illness by Aldina Andrade, his niece.

Dennis Pimentel celebrated his fourth birthday Thursday, August 17th. He is the son of Mr. & Mrs. Frank Pimentel, and the brother of Jerry Pimentel.

Clifford Serpa is spending the week at Russian River with another friend of his. He is the brother-in-law of Miss LaVerne Madeiros.

Washington Union High School will start on September 11th and probably run half schedule to let students aid in fruit. Students attending from Alvarado are: Norma Bettencourt, Placey Paredes, David Priego, Betty Silva, Andy Gardetto, Esperansa Saucedo and Laverne Madeiros.

Emilio Re, who was at a Navy Station on the Eastern Coast, is now back in Alvarado attending a Navy school in San Francisco. He is able to make the trip daily from Alvarado. His wife, Mrs. Re (nee Marjorie Goularte) is naturally happy to have hubby back, if only for while.

Postmaster Genevieve Dutra is giving helpful information for the sending of Christmas packages overseas, along lines suggested by the Postmaster General. "Save strong string and box material and start to plan shopping," the Postmaster General advises Americans in announcing the rules for mailing of Christmas gifts for Army and Navy personnel overseas. Packages must be mailed between September 15th and October 15th.

Frank Machado Dies:

The Editor still feels stunned by the death of Frank E. Machado of Alvarado, after a short illness, because he probably lost his best friend in this part of Washington Township. There would have been no Chamber of Commerce without him, because he single handedly, as its president for many years past, put the body on its feet. And we should know, because as secretary we worked shoulder to shoulder with him.

Without the Chamber of commerce there would not have been a modern $45,000 sanitary disposal system or a modern red brick firehouse and fire truck with a possible combined value of $40,000.

His leadership was in a class by itself. And his work in patriotic drives and for his beloved St. Anne's Church are surely written on records not seen by human eyes. He went to his Maker a grand man, fearless in all he did, and with a love of home that made his family life something for the community to admire.

Mr. Machado was a hometown man, having lived in this section all his life. He resided for many years on the Creek Road. Of recent years he occupied a prominent home on Smith Street. He and his wife, and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Perry and their son Vernie were a happy family. We must not forget that he was also trustee of the Alvarado Grammar School, taking more interest than almost any trustee in this section of the Township.

The deceased was the husband of Louise Machado, the father of Veronica Perry and the brother of Mrs. Anna Roderick and Minnie Perry, all of Alvarado. The pallbearers were Joe Avila, Dan Riley, Manuel Goularte, Joseph Goularte, Manuel Borges and Frank Roderick.

Alvarado Elementary School:

Alvarado Elementary School is to start the new term on Monday September 11th. The Trustees are Manuel P. Goularte, Clerk of the Board; George H. Hocking, and the late Frank E. Machado, who we sorely miss because he practically started all the recent improvements at the local school. The Editor saw the finished job and thinks the plans of Machado and his associate trustees was a complete one in repairs, cleaning and renovations.

This year's staff the Alvarado school will be: Leslie H. Maffey, Principal; and teachers Miss Charlotte (Jung) Young, Miss Hilda Hughes, Mrs. Isabel Ferry Lucas, and Charles Baird, Custodian.

There are many improvements made to the school, which will make it something that any modern city can proud of. The auditorium, halls, and Mrs. Lucas' room are sanded and refinished. Other floors are newly cleaned and polished, a new roof on the school, the nurses examination room has been changed to a teacher rooms and has been newly decorated. The old auditorium kitchen has been changed to the health room, and redecorated. Floors in both these rooms has been sanded and laid with lovely linoleum.

The Principal's office was very nicely redecorated. Holes in the yard have been filled and an over-all seal coat applied. The grounds were cleared and improved. Shrubs were trimmed and many new ones are to be added. Flower and shrub landscaping is to be done by an expert. Ventilation is now provided under the auditorium kitchen floor and under the office floor.

The baseball and football field were scraped and leveled. The playground apparatus and backstops were painted. Holes in the driveway were filled and seal coat applied. Much other carpenter work of repairs and improvement were made.

Charles Baird has had the assistance of Daniel Riley most of the summer vacation in this work of renovation.

Man's Throat Slashed:

Hayward Sheriff's are searching for an unidentified Negro who slashed a three-inch cut on the neck of Herman B. Davis of Baumberg. Davis told the deputies he went into Alvarado Sunday afternoon. In one of the taverns he met a group of Negroes whom he took to Russell City. When he started for home one of the men knocked him down, cut his throat, and took his wallet containing $80. Davis was taken to Fairmont Hospital where he took six stitches to his throat.

Baseball:

Alvarado baseball players from aged twelve to eighteen are playing baseball under the team name of the Alvarado "Bat Busters." They have practiced at the local ball grounds and rounded out a pretty fair team. In this day of working parents too often the boys and girls have no guidance to steer them into recreational pursuits such as ball games.

On Sunday afternoon starting at 1 o'clock at the school grounds Decoto and Alvarado boys will be playing. Let's accompany the boys over there and root for the local boys. Manuel Priego is the manager of the team. Here is the line-up:

Vernie Machado	Centerfield
Dave Priego	Short Stop
Willie Diangson	First Base
Joe Villalobos	Pitcher
Manuel Priego	Second Base
Johnny Samarron	Third Base
Ernie Pine	Left Field
Alden Chammnes	Right Field
Larry Samarron	Catcher

Sanitary District:

At the election held Monday at the Alvarado schoolhouse, the tabulation of the vote there showed that Joseph Jacinto (Sr.) has been elected Assessor for the Sanitary District. This office was formerly held by Fred Wiegman, who after doing a fine job in helping organize the District expressed the desire to retire. Mr. Jacinto had qualified for the election recently when the signatures were secured to his petition. Peter Pinto was a good selection for the new Director of the Sanitary District. Clarence Flores, another fine local citizen, was re-elected to the Board of Directors.

Dan Riley was named Inspector to check on the pumps at the booster station on V Street daily, as well as seeing the disposal plant lower down V Street is performing its usual excellent work. Joseph Dutra is secretary of the board.

In speaking to Joseph Dutra, the secretary of the Sanitary District, he tells us they have the funds ready to make an extension of the sewer to serve the Varni cottages on the other side of the S.P. tracks.

Alvarado-Niles Road to be Improved:

The possibility that the Niles-Alvarado Creek Road may become a four-lane highway in view of the fact that it will be one of the main feeder road connecting with the Eastshore freeway was commented on here this week by Wallace B. Boggs, country surveyor, at a meeting of the Niles Chamber of Commerce.

If the Niles-Alvarado Road should become a four-lane highway it would be divided with a central strip of from four to eight feet and if it remains a two-lane road it will be modernized and probably raised in portions now subject to winter floods. It will connect traffic from Niles Canyon with the freeway somewhere near Alvarado.

Another survey is to be made is that along Marsh Creek between Alvarado and Newark to eliminate the annual closing in the winter flood season.

New Notes:

William Jiminez was visiting in Alvarado with folks. He is located at Fort Bliss, Texas, with the Anti-Aircraft Division.

An Alvarado young man was visiting his folks here recently. He was B. Gonzales of Camp Beale where he is with the field Artillery.

Edwin Whitburn of the main office of Central Bank at Oakland has been sent to the Alvarado Branch to assist Manager Walter Oakey II. He is equally as progressive a man and has taken quite a liking to the people of the valley. Miss Mary Paniagua of Decoto is another assistant there.

The only Eagle Lodge in Washington Township is in Alvarado. On Monday night, October 2nd, the following new members were inducted: Eugene J. Bathe, Newark; Edward L. Perry, Irvington; Louis Muller, Alvarado; Frank P. Olivera, Newark; and Frank Cunha, Irvington.

The War Chest drive in Washington Township is underway and is headed by E. Enos, purchasing agent of Leslie Salt. He has chosen Wilbert Hendricks and chairman and Frank George to assist him. Two other Alvarado men on the committee are Gregory Perry and Mike Salido.

News Notes:

Leslie Maffey, our school principal, is taking an interest in the rejuvenated Alvarado Chamber of Commerce.

Fred Paredes, son of Mr. & Mrs. Ferd Paredes of the Alvarado Hotel, is home on furlough from the Navy. Fred is a cook aboard an aircraft carrier.

The Pioneer salutes Fred Wiegman as the real "father of the Alvarado Fire House." As Alvarado's Fire Commissioner Fred Wiegman steered the construction of the firehouse to completion. The Chamber of Commerce officers started the crusade for a Fire House but without the personal guidance of Mr. Wiegman, we would not have gotten to first base.

Frank George solicited funds from Alvarado businessmen for the War Chest Drive. People in the residential district are responding too, reports Wilbert Hendricks. Joe Langdon is collecting from the Creek Road folks.

Madeline Woodward, acting Librarian in place of Mrs. Forbes gives us the following news. The Library is open Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. and on Monday and Wednesday evening from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m.

Some members of the Chamber were going to suggest to ask the caretaker of the Jap laundry with the collapsed wing, to kindly clean up this eyesore, which extends out over the sidewalk almost.

Our friend, Ferdinand Paredes of the Alvarado Hotel, was giving away bass to all his friends last week, after a very successful fishing trip to the region adjoining the Carquinez waters known as Black Boy.

Mr. Widdock, the very genial retired employee of the East Bay Water Co., who is well known in Alvarado, called on his friends here Friday. He owns a couple of houses on Watkins Street. He later left for his cottage on the coast at Half Moon Bay. For 20 years when the water pumping station was busy on Union City Road, Widdock had charge of the pumping station.

Alvarado School News:

General School News:

The school enrollment has grown so much that the County Board of Education gave Vaughn Seidel our County School superintendent, the right to grant our school sufficient money from the county emergency fund to enable our principal and out school board of trustees to hire two more teachers, Mrs. Pearle Petersen for the school grade and Mrs. Laverne Stivers Dickerson for the third grade.

Our principal is Leslie Maffey. The members of the school board are: Manuel P. Goularte, clerk of the board; George Hocking and Manuel Perry. Mr. Perry was appointed by Vaughn Seidel to take the place on the school board of his father-in-law, Frank Machado, whose recent loss has been keenly felt by the school district.

We now have a fully organized student body. The following students were elected to office: President, Dolores Sa; Vice President, Dolores Santos; Treasurer, Clarabelle Silva; Secretary, Leonard Dutra; Reports, Betty Ann Jacinto; athletic Monitor, Vernon Machado. The student body council representatives are: 8th Grade: Joelle O'Neil; 7th Grade, Henry (Dick) Andrade; 6th Grade, Gilbert Cicairos; 5th Grade, Vernon Perry; and 4th Grade, Dan Scott.

The very first business transaction by the new president was to appoint a committee to take over charge of the annual paper drive. Vernon Machado was appointed chairman of the committee. Prizes will be given to the room getting the best average in amount of paper per pupil, and for the 1st, 2nd, and 3rd largest amounts brought in by one individual student. The drive will end on Friday, October 20, 1944

Girls Club News:

As you already know, we have two baseball teams, the "Smackers" with Clarabelle Silva as captain and the "Wackers" with Frances Roderick as captain. The Smackers won both of the playoff games by scores of 13-4 and 21-20.

The members of Clarabelle's Smackers are:

Clarabelle Silva	Delores Sa	Joelle O'Neil	Georgia Davis
Betty Jacinto	Marie Jardine	Elizabeth Flores	Olivia Aranda
Lucita Perez	Bertha Prado	Juanita Villegas

The members of Frances' losing team are:

Frances Roderick	Dolores Santos	Geraldine Warren	Consuelo Saucedo
Madeline Hernandez	Selina Rigmaiden	Nettie Lemas	Carol Hocking
Phyllis Faria	Ernestine Ybarra	Evelyn Muela	Molly Soto
Dora Ramirez

The losers must now chip in and give the winners a party. We are glad to say that the Wackers have been good sports even though they did lose. The side is very evenly matched and this makes the games very interesting.

By: Frances Roderick, Girls Club Reporter

Boys Club News:

The two sides for the Boys Club monthly competition are evenly matched. In the total number of points of the games we have played so far, Vernon Machado's Lions are ahead by only one point, 74-73. The Wildcats, with Bradley Martinez as captain are battling hard to get the lead. At the end of the month they want to be ones to get the party, not give it.

On October 10th we played Decoto in a touch-tackle football game on our ground. Decoto won 12-0. The boys on the Decoto team were good sports. We enjoyed playing them and hope for a return game.

The line-up for the Alvarado team was as follows:

Center: Teddy Petersen	Right Guard: Teodosio Olasio	Right Tackle: Joseph Silva

 Subs: Bobby Wasley, Louis Alvarado, Glenn Bachelor, Clyde Davis and Carlos Renteria
 By; George Aranda, Boys Club Reporter, Pro Tem

Junior Traffic Patrol Squad:

This year our Junior Traffic Squad has been completely reorganized. The members are as follows:

Captain:	Vernon Machado
1 st Lieut.	Bradley Martinez
2 nd Lieut.	Gilbert Cicairos
Sergeants:	George Aranda	Richard Faria	Bob Wasley	Eugene Jardin
	Carlos Renteria	Abel Villareal
Officers:	Elmer Andrade	Henry Andrade	Teodosio Olasio	George Cicairos
	Donald Faria	Mike Leon	Harold Martinez	John Ledesma
Reserves:	Melvin Pimentel	Tommy Gualco	Ralph Villareal	Freeland Smith
	Gilbert Villareal

We are learning to drill and march to and from our duties. We are being sponsored by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce.

EDITOR'S NOTE:

The typewritten news we received from the school compares favorably with the news sent to us by the largest grammar and high schools of Washington Township. The stores are well worded and the typing is double-spaced. Putting the news into words as these students have done is the first successful step toward a journalistic career and clear-cut public speaking. The Chamber of Commerce commends these efforts.

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph E. Dutra attended a dinner at the Hotel Leamington on Thursday sponsored by the Women's Democratic Club of Alameda County.

Jesse Jacinto Jr. is attending the Naval School at San Diego rang his pop up on the telephone on his dad's birthday.

Wilbert Hendricks, who is the chairman of the Alvarado drive for funds as part of the Washington Township drive, has appointed Mrs. Diangson as one of the local committee workers. Mrs. Diangson has done a wonderful job in collecting funds from the Filipino colony. The Alvarado chairman is more than proud of this fine contribution to show the patriotism of our loyal Filipino Americans.

Two dances are being arranged for October 21st and 28th at the local SDES Hall, under the auspices of Mrs. Diangson and the Filipino community, where there will be funds raised for the War Chest Drive. Mrs. Diangson would like the Filipino community to raise $700 for the Drive.

Willa Jane Hellwig of Alvarado brought big honors to Alvarado last week at the Grand State Convention held in the Civic Auditorium in San Francisco. She headed the installation of officer of the Grand Chapter, acting as Grand Marshal, in her usual charming and genuinely friendly way. As the past State president of the O.E.S. she was at ease before the some 6,000 delegates and visiting members. Joining her from Alvarado at the convention was Mrs. Marguerite Cadero, Associate Matron of the Orient Chapter of Centerville.

The Chamber of Commerce is calling on landowners to clean up the creek before the flood season starts. Chamber secretary Oakes has been asked to write to Adolf Oliver, Peter Decoto, Jack Ahern and the Holly Sugar Corp and other to kindly attend a meeting to discuss the cleanup of the Alameda Creek.

Miss Mary Paniagua of Decoto who is employed by our local bank is planning a Halloween special for the children of Decoto on October 31st. They will give a costume party, with free cookies and refreshments and games to please all. Miss Paniagua is the chairman.

Miss Claire Joanne Pimentel celebrated her birthday at her home in the company of her parents, Mr. & Mrs. Clarence J. Pimentel of Smith Street. Attending from Alvarado was her grandmother, Mrs. Aldena Goularte; and her godmother, Mrs. Marjorie Re. Her godfather, Emilio Re could not attend as he is somewhere in New Guinea. Unable to attend was Mr. & Mrs. Frank Goularte of Creek Road, her uncle, Joe Roderick; and Jeanette Goularte.

Our friend, young Gallagher, who lives above Sam Dinsmore's store, has bum luck with his dreams. Instead of a beautiful blonde or brunette, he has been battling a person who appears to be very real. It was so real that he save he had to save his life and put up a battle. As he awoke he had hit the monster for a win, but his arm was broken. He had hit the door an awful wallop.

We really are sorry that young Gallagher is laid up for a few months with his arm in a plaster cast.

On Wednesday afternoon after school at the Alvarado Grammar School, the Girl Scouts will meet with Mrs. Hulse, their leader. As she has moved to Tennyson she is anxious to get some lady to take over her troop that has prospered wonderfully under her guidance. So on November 1st if some mother is interested she will find a very fine bunch of girls to work with.

Miss Mary Paniagua observed her 2nd anniversary the Alvarado Branch of Central Bank. She is a well-known Decoto girl.

The Southern Alameda County Progressive Club met on Oct. 25th at their clubhouse at Frank P. George's house on Nursery Road.

The recent registration of voters in the Alvarado area did a good job in making it possible for many people to vote Nov. 7th. More power to the civic-minded activity of Miss May Fontes of the General Petroleum Company and Mrs. Mamie Roderick at Ralph's store.

Swiss night will be observed by the Alvarado Aerie of Eagles Monday night with visitors from neighboring communities. Joe Bauhoffer and Carl Reichmuth will be in charge of the program. Swiss entertainment will make up the program after which a large class of Swiss residents of Washington Township are expected to be initiated.

On Thursday evening November 2nd, the Chamber of Commerce committee investigating the job of how much it would cost to clean up the end of Alameda Creek here made its report. Messrs. Adolph Oliver, Peter Decoto, Joe Avila and Jack Ahern did a conscientious job and figured about $250 would be the cost of dragging the creek bed. These gentlemen started the ball rolling, offering $25 each to start the sum to be raised.

Mary Bernice Luiz, a very charming young lady who resides on the Creek Road, has been employed at the Central Bank at Alvarado the past two weeks. It is shown by her progress so far under teaching by Manager Walter Oakey and Miss Mary Paniagua, that she will learn the banking business from A to Z. Her folks are Joe Luiz Jr. and Julia Luiz and she graduated from Washington Union High School in 1944.

Alvarado School Girls Club News:

On Friday, October 13, the Girls Club of the Alvarado Elementary School appointed a Constitution committee to draw up a constitution for the club. The first thing the girls set forth in their constitution was the purpose of the Girls Club, namely: To work for the highest standards of the Alvarado School, so that our school can and will lead in all the best things.

Because the elected treasurer and news report were elected to two positions we had another election. Dolores Santos was elected treasurer and Georgia Davis was chosen news reporter.

On Tuesday, October 2nd, we had a base ball game with the girls from Warm Spring School. They defeated us by the big score of 35 to 8. They were very good payers. We hope some day to have a return game. We hope we do better next time.

At a meeting on October 24th, the girls voted to do their best and be good sport at all times and endeavor to make friends with the other girls who were coming to play us that day. All the girls kept their promise and everything went off fine. All had a good time and everyone made friends. The girls from Warm Springs surely were good sports.

Pistol Packin' Mama:

Pistol Packin' Mama was reborn in Alvarado this weekend when Jennie Czupek, brandishing what appeared to be either a .22 caliber or a .32 caliber nickel plated gun, shot up the town in good old fashioned western style. Jennie is the cook for the Railroad section hands in Alvarado.

Picked up by sheriff's deputies on charges of drunkenness and for carrying a gun, Jennie was sentenced to five days in jail or a $10 fine by Judge Silva on Monday on the drunkenness charge. She pleaded not guilty to carrying the gun and will be tried at a later date.

According to witnesses, Jennie entered the Alvarado Hotel at about 8:15 p.m. Sunday and stayed about half an hour. During that time she drove a Mexican out of the door at the point of her gun. She then went down to the Silver Dollar Saloon and fired a shot out the door. Her brief but eventful evening in town was cut short when deputy sheriff's arrested her.

News Notes:

President Roosevelt wins by a landslide, Washington Township and Alvarado going strong for the current president.

President Joseph Martin of the Alvarado Eagles says Joe Perry has joined the lodge. Fire Chief Anthony J. Vargas reports that everything is progressing nicely at the firehouse. New member added recently were Peter Pinto, Elvin Rose, William Machado and Joe Avila. Miss May Fontes, of the General Petroleum Company, is mourning the passing of her father in Centerville. He suffered a stroke on Wednesday and death followed almost immediately. Richard Munger came over from Las Vegas with his wife to visit his folks. He married Miss Robinson of Las Vegas a few months ago. Young Munger is in the Army aviation there.

The Alvarado Grammar School will be privileged to see an indoor circus live on stage at the school auditorium on Wednesday, November 15th. Acts will include clowns, fine dog acts and even a 22-year-old horse performing on the stage.

In the War Chest Drive Joel Langdon can't be beat. On the Creek Road where he lives he called on every house and got a 100 per cent contribution, so the Creek Road made the best showing of any part of Alvarado with over $130 collected. Mrs. Felix Diangson did a fine job among our patriotic Filipino-Americans, collecting $120. She and her husband conduct that fine Café and pool hall on Smith Street in Alvarado. A full report will be made next week.

Wilma Martin of Whipple Road recently wed William Silva of Niles who is currently in the Navy. Her parents are Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Martin. She is currently employed at the Maritime Commission in Oakland. Her sister, Mildred Martin is employed in the Bond Department at the Oakland Post Office. Both girls commute their Alvarado home on Whipple road via Peerless bus daily.

The Alvarado Pioneer, November 10, 1944

Mrs. Mary Rivers:

Step up Mrs. Mary Rivers and take a bow as one of Alvarado's most worthwhile and patriotic citizens, says the Editor. And why? Well because she is such a stout hearted and energetic person.

She lost her son (Paul Rivers) when he was reported missing almost two ago by the Canadian air Corps. And here is what you call faith. Do you know what she told the Editor? You'll see, maybe my boy will come yet. Ain't that courage, which many a younger couldn't portray.

Then she has kept on her fine work in the Red Cross in the Township. And she has worked hard for St. Anne's Church. She even sold us a chance on a War Bond for the benefit of the fine local church.

And to top it off this smiling lady of some 65 summers has lately adopted a little girl from the Catholic Charities organization of San Francisco. She is Annabelle Velard. You're indeed a lucky girl Annabelle to get such a fine home. Why don't more folks follow such a noble example?

The end of the month of October founds Vernon's Lions leading in the daily games competition with a total score of 212 against Bradley's Wildcats 182. Bradley's Wildcats had to give the Lions a party. A grand time was had by all, both winners and losers. Captain Bradley's teams committee arranged 5 boxing bouts as entertainment and afterwards put on a swell feed of ice cream, soda pop, and potato chips.

In the regular Boys Club meeting of November 1st, the boys chose Richard Faria as the sergeant-at-arms to take the place of Herbert Smith who moved away. The two new captains for the month of November are Abel Villareal and Teddy Petersen. Teddy Petersen's team name is "Teddy's Air Devils." Abel's side chose the name of "Black Cobras." The "Black Cobras" say they do not agree with the "Air Devils" when they say they are the best team.

On Teddy Petersen's team are:

Bradley Martinez	Vernon Machado	Benito Garcia	Richard Faria
Raymond Moreno	Clyde Davis	Joseph Silva	Glenn Bachelor
Gilbert Faria	Leonard Dutra	Eugene Jardine	Mervin Perry
Henry "Dick" Andrade	Stanley Anderson	Elmer Andrade	Bobby Wasley

On Abel Villareal's Team are:

John Ledesma	Carlos Renteria	Gilbert Cicairos	Gilbert Villareal

Alameda County Guards:

It is the confirmed belief of our State Adjutant General and other military authorities that the time has come when California must give new attention to its State Guard. An Alameda County battalion of the guard should have at least 700 members and be drawn from all cities and towns in Alameda County. The purpose of the guard is to provide community protective forces throughout the state at a time when the younger men are in the regular armed forces. Enlistment would be open to all men between the ages of 18 and 64. No man who joins the guard would be asked to serve outside his county without his consent.

Peggy Wasley, who has been doing splendidly at teaching in Bakersfield schools, expects to visit her folks on Thanksgiving.

A young man, who went through our Alvarado school and is a big figure in the war zone, is Robert Ziegler. He is Flight Surgeon connected with the Air Corps. We remember how James Wasley always predicted a big outstanding future for this boy, and his words of advice to Robert were filled with wisdom.

Walter Oakey of the Alvarado Branch of Central Bank will lead the 6th War Bond Drive for the Alvarado area. Louis Amaral will be the leader for the Alviso district.

The digging of a ditch to lay the sewer pipe extending below the S.P. Co. tracks is well under way.

The Teachers Institute for Elementary School teachers was held at Hayward, so Alvarado pupils had a few days vacation this week.

Manuel Perry of Smith Street is one man who realizes what a big flood would do to our business section in case of a very heavy downpour this winter. He told the Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce that he would give $10 to help clean up the creek end in Alvarado. Manuel Goularte of the Alvarado school Board is also willing to aid, and has a couple of dollars ready to help.

Stanley Roderick of the Coast Guard, and Jimmy Perry, a key man at the Richmond Shipyards, made a visit to their aunt, Mrs. Frank Machado here this weekend. The M.E. Perry's were in on the cordial greeting also.

At the monthly meeting of the Board of Trustees of Alvarado Grammar School, Charles Baird handed in his resignation as the school custodian. Charles has been there a long time and many people, including our Chamber of Commerce, are indebted to Mr. Baird for many courtesies. And we shall miss him, but we wish him well in any new field of endeavor he has in view. William Avila, who lives across the street from the School, has been named to replace Charles. The board could not have made a better choice.

Sugar:

The sugar industry in Southern Alameda County has asked the Post War Planning Commission for aid in revitalizing the sugar beet industry in this area stating acreage now is only one-fifth as much as before the war and that 400 acres of beets now are rotting in the ground because the fields are too soft to use machinery for harvesting as planned and it is not possible to obtain help. It has been suggested that an effort be made to obtain Mexican labor and to have the Alvarado Sugar Mill reopened.

The Hayward Review, December 1, 1944

News Notes:

The Riverside Hotel has been acquired by a newcomer, Mrs. Estelle Rigmaiden and now has rooms for rent.

Wilbert Hendricks, chairman for the Alvarado District of the War Chest Drive, reports that Alvarado went over the top on their local drive with over $1,000.

Teddy Petersen of the 8th Grade and Henry "Dick" Andrade of the 7th Grade in Alvarado won prizes in the Washington Township Rationing Board essay contest.

Trucks haul sugar beets to the Holly Sugar Mill at Alvarado and loaded on cars for process at Tracy and Spreckles plants of the same company. Seventeen carloads are shipped via Southern Pacific railroad from Alvarado daily. The growers will harvest local beets to about December 10th is good weather keeps up. The local sugar mill has not operated the past two seasons, but it looks like they may start next season.

The biggest thing since we don't know when has been started in Alvarado, we mean that there are three teams selling War Bonds in competition that should prove to be the hottest thing in history. They have chosen for their names, the MARINES, led by that fine workers and able leader, Mrs. Mary Rivers; the NAVY, captained by the lady we all know for her pleasant smile and capable leadership, Mrs. Mayme Roderick; and the ARMY, led by our good friend and Postmaster who should take the objective by sheer personality, Genevieve Dutra.

We are very sorry to report that Mrs. Frances Robie, our local Alvarado civic leader, is in a hospital at San Jose. She fell and fractured her hip, taking a spill while walking in her yard during wet weather.

Alvarado School News:

In the paper drive we collected five and half tons, but this year one ton of tarpaper was refused by the paper companies because they are not taking that any more. However, we made $46.00, which went into the student body treasury. The student body also made $24.00 on the Raymond Circus that we sponsored at the school.

The children of the school are trying to buy a Jeep by purchasing a sufficient amount of War Stamps and Bonds. If 90 per cent of the students buy some war stamps or bonds during any month, we are entitled to fly the U.S. Treasury-Man Flag. We are sorry to say that we did not make it during November as only 60 per cent of the children bought stamps.

The Constitution committee is working hard to make a Constitution for our student body. The members of this committee are: Frances Roderick, chairman; Dolores Sa, Glenn Bachelor, Clyde Davis, Nettie Lemos, and George Aranda, members.

The Alvarado School Student Body wishes to thank the Mt. Eden School for the use of their moving picture projector while ours was being repaired. We hope we can return the favor sometime, not that we wish them any bad luck with theirs.

We saw the following films, "Christopher Columbus," "Jamestown," "Lest we Forget," "Bits of China," "Interdependence," (it show how all the world depends on someone else for something; "Fundamentals of Football," and "President Roosevelt." We also saw two cartoon films.

Chamber of Commerce:

On this coming Thursday, December 21st, the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce is to meet at the Grammar School. Great interest is being shown in the meetings and the interest of such men as Principal Leslie Maffey and Banker Walter Oakey has helped to encourage our local standbys to promote fine things for our town. And the outstanding work of our Blacksmith M.A. Silva, Jr. in collecting funds to clean the creek leads all efforts. Another man who secured great aid from Holly' Sugar Co. in cleaning up their half of the creek was station agent Ed Wilson.

Leslie Maffey called attention to the fine work of the Junior Traffic Patrol in guarding our intersection when school is dismissed. He wondered whether the Chamber wanted to treat them again as last year. This will be considered Thursday.

Alvarado Eagles:

Our local blacksmith, Manuel Silva, Jr. makes records fly by himself alright. Last March he sold 105 tickets here for the Alvarado Firemen's dance. That beat everybody's efforts. And this week he went on a one-man rampage and came up with 15 men signed up to join the Alvarado Aerie of Eagles on Monday evening. The new members are:

- |                |                 |                                  |                 |

Oranges For Sale:

Right here in Alvarado is a local man who has an honest to goodness buy, 10 POUNDS OF OROVILLE ORANGES FOR 80¢! This man is your Mobiloil Service Station man, Joel H. Langdon. You know this folks, Joel is as square a man as you can find, so if he guarantees you fine oranges, you can be sure you are going to be satisfied.

We bought one of his first arrivals of Oroville Oranges and we thought they were juicy and sweet. In fact, with bigger truckloads coming in, your will have to get your order in early, because good oranges are hard to get as such a reasonable price, there are no tiny oranges in the mesh bag you buy them in, and there are no thick, tough skins. So they will go fast, we pass this along for what it is worth.

The Alvarado Pioneer, December 15, 1944

Creek Cleanup:

Our blacksmith is probably our liveliest citizen in Alvarado today. Lots of members had talked about the need of collecting of funds to clean up debris from the Alameda Creek bed, as advocated by this newspaper and the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce. But everyone was too busy with other patriotic drives it seems. So it remained for our blacksmith, M.A. Silva, Jr., to make up his mind that the chance of flooding his property as well as the town needed action. So he got busy and secured $190. Some of thee growers had already pledged to the Chamber, but no one got busy until Silva this week took our breath away by his business like work. Here is what he collected:

M.A. Silva, Jr.,	$25	D. Diaz, Union Meat	$5	Adolph Oliver	$25
Fred Wiegman	$25	Weston Emery	$5	Joel H. Langdon	$10
Manuel E. Amaral	$10	Clarence Flores	$5	Matt Machado	$15
Sam Dinsmore	$10	Felix Diangson	$5	William Avila	$25
Mrs. August May	$25	Manuel Andrade	$5	Miss Lottie Jung	$ 5
John Ralph	$ 5

The Chamber of Commerce has also pledged to add $25 to the fund.

Alvarado Boys Club News:

We played a baseball game with Decoto. The score was 11 to 3 in their favor. The line-up for Alvarado was as follows:

Abel Villareal, Catcher      John Ledesma, Pitcher      Teddy Peterson, 1st Base

Last week the Alvarado Wildcats journeyed to Centerville to play their last league game with the High school freshman. Although we lost 6 to 5, the team played one of the best games of the season. The high school coach said that Alvarado was one of the toughest teams they had played, getting more hits than any other team. The line-up was the same except for Clyde Davis who played in place of Tommy Gellerman.

This week the Alvarado Wildcats traveled to Warm Spring to play a B team baseball game. Alvarado won the game by a score of 7 to 3. The big surprise of the game was the fine pitching of Gilbert Cicairos and the splendid batting of Robert Preciado. Henry "Dick" Andrade played a bang up game at shortstop. The Wildcat's B team played the best game of the season. The line-up was as follows:

Both teams are to be congratulated on their splendid show of sportsmanship, which made the game doubly enjoyable for both sides. The team members chose Gilbert Cicairos team captain for the day. Glenn Bachelor was equipment manager and did a fine job checking the material in and out and seeing that all bats, balls, and gloves were returned to the school.

So says the Manager E. Naharro of the theater who is cooperating with Walter Oakey who is the Alvarado Bond chairman. The picture is the famous "Patrick the Great" featuring Donald O'Connor and Peggy Ryan.

George's Appliance Store in Alvarado has done a splendid business since Frank George opened this store a few months ago. The big items that are moving fast are the water heaters. You would be surprised at the amount of electric appliances, heaters, etc., during the spring season that Office Manager May Fontes noted on the records.

On Thursday night of last week the Alvarado troop of Boy Scouts enjoyed a wiener roast on their newly created campsite on the Alvarado Creek. Mr. Joseph Dutra has been instructing them on outdoor activities, of which, camping, fire building, tracking and cooking are an important part.

Our genial Alvarado man, Joe Perez, is now the man who is handling the General Petroleum Service Station at Alvarado. Joe is giving splendid grease jobs for autos, so try him out. He has taken over the station formerly conducted by Joel Langdon who bought a 10-acre orange orchard near Oroville, and has moved away from the community. We wish the Langdon's the best of luck. This service station is leased from General Petroleum corp., and is supervised by Frank George, distributor of General Petroleum products in southern Alameda County.

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce will sell the Observation Post tower now located on the Alvarado School grounds. Bids will be received by the President, Walter Oakey, and opened on the next meeting, Thursday 19, 1945. The right to reject bids remains with the Chamber of Commerce. The successful purchaser must remove said lumber, etc.

Slaughtering Cattle Without a Permit:

Cattle slaughtering at the John Hohener Ranch near Alvarado, was the object of complaints filed yesterday afternoon with Assistant District Attorney Joseph Scehnone by G. E. Reiner of the State Agriculture Department. The complaint charges Hohener with violations of the state agricultural code in slaughtering cattle on the premises with federal and state inspection and of disposing of the hides.

Sugar:

The Holly Sugar mill in Alvarado will resume processing in August for the first time since the war started. About 300 people will be employed.

The Oakland Tribune, June 24, 1945

Slaughtering Cattle Without a Permit:

"Black market" operators are selling meat "not fit for hogs" to nightclubs and restaurants in the Hayward area. This was the testimony of Dr. G. E. Reiner, supervising veterinary meat inspector of the State Agriculture Department today in the state's case against John Hohener, Alvarado Rancher, charged with violations on three counts of the state agricultural code.

Describing the conditions at the Hohener Ranch as "very unsanitary", Dr. Reiner stated that investigators checking the premises last Thursday found the diseased liver of a slaughtered animal "so badly abscessed that consumption of the meat by humans could have very easily resulted in fatalities."

When questioned, Hohener told the investigators he had killed a diseased bull Wednesday evening and fed the meat to the hogs, but when no remains of the meat could be found among the hog pens, he admitted that the meat had been sold, but refused to release the names of the purchasers. Further investigation revealed portions of the diseased liver of the animal.

The Martinez brothers of Alvarado have met in the south Pacific for the third time. The first time they met was during Easter Week and it was a few days after Bill Martinez' birthday. Gene and Bill Martinez have expressed themselves as being "happy" during their visits with each other on Bill's ship, the U.S.S. West Virginia. They are both on ships and in the South Pacific at this date.

A cafeteria at Alvarado School is a project that the trustees discussed at the last trustee meeting. Although it may not be ready in time, it is a step that is needed and the start is to be commended. The principal, Mr. Maffey, has been very progressive this past term and has cooperated with trustees, faculty and pupils.

Southern Pacific Co. has a second trick operator handling the night telegraph station at our important Alvarado Southern Pacific Co. depot. He is Roy Freeman, of Elmhurst, a very genial and conscientious man.

Alvarado teachers that will be missing in the coming year will be Mrs. Laverne Dickerson, who was listed as a substitute teacher, and Miss Hughes, who will make a change elsewhere for a change of climate; we are told, to benefit her health.

Old Timer Dies:

Michael Palitka, 86, native of Estonia who had sailed the seven sea with merchant vessels, served as a mate on the old steamer, Pyramid, from Alvarado to San Francisco and ended his working years at watchman at a Newark salt plant, died Monday at the San Jose Hospital.

"Mike" was never one to talk, fellow employees said, but chance remarks remembered and pieced together indicate there could have been a story of adventure worth recording. Little is known of him except that he came to this county about 40 years ago, worked for various salt companies and was operating the Pyramid hauling salt from Alvarado to San Francisco or up the river to Sacramento for about 30 years.

When Mike became too old for his job on the Pyramid, he became watchman at the Leslie Salt plant and six years ago retired. There are no known survivors.

William Martinez Tells of South Pacific:

William A. Martinez, S 1-C, son of Mr. & Mrs. Edward Martinez who is aboard the battleship West Virginia, sent home the following, showing a patriotic part in active fighting for our Alvarado boy in the South Pacific.

The battleship West Virginia damaged to severely by the Japanese attack of December 7, 1941 that she sank in her Pearl Harbor berth steamed proudly into Tokyo Bay in the naval force taking over Japan's greatest industrial area.

Crewmen crowded on the decks to see the Japanese home island, which has been their goal since the West Virginia returned to the Pacific was at the heart of the Japanese empire, with Mt. Fujiyama's cloud shrouded peak looming in the distance.

For the West Virginia this was a glorious moment; a grand reward for a year of bitter during which she had participated in every major island invasion in the northward drive toward Japan. On the bridge was Captain Raymond W. Halsinger, USN, who has commanded the warship since late April. The West Virginia's executive officer is Commander John E. Fitzgibbon, USN.

Also aboard was Rear-Admiral Ingram C. Sowell, USN, who commands a division of battleships in Vice Admiral Jesse B. Oldendorf's squadron. The West Virginia was been Admiral Sowell's flagship since the start of the Luzon invasion. With him is his staff headed by Captain George B.J. Stalling, USN.

The West Virginia is one of the U.S. Fleet's "old" battleships, commissioned on December 1, 1923. She bore the brunt of the Japanese attack at Pearl Harbor. Two bombs and at least six torpedoes struck her, leaving her a flaming wreck as she settle to the bottom

Patched up with what plates were available, the West Virginia was raised and she steamed back under her own power to a West Coast Navy Yard. Battered and torn, she seemed suited only for the scrap heap. But the modern genius of our shipyards made a different story. Stripped to her main deck, the ship was rebuilt and she emerged from the yard practically a vessel, equipped with the most modern weapons of warfare

Following a brief shakedown cruise off the West Coast, she set a westerly course under the Command of Captain J.W. Wiley, USN, to seek revenge upon the enemy that had so nearly ended their existence. On this trip there was one memorable occasion, the ceremonies in conjunction with crossing the Equator. Just out of range of enemy forces, pollywogs by the hundreds were initiated into the mysteries of that deep in the salty presence of King Neptune and his royal party.

The West Virginia's first chance for vengeance came with the opening of the Philippines campaign. Flying the same colors she had up on December 7, 1941, she led the column of battleships into Leyte Gulf and poured salvo after salvo into the Japanese forces before our troops went ashore. Here she shot down her first enemy plane, on the starboard beam.

But with the Leyte beachheads secured, and enemy threat was developing. Hoping to catch our forces off balance, a Japanese fleet was talking the beachhead. This was the setting for the famous battle of the Surigao Straits.

Nutritional authorities have for many years urged more milk and dairy products in the American diet. Now that the war is over and the war requirements for dairy products have been somewhat reduced, the dairy industry is better prepared than ever to provide adequate milk to meet nutritional needs. The farmer can best meet the challenge of consumer needs if he produces high quality milk on an efficient basis.

The need for salvage fats has not slackened since V-J Day. The Office of Price Administration (OPA) has increased the rate of turned in salvage fat from two red points to four red points per pound and can be exchanged at the butcher shop when the fats are turned in.

Ernie Machado Writes Home:

Says Alvarado young man, Ernie Machado:

Dear Dad, Bell, Elsie and Dennie:

Hope that all of you are in the very best of health. As for me, I am fine. I guess by now all of you have about the big typhoon that hit the island. It was the worst one since twenty years. The wind got up to 150 miles and hour on the southern part of the island, but only 110 here. We are sheltered between hills and that sure helps a lot.

Ninety thousand are homeless, without tents, clothing, etc. After the typhoon, our commanding officer let us use what wood left to build ourselves huts. We made a house and if this one ever goes down it is time to get the hell of this island.

I lost all my gear except a pair of pants that I saved and the gear that I was during the typhoon. I put in a claim for a new sea bag, O hope we get the hell out of here, as I don't want to go through another typhoon.

The two head yeomen are leaving for the States Monday. They sent most of their gear home and saved just enough gear to take on the plane. If we happen to get two yeomen in, then it will be my turn to leave for the States. I hate to think of being put in charge of the office. That is going to be some job.

How is everything at Home? It has been over a week since I received any mail and probably another week or so before I receive any. You probably won't hear from me either, but that is because they aren't sending any mail out of the island until facilities are put up to handle the mail.

The weather today is swell. The sea is out and it is warm. Doesn't seem as if we had a typhoon here. I think we are about the only ones who didn't get too much stuff ruined. Very few tents were damaged. The one I was in came down.

Hope Dennie is all right. I'll have to close, haven't much time. Write soon and God bless and watch over all. Ernie

Flood Control:

For the first time in many winters residents of Alvarado have been relieved of the threat of floods in streets and homes of the town, a recent report of the flood committee indicated at a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce. Completion of the cleaning of the slough at the mouth of the Alameda Creek was marked by a vote to pay Frank Andrade, local dairyman, $500 instead of $447, which had been appropriated for the project by the chamber.

Andrade was voted the bonus in view of the excellent job he has done and was also given a vote of thanks for his efforts beyond the requirements of obligations in dredging a quarter mile of the slough east of town. The channel was widened 50 feet and free flows of the waters to the Bay will remove all danger of floods in the town, chamber members said.

Street Decorations:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce voted at a recent meeting to appropriate funds for street decorations during the Christmas season. This is the first group in Washington Township to sponsor a town-wide decoration program. Merchants interviewed during the past month by Mrs. Annie Baird and Mrs. Isabelle Mondragon indicated they would cooperate in decorating their stores, the women reported. President Walter Oakey appointed Leslie Maffey, principal of the local grammar school to supervise overhead street decorations if highway authorities grant permission for them.

The Christmas season will officially open here December 5th or upon the arrival of trees and holiday decorations. The program was adopted by the California State Chamber of Commerce with the idea of offering a festive welcome to Alvarado's returning servicemen.

Five-Inch Grasshopper:

The finding of a five-inch grasshopper at Alvarado scared the pants off of agriculturists. Was nature going to make them bigger? Would they be hungrier and more destructive than the ordinary type? And where was this going to stop? How would anybody know that grasshoppers the size elephants wouldn't some day come zooming in out of the south? Nothing came of it, however. The 5-incher died and he must have been the last of his line because none have been seen here since. But he sure scared the pants off everybody for a while and made us pull the covers over our head at night.

Manuel Bettencourt:

(From the "Knaves" section of the "Oakland Tribune")

A mile or so east of Alvarado beside what is known as Creek Road, which links Alvarado and Niles, dwells Manuel B. Bettencourt. There is nothing pretentious about this man who lives quietly on his 20-acre farm. Eph L. Musick says that it was on December 23rd, 92 years ago today; the patriarch of Washington Township was born on the island of Fayal in the Azores. He left when he was a boy and sailed a whaling ship for a few years. Deserting his ship on the East Coast, he migrated to California more than three quarters of a century ago. He worked for 50¢ a day cutting wood on the Patterson Ranch near Newark. When asked if his employer was one of the Patterson brothers now living in that area, he replied he worked for the father of those old timers (the Patterson Boys). He acquired a small ranch in Newark and raised three sons and a daughter, that small ranch is still in his possession. When seen at his Alvarado home several weeks ago, Mr. Bettencourt, the "nonagenarian" was still able to get about and "roll his own."

News Notes:

Mrs. Joseph Silva of V Street, Alvarado, is clerking at Manuel Andrade's Store next to the Pioneer office.

Last Monday Joseph J. Correia of Newark was initiated into the Alvarado Eagles says Secretary John Menezes.

A fine young man about three years old had a swell birthday this week. He is Danny Rose, the son of Mr. & Mrs. Elvin Rose of Granger Avenue. Another son is Dickie who is 6 months old.

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Borges of Granger Avenue had four sons in the war. A daughter, Mrs. Filbert Dutra (nee Josephine Borges) tells us that one of her brothers, Joe Linhares has been discharged. Two are still in the service, but one died overseas six months ago. Alexander Borges is in England in the Army; Arnold Borges is at Camp Beale, being home some two months ago. The brother who died in July 1945, in Luzon was Manuel Borges.

We met Manuel Rodrigues of the Alvarado-Niles Road, and he told us of his brother Ernie Rodrigues being just discharged from the Army. Another brother, Alfred, is in the Navy; and still another John is in the Army. The father, John Rodrigues, lives on the Alvarado Niles Road.

Alvarado Girls Club News:

The Alvarado Grammar School Girls Club is getting along fine. We have chosen new officer. Betty Jacinto is still our president. The other officers are:

Vice-President: Lorraine McLean
Secretary: Selina Rigmaiden
Treasurer: Doris Jones
News Reporter: Evelyn Muela
Yell Leader: Georgia Davis

The A team Captain is Connie Saucedo, the B team captain is Nettie Lemos, the C team captain is Carol Hocking, and the D team captain is Emilda Dominguez.

We had a ball game with Newark Thursday. We played three games, two 21-point games and one 15-point game. Alvarado won all three.

The B team gave the A team a party. We have two teams, A team and B team. We play against each other. Whenever we get to the total score, the losing team has to treat the winning team.

We had a nice time at the party. We had soda pop, ice cream and cookies and played different games. We had some bottles of soda left over and we decided to sell the soda in little cups to the other school children, but the basketball teams offered to buy them instead.

Since Lucita, our vice president moved, we had to elect a new vice president. She is Lorraine McLean.

Building Bee Held By Manuel Perry:

Manuel Pinto, whose orchestra attracts big crowds to Café Alabam at San Lorenzo Junction, is going to have an enlarged shoe repair shop at Alvarado because his landlord, Manuel Perry, thought up a new idea for fast construction. It was simply that he accepted the offer of a large number of friends to gather and put up an addition over the weekend. They, like Manuel, and most all the Alvarado boys concerned either work with Manuel at Graham Bros. or adjoining salt companies, all in Newark. Yes sir, when the editor saw the first class crew Sunday, we observed some were hanging onto the roof hammering nails in shingles, and some were hanging out windows like trapeze performers. Some ten were giving that little 10 X 20 addition a bad time. And all are socialites, politicians and bandmasters, etc., in the sugar mill city. Here they are:

Joe Cardoza of Morton Salt Co. is one of the key men down there.

Manuel Goularte, student of the higher things in education, is school trustee of the Alvarado School District, and employee of the Graham Bros. in a leading capacity in his department.

Peter Pinto, who knows the last word in accordion playing, and was weaned away from his $1,200 accordion for the day, was there.

Elvin Rose, big executive with the Standard Trailers, no doubt will rise very high in the firm.

Joe Goularte, one of the real big growers on the Creek Road managed to get his long trilbies around the roof while shingling, so that he was hanging out in space on one leg most of the time. Good looking guy that feller.

Clarence Flores, one of our city fathers, who has his mind on sanitary matters, fire department and other big league stuff hereabouts, has worked at Leslie Salt Co. since, "heck, he was a pup."

Even Manuel Pinto, who does the shoe repair work in this metropolis, was working on the addition. He will add a stock of shoes, and that was one reason he asked landlord Manuel Perry for more room

While the men working on the addition in Perry's side yard, the wives of most of the helpers were brewing coffee to rush out to the husbands, along with bandages and iodine for injuries. In fact, you can't make us believe those fellers work that hard on their job. They wouldn't get "out on the limb" in the angles we saw them for pay.

By the way, Mrs. Manuel Perry and mother, Mrs. Frank Machado, served a fine noontime meal for all. Boy! Everybody was as busy as cranberry merchants.

News Notes:

James Perry of Alvarado is in business in Hayward as the Hayward Rug and Upholstery Cleaners. He is the manager and is well and favorably known in Alvarado where he was and raised.

Joe Avila says the excavating of the lower part of the Alameda Creek here, lowered the creek bed by one and one-half feet. This was one reason for the faster runoff and the fact that the creek was only half full of water this year, so far.

Andy Gardetto's five-piece orchestra played at the Sophomore Dance at the Washington Union High School on Friday night. It was the Valentine Dance.

It was Joe Avila's turn to be on duty as fireman at the Alvarado Firehouse Sunday.

George Hellwig went to Los Angeles recently to visit his sick wife, Mrs. Willa Jane Hellwig.

John Kallu, who with his wife, reside next door to Joseph Martin, Jr., is employed at Westvaco, Newark.

Ernie Machado, who is in the Navy at Mare Island, was a recent visitor of his father, Matt Machado, Smith St. Café owner and a man the Editor is glad to call a friend.

Donald Woodward, who returned from the service a few months ago, and son-in-law of Joe Avila, has a splendid position at the Government Hospital near Oakland at Oak Knoll.

Frank Gutierrez went bass fishing a few day ago with his brother-in-law Frank Perez. They are neighbors on 19th Street in Alvarado.

Addie Kelly, who conducts Kelly Café on Watkins Street, is undergoing treatment in a hospital in Los Angeles. Her sister Emma is getting along fine now here having been quite ill a couple of years ago. By the way, Addie Kelly's husband, our friend Jim, went to San Francisco this weekend to take part in a wedding Sunday.

Mr. & Mrs. Frank Silveira of Granger Street had their son and son-in-law come out of the service within recent months. First the son-in-law, William Silva, arrived a couple of months ago. He and his wife are staying at the Silveira home while William recovers from the nerve trying experiences. Four weeks ago Norman Silveira got his discharge. He is now going to school, and is studying to be a cabinet-maker. Two daughters are married. We refer to Mr. And Mrs. Raymond (nee Jeanette Silveira) and Mr. & Mrs. Frank Arcano (nee Isabel Silveira) of Alvarado.

Lieut. James Wasley, Jr., who is a full-fledged dentist after finishing his Naval V-12 program at the Affiliated Colleges in San Francisco, has been transferred to Camp Shoemaker. He drops in on the folks occasionally at the family home in Alvarado. Principal James Wasley (former Alvarado Grammar School Principal) of Tennyson School has made an outstanding record of handling an overcrowded school attendance, and plans are now going forth for a structure to house some six new classrooms. Mrs. James Wasley is on of the well-known teachers of nearby Alviso School.

Sugar:

Holly Sugar Co. will have a longer run at Alvarado this year, gauging by the larger tonnage of sugar beets expected from growers not only in Alameda County, but also from nearby sections. Andrew Logan, field superintendent, has cooperated with the farmers in the plans for planting of beets and he says there will be about 6,000 acres planted to beets this year. Last year there was only about 5,000 acres. Arranging for the planting soon Mr. Logan is assisted by John Whipple and Allen Smith.

Flash Discharged:

An Alvarado dog got his honorable discharge from the Army and is back in Alvarado with his Owner Frank P. George, distributor of General Petroleum products. He came home via the Southern Pacific. Station Agent Ed Wilson notified the owner that Flash had arrived and Frank's brother, Tony George, had the honor calling for him on March 5th.

The dog arrived from Virginia after having landed there from overseas duty on February 26th. Flash looked as beautiful as ever if admire a noble animal. He was a year and half with the 40th Infantry doing scout duty. He has an honorable discharge, as fine as any soldier. The dog got all excited when he first saw Frank, and his master immediately put him through his line of tricks, showing that Flash had lost none of his cunning.

Rufus Serrato, ex-Navy man, and Dolores Rios were married two weeks ago. Both were formerly from Alvarado. They are now living in Oakland.

Domingo Cicairos arrived two weeks ago after vacationing four months in Mexico.

Isabel Mondragon arrived a few days ago from her two months vacation in Mexico. Isabel runs the Beauty Salon on Smith Street.

Many friends regret to hear of the illness of Mrs. Sam Dinsmore who has been missed for a month or so from her accustomed place assisting at Dinsmore's Store in Alvarado. She is undergoing treatment up north and her husband has been keeping in close touch with her, besides handling his big business at Alvarado. Too much credit cannot be given their son, Sam Dinsmore Jr. for his conscientious work in assisting them at the store.

Raymond Serrato and Ramon Moura have been visiting lately in Alvarado. Raymond Serrato is home on furlough, he now lives in Oakland, but used to live in Alvarado. Ramon has been discharged but he is going to re-enlist in the Army for a year. He also used to live in Alvarado.

Sugar:

The Alvarado sugar refinery may become a "pilot" plant to test a theory of east coast scientists that more sugar can be produced without increasing the size of sugar beet and cane crops.

The new process, known as "ion exchange," which the scientists claim will filter sugar out of beets and cane more efficiently than the present refining method, was announced last night in New York, according to the Associated Press. Here, it was learned that the American Cyanamid Company, which conducted preliminary experiments with the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Louisiana State University, is negotiating with the Holly Sugar Corp. to install the pilot plant at the Holly refinery at Alvarado.

Flora McKeown:

"The next vacation I take will be spent some place in California." Thus spoke Miss Flora McKeown of Alvarado, who returned via air last week from a trip to Mexico, Guatemala and the Yucatan, in the company of three other companions, Mr. & Mrs. John Stevenson and Harry Stevenson.

You can gather from Miss Mckeown's above remark that the trip to Mexico wasn't too successful. "The accommodations are not good at all," said Miss McKeown. "You see, there are 20,000 tourists going through Mexico every day. With the increase in the number of tourists, you get a corresponding decrease in the quality of service."

"For instance," she continued, "in many hotels the water is turned on for only a couple every day from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. And it was always cold! After traveling for several hours and looking forward to some good hot water it was most distressing."

However, Miss McKeown added that part of their trip was very enjoyable indeed. The trip into Guatemala, for example, where they had delicious fresh strawberries and other lush fresh fruits and vegetables. The party also felt that the Mayan ruins in Guatemala were well worth seeing. This was Miss McKeown's second trip to Mexico.

Alvarado School Improvements:

The way those three trustees at the Alvarado Elementary School are working day and night for the welfare of the school was noticed as the Editor called at the school on Tuesday. Manuel Goularte, clerk of the board, was planning the cafeteria soon to be put in operation. He was ably assisted by William Avila, custodian. He said Griffin of Irvington has bolstered the foundation of the auditorium. He had also built a new cement step and walk leading into the side of the auditorium from Alvarado Street.

A new cement incinerator was built in the back of the grounds to burn paper.

The lawns at the side and the front of the building have been improved by William Avila's adding the proper fertilizer purchased by the trustees. By the way, means of remodeling the auditorium are of permanent value, and all the trustees, Manuel Goularte, George Hocking and Wilbert Hendricks, have combined to accomplish it.

Alvarado School Student Assembly:

Called to order by Vernon Perry, the April 1st meeting of the Alvarado Elementary School assembly got under way with the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Secretary Emilda Dominguez and a report by Treasurer Elizabeth Flores. There is $1.31 in the treasury.

We discussed the culmination unit and Harold Martinez made a motion that we nominate only three people. George Apodaca was named chairman of the unit, Robert Preciado is chairman of the floor committee; others are: Rudolpho Barrera, Manuel Aranda, Ralph Labrado, Salvador Barrera, Teodosio Olasio and Harold Martinez.

Stanley Anderson suggested that we a judge and jury to punish offenders of good manners. George Apodaca, Teodosio Olasio, Felix Ybarra, Emilda Dominguez, and Alice Moreno were appointed to the jury with Harold Martinez clerk. The students decided upon the sentencing for infractions to be: We decided that talking would be punished with 50 lines, for chewing gum the penalty would be 200 lines and for swearing the punishment would be 500 lines. If the president, judge or jury commits any offense, the penalty is double the regular amount.

Juanita Walsh was made chairman of the room committee. Those on Juanita's committee were Elizabeth Flores, Fumiyo Hisaoka, Vernon Perry and Stanley Anderson.

In our kite contest last Friday at the school, Manuel Aranda, Rejulio Barrera and Rudolpho Barrera won prizes for the prettiest ones, and Robert Preciado had the highest kite. Harold Martinez had the smallest one. Everyone who entered the contest received an award.

The little miss is called "Ming Toy," doubtless of the Chinese blue origin among dogs. Tucked away in a little basket she is the mascot of Genevieve and Alice Menezes, and the admiration of the customers.

Mr. & Mrs. Munger of Alvarado raised an interesting family. Richard Munger is studying watch making at Las Vegas. He was in the service with the Air Corps. John Munger, who has been living in Hayward with his wife (former Harriet Jones) is moving to El Cerrito so they can nearer his work in Richmond. Milton is busy at a testing laboratory at Mare Island. He is married and lives in Berkeley. Their daughter, Mrs. Margaret Whipple and husband are going to live at the Whipple Ranch near the Masonic Home.

Joe Perez, service station operator handling Mobilgas at Alvarado, has an intriguing sign has for the public reading, "Five gallons of gas free if I fail to check your oil OR check you tires." See if you can put "one over on Joe." He may forget.

George Hocking, whose term of office expires, is up for re-election. People should tell George that he is appreciated and remember folks; these are giving a lot of time to the school for no pay. The least we can do is thank them. The County superintendent of School picked a good man in George Hocking. Manuel Goularte tells us he thinks George has done well.

Housing Costs Rise:

Clearly indicating that low-cost housing goals are far from achievement, a report today by the San Francisco office of the Federal Housing Administration reveals that 50 per cent of the priorities issued to date are for homes costing more than $8,500. Only 12 per cent are in the lower brackets, costing $6,500 or less.

The report covers operations of the office for all of Northern California up to last weekend. The $8,500 to $9,500 home is the most popular, with 27 per cent in that price range. Second place is held by the $9,500 to $10,000 group, at 23.5 per cent, while the $7,500 to $8,500 class is a close third at 23 per cent.

Homes costing from $6,500 to $7,500 make up 14.5 per cent of the total. Only 7 per cent is in the $5,500 to $6,500 bracket, once set as the desirable maximum, while those in the $5,000 to $5,500 class comprise only 3 per cent, and those homes under $5,000, only 2 per cent.

Under customary financing practices, an applicant must show an income of approximately $175 a month to obtain a $5,500 loan. The requirement jumps to around $250 a month for $7,500, nearly $300 a month for $8,500, and at least $350 a month for a $10,000 loan.

New vacuum tube equipment will speed long distance calls. Long distance expansion program is in full swing.

At dozens of places up and down the Pacific Coast we're going ahead with new vacuum tube equipment, which boosts the number of telephone calls wires can carry. This is just part of our unprecedented long distance expansion program now under way.

For the phenomenal development in this part of the country has resulted in tremendously increased number of toll and long distance calls. But we're working full speed ahead to install the additional facilities we need to provide a better and faster long distance service than ever before.

New Beauty Shop in Town:

After having worked for four years at the Oakland army Air Base as a spray painter, Julia Flores Cuellar is now back in her own business, that of a beauty parlor operator in Alvarado, across the street from the bank on Levee Street.

A graduate of a beauty college in Texas and instructor in beauty culture in here won school there; Mrs. Cuellar has had 19 years experience in her line. She possesses a California State owner's and operator's licenses, she said, with modern equipment in her new shop. Newly decorated and painted a blue bird color, it presents a rather cheerful appearance, and it is predicted that she will be kept busy.

Mrs. Cuellar came to Alvarado from Oakland to visit a friend, Nettie Saucedo of the "Halfway House." She and her husband liked the town so well that they decided to settle here. Three weeks ago they found a house for rent. In their family are four schoolgirls and two little babies.

They drove as far as Portland and visited the Oregon Caves on the way up and came back along the coast Highway 101. They especially enjoyed the rhododendrons and azaleas in full bloom along the highways.

Joe Perez, Mobilgas station service man is sponsoring the Alvarado Junior Baseball team that belongs to a league in which young boys comprise the teams. They play hardball baseball games each Sunday. Frank Gutierrez is the manager of the team.

That baseball team using the regulation hardball baseball must be good, as they won another game, one June 9th, and another June 16th. Joe Sanchez of Alvarado, brother-in-law of Ed Naharro, is one of the pitchers. Harold Alameda of the High School team at Centerville is another. They play on the Alvarado School grounds. The manager is Greg Perry and team captain is Jesse Jacinto Sr.

Manuel Andrade, who conducts a store at Alvarado, also sells Standard Oil Products. He has lately been progressive and added a grease rack. The air compression equipment raises the car nicely to the desired height at its location adjoining the store.

Alvarado boosters and sponsors of the Washington Township Apricot festival are: Sam Dinsmore, Frank P. George, Manuel Andrade, John H. Ralph, A.A. (Tony) Lee, General Petroleum Company, Alvarado Eagles, Alvarado Chamber of Commerce, and the Alvarado Firemen.

Chamber of Commerce:

President Joseph Lewis arranged a wonderful musical and vocal program on Ladies Night on Thursday evening, June 20th, and there was a big turnout to enjoy it. After a business meeting planning for the town's welfare, the following program was rendered:

- 1) Miss Dominguez sang like an opera star, accompanied by the Pinto Bros. Orchestra.
- 2) Eileen Wilson played some delightful piano numbers.
- 3) Ray Hansen, radio singer of the golden tenor voice, brought down the house with his jolly songs and lovely ballads. He was accompanied by Eileen Wilson

- 4) Andy Gardetto, sax; Walter Gardetto, accordion; and little brother Arnold Gardetto, trumpet; were great in their trios and duets.
- 5) Betty Jacinto played the piano very pleasingly.
- 6) George Oakes and Ray Hansen enthusiastically sang vocal duets with a lot of "barbershop" harmony thrown in.

At the lovely decorated tables in the banquet room after the program, Mrs. Joseph Lewis and her committee of Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Gardetto, Mrs. Manuel Martin and other ladies, served excellent coffee, ice cream, cake, sandwiches.

Philippine Independence Day to be Celebrated:

The Filipino Community of Northeast Alameda County and Contra Costa are going to have their PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE DAY Celebration on July 4th in Alvarado, which is a bog honor for thousands that will gather here.

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce realized its importance by naming a committee on Thursday night's meeting at the Odd Fellows Hall to cooperate in every way and especially decorate the business section with the aid of the businessmen on July 4th.

A big program and dance will be held at the SDES Hall at Alvarado, when the Mayor of Hayward and other councilmen from there will be the honored guests.

Mrs. Bolima of Mr. Eden; and Frank Macahilas and D. Carrillo, businessmen of Alvarado, appeared before the Chamber of Commerce and were aided by Editor Oakes and others.

The Chamber of Commerce has suggested a parade for the 4th of July in which all classes joining and show our debt of gratitude to the fine work of the Filipino-Americans, who helped fight alongside out boys overseas, and at home did a fine job in raising food in the fields, buying War Bonds, helping the Red Cross, etc.

The Alvarado Pioneer, June 21, 1946

East Shore Freeway:

Work will begin on the East Shore Freeway. Work was halted by the war when the ramps were completed to the Oakland-San Francisco Bay Bridge. Work will begin on the dual level overpasses between the Oakland Army Terminal and the city of Oakland. Phase one will be through the city of Oakland, then overland to San Leandro, extend past San Lorenzo Village, through Hayward and then onto Alvarado on its way to San Jose.

The Oakland Tribune, June 22, 1946

Auto-Pedestrian:

Tiofilo Alvarado, 55, Route 17, Alvarado was taken to Fairmont Hospital with a scalp laceration after he apparently stepped in front of an automobile driven by Graciano Annya, 1156 Maiden Lane, Alvarado. The driver was not cited.

4th of July Celebration:

The United States Independence Day of July 4th will also be the day of celebration of independence of the Philippines. Truly they have something to be happy over, by wresting control to their homeland from the invader during the recent war. And the United States was right alongside of the Filipinos. And next 4th of July we will be right alongside of them again when the people of Alvarado help our Filipino Americans celebrate.

Joseph Lewis, president of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce, had a live wire committee gathering money from Alvarado merchants to decorate the stores and business streets, particularly some streamers across the streets.

The Filipino community at the last Chamber of Commerce asked this decoration, and cooperation was promised, and a committee has been holding meetings with those in charge of the big celebration on July 4th.

A short parade of Alvarado citizens and members of the Filipino community may march from the business section to the SDES Hall to the start the affair off right.

This Filipino organization represents members in two counties, Contra Costa and northeastern Alameda County. The program is to begin at 6 o'clock on the evening of July 4th at the SDES Hall on Watkins Street, Alvarado. Hayward Mayor John Harry will deliver an address; Councilman William Wilson will be there and Attorney Lester Foley of Hayward will also speak. Pacifico Saragia, prominent Filipino leader, and Frank M. Bolima, former president of the Filipino community of San Francisco.

With reverence toward the occasion, still there will be fine entertainment, including songs and dances by Filipino artists and musicians, followed by a dance for all. The Chamber of Commerce had a fine singer at last meeting in Ray Hansen of Newark, and he has been invited to be one of their main singers and entertainers. Miss Eileen Wilson of Alvarado will accompany Hansen on the piano.

Felix Diangson, one of the best known leaders of the Filipino American group is working hard to achieve a great success for this 4th of July, when some 4,000 will celebrate in Alvarado. Father Julio A. Martins of All Saints Church, Hayward, will give the invocation. Mrs. Felix Diangson will make an address.

Baseball:

On Sunday June 30th, at the Alvarado School grounds at 2 p.m., Alvarado's fastball team is to play a colored team from Alameda. This fast aggregation is known as the Alameda Tigers. The Naharro's Alvarado Theater team is not choosing any set-ups, but taking all the fast aggregations around the bay. Alvarado has three pitchers, Stewart, Shanks and Alameda (the latter is from Centerville).

Jesse Jacinto Jr. came in from the Navy this weekend and his dad (team manager) will use this speedy shortstop in the lineup. His brother Hubert will play also.

Turn out and boost for the home team. The Editor saw last Sunday's game with the Chapel of the Oaks of Oakland, and although our team lost, they were tied 1-1 in about the seventh inning. This shows how tight our boys played against the Oaklanders, who lose mighty few games.

The Alvarado Pioneer, June 28, 1946

News Notes:

Joe Perez' Service is the name of the new Alvarado Junior Baseball team when it plays at Hayward on July 4th at 12 o'clock. The game will be played at the Sunset School, which is near the Hayward Airport. Going from Alvarado along Hesperian Blvd., the motorist turns right at the second block after A Street. It is two blocks from Hesperian Blvd. Frank Gutierrez is the Manager of the players and most of them are players from Alvarado School, with a few like Dave Priego from the Washington Union High School. The leaguer will see a regular schedule for the many ball teams in the Hayward League. Perez deserves credit for getting uniforms for the players.

History was made recently at Alvarado when the telephone office, which has been at Dinsmore's Store over 40 years, was moved to Mr. & Mrs. Munger's home a half block away on Watkins Street. Mrs. Munger is in charge of the office and her assistant operators are doing very nicely.

Silvio Tachella Dies:

Silvio Tachella died in Hayward on July 1st. Aged 7, Silvio was the son of Mr. & Mrs. Michele Tachella of Alvarado.
The Oakland Tribune, July 3, 1946

New Notes:

The officials of the Washington Township Apricot Festival take this means of thanking Jess Jacinto of Alvarado for his aid and support to the Festival. Eleanor Graham is now associated with the Alvarado Vegetable Growers at Hall Station. Her husband is in the Army.

Last Thursday at noon, the 4th of July, the Joe Perez' Service Baseball Team of Alvarado beat the Castro Valley team in the Hayward Area Junior Baseball League. The score was 13-2. Johnny Ledesma did the pitching.

Turn out to the ball games each Sunday, you will always see Alvarado put up a good team, as Captain Joseph Jacinto has a fine bunch of players. Last Sunday they beat the Alameda Colored Team 13 to 3. This afternoon they are to play on the Alvarado School ground as usual, meeting the fast Veterans of Foreign Wars No. 1010 of Oakland. Gregory Perry, manager, looks for a fine game. Ed Naharro is pleased with his ball team.
The Alvarado Pioneer, July 5, 1946

Filipino 4th of July:

The many thousands of Filipino Americans from Northeastern Alameda County and Contra Costa County who gathered to celebrate the independence of the Philippines, saw that Alvarado people were WITH THEM 100 PER CENT. They saw President of the Chamber of Commerce Joseph Lewis and hundreds of Alvarado people present to show their good will toward the Filipino Americans and their contribution toward helping to win the recent World War.

There was such fine leadership shown by Frank Bolima of Mt. Eden and other of Alvarado like Frank Macahilas, D. Carrillo and others, that Alvarado was given the place of celebrating the Fourth, winning the honor over many bigger cities. The Chamber of Commerce rallied the businessmen to get $225 together to make gay streamers over the streets and impress passers-by with the importance of our community.

The democratic spirit of helpfulness was shown by four members of the Hayward City Council being present and making speeches over the public address system to the assemblage. They were Mayor John Harry, William Wilson, Jack Holland and Art Phillips. Attorney Major Lester Foley, of Hayward, made a stirring speech. Rev. Julio A. Martins of All Saints church, Hayward, gave a marvelous invocation, commending the Filipinos for achieving their independence as the early Colonists did in this country in 1776.

Alex Biete acted as Master of Ceremonies in a splendid manner, giving the welcoming address. Miss Faustina Regalado followed with a piano selection. A 4-year-old little hula dancer, Little Critina, won the hearts of everyone. A vocal solo was given by Miss Dardene Agraviador. A stirring speech was given by Pacifico Sarabo of the Philippines.

Mrs. Felix Diangson of Alvarado, with as great a charm as we ever saw, gave a wonderful speech so complimentary to the accomplishments of her dear people. She is the former president of this Filipino Community of the two counties.

Crispin Dela Cruz, noted radio singer, really was a second Bing Crosby. Frank M. Bolima of Mt. Eden gave one of the most important speeches, on "The Birth of a Nation." He is the former president of the Filipino Community of San Francisco.

Barbara Diangson sang very sweetly and was accompanied by her brother, William Diangson. They are the son and daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Felix Diangson. The United States National anthem was then sung, followed by the Philippine anthem, led by Barbara Diangson.

Member of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce and invited guests sat down to a wonderful banquet at the SDES Hall about 3 o'clock, and it was a wonderful banquet indeed. The program started about 6:30. after the public joined in dancing with their hosts.

Editor George Oakes paid a compliment to the large turnout of Alvarado people on this occasion to show their appreciation of the loyal efforts of the Filipino Americans.

Veterans of Bataan and other places were introduced: Capt. E.L. Torres Jr., Lt. Jose Alcid, Lt. Nick Franco, Lt. Antonio Franco, Lt. Cesar Delfino and Lt. Jose Gomes.

Washington Township Heritage:

Suggestions for the Pageant for the Mission San Jose, June 1947. Suggested for the statewide celebration of the 150th anniversary of the founding of the Mission San Jose de Guadalupe:

First: Coming of the three Fathers from Santa Clara Mission, accompanied by ten soldiers, in costume, and Indian guides.

Second: Padres and Indians erecting a great cross and preparing for the first religious ceremony.

Third: Dedication of the church building, 1808, and a native festival at the close of the season. A Cross made of sheaves of wheat. Father Doran and his fine Indian Orchestra in the dedication.

Fourth: Trading with the whalers. The Fathers going to the embarcadero at Alvarado to trade with the shrewd Yankee Whalers, driven in their great two-wheeled cat "volante" drawn by six white mules, accompanied by their Indian satellites. Showing the extent of accomplishments both in converting the Indians and in the produce they had to offer.

Fifth: The procession usually attendant on a bullfight, or some great religious celebration or both. Specifically showing the methods of travel by the two-wheeled carts, usually accompanied by mounted horsemen, eager to display their horsemanship.

Sixth: The coming of the first American. Messenger arriving with a letter to the Padre asking permission to come to the Mission from Jedediah Smith, who had lost his way. Also, the coming of John March and his imprisonment on suspicion.

Seventh:

The discovery of gold, procession of miners from the Alvarado ferry with their laden burros, up through the Mission to the Stockton Pass. They only road at that time into the interior valleys. Their return and reckless gambling away of their gold.

Eighth: The first American farmers, the breaking up of the great rancheros. Oxen, horses and wagons loaded with hay, grain, fruits, etc. The coming of buggies of various types to replace the old ox carts.

Ninth: The carrying of the mail in the old fashioned Concord coaches. Passengers in costume of the time. Perhaps Joaquin Murietta might stage a hold-up.

Tenth: The coming of the iron horse, the railroad that succeeded the mail coach. A miniature train of some kind full of costumed people. Could be a scene of great excitement. School children with books, soldiers, etc.

Eleventh: The old-time gas buggy; the high-wheeled bicycle, as well as fire fighting apparatus.

Twelfth: Developments of sports in schools, boy scouts and vester choirs representing the churches. Organization of the Native Sons and Daughters.

Perhaps, in its proper place, the Fremont adventure, he came through the Mission, and the raising of the Bear Flag.

The present members of the Sanitary Board at Alvarado, feeling that they had pioneered the Alvarado Sanitary District, have expressed the desire for others to carry on. So already they feel that those to take their places will carry on in a 100 percent manner. The new board members who have filed for election on Sept. 16th are F.W. Joyce, Sr., Manuel P. Goularte and Elvin Rose.

Joseph J. Jacinto (incumbent Sanitary Assessor) is going to remain on the job. At the election of Sept. 16 the wish of the voters will no doubt be to return this group of men who have duly filed for office. Clarence Flores, Joseph Dutra and Peter Pinto have carried on the duties like former members who helped formulate the original board.

Secretary of the board Joseph Dutra, in particular, has been a tower of strength handling all the details and records. The District Attorney's office has always said his work met the highest legal requirements.

Alvarado School Cafeteria:

The cafeteria of the Alvarado Grammar School is coming along nicely and its opening for the first time in the history of the school took place with the opening of school. The construction of tables, and the fitting up of a first class kitchen in the former nurses room in the front part of the auditorium.

There is a first class water heater, large stove from Wedgewood, an electric washing machine, refrigerator, and any number of devices purchased by the trustees. The trustees Manuel Goularte, George Hocking, and Wilbert Hendricks, deserve credit for much time given to establishing this cafeteria to keep our school abreast of other schools.

William Avila deserves a boost for the job he has done in keeping up the lawns, making building repairs inside and outside as needed, etc. Principal Leslie Maffey is getting his teachers and classroom work all planned out and has done a remarkable job.

The painting of the cafeteria table and the interior parts of the school has been done by Joe F. Rose of Irvington. The floors have also been painted.

Sugar:

Sugar beet growers will get no increase for the 1946 crop as a result of the recent advance $1.50 per 100 pounds in the wholesale price of refined sugar which became official on September 18th.

This is the statement of Gordon Lyons, executive secretary of the California Beet Growers Association in a recent bulletin to growers in which he also urges careful bookkeeping in view of the changing picture for sugar beets anticipated for the next few years.

When prices for other crops break, as is expected next year, "there will be a scramble for beet acreage which will be limited not only by Government quota restrictions but by the factory capacity of the company that buys your beets," Lyons told growers.

He requests growers to "examine your position now and see if it would give you satisfactory beet acreage under conditions that prevailed in 1941 when total grower requests for acreage beet acreage were more than 50 per cent higher than was allotted here in California that year."

Anthony Benites:

Anthony Benites of Alvarado, who was in the Field Artillery during war and was discharged from the service about five months ago, is going into business for himself. He has opened the Alviso Highway Garage near Baker Road on the Alvarado-Centerville Highway.

This young man used to be employed by his father, Manuel Machado of the garage in Alvarado. But since there is so much auto garage work these days, he wisely went into business for himself in the Alviso district.

The building housing the garage has been remodeled and is well located in the center of a large agricultural district where autos and tractors can be repaired by Mr. Benites.

Alvarado Vegetable Growers Association:

In speaking to Al Caeton of the Alvarado Vegetable Growers warehouse at Hall Station, he said that in two weeks the new cauliflower will be shipped strong to the Eastern market by Southern Pacific fast freight in well-iced cars.

You can talk about other towns shipping vegetables easy, but let us tell you that one of the heaviest is the Alvarado Vegetable Growers. Thirteen growers are combined to ship quality cauliflower, lettuce and celery, some to eastern markets and some to Central California markets.

Here are some figures that Al Caeton of the warehouse gave us. Lettuce is the biggest crops with 810 boxcars shipped by Southern Pacific this past season and that is followed by 400 boxcars of cauliflower. This all clears though Ed Wilson, the Southern Pacific station agent at Alvarado.

The growers shipping from the Alvarado and Alviso district are:

T.P. Harvey	Al Caeton	George Harvey	Harvey Granger

Mr. & Mrs. George Lucas went to visit Mrs. Lucas' mother and sister in San Jose last Sunday. Mrs. Mary J. Click from Wenatchee, WA. and Mr. & Mrs. John S. Hoffman from Seattle are coming soon to visit Mr. & Mrs. N.E. Click of Alvarado.

Mr. Click, Alvarado teacher, got lost in the fog. On Tuesday, December 10th, Mr. Click was out supervising Physical Education on the far side of the field. The dense fog cut off his vision from the school. So he could not tell when Physical Education was over. Mr. Maffey had to send messengers to call them in.

Mr. Click's of the sixth and seventh grades of the Alvarado School entertained the student body of the Alvarado Grammar School on Friday the 6th of December. The entertainment consisted of "Jingle Bells," Little Brown Jug," and "Canoe Voyage" played on the Tonettes. Melvin Pimentel and Ronald Caeton played "Row, Row, Row," "Three Blind Mice," and "Old Black Joe" on the their Tonettes. Elizabeth Flores and Vernon Perry played "Five Minutes More." Elizabeth played on the saxophone and Vernon played the piano.

New VFW:

A new Veterans of Foreign Wars post named in honor of Paul Edwards Rivers, first serviceman from the community of Alvarado to lose his life in WWII, will be instituted in the Eagles Hall in Alvarado, Wednesday. The new unit, Paul Edward Rivers Post No. 7906 will be instituted and installed by T. A. MacDonald, Department Auditor, Department of California Veteran of Foreign Wars of the United States.

Paul was the youngest of nine children left to the care of Mrs. Mary Rivers when their father died twenty-six years ago. Prominent in student affairs, athletics and dramatics at Washington Union High School, Paul enlisted in the Royal Canadian Air Force in July 1941, and won his pilot's wings before transferring to the Marine Corps in May 1942.

He went overseas immediately and was reported missing in action during the Solomon Islands (Guadalcanal) campaign in August (1942). He was "presumed dead" in a Government letter of February 19, 1945, and was posthumously awarded the Purple Heart.

While in high school, Paul served as President of his class in his junior and senior years, as Vice President of the Future Farmers of America, President of the Boy's Club and a member of the Student Council. He was a star football and baseball player and active in dramatics and public speaking. He graduated in 1939.

Edward M. Martinez of Alvarado, adjutant of the post has announced that Mrs. Mary Rivers, mother of Paul Rivers, will be the honored guest at the installation ceremonies.

Dry Year:

Facing what may be one of their driest years, the residents of Hayward are 20 per cent closer to water rationing than at this same time last year. The water level at Hayward's main well is almost 22 feet lower than it was last year. Winter recovery of the underground water was not reached until November this year instead of the usual October. Rainfall this past six months is 25 per cent below normal. Making matters worse is the Holly Sugar Mill in Alvarado will begin processing this year in May rather than in the fall as they have done in past years. The sugar refinery is one of the largest users of water in the county and they pump it from their wells in Alvarado, drawing on the same supply Hayward uses. And farmers, faced by the lack of rainfall, will attempt to pump more for irrigation.

Sugar:

This summer the Alvarado Sugar Mill has been processing beets early from the Imperial Valley, the wastewater created by the plant is not usually a problem, but when they process early it runs into mosquito season. The water ends up in the marshes and it breeds tremendous amounts of mosquitoes. This water could be treated or flushed into the bay but the salt companies object to the impurities in the water and the fact that the water will dilute the salt in the evaporation ponds. This is a tremendous problem with a not so easy answer.

The Daily Review, July 16, 1947

Mosquito Abatement:

A check of subterranean vaults used by utility companies that was sprayed with DDT in June 1946 shows no mosquito breeding to any of the vaults, and it is possible that spraying every other year will be sufficient, says the report. Similarly, street inlets, (catch basins) have been sprayed, and the experience in 1946 indicates they will not need to be sprayed this year.

"This is certainly an improvement over the situation before DDT was available, when we had to respray at least once a month during the summer," the report observes.

Sugar:

Charles W. Williams recently appointed Western sales manager for the Holly Sugar Corp. with a branch at Alvarado, has announced that plans are underway for an extensive sales and advertising program along with expanding production, which includes the opening of the most modern beet sugar factory in the world in the Imperial Valley this coming spring, a company release said today.

"To point out the value of beet sugar production in the economy of the West, it is interesting to note that the Holly Sugar Corp. feeds annually 10,000 head of steers, and 66,000 head of lambs. Feeding operations are carried out at all of Holly's plants with the idea of seeing that all by-products are utilized to the fullest extent," it reported.

"Holly's California mills are located, besides Alvarado, at Hamilton City, Tracy, Santa Ana, and Carlton, California. The latter is under construction and will be open in the spring of 1948."

"The Holly Sugar Corp. states that its Alvarado factory is the first successfully operated sugar beet Company in the United States, having started its operation in 1870. This plant was reconstructed completely in 1935 and is today one of the most modern sugar mills in the world," according to the company.

The Alvarado plant was recently criticized in connection with productions methods, which make mosquito control difficult for the mosquito abatement in this area.

Earl Browning, plant superintendent, expressed the possibility that the Holly Sugar Corp. processing plant in Alvarado would open August 15th. The plant shut down July 26th after processing 125,000 tons of beets brought here from the San Joaquin valley area and since that date maintenance crews have been at work preparing the machinery for the late summer run. The majority of the beets for the second run will be from the fields of Washington Township, he added. The plant employs between 275 and 300 employees in the peak season.

Fatal Car Crash:

An Alvarado war veteran was instantly killed and his passenger critically injured in a car crash south of Alvarado. The dead man was Edward M. Martinez, Jr., 25, Adjutant of Paul Rivers Post, Alvarado Veterans of Foreign Wars. His home is Alvarado where he operated a service station. His critically injured passenger is Cruz Renteria, also of Alvarado, who is in the Oakland Veterans Hospital. According to the CHP, the car driven by Martinez, reportedly at a high speed, failed to negotiate a turn a mile south of Alvarado on the Marsh Road. It swerved off the highway and into a telephone pole.

Alvarado Fire:

A $12,000 fire in Alvarado yesterday destroyed the Filipino Club at 1087 Levee Street and damaged an adjoining house at 1154 V Street. The blaze was first detected at 4:00 a. m. yesterday morning when Mrs. Isabelle Menezes, who lives near the Filipino Club, was awakened by the noise of crackling flames. Upon investigation she found the entire rear of the club's dance hall in flames. She called an operator who set off the fire siren.

Ray C. Ward, whose home is at 1154 V Street, awoke to find the entire back of his home on fire. Damage to the Filipino Club is estimated at $10,000 and the damage to Mr. Ward's home was fixed at $2,000. Felix Diangson of Alvarado is owner of the Filipino Club.

History Snippet:

(From "The Knave" Section of The Oakland Tribune)

"Actual organized trans-bay transportation (Eastbay - Westbay) did not develop until 1851, but prior to that time, in the period of greatest economic richness of the missions (1821-1840) an extensive though irregular freight trade was carried on between Mission San Jose and the merchant vessels from New England, which anchored near the little settlement of Yerba Buena (then the name given to San Francisco). The Boston trade consisted of an exchange of goods manufactured on the east coast of the United States for the hides and tallow of the missions. Mission San Jose was so located that the long boats of the Boston ships could, by going far down the bay to the estuary near the town of Alvarado, load on the trade commodities of the mission, and return to the waiting vessels in the harbor."

NOTE: When John Horner first bought land in Union City \(1850\) he built a landing on the Alameda Creek next to one that already existed. This had to be the landing used by Mission San Jose to send their goods to Yerba Buena.

Burglar Peppered with Pellets:

Sheriff's deputies looking for a robbery suspect had convincing evidence picked out of a 16-year old boy's rear, Saturday night.

The boy was placed in the custody of juvenile authorities Saturday night after he had attempted to take two boxes of canned peaches from the garage of Alexander Borges of Alvarado. Borges had contacted the sheriff's office earlier in the evening, saying he had shot twice with a shotgun at a man he saw running from his garage.

Sheriff's deputies found the boy when he visited a Niles physician to have the shotgun pellets removed. When questioned, the boy told deputies he had been drinking beer and had wandered into the garage "to see what was there." He said had intended to eat the peaches.

Hit & Run:

Maynard Marlowe, 26, of Oakland entered a "guilty" plea yesterday in the Hayward Justice Court on hit and run charges and was referred to the Superior Court for sentencing.

Marlowe is charged with failing to stop after hitting Tony Pinto, 64, of Alvarado Saturday night. Pinto was walking across Castro Street at "B" Street when an automobile swung around the corner from "B" Street and struck him.

Hayward police traced the automobile through its license number, taken by an attendant when the car sped through a service station at the corner of "A" and Castro Streets. Glass found on the running board of the automobile, owned by Marlowe, was found to be from the eyeglasses of Mr. Pinto.

Serious Bicycle Accident:

A boy was seriously injured yesterday in a bicycle-automobile accident on the Alvarado-Centerville Highway about 1 mile south of Alvarado. Frank Gomez, 15, who lives on a ranch near Alvarado, was taken to Fairmont Hospital for surgery after the bicycle he was riding was struck by a car driven by Donald Wescott of El Cerrito.

Wescott told highway patrolmen that the boy turned suddenly into his path as he started to pass him on the Centerville-Alvarado Highway. He said he had seen the boy several hundred feet ahead of him riding on the shoulder of the highway. Just before passing he saw the boy jostling a half-gallon can to maintain his hold on it as he rode along. Then the boy's left foot slipped off of the pedal and the bicycle swerved onto the highway.

Army Private Breaks Nose:

A 17 year-old Army private who was traveling today with the luggage bearing the label "Prince Kismet, the Magician," will need some neat tricks to make up for the ones he forgot this morning. Driving an Army Jeep, which Highway Patrolman Dale Taliaferro and George Berlotti reported he admitted stealing from Fort Ord last night, failed to make a turn at the main intersection in Alvarado (Levee Street & Centerville Road) early this morning and crashed into a building in Alvarado. He told the patrolmen that it was his first experience at driving.

The 17 year-old youth said he had just begun a 15-day furlough. He reportedly told patrolmen that he had borrowed the Jeep to go Hamilton Field where had hoped to catch an Army flight east to his home in Summerville, Massachusetts.

After being treated at Fairmont Hospital he was jailed awaiting Army MP's to pick him up.

The Board of Trustees of the Alvarado Elementary School had visions of having three classrooms and a cafeteria room built, and prepared things, and then asked for bids open on same. At their meeting on Monday, January 5th, they were forced to reject bids as they were absolutely too high. It shows how materials, wages and other costs have affected building of other schools such as Newark Elementary school new building plans. Newark may seek aid from the State, and add to its available possibilities. Manuel P. Goularte of the Alvarado School Board and George Hocking and Wilbert Hendricks have done much good work in planning for increased room for the growing school.

Tremendous excitement was caused by an auto driven right through an Alvarado home and just missing twin babies by a narrow margin. The home is between Joe Priego's corner store building and Jesse Jacinto's home and almost across from the Machado Garage. One evening a week or more ago the driver failed to make the turn coming from the direction of Centerville. He hit the house (formerly a café) and knocked the partition in such a way while going through that it threw the crib of the twin babies to one side, thereby saving their lives. The damage done is about $1,500, or thereabouts, will paid for by the owner of the car, as it is said by Mr. Priego that he admitted his responsibility.

Genevieve Dutra:

When the Alameda County Postmasters Association met last month they honored a lady of Washington Township, Mrs. Genevieve Dutra, who is not only efficient and gracious, but with her niece, Alice Menezes, represents the most fashionably dressed women in any post office in Southern Alameda County, so many people tell us. And there are many fine women busy in the southern section. But ask anybody if Genevieve Dutra and Alice Menezes don't look like they same out of the styling department of Vogue, the women's style magazine. And ask many of our fine businessmen too.

You see, Mrs. Genevieve Dutra is postmistress of the Alvarado Post Office, and her assistant is Miss Alice Menezes, who is the daughter of John Menezes. John is a prominent barber and secretary of the Alvarado Aerie of Eagles.

Postmistress Dutra has a well-known husband in business with Ray Bettencourt in Centerville; Joe Dutra is a member of the Alvarado Fire Department.

Crops at Risk:

Cauliflower men in Washington Township, where the bulk of Alameda County’s 3,000 acres of cauliflower are located, were irrigating their crops this week. Not only is it “peculiar” to be irrigating in mid-January, which is normally the rainiest time of the year, but it indicates the seriousness of the situation in which other truck crops, 11,000 acres of tomatoes in Alameda County, to say nothing of the huge apricot orchards, are threatened.

Many irrigation pumps are pumping salt water into the irrigation ditches, as the water table level sinks lower and lower. The Alameda County Farm Bureau says one farmer lost his entire apricot orchard last year from salt-water irrigation, painting a dark picture for farmers for the 1948 apricot crop.

Township In Water Crisis:

The problem of water for Washington Township and adjacent areas is becoming more acute as each day passes without rain, and a northerly wind adds to the dryness of the soil. When the white man first discovered this region, there was an abundance of water. Regions that are now becoming sterile because of the infiltration of salt water once produced two crops a year by means of sub-irrigation.

The loss of water began in 1870 when the Spring Valley Water Co. of San Francisco managed to get sufficient riparian rights to give them the benefit of the Alameda Creek watershed. Local citizens, alarmed at the prospect formed the Washington and Murray Township Water Company, but while they obtained some concessions and spent $11,000 in building dams and ditches, they lost out. San Francisco got the water.

Nor was this all, the Contra Costa Water Company came in (actually it was the Oakland Water Company who later sold out to Contra Costa Water) and bought up the artesian well district around Alvarado and began pumping millions of gallons of water to Oakland.

Now the ditches for irrigation are filled up, Alameda Creek is almost dry, and the salt water is seeping into the former artesian wells, as well as others along the area fronting the bay, even reaching now into Centerville and Irvington.

In 1930 the Spring Valley Water Company was taken over by the City of San Francisco and the Hetch-Hetchy program begun. When this was completed the district was entitled to the overflow, but that is not sufficient. Oakland sold the Alvarado pumping plant back to this district, then organized as the Alameda County Water District for the sum of $250,000. Bonds were issued to pay for them and this issue is almost paid off. Considering the amount of water taken from the district that price was rather high.

Oakland now has the Mokelumne project completed and an abundant supply of water, while we are faced with a dangerously low water supply, partly because of the water drained from the artesian well district by that city.

It would seem from the facts in the case that both San Francisco and Oakland owe this region help now. One good turn deserves another they say. We helped both cities in their need, why not they help us now in our need? There is another reason for this help, that is, this region is a very valuable hinterland for both cities. Would they want to see it become arid waste?

The people in this region are largely in favor of the Reber Plan, which promises to restore the underground water levels and keep this region from becoming a desert wasteland. Whether or not this is the needed solution remains to be seen, but it is our contention that both San Francisco and Oakland have a duty to perform in helping to solve this very vital question, which is of concern to the whole area. No more expansion can be made unless there is an abundant water supply not only for the industrial plants that are looking in this direction for future construction, but also for the increasing population, as well as the needed food, which is supplied from the farming district of the southern part of Alameda County

Sugar:

An increase of 350,000 tons of sugar beets will be sliced in Holly Sugar Corporation's statewide operations in California this year, according to E. Browning, superintendent at the Alvarado sugar factory. This increase includes 200,000 tons of new production at the newly constructed Holly factory at Carlton in the Imperial Valley.

Last year's 647,000 tons of sugar beets consisted of about 427,000 tons from Northern California and 220,000 tons from the Imperial Valley, Browning said. That made about 2,000,000 100-pound bags for 1947. The estimated crop for 1948 is 3,000,000 bags of sugar, approximately a 50% gain in Holly's total production as compared to 1947.

Alvarado Filipino Community:

Letter to the Editor From Filipino Community:

Alvarado, March 4, 1948

Publisher, Alvarado Pioneer:

You have in the past been very kind and generous to the Filipino Community, and the Filipino people as a whole, for the co-operation you have given the Filipino people of this area as far as publicity is concerned.

Once more the Filipino Community here would deem it a great favor if you would try to find space in your popular paper to insert the enclosed article in reference to the coming Fourth of July celebration at Alvarado.

Very truly yours,
Mrs. Felix Diangson

FILIPINO QUEEN CONTEST STARTS MARCH 13th:

Once again preliminary plans to celebrate the second anniversary of the Birth of the Filipino nation were formulated at a recent meeting of the Filipino Community of the Northeastern Alameda County and Contra Costa Counties, which was held at Alvarado on February 8th last.

In conjunction with the 4th of July celebration, the community will sponsor a "QUEEN CONTEST" for the purpose of raising funds to build a Community Center Building, which will take place on the 13th of March, 1948, at the Alvarado School Auditorium when the candidates representing Hayward, Mt. Eden, San Lorenzo, Alvarado, Decoto, Centerville, Irvington and Pleasanton will be presented before a banquet and ball at Alvarado California on the evening of March 13th.

It is the most sincere appeal of the Filipino Community of this area that all who are in sympathy with the Filipino Community cause should support this worthy undertaking. Your donation will be greatly appreciated and your name will appear in the BUILDING FUND HONOR ROLL. It is not for the seat of the "QUEEN" that these beautiful Filipino girls are willing to participate, but rather for the cause for which the DRIVE is intended. Parents and sympathetic friends, let us give support to this worthy drive, so that it will be made more possible for the Filipino Community of this area to establish a better CENTER for our young Filipino Children.

Famous resistance leader Senator Tomas Confessor, who told the Japs during the war that, "as long as I can stand on my two feet, I shall never surrender," and equally famous Mrs. Estella Roulades Sunlit, lawyer, lecturer, radio commentator, educator and technical adviser of the Philippine Consul General in San Francisco, and other high ranking Filipinos from the Bay area will be present at the presentation of the beautiful candidates. Mrs. Lucy Armenio, chairman of the Hospitality Committee, will be in charge of the reception. Also, the Honorable Tiburcio Baja, Philippine Consul in San Francisco will be present.

Chamber of Commerce:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce met recently and set about dealing with speeders through the town and regulating the traffic in general. A map designating seven proposed traffic signals for the central business section of Alvarado is being sent the State Highway Department by the Chamber of Commerce this week.

The organization has been waging a campaign against the speeding trucks and cars along the S-shaped main street for several years. The suggested signs to halt or stop traffic at various points are plotted on a map prepared by the new chamber president, William Martinez.

It was voted to decorate the business section for the Fourth of July and co-operate with the Filipino Community, which will celebrate the second independence day of the Philippines here on that day.

Alex Biete, president of the Filipino Organization, outlined plans briefly to investigate the feasibility of purchasing permanent decorations for the town. Frank George, Domaso Dias and Charles Baird were appointed to a committee to look into this.

Lee Naharro, owner of the Alvarado Theater, announced he was opening a new street back of the theater, a block west of Marsh Road and connecting V and W Streets. The county road department will be asked to take the new street over when paving has been complete.

Secretary L.H. Maffey was authorized to send a letter to the Sheriff's office asking that certain taverns, said to constitute a public nuisance, be investigated with possible abatement proceedings in view.

Alvarado School Jr. Traffic Patrol:

Alvarado Elementary School covered itself with glory, thank to their Junior Traffic Patrol that won first prize this Saturday, April 17th at Hayward in competition with Southern Alameda County School's marching units.

Much credit goes to Mr. Click who trained the group of boys and girls, and also to Principal Les Maffey, who cooperated nicely. But most of all credit belongs to the pupils who marched, and beat out the larger school of Centerville, who took second, and Livermore who took third.

The Alvarado unit had strong competition, because after the first parade, the three schools of Alvarado, Centerville and Livermore were in a tie. A second parade of the units judged Alvarado first at the review in Hayward.

The boys wore blue jeans, blue shirts, white belts and their regular traffic patrol caps. Those girls and boys who took part in the were:

Captain:	George Apodaca
1 st Lt:	Antwine Rigmaiden
2 nd Lt:	Julio Moreno
Sergeants:	Tommy Gualco	Yoshio Kamiji	Robert Preciado
	Rodney Hendricks	Massaharra Hisaoka
Officers:	Johnny Gualco	Frank Velarde	Salvador Barrera
	Conrad Preciado	Andrew Pimentel	Leonard Barrera

	John Corrales	Manuel Garcia	Frank Corrales
	Tony Mata
Reserve:	Julio Labrado
Girls:	Elizabeth Flores	Carol Hocking	Fumijo Hisaoka
	Alice Moreno	Esther Renteria	Emilda Dominguez
	Anita Apodaca

This shows that the teaching staff at this school is second to none in Southern Alameda County and among the tops in leadership also and are capable of attempting big things. The Trustees can be proud of selecting such fine leaders.

The Flag bearers were:

American Flag: Antoine Rigmaiden

Troop Flag: Julio Moreno

Bear Flaf: Salvador Barrera

Frank George Enlarges Alvarado Office:

The General Petroleum distributor for Southern Alameda County is Frank P. George of Alvarado. Due to the growth of business the office of Mrs. George's headquarters has been enlarged making room for two large desks and present a distinctly business-like appearance. The front right of the large store is now devoted entirely to the office and the other part is being used for General Petroleum products such as batteries, tires, accessories, etc.

Mr. George has added Lester Gomes of Irvington to his staff and when not at his desk in the office he is on the outside acting as salesman and as contact man in this big general Petroleum distribution business.

Mae Fontes, office manager, is in charge and occupies the other desk. In the delivery service to all farm accounts is Manuel Azevedo of Mission San Jose. Sam Mobely handles deliveries to all General Petroleum dealers at Service Stations.

Three large tankers are consistently used delivering Mobil gas in the district covered by Mr. George, comprising all that territory from the San Leandro limits to the Southern Alameda County line at Warm Springs.

Addie Kelly Back in Town:

Mrs. Addie Kelley, and mother Mrs. Jesse Kelly, her sister Emma Kelly, brother and sister-in-law Mr. & Mrs. Art Kelly and her daughter Ellamae, have just returned from a trip to Arizona and south of the border. They visited a brother, Bert Kelly of Bisbee, whom Mama Kelly has not seen for twenty years. It was a happy meeting for the family.

They spent a few days with their brother enjoying his company. They all went for a ride to see the Huachuca Mountains where their father was prospector, and to see the beautiful mountain region where they used to roam and walk five miles to school. They also found the big oak tree on Miller Canyon where they lived and found a big sign on the tree, which was named for them, Kelly Oak. They also visited Cananea, south of the border, and an old mining town where their dad was superintendent for many years. They went to Nogales where they bought many beautiful souvenirs.

They motored to Mexicali and to Bataques where they visited their uncle and many cousins whom they had never met before. They were greeted with a lovely dance given in their honor at the schoolhouse, serenaded by beautiful string music for the enjoyment of the vast throng gathered to honor them.

A most delicious barbecue, and good old Mexican liquid refreshment. They had a wonderful time and enjoyed the trip in their 1948 Buick, which Mr. Kelly received a month ago after waiting two years.

Chamber of Commerce:

At the last meeting of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce on Thursday, May 21st, arrangements were made to buy permanent decoration for Alvarado streets. The first use of these will be made on July 4th when the celebration of the Filipino Community will bring people from two counties to Alvarado for a parade and a big Philippine Independence observance.

The fine thing about these colorful streamers is that they will extend from one side of the street to the other and will become the permanent property of the Chamber.

The businessmen are right behind it, and chairman of the committee Frank P. George has assigned a representative to each business block to get donations from merchants. Joe, Perez, in charge of one block, speaks in glowing terms of the cooperation the merchants gave him, giving him a total of around $115. The total bill is to be around $375 for the streamers, which are very colorful and a big credit to any community.

As the autos come at a high rate of speed from the direction of Oakland as they approach the curve, which is often hard to see clearly when traffic is heavy, it is thought that the 25-mile-an-hour sign of the State should be moved a couple of hundred feet farther west. The approaching cars could have warning sooner this way. The State Highway Department has been contacted on this suggestion.

New Store in Alvarado:

That beautiful green modernistic building, which was just finished by Naharro in Alvarado will be the center of much excitement today and tomorrow, Saturday, June 5th, as Mr. & Mrs. Peterman will have their gala opening of Peterman's 5 & 10 Store. The new store will hum with busy people as the Peterman's open their stock of over 10,000 lines of goods and put them before the public.

A load of gardenias was bought from Florence Porter of Centerville, and a gift of a gardenia will be given to each woman present at the opening. For the children balloons will be given.

The slanting glass appearance of this new building on Levee St., across from the Central Bank in Alvarado is just a small item in the very modernistic furniture of the building. Fluorescent lighting will brighten up the inside, which is furnished with blond and rose colored wood pictures. A pale green colored interior beautifies the inside walls.

Peterman's 5 & 10 Store will specialize in notions, infants and children's wear, cosmetics, complete hardware and household section, magazines, drugs, candy and ice cream, and very complete toy department.

Robert Perez:

Chief Radio Communications Officer on the giant passenger ship "The Lurline," which plies between San Francisco and the Hawaiian Islands is an Alvarado young man. He is Robert M Perez, son of Mrs. Addie Kelly, well-known Alvarado business lady and owner of Kelly's Place, 1051 Watkins Street.

The Lurline used to be an Army Transport making about the same 'run' to the islands. Two or three weeks ago on a trip of the Lurline with passengers from Honolulu, Robert Perez met Admiral Nimitz of Navy fame. When he docked in San Francisco a huge celebration was held for Nimitz.

Robert has brought renown on not only his hometown of Alvarado, where he went to Grammar School, but to Washington Union High School and later Hayward Union High School. His war record is something to be proud of. He was an aviator in the dangerous mission undertaken by the Flying Tigers flying transport planes to feed China over the mountain ranges.

Again, in qualifying for the job of Chief Communication Officer of the Lurline, he was the only one who qualified for the job. He has $500,000 equipment under his control.

Alvarado Man Slain:

Emma Kelly, 48, of 1015 Watkins Street, Alvarado, was being held for questioning today by sheriffs officers in the death of Efren Placencia, 25, a laborer, who died from a stab wound Sunday. The woman, Placencia's common-law wife, told officers she discovered Placencia with the knife in his chest in their trailer home behind Kelly's Pool Hall in Alvarado. She was sitting in the pool hall shortly before 8:30 p.m. when she heard Placencia call her from the trailer, "Emma come here," she stated. Going in the trailer, she found Placencia standing near the bed holding the knife to his chest. She called the sheriffs.

Patron's of Kelly's told officers that Placencia had entered the pool hall shortly before 8:00 p.m. saying he had been involved in a fight at an Alvarado tavern shortly before. After staying in the poolroom for a few minutes he left in the direction of his trailer. Charles Marquand, Proprietor of Nellie's Place at 1235 Centerville Hiway, Alvarado, told deputies Placencia had entered his establishment shortly before 8:00 p.m. in an "aggressive mood," and had started a fight with another patron before leaving.

Filipino Independence Day:

Hayward City Councilman Carlos Bee would like to know what he said over an Oakland radio station and to an audience of 1,000 Filipino's at Alvarado last Sunday.

A frantic call from Alvarado told him that the Filipino community there had a giant celebration under way, and that the Mayor of Hayward had not appeared to crown the beauty queen or to give a talk. Bee was begged to fill in the gap.

"As soon as I got there, I was told I was to give a ten-minute speech, and would go on the air in exactly one minute."

Bee was cautioned by the radio station representative not to say anything political. Bee said he still wonders what he said. "I didn't even know for sure what the Filipino's were celebrating," he confessed afterwards. Actually, they were celebrating their own Independence Day. America's grant of freedom to the Philippines became effective July 4, 1946.

It was later learned that the Mayor of Hayward had taken an unannounced fishing trip.

Truck Spills Load:

Three persons escaped with minor injuries yesterday afternoon when a truck loaded with drums of oil overturned, striking a parked car at the intersection of Horner Street and Marsh Road in Alvarado. Two of the injured were involved when the drums rolled out of the truck and into a garage, striking two of the men in the garage's office.

The injured were Elmer Charles Sylvester, 23, of Santa Maria, driver of the truck, and Manuel V. Machado, and Charles Baird, 64, both of Alvarado. Sylvester told police he was driving south through Alvarado and approaching a curve when a car suddenly drove in front of him, forcing him to swerve his truck. As the truck turned, the load of oil drums shifted, causing the truck to overturn and strike a parked car. The oil drums then became loose and crashed through the office of Machado and Baird.

Fire In Alvarado School:

The Alvarado Grammar School was set afire sheriffs officers reported yesterday. Sheriff's Detective John Sheehan reported that the damage caused by the school fire to be estimated at $15,000, appeared to be a case of arson, apparently the work of boys. Firemen were forced to don gas masks to fight it. Sheehan and firemen found remnants of sparklers in the second grade classroom, where the fire was discovered by a Hayward painter who happened to be there doing a paint job estimate. The intense blaze blistered walls, burned through the floor and caused extensive heat damage. Firemen said it may have smoldered for hours as the windows had been tightly closed.

Flood Control:

A countywide flood control and water conservation district for Alameda County was authorized today, and the State Legislature was asked to give its stamp of approval. The Board of Supervisors late yesterday approved an act creating the district and memorialized the legislature to give its sanction.

The Supervisors ordered the act last summer when the county's water table around Newark, Centerville, Alvarado, Pleasanton and Livermore dropped to an alarming low. The act calls for:

1. The sale of bonds, levying of and collection of taxes and assessments on land within the district.
2. Management and control of the area, with officers and the supervisors acting in that capacity.
3. The right of eminent domain in the district.
4. Measurement and study of the water supply and rights within the territory.
5. Planning and operation of a system of parks, playgrounds, benches, on land required for the district's uses.

Alvarado Guard Flag:

A method of preserving a pre-civil war flag is being sought by the members of the Sycamore Lodge of Odd Fellows, No. 129, of Hayward. The old 32 star flag, was made and presented by the ladies of Alvarado to the old Alvarado Guard, who were stationed at Alvarado before and during the Civil War. At the combining of the Alvarado Guard with the new National Guard, the silk flag was presented to the Crusade Lodge of the Odd Fellows, No. 93, of Alvarado, which has since merged with Sycamore Lodge No. 129.

Though carried through the Civil War the flag is in fairly good condition, said George Reinking, chairman of the flag display, and the lodge would like to put it in a case for public display.

Alvarado Hundred Battle Flag:

(A letter to the editor of the Oakland Tribune)

(Note: Sycamore Lodge of Odd Fellows, No. 129, has an American Flag made by the ladies of Alvarado, and presented to the Alvarado Hundred, who went off to battle in the Civil War with Massachusetts Cavalry. This flag has 34 stars and is made of silk.)

It is reported that the Alvarado Guard carried this flag through the Civil War. It was presented to Crusade Lodge of Odd Fellows, No. 93 of Alvarado when the Alvarado Guard was absorbed in the new National Guard. Crusade Lodge No. 93 IOOF has since consolidated with Sycamore Lodge, No. 129, bringing the flag with them.

The flag is in pretty fair condition and Sycamore Lodge would like to find a preservative or some firm that is in the business of preserving valuable banners and flags of the type named above, so that we may put it in a case for public display. Sycamore Lodge would be grateful to anyone who would furnish us with the information and any additional information they may have in regard to the Flag.

Write all communications to Sycamore Lodge No. 129, IOOF, 952 B Street, Hayward, California. Phone LU 1-1343.

Student Court:

Disciplinary problems at the Alvarado Grammar School have decreased to a considerable degree since the inauguration of the Student Court, says Leslie Maffey, school principal. "Sliding or loud talk in the hallways, use of native tongue instead of the English language on school grounds, chewing gum" or similar offenses are responsible for the appearance of a dozen or so pupils before Judge Raul Villareal's weekly Student Court. Students found guilty are meted "lines" as punishments; such as giving to write out "I will not talk loudly in the hall" two hundred times.

6th & 7th Grade:

The 6th & 7th Grades had a "Valentine Party," it sure was nice. The class Mother donated cookies, punch and one of the Mother's donated a cake, which was very good. The cookies were designed very pretty in all shapes and colors, with heart shapes, etc. The class, I am sure, will say we had a wonderful time.

Student Body news:

Roses are red, (pardon me), I was just thinking about the Valentine Party. After the room party the 4th and up had a dance, woo, what a pretty decorated heart, which consisted of one big heart painted red with fillers and a boy and a girl on it. The students can think up awfully pretty things to go with a party.

Treasurer:	A. Regalado
Ass't Treasurer:	G. Sape
Auditor:	S. Masinda
Sgt-At-Arm:	Dora Regalado	P. Agraviador
Advisor:	Alex Biete

The Filipino Community aims to promote better understanding among the members of the Community, and the patriotic advancement of both our country and the other great Republic of the Philippines. The consul-General has always commended the local Filipino Community on their fine work of promoting the welfare of the Filipino-Americans in our area, and Mr. Sacramento is carrying on this same understanding and patriotic aims. This Consul-General, who represents the Philippine Republic at San Francisco, recognizes the outstanding leadership in all the aims in the past by members of this organization.

Mr. Sacramento invites the elder Filipino-Americans to join in this organization and to encourage the younger generation to participate in the noble ideals of what the Filipino-Community stands for.

The Community is holding a Fourth of July Celebration at Alvarado, and writes to the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce to co-operate like they did last year. No definite plans have been made as to the type of celebration, but they soon will be announced after a special meeting.

The Alvarado Pigeon Club raced their pigeons from Klamath Falls, Oregon, on Sunday May 22nd. Frank George's pigeon came in first.

CORRECTION: Last week it was reported that the VFW Drill team marched in the Holy Ghost Parade. The VFW has no drill team and the one that marched is made up of Alvarado girls who formed a team and have no connection with the VFW or any other organization. I'm sorry for the error.

Carol Burns, daughter of Mrs. Ted Harvey, received a painful and serious injury at school on Thursday, May 19th, when struck in the mouth by a baseball bat thrown by another pupil of the Alvarado Elementary School. Carol's upper lip was cut quite badly and two teeth were broken off. The full extent of the damage cannot be determined at this time.

Several people from Alvarado attended the wedding in Centerville at one o'clock on Sunday of Mary Homan and John Ponciano. The Gardetto Bros. Orchestra played for the reception. Attending from Alvarado were: Mr. & Mrs. Mike Gardetto and sons Walter and Arnold; Mr. & Mrs. Frank Silveira, Mr. & Mrs. Frank Hernandez and son, Mr. & Mrs. John Aguilar, and Mr. & Mrs. H. Delgado.

The Alvarado Folk Dancing class and those from the new class formed at Mission San Jose and the Irvington class did several numbers at the I Am An American Day program at the High School gym on Thursday evening.

Alvarado Girls Club:

The Girls Club had to have money for their blocks. So they figured out a way to earn money. They sell punch and cookies after lunch in school. The way is one big cookie and a cup of punch for five cents, or 3 small cookies or two large cookies, or 2 small cookie and one cup of punch. One cup of punch goes go 3¢. They plan to continue with their bake sale.

5th & 6th Grades

The 5th & 6th Grades had a sale and Margaret Pfau has a rug for her efforts of 71¢.

We are going to have a party June 15th. Mrs. Lucas is going to help us with our party and that's nice of her because she doesn't have to pay any money if she doesn't want to.

When we went to the Museum she said that we were so good that she was going to show us some of her pets. She showed us a snake. One boy asked her if she would give him the snakeskin and she said she would. She showed us a mouse and a skunk.

Some children in the 5th & 6th Grades made some maps of California. They are physical maps of California by Irene Silva, and California Missions by Ellen Louie, and a California map by Pearl Labrado and Rita Cicairos.

Mrs. Lucas' room had a good attendance last month and a few were ill. Mrs. Lucas made some tickets for the children who talk in the room (too much?). And they will get tickets if they talk.

Filipino Community News:

Several times now the Filipino Community of Alvarado, and its vicinities have been celebrating the Independence Day of the newly formed Philippine Republic by giving the most entertaining and unusual program to the public running to several thousands of dollars. One year ago there was a big barbecue, queen contest and radio broadcast.

This year there will be a magnificent exhibition of art works, a delicious picnic, and dancing the whole day. The organization is new but very active with good and broad ideals and they ask quite a bit of time and money on those activities from its members. It is the trend of new enterprise even true especially in the commercial world. But now days of big spending of money are over! We are a grown up organization now; we are already an established enterprise. So, through mistakes we have learned to avoid, and misunderstanding we intend to patch up, and through unselfish devotion and undying cooperation this Filipino Community will be the best-conducted, well-liked and strongest Filipino Organization in the Nation.

This year our most outstanding and unsurpassed program includes well-known and well-liked participants. Others are even professionals in their line. Led by Mike Cuevas, well-known Filipino orchestra leader from Oakland, and his merry makers, the program starts at 7 p.m. and is as follows:

- 1) Opening Remarks: Mr. Alex Biete, Master of Ceremonies and past President of the Filipino Community.
- 2) Selection by Orchestra: Mike Cuevas and his Orchestra.
- 3) Dance, "A La Jota Cataiana" Mr. & Mrs. Placido D. Lazaro
- 4) Song: Miss Muriel Abrescy, accompanied by the orchestra
- 5) Hula Dance: Connie Cipriano
- 6) Guest Speaker: Honorable Vice Consul of the Philippines; Honorable Juan Dionisio
- 7) Dance, "Carinoza: (Young Folks): Donna Sacramento and Johnny Agraviador
- 8) Guest Speaker: By George Oakes Jr., Ass't Editor Washington News and Deputy in the District Attorney's office.
- 9) Dance, "Carinoza: (Older Folks): Mr. & Mrs. Placido Lazaro
- 10) Closing Remarks: Frank Sacramento, President of the Filipino Community of Alvarado

Picnic starts at 12 noon.

Dancing in the afternoon and evening until 1 a.m.

Games for children in the afternoon.

Southern Alameda County:

This year marks some big changes coming in the future for Southern Alameda County. The first is the flood control and water conservation law. It will enable us to make full use of the land that previously has had either too much water or too little. It gives us the opportunity to control our Southern Alameda County land areas.

The other is the new freeway. True, to date it is only completed but a short distance in Oakland. But plans call for it being brought out to West 150th Avenue in the near future. From there it will move on to Alvarado, and eventually San Jose.

The freeway is important to us now because work on it finally has been started. Many years of working and planning preceded the start of construction. Now that work on the freeway has begun, the roadway seems just around the corner.

Alvarado Raided:

Twenty deputy sheriffs raided two establishments in Alvarado simultaneously at 8:30 p.m. The deputies raided the New Manila Pool hall, 1055 Levee Street and the Luneta Café, on Smith Street several blocks away. In the two establishments were more than 100 persons gambling, but only the dealers, cashiers and operators were arrested. A total of fifteen people were taken to jail. Among those taken in were Felix Diangson, 43, of 1437 Smith Street, Alvarado, identified as the operator of the Luneta Café and Frank Machalis of 1045 Levee Street.

The deputies seized all gambling equipment and all of the money on the tables, which could amount to $2,000.

The Oakland Tribune, August 20, 1949

Man Beaten and Robbed:

A Woodland man was kidnapped, beaten and robbed early today by three men who accosted him near an Alvarado tavern. Benny T. Fong, 40, told sheriff deputies he lost money and other valuables worth $1,680.

Fong left the bar at closing time. When the robbers approached one of them pushed a gun into his side and ordered him to get into his own car. The gunman and two accomplices jumped in the car with him. A fourth followed in another automobile. Fong was forced to drive to the foot of Benson Road, a mile southwest of Alvarado. There Fong was beaten on the head and robbed of $100, a $1,500 diamond ring, his wristwatch, a pen and pencil set, and his cigarette lighter.

Fong was taken to Fairmont Hospital for a checkup and then released. Fong has been at liberty on $500 bail on a gambling charge since his arrest in a raid conducted by sheriff's deputies Friday night in Alvarado.

Alvarado Hundred:

(From an Oakland Tribune Feature Article)

"Alameda County was the first and only California County that sent any considerable quantity of troops to the Civil War, and they are said to be the only body from the Golden State that kept their individuality and fought as an individual body in that war. They were known as the 'Alvarado Hundred,' they were made up of men from all over the county." So writes Leslie J. Freeman.

"Today there rests over in Alvarado, the first county seat of Alameda County, the torn battle flag that this brave company of pioneers carried through 54 major battles, in response to President Lincoln's first call. The honored flag today reposes in the IOOF Hall, which served the Alvarado Hundred as an armory. This flag was made by the Alameda County women and was presented to the company before they marched away to battle; few indeed of them were to return. Charles S. Eigenbrodt was their Captain."

New Homes:

Homebuilders and real estate professionals are looking to the future of home building around Hayward and its environs. With the coming of the East Shore Freeway there will be an appetite for affordable housing in the south county region. The fear is that the cost of land is quite expensive in the south county for homebuilding.

Presently there is a plan to build 6,000 homes to the east and west of Hesperian Boulevard south of Jackson Street and north of Tennyson Road. Builders have learned that $8,000 to $9,000 homes will sell, but the margin for profit is slim. The high price of raw land in Washington Township will force growth somewhere else. They say that future growth will then go to Contra Costa County where land prices are more reasonable.

Machado's Corners:

A scrapbook of yellowed newspaper clippings in which he had made headlines a quarter of a century ago is the most prized among the memoirs of George P. "Het" Machado, 78, former blacksmith and harness jockey.

Interviewed recently on the occasion of his 51st wedding anniversary, both Machado and his wife, Annie, are obviously still s interested in the horses as they were when he was making a name for himself and his magic shoes, at Pacific Coast race tracks.

Macahdo's Corners, a wide place in the road between Alvarado and Centerville at the intersection of Jarvis Road and the Alvarado-Centerville Highway, was named for Machado's blacksmith shop, which he operated here for many years.

Murderer of Alvarado Man Confesses:

"I pulled a gun on him and told him I wanted the money. He reached for something under the bar so I shot him." Thus did Robert MacCauley Osborne, 51, ex-contractor from Richmond, confess to Deputy Sheriffs Alfred Ayres and Pete Starasinic late yesterday the murder of Morris Davilla, 35, bartender in the Bear Cat Café at Centerville early Tuesday morning.

Osborne, the number one suspect in the cold-blooded robbery-slaying, had insisted since he gave himself up Friday night that he had been "too drunk to remember anything."

Yesterday he prefaced his confession by telling the interrogating Sheriff's Deputies: "Well I've been thinking this over since last night and I've decided to quit lying."

3,000 Year-Old Excavations:

What was the way of life along the southeast coast of San Francisco Bay 3,000 years ago? What manner of man hunted in the marshlands and fished in the sloughs of what is now the outskirts of Alvarado, long before the coming of DeAnza and Portola?

These questions may be answered in part at least by scientific data being assembled in excavations undertaken by 27 anthropology students of San Francisco State College under the direction of Professor Adan E. Treganza. For the past four months they have been making weekly visits to the site, which is located on the Patterson Ranch.

The excavation thus far has produced several hundred artifacts or man-made implements consisting mostly of bone and shell. No metal or pottery objects have been recovered, as both were unknown to Indians of the locality until they came into contact with the first Spanish and white settlers, it is explained.

In addition to the implements, 45 human burials have been excavated and more are expected before the digging reaches the bottom of the deposit, which is some ten feet deep. All of the bodies were placed in a flexed position at burial, the knees either slightly bent in a loose flex or drawn up under the chin.

Soil content indicates that the residents of the area gathered great quantities of oysters, mussels and small marsh grass snails. From the Bay waters they caught bottom fish, sturgeon, seal and the now near extinct sea otter.

Union City Garage:

A.B. Dekidos has a garage known as the Union City Garage at the foot of V Street in Alvarado, which is big enough inside to house a couple of garages in the Township. Really, if you view the four big rooms with brick walls formerly housing the huge pumps which the water company used in pumping millions of gallons of water daily from below the surface, you would be surprised at the modern touch to modernize it to house a very big business. A tow car is busy pulling in cars, and a repair crew is busy.

Mr. Dekidos Jr's brother-in-law Dr. Bettencourt owns the property. He has also modernized his buildings and homes on V Street and Levee Street, and shown himself a progressive man who has brought an importance to the Alvarado area. He streamlines everything he touches. We take our hats off to Dr. Bettencourt, who when he is busy daily, is a dentist in Hayward.

East Shore Freeway:

It's moving day in the East Bay, and the arrow points south, Washington Township boosters maintain. Promoters of residential and industrial development have discovered the rolling hills and level expanse of the eight towns that make up this township.

The first feeder road to the East Shore Freeway (I-880) has been completed here (Oakland), and the fast highway between Oakland and San Jose, to run through the heart of this area, becomes a specific factor in the plans for the eight towns: Alvarado, Centerville, Decoto, Irvington, Mission San Jose, Newark, Niles and Warm Springs.

The freeway will bring Metropolitan Oakland proper within 30 minutes of all parts of Washington Township and will make possible country homes for city workers, as well as offer fast transit from industries here to shipping terminals in Oakland.

Name of Pioneer Family Suggested for New Bridge:

The Alameda County Road Department is being requested today by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce to name the new Marsh Road Bridge in honor of the McKeown family, pioneer settlers of this area.

The bridge, to be completed this month is being built at a cost of $105,000 and eliminates a low portion of the highway, which is annually closed due to floods.

The first McKeown to settle in Alvarado was Joseph, who came from Ireland in 1855 to establish a carriage shop. He was later joined by his brother, James who eventually became the operator of the 150-acre McKeown ranch located at the corner of Marsh Road and Lowry Road, site of the new bridge.

Three of the children of James still reside on the ranch, Wallace, Nancy, and Flora McKeown, and another daughter, Mrs. E.S. Harvey also lives in Alvarado.

Water Table Rises on Union City Road:

William Patterson, director of the Alameda County Water District, is authority for the phenomenal rise in the wells at Union City Road (today's Veasy Street) at Alvarado, some 29.19 feet. This is at the old pumping plant. Near Alameda Creek the shallow wells have risen 9 feet as an average. At Irvington and Newark the wells have risen only a few inches, taking a long time for the rainfall waters reach the lower strata's from which most of the well pumping is made.

Here is a table of the increases (in feet):

Alvarado (Union City):	29.19 Feet
Creek Road:	7.50 Feet
Ferry Well, Fremont Ave. at Centerville:	13.20 Feet
De Salle Well, Cherry Lane near 'Kitchen':	6.90 Feet
Emerson, Irvington Road:	.13 Feet
Patterson's, Newark:	.26 Feet

Ancient Indian Mounds Studied:

While Alvarado is the acknowledged site of Alameda County's first seat of government, the community soon may be able to claim a history-making event a few thousand years earlier. So believes Dr. Adan E. Treganza of Berkeley, professor of anthropology at San Francisco State College, who has been making field trips to the W. D. Patterson ranch near here for the past several months.

If scientific tests now being made with the co-operation of the California Archeological Survey of the University of California verify present indications, it may be found that the early inhabitants of this area lived here long before the coming of Portola or De Anza.

He Killed a Dog:

Tribune Forum - Letters to the Editor:

Editor: I have always respected truck drivers because I have often believed that people condemned them too much, but now I wonder if I was right.

I wonder also, if the driver of the truck that killed a little brown dog in Alvarado, Tuesday, February 21st, knew how heartbroken he had left a little boy. The driver had his run to make; he couldn't even stop to give us help with the dog. We might have saved him if we could have had some help.

I wonder also if this driver has any children and has ever tried to explain to them that someone has killed their pet. The little boy has been grieving for his pet since this happened, and nothing will console him but another pet. Since our economic position doesn't permit buying one at this time, I wonder if you would print this. Maybe this driver will come forward and help this child get a new pet.

Alvarado Man Beaten & Robbed:

"Strong armed" and robbed by a chance acquaintance early this morning, Francisco Laural, 39 of Alvarado-Niles Road, Alvarado, was treated after the attack and 18 stitches taken to suture his wound at Fairmont Hospital.

Laural was found staggering along Levee Street covered with blood and incoherent in his speech by Albert Escalon about 12:30 a.m. today. Sheriff's deputies were called and picked up the man and took him to the hospital for treatment.

Laural told officers he met his assailant in a bar and had a couple of drinks with him before invited to take a ride with him. He said the suspect drove along Alvarado Road to the point where he stopped the car and demanded Laural's money under a threat of bodily harm. At Laural's refusal the driver of the car struck him an unknown number of times over the head with a metal object that left gashes in his head about one and a half inches long.

When Laural regained consciousness he was in a ditch beside Alquire Road (Dyer Street) and his wallet containing his driver's license, miscellaneous papers and $20 in bills were missing. He told the investigating officers he then walked along the road until he met Escalon and Sheriff's deputies.

The pioneer meat market of Hellwig's at Alvarado has changed ownership for the first time in 75 years. The well-known fine name for meats will be continued by the new owners. They are William Beck and Tom Hobson of Oakland. At this point we want to give credit to two of the best-known civic leaders and businesspeople who conducted the Hellwig Meat Market for many years. They are the Supervisor George Hellwig and his wife Willa Jane Hellwig, who later took over conduct of the business after death of her husband. In speaking to William Beck at the Alvarado shop, he tells us the name of the market will be changed to Alvarado Meat Co. They have the slaughterhouse and other equipment of the Alvarado plant also.

Alvarado in 1881:

By Elizabeth Lowrie:

Alvarado is a prosperous town of over 500 people and several substantial buildings, including the Riverside Hotel, the public school building, the large beet factory and a number of handsome residences. The town is on the San Francisco and South Pacific Coast narrow-gauge railroad and it also has the advantage of water communication with the bay. The surrounding country is a fine farming and fruit region and gardening and dairying is also largely carried on. The fertile alluvial soil is finely adapted to beet raising and this industry keeps in operation the large sugar refinery of the Alameda County Sugar Company. There are also located the Alvarado Stove Works and the Alvarado Glue Factory, both of which are in a prosperous condition. The shipping facilities offered by the bay and by the proximity to San Francisco, as well as the rich resources of the region, offer an inviting location for manufacturers.

Joe Poley's Accordion Studio:

The Editor thinks that Alvarado is lucky to have such fine instructors in accordion and steel guitar make their headquarters in our town of Alvarado as they have a fine reputation for handling pupil so that they really learn these instruments. They also sell instruments.

Joe Poley's Accordion Studio is located at 1548 Smith Street, in the former location of Lloyd's Electric, which is new and very professional like. It is almost across from the Grammar School.

The two accordion teachers, and the teachers of standard and steel guitar, have more artists to teach the young folk, with tap-dancing lessons.

Miss Finley is having large classes there to teach every Saturday. Individual instruction is one of her best features. This young lady has had great success with all her students. The assistant accordion teacher is Eunice King. The guitar teacher is Lulu Thompson.

Carnival Ride Injures Girl:

Failure of a cotter pin supporting a chair on the "Chair-O-Plane" ride at the carnival in Alvarado yesterday was credited with minor injuries of a 12 year-old Centerville girl as the chair dropped to the ground while the ride was in motion, according to sheriff's deputies reports.

Injured was Rosemarie Kommes, 12, of Centerville. She was taken to a doctor for medical examination after the mishap by Margaret A. McCloskey, 38, of San Francisco, reportedly the operator of the carnival ride.

When the chair in which the girl was riding fell, following chairs struck her on the head and body, according to witnesses.

Alvarado Grammar School News:

Many people were saying to each other, I wonder why the 8th Grade of Alvarado is nervous? They act like they are going to flunk this year or something. Well that was the reason, for they had their Constitution test on Monday, May 15th. They do not know the results yet.

The 5th Grade went to the University of California Dental College in San Francisco. There they had their teeth cleaned just like a licensed dentist, which was free of charge. They were also instructed on how to take proper care of their teeth.

The 1st & 2nd Grades have been invited to Washington Union High School to demonstrate their rhythm band and folk dances again. It will be held at the Washington Union High School at 7:15 p.m. of Friday, May 26th.

On Monday, May 15th, the Fourth Graders went to the University of California Dental College to have their teeth cleaned and were also instructed how to take proper care of their teeth. The cleaning was given free of charge.

What is the 8th Grade sneaking around and talking about? Yes, it is sneak day. No one will know but Mr. Bond, Mr. Maffey, the 8th Graders, and the drivers of the cars, so when you see the 8th Graders sneak out of school it is sneak day for them. I wonder where they are going?

The Alvarado 6th & 7th Graders are giving a play called "Junior Lucky Number." The cast of the play is:

Isabel Loyola's Alvarado News Notes:

Mr. Frank George of Levee Street in Alvarado, who is the distributor of General Petroleum products in Southern Alameda County, has put Alvarado on the map, as it is the headquarters for his distributorship. This last week he had beautified his office on Levee Street, and the big cleaning job is to be congratulated. Miss May Fontes is the efficient office manager.

Merchants who appreciate how the town of Alvarado is brought before the county in publicity each July 4th with the Filipino Community celebration have expressed a desire to have the merchants help with funds as last year to decorate the town with flags and bunting. The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce is to be asked to take the fine leadership as last year in this matter. Alex Biete, president of the Filipino Community group, said he would appreciate it. President Walter Oakey of the Chamber of Commerce will try to get this decoration considered at the next meeting.

Chamber of Commerce:

At last night's Alvarado Chamber of Commerce meeting, the members present heard Elvin Rose, Chairman of the Alvarado Sanitary District, speak on the improvements needed by the local sanitary system.

At present, stated Rose, the old sewage disposal plant at the end of lower Union Street, needs much improvement, such as the wooden tanks being repaired. Extension of the system as well as necessary improvement are badly needed now. With this in mind, Mr. Rose, presented to the chamber the plans of the Sanitary District Directors. Included in those plans was the necessity of floating a bond asking for $30,000. Voters will be asked in the near future to vote on his bond so the sanitary district can apply to the State for $15,000 (or half the amount of the bond).

Gang Wars:

A series of fights at the I.D.E.S. Hall in Alvarado Sunday morning was described as an outbreak of "gang wars" by witnesses who saw one man stabbed in the chest as a result. George Aranda, 21, 1014 Maiden Lane, Alvarado, was the victim. Others involved suffered cuts and bruises from men who were described as carrying knives, chains, and sawed off pool cues. Paul R. Munos, 20, of Yolo Street, another victim, said he was jumped by men, none of whom he could identify.

A dance had been held at the hall earlier in the evening, investigating officers reported, and the fights broke out sometime after the dance was over. From the injured it was found that the fights were probably between members of gangs from Decoto and members of gangs from Alvarado.

Arthur C. Day Moves to Alvarado:

The City of Hayward will lose $150,000 in annual income when the Arthur C. Day Implement Company moves from its present location on Watkins Street in Hayward to its new quarters on Alvarado-Centerville Road (Machado's corners).

One of the oldest implement dealers in the county Elwood Johnson says the firm is forced to move because farmers who drive in from various remote parts of Alameda and Contra Costa County's cannot find parking space near the dealership. Arthur C. Day Company is the local distributor for the International Harvester trucks and Farmall tractors as well as a wide array of farm implements.

Note: The Arthur C. Day dealership was located at the corner of Alvarado-Centerville and Decoto Roads. It went out of business in the mid 50's and was replaced by Pierotti Motors who occupied the building for many years. Today it is a MacDonald's Hamburger franchise.

Big Ball Game on Aug 20th:

The Alvarado Fire Bugs, an up and coming team, which will some day undoubtedly hold the National Softball Pennant, have set Sunday, August 20th, as their day to challenge the Alvarado Wild Indians. This game starting at 10:00 a.m. will be a fight to the finish as these are the two best teams (to put it mildly) on the Pacific Coast. Proof that they are two most outstanding teams is the fact that neither team has lost a game yet (probably because they haven't played any as yet).

If you want to see a softball game with plenty of talent and action then make sure you are present the Alvarado School grounds.

Some of the greatest names in Softball will be on the Alvarado Fire Bugs line-up with such names as the two best first basemen on the coast, Manuel Perry and Vernon Perry. Second basemen, Wilbert Hendricks and Rodney Hendricks; shortstop Billy Machado; third baseman Elvin Rose; pitcher Peter Pinto (imported from Chicago and brought to Alvarado especially for this game). Another famous name from Brooklyn, Tony Alexander, will catch, with Clarence Flores in centerfield; Melvin Silva will be in right field; and Fire Chief Anthony J. Vargas, left field, all borrowed from the New York Yankees. The Boston Braves were generous in letting the teams pinch hitters come to Alvarado for this famous game. They are: Charles Baird and Joe Avilla. The subs, from other outstanding clubs are: Joe Goularte, Serafine Noia and Joe Lewis. Manuel Goularte, known for his expert work in the American League, will be on hand to umpire the game.

The Alvarado Wild Indians do not like to boast of their great background but instead like to be known just as home town boys who are going to "beat the pants off" their nationally famous opponents.

Letter to the Editor:

A late thank you letter to Mr. Oakes of the Alvarado Pioneer for the fine publicity he has given to the Boy Scouts of Alvarado, and also to all the swell people of Alvarado. Through the help of everyone we have been able to send eight boys to the Diamond "O" Camp, all the boys enjoyed the wonderful experiences. It's an ideal place for boys, plenty of good food, hiking, swimming, woodcraft, and out door camping.

Those who enjoyed the things at camp were Scoutmaster Harold Delgado, Stanley Anderson, Andrew Pimentel, Robert Dutra, Mervin Pinto, Arnold Gardetto, Arnold Hernandez and Norman Phillips.

It also gives us the feeling that the people of Alvarado want the Boy Scouts organization in town; therefore we are going to do everything in our power to continue. We again want to thank you all. Chairman, Tony Alexander

Mr. Ralph Closes Store:

The closing chapter of one of Alameda County's oldest general merchandising concerns is expected to be written soon, following the announcement by John Ralph, Alvarado's veteran merchant and civic leader, that he is planning to retire. The concern has been known to traveling salesman of varied items including hardware, clothing, groceries and practically anything else a household needs, since it was established not long after Alameda County had its first official headquarters at Alvarado in 1853.

The first proprietor was a man named Stokes, Ralph relates. James Johnstone Stokes, born in England in 1816, first arrived in the U.S. in 1829. Mr. Stokes arrived in San Francisco in 1849 and kicked about the mining country in several ventures before settling down in Union City (near Alvarado) in 1859 and engaged there in merchandising. He moved to Alvarado and purchased the building adjoining his present store, which was destroyed by fire in 1876. In the following year he built the one he now occupies.

Subsequent owners have been I. V. Ralph, uncle of the present owner, Charles Perry, Ralph & Harvey, Ellis Brothers, Ralph & Scribner; and for the last half century John Ralph. Ralph has been active for many years in the Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Fire Commission. He will continue to reside at his home on Vallejo Street but will spend "more time" at his summer place in the Santa Cruz mountains.

Sugar:

Eighty-six farmers, owning 5,071 acres of land, are now under contract to the Holly Sugar Company refinery at Alvarado, which anticipates the intake of 250,000 to 280,000 tons of sugar beets during the production year to close in December.

With 300 summer employees to meet current high production scale, the refinery is turning out 6,000 100-pound bags of sugar daily, while additional facilities are at work on liquid sugar production.

The oldest successful sugar factory in the United States, the Alvarado plant was first established in 1881 (1870 ?). The factory burned to the ground two times, but received its "successful" in 1889 when another building was erected and started production.

The Daily Review, November 16, 1950

Flood:

There were many scenes of devastation today in Alvarado and vicinity south of Hayward, collective victims of one of the worst floods in the history of Alameda Creek, sent on a rampage by torrential rains of last week.

More than 60 families were evacuated by the sheriff's department and a detail of U.S. Coastguardsmen from Government Island at Alameda.

Marsh Road leading south of Alvarado was inundated and heavily damaged by the rapidly moving waters washing away the roadbed on its way to the bay. Marsh and Lowry Roads are still flooded by debris today.

The Hayward Daily Review, November 20, 1950

Flood:

Fifty families were evacuated from their homes and several hundreds of thousands of dollars damage resulted to buildings, crops, and livestock around the southern Alameda County area.

Hardest hit was the town of Alvarado, where 2,000 acres of land were inundated during the early hours yesterday when a dyke in the Patterson Slough two miles to the south gave way. Patterson Slough is a tributary of Alameda Creek. Water had receded about two feet by this morning, but there was still danger of high tide backing up the waters again. The Marsh and Lowry Roads are the only ones still blocked by slides and floods today.

The flood in Alvarado resulted when debris carried by the Alameda Creek piled under the Southern Pacific Railway Bridge on Lowry Road. About 125 feet of Lowry Road, which forms the Patterson Slough dyke, gave out.

The Oakland Tribune, November 20, 1950

Flood:

Floodwaters today still covered 20 blocks of Alvarado's southeast residential district, with about fifty families homeless. Sheriff deputies and Coastguardsmen, rescued scores stranded in their homes after 125 feet of the Lowry Road dyke was washed out, remained on duty in the stricken area, but waters were receding and the crisis was believed to have passed.

Still under water is three miles of Marsh Road between Alvarado and Newark. Lowry Road is also closed by the washout.

Most of the families who evacuated their homes have found shelter with friends and relatives. Father James J. Concannon said he had offered the shelter of St. Anne's Church to the evacuees, but received no requests for shelter.

Aid for Alvarado:

Letters to the Forum – Oakland Tribune Editorial Section

Editor: It seems to me that the money to be spent on the lavish and beautiful street decorations for Christmas (in the City of Oakland) would find a spot much closer to the Savior's heart if it were used to help replace the belongings lost by so many hundreds of people in the terrible floods that have washed away or ruined things. I saw groups of children huddled on the street corners of Alvarado and dozens of houses with water two feet above their doorsills. Now there are thousands of homeless in Reno and all up and down the valleys. Shall we be as the Pharisees and make a grand and colorful show-off or turn these funds to meet a need this year?

Margaret Truesdale Gibbs, Oakland

West Coast Meat Company:

West Coast Meat Company will be moving its Castro Valley operation to Alvarado when the sale of the old Hellwig Meat Company is final. West Coast Meat was put in an untenable situation when a new elementary school was placed in their area and they were denied permission to expand their Castro Valley plant. The transfer is expected to be completed by next summer.

Flood:

A new levee break north of Alvarado sent water pouring into the north section of the city after sheriff's officers reported the flood conditions on the Alameda Creek pretty well in check. The new break flooded much of the farmland around Alvarado as well as several blocks within the city.

The entire town was threatened yesterday when debris backed up Alameda Creek at a railroad bridge adjacent to Lowry Road, one mile south of town. One huge "clam shell" crane attempting to clear the debris broke as water poured around the bridge and over Lowry Road into surrounding farmlands. A total of 18 families were evacuated from the area before another scoop arrived at 2:30 a.m. today and cleared the danger.

The Daily Review, December 4, 1950

High Water Assessment:

Governor Earl Warren has called for an assessment of damage created by the rash of floods throughout the state recently and the present flood situation, as it exists today. From the Alvarado area there are still a few streets in the old Union City area still with water and Lowry Road outside of town remains closed.

About 400 acres of sugar beets remain unharvested. This amounts to about 9,000 tons of beets. Whether the crop can be salvaged cannot be determined at this time, says Mr. Ratekin, Supt. of the Holly Sugar Mill. The Alvarado Vegetable Produce Company in the Lowry Road area reports that the winter crop of cabbage, cauliflower, spinach and endive has been lost, costing the company $50,000. Other farmers in the Alvarado area say that damage from the flood should run over $100,000.

Stabbing:

A Decoto man is being held by the Alameda County Sheriff's deputies today for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon and another suspect is sought by officers with a stabbing in Alvarado late last week. Victim of the attack, Albert Escandon, 25, of Alvarado was released from Fairmont Hospital late last night after he was treated for a lacerated scalp, and superficial cuts on his shoulder and back. Ruben Montano of Decoto was booked by deputies after he was accused by Escandon, whom officers found lying on the floor of an Alvarado bar with his blood stained shirt next to him.

A waitress at the Alvarado bar told officers Escandon had been drinking in the place early in the evening when he became involved in an argument with Montano and another unidentified man. The argument was broken up, she asserted, and the three men went outside. Later Escandon came staggering back with several stab wounds. The officers later arrested Montano who was covered with blood.

Flood Damage:

Seven farmers of the Alvarado area have filed a $120,000 damage suit and injunction against Southern Pacific, Pacific Gas & Electric, and two individuals for flood damage to their lands last November and December.

Plaintiffs in the action filed by John T. Wentz and the law firm of Hynes & Bowser, are Thomas Accinelli, Teodora Accinelli, M. Tachella, Rina Tachella, Remigio Cerruti, John Bellomo, John Fazio and Nick Fazio. They own 76 acres of farmland in the section southwest of the intersection of Lowry Road and Highway 17, a mile and a half southeast of Alvarado.

The petition charges that an alleged inadequate bridge over Patterson Creek, brush cut by PG&E., and a dam built by Henry H. and William D. Patterson, caused the creek to overflow its banks during heavy rainfall last winter and flood their property.

It asks for compensation for damages to lands, crops, buildings, tress and shrubs; asks for an injunction to prevent the railroad from maintaining the bridge in its present condition or from rebuilding one that would cause continued obstructions; asks that PG&E. be enjoined from placing or leaving brush in the creek channel, and that the Patterson's be enjoined from maintaining a dyke across the east channel of the creek without providing adequate overflow ditches.

Dispute Over Keys:

A complaint was expected to be signed this afternoon against Restituto M. Maghanoy, 40, Alvarado, after a fight in Irvington last night. Maghanoy, a laborer, was held for investigation of assault with a deadly weapon at the sheriff's sub-station here after a period of confusing reports from the man and his alleged victim.

Sheriff deputies were called to meet Maghanoy near Niles at 10 p.m. yesterday, it was reported. He was badly cut on the head and hand, they said, but unable to give much information surrounding his injuries. Thought first to be a victim of an assault, the officers determined later that Maghanoy might have been the instigator of the fight. After questioning, it was found that Maghanoy went to the home of Blas Cogal, 33, Irvington looking for keys he thought he had left there.

An argument developed into a fight and Maghanoy hit Cogal with the butt of a gun, Cogal then got the gun and Maghanoy. Cogal was treated by a private physician and Maghanoy went to Fairmont Hospital.

Cold and Flood Hits Alvarado:

Massive amounts of snow in the Sierras and a lot of rain in the Bay Area are making for interesting times. Two to six inches of snow remained on Mt. Hamilton today. In Lafayette the temperature got down to 25 degrees this morning. The dropping temperatures eased the fears of flooding in the San Joaquin Valley.

But in Alvarado, at the south end of the Bay, homes and roads were flooded to a depth of three inches yesterday as a brisk wind whipped high tide waters over levees and as rain-swollen creeks overflowed.

The Oakland Tribune, December 31, 1951

Flood:

Lashing the Bay Area last night and this morning, a rain and thunderstorm deluged the area, closed highways, disrupted communication, and caused extensive property damage. The rainfall measured 1.56 inches before midnight last night with another .37 inches by 10:30 a.m. this morning. In the South County region 12 homes were evacuated between Alvarado and Centerville as rampaging water flowed down Alameda Creek and continued to rise today.

Further floods were threatened in this area today as Calaveras Dam, reaching the limit of its 31½ billion gallon capacity overflowed for the first time since 1941.

With water within a foot of the top of Lowry Road dyke and water seeping through, Alameda County Flood Control Department was at work dredging debris from the creek in an effort to keep the water flowing southward. Alvarado is threatened with flood if the dyke breaks.

Two other women, Mrs. Joe Brune and Mrs. Mary Silveira, were rescued before the Coast Guard had to abandon first rescue attempts because of swift currents, which prevented them from using their boats.

They were attempting to reach three youngsters alone in a home in the flooded north section of town. They were Adelia Delao, 13, and her brothers, George 5, and Danny 3, of 1050 10th Street.

Flood:

Alvarado, one of the hardest hit flood areas, was saved from further damage last night after a dike at Nursery Road (Alvarado-Niles Road) and Alquire Road (Dyer Street) gave way. County road crews and deputies, headed by Sheriff Jack Gleason and Capt. R.E. Condon, filled the break with 40 truckloads of gravel and dirt. Otherwise the creeks are dropping alleviating the threat in that area. Some Alvarado families were able to return to their homes.

Flood:

In the Alvarado the peak flow of the weekend flood was greater than anything experienced here last year, but the amount of flooding so far is not so great because the levee adjacent to Lowry Road, which broke last year, has held, and the Southern Pacific Railroad trestle adjoining Lowry Road has been kept free of debris.

The water is draining out of the Alvarado area slowly because of inadequate outlets to San Francisco Bay. Between Friday morning and 10:00 a.m. today (Monday), 3.27 inches of rain has fallen in the Alvarado area.

C of C Opposes Zone 3:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce has taken a position in opposition to Alvarado's inclusion in Zone 3 of the Alameda County Flood Control program.

At an open meeting of county supervisors in Hayward City Hall at 8:00 p.m. tomorrow, chamber delegates speaking on behalf of their organization, will declare that all of Alvarado should be included in a Zone 5 on which engineering studies have not yet been done.

They will point out that boundaries of Zone 3 will divide Alvarado at Smith Creek Bridge at the intersection of Smith Street, Alquire and Alvarado-Niles Roads, excluding extensive flooded area south of the southern boundaries of Zone 3.

County to Fight Juvenile Delinquency:

Eleven representatives of groups providing recreational service in Pleasanton, Livermore, Alvarado, Niles, Newark and Hayward communities met in Hayward yesterday as a subcommittee of the Alameda County Committee for the Prevention of Juvenile Delinquency, named two years ago by the honorable A. T. Shine, presiding judge of the Alameda County Superior Court.

Headed by Mrs. John Hayes, recreation committee members began an exploration of recreation problems preparatory to listing definite needs related to the juvenile delinquency program. They will meet here again, in a lecture room at Hayward Public Library, at 1:00 p.m., February 13th.

Flood Control:

Zones, 1, 2, 2a, 3 and 4 of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District were established today by official action of the County Board of Supervisors. The go-ahead signal for approval of disputed Zone 3 as a flood control district was given in the County Board of Supervisors last night at a special meeting held in the Hayward City Hall.

The boundaries of the disputed Zone 3 were defined as: On the north extending from Bay Bridge Boulevard (Hayward entrance to the San Mateo Bridge) to Clawiter Road to Depot Road, along Rancho line near Harder Road, following the natural drainage line north of Jackson Street, crossing Winton avenue, through Hayward near the center of the city, to Second and Fairview Avenues, around to the natural divide in the hills.

The zone boundaries follow the ridgeline on the east where Dry Creek crosses the highway at Decoto, and on the south along the Alvarado-Niles Road, following the property lines south of Alvarado, jogging north following along Alameda Creek to the Bay.

Ward Silva of Alvarado wanted to know why Alvarado was included in Zone 3, when two-thirds of the floodwater comes down Alameda Creek.

The drainage ditch contemplated for Zone 3 is designed to handle the excess water in Alameda Creek, which flows into the ditch north of Alvarado. This would keep Alvarado dry, said Engineer Crowle.

With the establishment of Zone 5, Alvarado would be further protected by a dike to be constructed to the east of town. The board of supervisors today authorized the flood control district's engineering staff to proceed with all speed in completing engineering in the south of Zone 3 so that Zone 5 and other zones can be established at the earliest practical time.

John Ratekin of Alvarado wanted to know why channeling floodwaters of Alameda Creek into the Patterson by-pass proposed for Zone 5 would not be more beneficial to Alvarado.

Home Values Increase:

If you own or are buying a home in Hayward, Castro Valley, San Lorenzo, Alta Vista, Alvarado or at any point in between, it is worth more today than it was yesterday. Its value went up when the County Board of Supervisors established Drainage Zones 1, 2, 3 & 4 Thursday morning. This is the first step in area Flood Control and makes these areas much more desirable. It may take five or six years to fully realize, but the benefit is there.

Flood:

In Alvarado a new break in the Alameda Creek levee threatened for a time last night to force residents from their homes in the vicinity of "V" Street.

The break occurred near Fair Ranch Road about 2 p.m., widening an existing gap from 80 feet to 110 feet. Water poured through the new break and began to rise in the west section of Alvarado, flooding the streets, and coming within inches of thresholds.

The Daily Review, January 26, 1952

Flood:

The floods of the past two weeks have been the most damaging in Alameda County history, so say Herbert G. Crowle, engineer of the Alameda County Flood Control District. Principal damage was caused by levee breaks on Alameda Creek in the Livermore Valley and the Alvarado-Centerville area and on the San Lorenzo Creek west of San Lorenzo.

Catch Fish or Eat Bait:

The old joke about the old fisherman who caught no fish and had to eat his own bait is no joke. Not to Mrs. Evalene Griffin, of San Leandro who is a fifth grade teacher at Alvarado Grammar School in Alvarado. Mrs. Griffin and her husband are ardent fisherman, and they recently returned home almost empty handed from a fishing trip to Rio Vista.

All they had was what was left of the bait. No Fish. But Mrs. Griffin recalled what happened when they stopped en route to Rio Vista to buy bait. They were supplied with frozen prawns.

"My," observed Mrs. Griffin, "these look good enough to eat."

"They are," the salesman declared, "they're perfectly fresh and plenty good to eat."

And they were too.

The Search for T.P. Harvey:

The body of Ted Harvey, prominent Alvarado vegetable shipper and rancher, was found about 12:15 p.m. this morning in the hills high above Decoto following a night long search by relatives and sheriffs deputies.

Harvey, and his son Bobby, 10, had gone fishing Saturday afternoon along Dry Creek, which passes through his ranch. The boy returned home about 5:30 p.m. after the father told him he would be along shortly.

When Harvey failed to appear his wife, Margot, and his son searched the hills all day Sunday. The Sheriffs Department was notified about 6:00 p.m. last night and the organized search inaugurated under the direction of Capt. Richard Condon.

His body was found alongside the creek where he had fallen after an apparent heart attack. He was found just a short distance from the site of the crash of the United airliner last fall, which claimed the lives of 52 persons.

Mission Peak Mystery Solved:

A two-year old mystery that has kept residents of Mission San Jose watching the peak of a nearby 3,000-foot mountain peak for an ominous flashing light was finally solved last night.

From as far away as Alvarado and Centerville came reports, starting at 9:30 p.m. that the flashing light was again aglow near the top of the uninhabited Mission Peak.

As described by sheriff's deputies, who said this sort of thing has been going on at irregular intervals for some time, the bright light flashed first in one direction and then in another. Rumors flew through Washington Township; but the most generally accepted, for a while, was that a plane had crashed on the peak.

But the mystery ended when a sheriff's patrol car checked at the nearby Warm Springs Airport. For when sail planes from the airport take to the air at night, the deputies were told that some one is sent up to Mission Peak to flash a warning light, keeping the gliders away from the dangerous mountain.

Case closed.

Washington Township Water:

Water distribution and conservation for the Washington Township area, operating under the general management of E. A. Richmond in the county building, is one of the local departments well aware of the growing needs of the area.

The first conservation district formed under the state's County Water District Act in 1914, the water department commenced water distribution in the early 1930's, when the Alvarado pumping plant was purchased from the East Bay Municipal Utilities District.

It then bought out smaller companies nearby, until service is now provided to the Canyon Heights portion of Niles, Alvarado, Irvington, Mission San Jose, Centerville, Newark and the areas lying in-between.

The water conservation activities of the district include two percolation pits, which introduce water when it is available from Alameda Creek, into the pits, and so replenish the underground water supply. Several wells have also been provided to interject water under the ground.

Mr. & Mrs. Bill Silva expect to move into their new home on Palm Avenue with two months.

If you want to hear some darn good music, then lend an ear to the Pinto Bros. Band, which plays every Saturday night at the SDES Hall in Alvarado. I heard them last Sunday at the Newark Pavilion and I mean those guys (and the gal at the piano) really do something with those instruments. They played their rendition of "Auf Wiederseh'n Sweetheart" and I mean they put all other big time orchestras to shame. Their style was bee-you-tee-full. They play to the American and Chamarita dances at Alvarado each Saturday night, and I mean they can really play that Chamarita. They know just how to put the rhythm into it to make it easy to dance to. So drop on down next Saturday night and give'em an ear. (I'll even have to admit that Eddie Manuel, their drummer boy, does a better job of "cutting" at those drum sticks than he's used to doing at meat chopping.)

Flood Control:

A special meeting of Alvarado residents to decide immediate flood control steps is now being arranged, following preliminary discussion at Thursday's Chamber of Commerce meeting.

Repairs of the Plummer Slough Levee, to raise it to the level of Marsh Road, were strongly recommended by Hebert C. Crowle, County Flood Control and Water Conservation District engineer.

Crowle stated his "conservatively high" estimate of the repair costs would run about $4,000 as determined by his recent survey of the area with Dr. John Bettencourt and Supervisor Chester Stanley.

It will be up to the concerned property owners to handle the expense, since the district has no funds available, Crowle pointed out. He has offered to assist with engineering advice.

The Daily Review, September 27, 1952

Flood Control; Hip Boots & a Prayer:

Hip boots, shovels and "praying" will constitute Alvarado's only defense against next winter's major floods, if there are any. Herbert G. Crowle, engineer for the county flood control district, said that emergency repairs of the Plummer Slough levee, broken in last winter's flood, would protect the area from secondary flooding but would be ineffectual in a situation similar to that of last January.

New Street Offered for Downtown Alvarado (Castro St.):

After the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce meeting on Thursday evening, October 16th, Alvarado Fire chief Elvin Rose told of the condition along Smith Street on the west side where there is not a single side street from Watkins to Fred Wiegman's. The reason old streets have been allowed to be lost through lack of use. We got the information that a street could be put through alongside the Post Office that would open up a new area and make the Post Office prominent on a corner. Elvin Rose owns this abandoned road area, and he made the promise to give the Supervisors a 350-foot length of property for a street extending from Smith Street frontage, and 45 feet wide.

President Warren Silva said he personally would also endorse this move for such a new street, and thought the chamber should endorse it also.

This fellow Rose deserves a big cheer for this offer. What if he does sell some lots for home at the end of the street, he has made a big contribution to the importance and development of the new Post Office area. This is always considered a prominent part of any town. Rose went further, he said he would fill in the low parts of the road, but would not go to a big expense in this. We agree with him. Soon Supervisor Stanley is to be asked to attend the next meeting in October.

Frankie Tenorio visited his aunt in Hayward on Sunday.

Last week Bobby Harvey brought to school a very interesting copy of the Oakland Tribune dated April 9, 1890. It was 63 years old and the 7th Grade had fun looking at the advertisements, such as 44 pieces of dishes for two dollars and twenty cents, saddle horses for $40, kids button shoes for $1.00 a pair, and many more interesting items.

The item which was most interesting was one telling of the Alvarado School having one of the oldest flags in the State, bought in San Francisco in 1864 during the Civil War. The pole for it was donated by a patron and was a ship's spar. The flag only had 35 stars on it, instead of the 48 of today.

Money to buy the flag was collected from the students of the school by Mr. James Smith who gave a generous contribution towards its purchase and went to San Francisco to buy it for the school. The flag was 6 X 12 feet.

The teacher of Alvarado School at the time it was bought was a Mr. A.I. Fuller and had as his assistant a Miss Lloyd. The school had only one department at that time. The population of the entire county was about 10,000 people and Oakland was only a fair sized village.

Salt Production:

Salt production began in earnest 150 years ago when the mission padres would come to the bay and scoop out salt for use at the mission for tanning hides. It was not until 1862 that the process of "salt making" began. Historians record that John Quigley began salt production at Union City (now Alvarado). He is credited with the initiating the use of ponds to speed "nature's solar evaporation" of seawater. Levees of earth formed "vats" for concentration, the basic principle still used today.

Plane Crash:

Mystery still shrouds the crash of the Transocean Air Lines DC-4 in a barley field in Alvarado. The four engine plane was on its approach to Oakland Municipal Airport when it crashed and burned in a level field on the ranch operated by Richard and Frank Andrada a fourth of a mile from the intersection of Alquire Road and Whipple Road east of Alvarado.

The pilot had been cleared to the approach and reported passing over the Newark radio beacon at 6:36 p.m. Friday at 3500 feet. Lee Housman, chief of the CAA tower at Oakland Municipal Airport, said recordings of conversations between the tower and the pilot showed a completely normal procedure for the instrument approach.

Wilson said further that the plane "couldn't have been more than 100 yards off its exact bearing, if at all." He was unable to guess why the plane appeared in a steep bank, as reported by eyewitnesses, and also discounted any trouble because of icing conditions.

Wilson said the pilot would have reported severe icing by radio. Pilots who landed both before and after the crash had no icing problems.

The plane apparently hit first on one wing and cart wheeled across the field before it burst into flames. Victims and pieces of wreckage were scattered over a 350-yard wide area.

Plane Crash:

Complete confusion today still surrounded the cause of Friday's crash of a Transocean Air Lines DC-4, which killed 35 persons, as Civil Aeronautics Board teams continued their investigation of the scene. On-the-spot probing will probably be finished today, although work on various parts of the airplane may possibly continue through the next two weeks.

A joint meeting of the CAB teams, covering witnesses and flight path, engine and propeller, and air frame disclosed nothing new this morning, the report stated.

Orvis Nelson, airlines president, admitted this morning that "complete confusion still exists, it just doesn't add up."

Plane Crash:

Authorities continued to sift debris; all that remained after Transocean Air Lines DC-4 crash, which claimed 35 lives, in a muddy barley field near Alvarado Friday night. Airline officials discounted the possibility of pilot error by saying Harvey W. Rogers, 41, of Lafayette, who was at the controls: "He was not only our chief pilot but our best pilot." Those dead included 30 Air Force men enroute to Guam from Roswell, New Mexico and the plane's crew of five. The DC-4 was approaching Oakland Airport for a landing at the time of accident, no clues as yet.

The Argonaut Club

Washington Township pioneers held their first meeting in 1876. William Barry of Niles and William Morris Liston of Alvarado were the first to suggest organization of the Society of Pioneers of Washington Township, E.B. Thompson of the Washington Press at Irvington notes.

The first meeting followed printing of a notice in The Independent on November 11, 1876. George Bond was elected president; C.C. Scott and Wm. Liston were elected vice-presidents, L. E. Osgood was made treasurer and William Barry secretary.

All persons in Washington Township before March 26, 1853, and sons of pioneers over 21 were eligible. The organization was later to include Eden and Murray Townships. Annual banquets were held at the Gregory House in Centerville.

Later called the Argonaut Club, about 1887, the pioneers held their first banquet under the new name at the Riverside Hotel at Alvarado in 1890. Henry Dusterberry of Centerville, the "last man" died in 1920.

Prized Book:

One of the prized possessions of Mr. & Mrs. R.A. Griffin of Irvington is a copy of the "Great Register of Alameda County, 1876." The register shows 9,400 voters in the county at that date and lists William Morris Liston, 53, a native of Pennsylvania, a stage agent, as fifth to register.

Liston, Griffin's grandfather, was one of the founders of the Society of Pioneers of Washington Township. He came to California in 1851 via the Panama and landed at Monterey. He went up to Mission San Jose and later built a warehouse for Henry C. Smith at Alvarado (New Haven).

Later he operated the Montgomery House in San Francisco and returned to Alvarado to operate the Brooklyn House, at the same time operating stages from Warm Springs to Oakland. He served as Justice of the Peace of Washington Township and died at Oakland at 71 years of age in 1884.

Others listed are Jose de Jesus Vallejo, 68, a farmer at Mission San Jose who built the flour mill at Niles; John M Horner, 45, a native of New Jersey, who built the steam mill at Alvarado about 1853; Calvin J. Stevens, 38, Centerville merchant, who bought the Horner mill at Alvarado and moved it to Livermore in 1869; John Blacow, 46, native of England, a Washington Township farmer and many others whose names are familiar to our readers of county history.

Washington Township Town Names Derivations:

Intriguing names grace Alameda County as well as other parts of the state.

Mission San Jose: Mission San Jose won its name in 1851 from the Mission San Jose de Guadalupe, founded in 1797.

Alvarado: Alvarado was named in honor of Don Juan Alvarado, governor of California from 1836 to 1842. Henry C. Smith, founder of the village, bestowed the name, although for a time he called it New Haven, in memory of the Connecticut city near where his father was born. Alvarado later enveloped Union City, named for the ship "The Union," often berthed at its wharves. John M. Horner established Union City.

Niles: Niles was once Gopher Town and then Vallejo Mills, after Don Jose de Jesus Vallejo who built his grist mill on Alameda Creek west entrance to Niles Canyon in 1844. When the Central Pacific Railroad came through the settlement in 1869 the town was renamed Niles after Judge Addison C. Niles, then an attorney for the railroad and later a member of the California State Supreme Court. The business section moved across the tracks about 1890 and the original settlement retains the name of Old Town.

Irvington: Irvington was called Washington Corners in the 1870's and later The Corners. When the Post Office was established in 1884 it became Irvington when by an error a letter was addressed to Irving, California. Settlement leaders combined the name Irving with Washington and came up with Irvington.

Warm Springs: Warm Springs takes its name from Agua Caliente, the warm springs where early Spaniards and Indians bathed and washed clothing. Agua Caliente Creek is nearby. It was known as Harrisburgh in 1867, this Post Office being about a mile and a half south of Warm Springs where a Harris family resided.

Centerville: Centerville residents claim the town is a natural since the town is approximately in the center of Washington Township. Early historians pointed to the town being halfway between Mission San Jose and the Alvarado embarcadero.

Decoto: Decoto is the only town of eight communities in Washington Township named after its founder, Ezra Decoto. He and his brothers, John and Adolphus, bought large farms and established the town. When the railroad came in 1867 the station was called Decoto.

“Kiss of Death” War Bride:

It was an expressionless and emotionally restrained Hildegard Pelton who appeared before Judge E. A. Quaresma in the Centerville Justice Court. The war bride pleaded not guilty to the first-degree murder of her G.I. husband whose bullet-riddled body was found in his car on Alvarado-Niles Road.

Judge Quaresma set the preliminary hearing of the “kiss of death” case for 1:30 p.m. May 5th in Centerville court. During the press interview following the court session, the 32-year-old war bride maintained her tightly controlled composure and spoke voluntarily in barely audible, German accented tones.

Mrs. Pelton briefly traced her childhood, marriage, trip to the United States and the events leading to February 1st, the day when the body of her G.I. husband was found in his car, riddled with bullets on the Alvarado Niles Road.

She hesitantly related standing outside the sports car and firing in a blind action at her husband after he had told her “you have to go, you can never come back.” The German born bride described climbing into the car to fix a farewell kiss upon the victim’s forehead, and then she attempted to kill herself, but discovered the gun was empty.

Her cross-country flight was the only with the destination of “getting away” and ended at the General Delivery window of a New York Post Office, where she was expecting a letter from her mother, but was arrested by F.B.I. Agents.

The Battle for the Courthouse:

Two votes in the California Assembly in 1853 might have saved Alameda County a 20-year controversy over the location of its county seat.

Henry Clay Smith, who fathered the legislation that created the county, chose Alvarado as its first county seat. Alvarado was then the center of the county’s wealth and population, a bustling new town in the heart of the agricultural area. It was also the hometown of Smith. He established the village. And he rented the upper floor of his store building to the county as its first courthouse.

Even at that early date, Oakland, incorporated only the year before, had bidden for the county seat. Horace W. Carpentier, founder of Oakland, controlled the town, its waterfront, ferries and bridges, also was a member of the (California State) Assembly. He tried to amend Smith’s bill to put the county seat in Oakland. He lost by a vote of 19-17. On that margin of two votes developed the major controversy of the formative days of the county.

For the business, industrial and professional people who were flocking into the new town of Oakland and the communities of Clinton and San Antonio, along what is now the estuary, Alvarado was not a popular location for the county seat. From the very beginning there was agitation for its removal.

Alvarado itself was hardly the fountainhead of law and order. Gambling establishments and brothels operated openly and if a new rich gold miner or a just paid farm worker escaped them, it was a good bet someone would come along with a gun or knife.

Fire damaged the "courthouse" on one occasion, and the entire treasury of $12,000 was looted one night. The burglars dropped some $7,200 in making a hasty get away so the county was back in business, but the balance was never recovered.

When the Court of Sessions, forerunner to the Board of Supervisors, considered plans for a county building in 1854, the matter came to a head. Petitions were circulated and County Judge A.M. Crane was persuaded to call an election. The vote on December 5, 1854 narrowed the contest to two communities, Alvarado and San Leandro.

San Leandro, then only a hamlet of only a few buildings and the Estudillo Ranch, got 782 votes, Alvarado 614, trailing were Alameda 232, San Lorenzo 220, Oakland 18 and Haywards 15. A runoff election between the two leaders was scheduled for December 30, 1854.

Two years before, Carpentier had won an Assembly contest with Robert S. Farrelly of Squattersville (San Lorenzo) by importing votes from San Francisco. Apparently that procedure worked again. The total vote for the second election jumped by almost 500 persons, with heavy balloting, much too heavy for the population, coming from Oakland Township. San Leandro won the election 1,301 to 1,067.

Amid strong protests from the outlying areas, the county government was moved to rented quarters in San Leandro. There the Court of Sessions completed its period of authority and the newly created Board of Supervisors took over.

Estudillo donated a block of land, and on it the county built a courthouse, a frame building, 30 by 60 feet in size, costing $1,200. The county moved into this building July 10, 1855, but not for long. Protests against the election skullduggery developed into a court suit. On August 9th it was ruled that the county judge had lacked the authority to call the election and the county seat was moved back to Alvarado a week later.

But the northern part of the county still had an ace in the hole. It persuaded the Legislature to order the county seat back to San Leandro in February 1856. That seemed to settle the controversy and the Board of Supervisors ordered the construction of a courthouse and jail, which was completed in July 1857 at a cost of $30,580. They held their first meeting in the new quarters on August 10th.

San Leandro was destined to finally lose the courthouse when Oakland captured the county seat March 25, 1874.

The Story of Alvarado Sugar:

The first successful (beet) sugar manufacturing company in America was organized by two pioneers of Alameda County, Ephraim Herrick and Ebenezer Herrick Dyer at Alvarado in 1879.

The story of this establishment has been told by an autobiographical sketch by the Ebenezer H. Dyer that has been incorporated into the Dyer genealogy.

The brothers first invested in a company organized by Wisconsin experts in sugar making from beets in 1869. A factory was erected at Alvarado, but according to Dyer's story, "those Wisconsin experts after a trial of four years, subjecting the stockholders to a heavy loss each year, made \(the venture\) a complete failure."

The Wisconsin backers withdrew from the venture and built another factory in Santa Cruz \(Soquel\), which also failed. Two other factories were built, one at Brighton in Sacramento County and the other at Isleton; both of these ventures also failed.

Mr. Dyer continues, "Knowing that our beets were at least 2% better in sugar than the average sugar beet in Europe, I believed that the business could be made a success... I was determined to try it again if I could secure sufficient capital, which was hard to do in the face of the failures."

"In 1879...we rebuilt the Alvarado factory, I having previously purchased the lands and buildings...we made a financial success the first campaign (year), thus producing the first sugar from beets at a profit in the United States."

The factory was a small affair compared to later ones, using old machinery brought from the defunct Sacramento plant. During the first four years of operations, the Dyer's cleared $104,000. The factory was destroyed by a boiler explosion in 1887.

Edward P. Dyer, Ebenezer's son, operated the plant until the explosion. The Dyer Company became renowned throughout the whole country for building sugar plants after the first successful one was established. The Dyer's built other plants at Ogden and Lehi, Utah, Le Grande Oregon, and Los Alamitos in Orange County California.

Alvarado & Salt:

Since salt has always been an essential mineral for the human diet, it is not unusual that one of the first things the padres at Mission San Jose did when they came in 1797 was to set up a salt works on the shores of San Francisco Bay. The business has flourished ever since.

The Spanish Father's processing was crude and the end product slight, but the principal of solar salt gathering has not changed so very much in the intervening years. One of the country's largest salt producers, the Leslie Salt Company, processes the waters of the Bay at Alvarado much in the same way the Franciscan Fathers did. It is a time-honored system.

By 1850, Alvarado already was being described as the "leading salt producing center on the coast." In 1893, a total of 37,800 tons were being produced there annually, and by 1894 there were 18 different salt beds along the shore.

The Solar Salt Company, owned by B.F. Barton, gathered 2,500,000 pounds of salt in 1904. John Quigley, pioneer salt maker in the county, started the first commercial salt plant at Union City, later Alvarado, in 1862. He built vats into which the seawater was admitted, thus causing the evaporation of the water in a much shorter time.

In the same year the Union Pacific Salt Company established itself on 1,000 acres near the mouths of the Mt Eden and Alameda Creek and by 1878 it was the leading salt producer on the west coast. Another early salt-making company was the Crystal Salt Works, which set up operations in Washington Township.

The Leslie Salt Company was organized in San Mateo County in 1908 but later its production

Was concentrated in Alameda County. It was eventually merged with the two above named firms and several others to form the present company.

Plane Crash:

Deliberations continue on the Trans Ocean Air Liner that crashed in Alvarado with no specific cause yet found to explain the air crash.

Howard Bailey of San Lorenzo said he was driving near the site at the time of the crash when the airplane swooped low over Whipple Road, "with an orange flame spouting from the right inboard engine, and trailing smoke.

But investigators are greatly interested in a report by William E. Silva, an eye witness from Whipple Road, Alvarado, who said he found "chunks of ice" all over his lawn after the stricken airplane flashed over his home, crashed, and exploded.

Early Alameda County Post Offices:

San Leandro's Post Office comes of centennial age today, the 100th anniversary of the establishment of the Post Office there. It takes some precedence over Alvarado, whose Post Office will become a centenarian on August 8th, but neither can claim distinction as the first in what is now called Alameda County.

That honor goes to the area's first settlement, Mission San Jose, where a Post Office was opened April 9, 1850, three years before Alameda County was created. The mission was then in Santa Clara County.

Four other Post Offices antedated San Leandro, at the ranch of Robert Livermore, July 28, 1851, Contra Costa, which later became Oakland, and Union at Union City (which later became Alvarado), both on November 6, 1851; and Elk Horn, a hamlet whose location has been forgotten, on May 7, 1852.

Zoning Master Plan:

A group of men, all experts in their field, are working quietly to change the map of Southern Alameda County. With the result that one of these days there may be a planned system of industry, business sections, farms and residential areas stretching solidly from here (Oakland) to San Jose. Everybody probably realizes that the star of the future development shines in the open lands of Eden and Washington Townships.

The master plan, when it is finished, will set forth for consideration by county officials, already working on the problem on their own, the ideas of some of this county's leading men on the future use of thousands of acres. One of the projects being discussed, as an example, is the zoning of between 1,500 to 2,000-acres in the Alvarado area, which has access to both the Southern Pacific and Western Pacific Railroads and direct access to the proposed new Eastshore Freeway for industry.

If a Woodchuck Could Cut Wood...:

For 20 minutes Tuesday, the highest governing body in Alameda County, the Board of Supervisors, devoted lengthy and verbose attention to a request from the I.D.E.S. Lodge of Alvarado. The lodge wants permission to hold a parade next month.

There was not question about whether or not the permit would be granted. It's all a matter of protocol. The supervisors fell to arguing over whether the request should be channeled first to the Sheriff's Department and, if that department approved then on to the supervisors, or vice versa.

The weighty matter was finally left hanging as Supervisors Harry Bartell and Clifford Wixson voted against granting the permit until the sheriff has had a chance to make sure there'll be no traffic jams in Alvarado.

Holy Ghost:

Alvarado's festival of the Holy Ghost, first of the traditional religious and social celebrations of the Portuguese in this area, will be held on Saturday and Sunday. The Alvarado festival is held on the 4th Sunday after Easter will be followed by similar festivals at Centerville, Mission San Jose, and Newark in Washington Township.

The history of the event dates back to the days of Queen Isabel of Portugal, a good ruler with two passions in her life, care of the poor and the adoration of the Holy Ghost. Birth of the celebration dates to a year of famine, the story relates. A religious procession to the church, to pray for food, was halted by the queen while she placed her own crown on the head of a small child, to teach that all are equal in the eyes of God. As she set the crown on the head of the child, a ship bearing food was seen entering the harbor. Thereafter the king declared the day one of celebration.

The festival vows combine religious and social observances. Queens are chosen through a succession of years of service. A little queen rules each year beside the major queen. As the years pass, she progresses through her role of attendant to side maid, and from side maid to queen. A queen must be unmarried, and must have served the required years in attendant roles before she is eligible to reign.

The fete opens Saturday night with a procession. It begins at 7:00 p.m. from the home of Mr. & Mrs. M. C. Pinto, Alvarado, parents of this year's queen, Marlene Claire Pinto. The procession travels from the Pinto home of Mr. & Mrs. Frank Silveira, where Frances Silveira, Alvarado, who was last year's queen, joins the retinue and presents the lesser crown to Queen Marlene. This crown is of sterling silver and simpler in design than the one to be used in the formal coronation the following day.

Knifing:

Isa De Topete, Gilroy farm worker, was arraigned in Centerville's Justice Court yesterday on a charge of assault with deadly weapon. His case was continued when he asked for time to consult a lawyer.

De Topete, who speaks no English, allegedly stabbed Leno H. Gevara, an Alvarado ranch hand during a brawl at the Luneta Café in downtown Alvarado. Gevara is in Highland Hospital, still in serious condition, with a knife wound in his abdomen.

De Topete yesterday apparently had little understanding of the seriousness of his act. Speaking with the aid of an interpreter, he asked the court to check his work references and character, which he contended was good.

Chamber of Commerce:

In one of the most chamber-like meetings held in Washington Township this month, a handful of the membership of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce gathered last night to sing the praises of Alvarado. Routine reports were presented with examples of Alvarado's excellence in qualities that ranged from the cooking of beans to possession of the most desirable features for buying a home.

Figures quoted that showed the estimated influx of residents into California is now fixed at 1,000 persons per week. The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce members agreed that a good share of those people 1,000 people could be expected to choose locations in Alameda County, and they felt they could make no better choice than a residence in Alvarado.

Blowing of the Horn:

(Editorial from the Hayward Daily Review)

If there's one thing Alvaradan's like, it's Alvarado. At a recent meeting of the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce, the talk was sweet (naturally) to the ears of any Chamber of Commerce leader. The secretary began the meeting with a recent report on the recent county traffic patrol meet at Livermore for school traffic squads. Talk turned to refreshments, and it was reported that Alvarado had been asked to furnish the beans. "And they were the best beans there," the speaker asserted. "All the principals and school officials waited for lunch until they brought out the bean pots with the Alvarado label on them, and then they all got hungry, because the Alvarado beans were the best!" The meeting progressed and the talk turned to the population exodus to California. In general conversation it was agreed that (1) California is the best state; (2) Alameda is the best county; and (3) Alvarado was the best place to live. Members agreed they didn't want any mushrooming development like some other areas of Washington Township are seeing. "Alvarado's quieter, and we like it better that way," they nodded.

Reports went on and the speaker turned to recap of a recent Associated Chamber of Commerce meeting in Livermore. He rhapsodized over the dinner, and the quality of the barbecued steak served. "Was it Alvarado Steak?" came a sarcastic comment from the back of the room.

Plans Mapped for Final Freeway Link:

A route for a "million dollars a mile" link for the East Shore Freeway between Oakland and San Jose has been mapped by the State Division of Highways and submitted to the County Board of supervisors.

Maps of the 14-mile, four-lane section between Mt. Eden (Jackson Street, Hayward) and Warm Springs (near the merging of the Mission San Jose Hiway and the Old Oakland Road) and a proposed Freeway arrangement with the supervisors are expected to be accepted after minor revisions. The cost is pegged at $14,000,000.

The county has raised the question of the Baker Road (east of Lowry Road) slice that would remain after the freeway cuts through. Baker Road presently stretches from Hiway 17 east to Alameda Creek. The new freeway will cut the road in half and leave the eastern half of Baker Road without an entrance or an exit.

Flood Control Levee:

Engineers of the Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District will recommend tomorrow that county supervisors accept the $27,257 bid of Souza Brothers and McCue, Yuba City contractors for construction of the Alvarado levee between Marsh Road and the main channel outlet of Zone 3A.

The two-mile channel will follow the old Plummer Slough levee west from Marsh Road for about a mile, then turn north to a junction with the old Alameda Creek channel west of Alvarado. The levee work includes about 44,000 cubic yards of embankment and the installation of corrugated metal pipes and tide gates for local drainage.

Engineers said it would do much to protect Alvarado from future flooding from floodwaters from the south. The Plummer Slough levee was completely destroyed in many places by the 1950 and 1952 floods.

Farmers Plight:

How long can farmers hold out in the fast developing Southern Alameda County suburban area? Farmers themselves kicked the subject around last night and came out confused. An Alvarado farmer said there wouldn't be an acre to harrow in five years. Another suggests a poll by the Farm Bureau to determine how many farmers want to convert to real estate and get out.

But it took a couple of local ladies to suggest: (a) some farmland should be preserved in order for our future children to remember what a cow looks like, and (b) green fields furnish healthy surroundings and in case of disaster, open space for dispersal of city residents.

Consensus: They'll beat many a plowshare into a patio ornament before 1960.

La Vista Annexation:

Residents of two proposed La Vista area annexes will vote in April to see if more than 500 acres will be added to the city of Hayward. The Hayward City Council last night set public hearings on the annexes for March 15th and a tentative election of date of April 5th.

One annex, known as East La Vista, contains 327 acres. The other, known as West La Vista contains 198 acres. Both are adjacent to the Niles Highway (today's Mission Blvd.) north of the Hayward Golf Course (Alquire Road, known today as Industrial Blvd.).

NOTE: This article is mentioned because it gives a good reference of the La Vista area \(north of the old Holiday Bowl\) and it is the start of Hayward's push south. Although all of this area is in Eden Township, Washington Township lies just south of here in the Fairway Park subdivision.

Manuel P. Goularte, who for nine years was clerk of the Alvarado School's District Trustees, was awarded the first honorary lifetime membership ever given by the Alvarado PTA, at ceremonies at Alvarado School last week. Goularte, who retired from the board two years ago, was instrumental in securing from the Armed Forces the auxiliary buildings now in use by Alvarado School.

Also honored at Alvarado's first founder's day ceremony were past and present trustees of the district, and their wives, those in attendance were: Mr. & Mrs. Wilbert Hendricks, Mr. & Mrs. Manuel Perry, Mr. & Mrs. Warren Silva, Mr. & Mrs. Goularte, Mrs. Frank Machado, Mrs. Graydon Spurlock, and Mr. & Mrs. George Hocking.

Past presidents of the PTA, were also honored guests and were also recognized. Among those present were: Miss Mary Hughes, Mrs. Joseph Lewis, Mrs. Mae Santos and Mrs. Eldora Pinto.

Mrs. Jane C. Dakin planned the Founder's Day program. The theme was "Four Cornerstones – Home, School, Church, Community." Mrs. Dakin and Mrs. Laverne Shestack, PTA President, conducted the candle lighting ceremony. Committee members who assisted in producing this memorable "first" for Alvarado PTA included Mrs. Melvin Allegre, Mrs. Vincent Fontejon, Mrs. Spurlock, and Mrs. Elvin Rose.

Hayward to Circulate Petitions:

Backers of the Treeview Annexation to Hayward were today mapping plans for a concentrated drive to obtain voters signatures on petitions beginning March 4th. That date, 21 days from the publication of legal notices yesterday, is the first day petitions calling for an election on the annexation issue can be circulated legally.

The proposed annexation, largest in history, would add 2,400-acres or half of Hayward's present size to the city, if successful. Signatures of 25 percent of the registered voters will bring the issue to a vote. A simple majority will pass it.

The area in question includes Hillview Crest, the only densely populated part, and hundreds of acres of industrial and undeveloped land. It reaches from Hayward south to the edge of Decoto and Alvarado and west to the end of Arden Road.

Washington Township Girds for Hayward Land Grab:

Washington Township communities will organize a united front against Hayward's proposed annexation plan at a meeting tomorrow night.

Delegations from the Centerville, Irvington, Niles, Decoto and Alvarado Chambers of Commerce will join together at a strategy meeting at 8:00 p.m. in the Alvarado School auditorium. The Irvington and Niles chambers adopted a resolution yesterday opposing Hayward's announced intention to annex four square miles north of Decoto and east of Alvarado. The Centerville Chamber had voted its opposition earlier.

The land Hayward is trying to annex is just north of Whipple Road in the area known as the Hillview Crest subdivision and a block of land north of Hillview Crest.

The Oakland Tribune, February 16, 1955

Hayward to Annex Key Industrial Area:

Industry is the unknown quantity on which depends the success or failures of the proposed Treeview annexation to Hayward, Washington Township residents were told last night at a meeting of directors of the Chambers of Commerce of Alvarado Sanitary District and representatives of the fire districts of Alvarado and Decoto. The meeting was held at the Decoto Fire Station.

Representatives of Holly Sugar and U.S. Pipe and Steel were present, but said they had no answer to the question of industry's stand last night. They promised an answer at the time of Alvarado's Chamber of Commerce meeting on Thursday.

As far as local schools are concerned they emphasized at the meeting that there will be no effect on any school district, either elementary or high school because of the annexation.

Re-Birth of Union City:

Union City, 104 years after its first birth, was shaken awake from a long, long siesta last night in the preparation for what might be a new governmental era in Washington Township.

The name was the unanimous choice of 150 township residents for a proposed incorporated city to be formed of the area with Decoto and Alvarado school districts, excluding the Hillview Crest tract.

The first Union City was founded in 1851 by John Horner on the banks of the Alameda Creek a point known as "Devils Elbow." The new Union City is Washington Township's answer to a proposed annexation by Hayward of 2,400 acres, much of which lies within Washington Township's boundaries. Residents of Hillview Crest filed the annexation petition with Hayward.

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce was informed by legal advisors that a petition of incorporation, if filed before the City of Hayward's annexation petition, could stop the "land grab" by the city. Dr. Lyle Buehler of Niles, asked, "Can't the township do something? Maybe we can annex Hayward if we move fast enough."

The Daily Review, February 18, 1955

Three Sides to Hayward Annexation:

The current Hayward Vs. Treeview annex dispute raging in Washington Township is a question of three sides not two, C. E. Warner of Hillview Crest, said at a mass meeting held at Hillview Crest school yesterday. Cook said voters need not choose between Hayward or Washington Township allegiance at an election, but could reject any proposal to change and keep their status quo.

Yesterday's meeting was called by several Hillview Crest residents who attended the mass meeting at Alvarado School on Thursday. They felt that a presentation of cost figures outlined at that meeting should be repeated for Hillview Crest residents.

Cook concluded, "I am not in favor of Hayward, and I am not certainly in favor of being the back door of Decoto and Alvarado. I like it here, and I would like to keep it the way it is."

A member of the audience queried whether, "This is a Hillview Crest fight or an industrial fight under discussion?"

Proponents asked to justify an annexation of an area far outside of Hillview Crest boundaries, explained they felt the area a part of Hillview, because of the flood control election that united them.

The Daily Review, February 19, 1955

On The March:

It's all-out war in Eden and Washington Townships, where is Hayward is accused by her neighbors to the south of pulling a sneak attack trying to annex four square miles of open land. So Alvarado and Decoto are rushing out petitions, to go into circulation Friday, to incorporate Alvarado and Decoto into "Union City" to file as much of the same territory and precipitate a knockdown drag-out fight.

Boundaries for New Union City:

Proposed boundaries for Union City were approved yesterday by the Alameda County Boundaries Commission. The proposed incorporation is sparked by Decoto and Alvarado where residents plan one city under a new name to throw a legal block at the Treeview annexation that would add 2400 acres of land including valuable industrial properties to the city of Hayward.

The boundaries as approved by the commission include all of the Decoto and Alvarado school districts except those parts within Hillview Crest and a small portion inside Hayward.

incorporating "Union City" to beat Hayward to the punch. When the meetings are over both groups will send petition packers in all directions for signatures to back their views.

The Oakland Tribune, February 23, 1955

Ford Moves Plant:

A 90-truck caravan moving equipment from the 25-year old Ford assembly plant in Richmond will begin arriving in the Hayward area this evening on route to the huge new Ford assembly plant in Milpitas (today's Great Mall of the Bay Area in Milpitas).

The gigantic move will leave Richmond at 6:00 p.m. today and will follow a 51-mile route down the Eastshore Freeway and Highway 17 via San Lorenzo, Mt. Eden, Alvarado, Centerville, Irvington and Warm Springs.

The Daily Review, February 23, 1955

Incorporation Happy:

With all the irons in the fire, its just as well for the Washington Township Incorporation Study Committee to come up now with a plan to incorporate all of the south county into one big city. They have a Name Committee in action, so far mulling over names like Fremont City, Union City, Alvarado, Peralta, Washington City, Dumbarton and Mission City. This is not to be confused with another drive under way to unite Decoto and Alvarado into Union City to fight Hayward's drive for open territory.

Incorporation Petition:

A swift sign-up of petitions for incorporation of the communities of Alvarado and Decoto into a new Union City was set in motion by 100 Washington Township residents at a meeting last night in the Alvarado School Auditorium. The move is planned to block further annexation of Alvarado/Decoto unincorporated land by the city of Hayward. Under the chairmanship of Frank Borghi Jr., president of the Decoto Chamber of Commerce, 46 petitions were distributed to workers for incorporation.

The Oakland Tribune, February 25, 1955

Incorporation of Union City:

Proponents of incorporation of a new 15,000-acre Union City in Southern Alameda County took a major step toward their goal today. At 8:55 p.m. they filed petitions with county clerk Jack Blue asking the County Board of Supervisors to get eh machinery of incorporation rolling.

The petitions ask the board for incorporation of Union City as a city of the sixth class, where all city officials, with the exception of five councilmen, will be appointed. Councilmen will elected by districts, with district reapportionment required each four years, according to the petitions.

Hayward Acts on Annexation:

Formation of a new "Union City" in the Decoto-Alvarado area was blocked today as the Hayward City Council started proceedings to annex a major portion of the area. The council last night adopted a resolution acknowledging receipt from property owners in the district of notice of intention to annex and authorizing circulation of petitions for an election.

Union City is not Dead:

Union City is not dead. Its life was spared, at least temporarily, by a technicality that stalled action by the County Board of Supervisors that would have authorized Hayward to proceed with annexation in the territory sought by both.

Union City Proponents File Suit:

A pair of legal actions guarantee life and health to Union City for some weeks yet, attorney LeRoy Broun said at a mass meeting at Alvarado School.

The first action, to be carried direct to the Supreme Court by a Writ of Mandate, concern a question of jurisdiction. The question to be decided is the meaning of "filed" in the code, which defines the procedure, Broun said. He contends that Union City's petition for incorporation was "filed" when it was presented to the County Board of Supervisors by the clerk at approximately 2:00 p.m. on February 28th.

However, a ruling by the District Attorney interpreted the word to mean acceptance by supervisors, after the clerk had been instructed to check names and fix filing fees. That did not occur until the following day. Meanwhile Hayward, the district attorney ruled, gained jurisdiction by approving a resolution acknowledging intention to circulate petitions in the area of the Treeview annexation.

The second action, to be initiated in Superior Court, must await the outcome of a public hearing March 31st the attorney said.

"There is a grave legal problem involved here," Broun declared. "The problem here is, can 100 acres of inhabited land attach 2,300 hundred acres of uninhabited land and take it into the city against the wishes of its owners?" He said in this action an attempt would be made to prove a "fraud" against the landowners.

The second action cannot be initiated until petitions of exclusion have been presented by industrialists and agriculturalists at the public hearing March 31st.

New Alvarado:

Historic Alvarado is a name most suited to a nameless township city, members of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce declared last night. To the last member, they voted endorsement of "Alvarado" as the name of their choice for proposed incorporated city of Washington Township.

The Daily Review, March 18, 1955

Union City Fight Begins:

Sparked by the battle cry "the fight has just begun," Union City forces will file a petition with the state Supreme Court Tuesday asking that their incorporation move be ordered to proceed.

Attorney LeRoy Broun, legal adviser to the Union City Steering Committee, said at a Decoto meeting last night he will ask the high court to issue a Writ of Mandamus which, if granted, would order the Alameda County Board of Supervisors to proceed with Union City incorporation by setting a public hearing and ordering an election.

"The fight has just begun," Broun said as he outlined contemplated legal steps. This statement followed a remark by Decoto rancher Keith Whipple that "people here do not know what is going on, they don't know that Union City has a chance to succeed."

Others agree that many Decoto and Alvarado residents had decided, "nothing can be done" since the supervisors ordered the Union City petition filed without action.

The Alvarado-Niles Road is to provide for a complete traffic interchange at its junction with the Eastshore Freeway. North of the freeway it is to be widened up four traffic lanes on an 80-foot right of way. South of the freeway, Alvarado-Niles Road is to be a divided highway with four lanes of moving traffic, two parking lanes and two sidewalk areas. The right of way is to be 110-foot wide. Estimated cost of construction is $600,000.

Whipple Road is to be widened to 92-feet. There are to be four moving lanes of traffic, parking lanes and sidewalks, in addition to a center divider. The "dog- leg" at Alvarado is to be eliminated and there will be a direct connection to a freeway on-ramp.

Present traffic flow on Whipple Road is 480 cars vehicles per day. By 1975 it is estimated that figure will be increased to 12,000 to 15,000 vehicles a day.

Alvarado Zoning:

Precise zoning for Alvarado will be accomplished in about a month. A representative from the Alameda County Planning Commission's technical staff appeared at Thursday night's Chamber of Commerce meeting to display tentative maps and seek zoning suggestions from residents. He explained that Alvarado would be limited to an area bounded on one side by the East Shore Freeway (I-880), and on the other by a flood control levee (Lowry Road), which is still to be constructed. He said any residential construction must go inside that area. The speaker warned that Alvarado is unprepared for any tract development. He said if homes were to be constructed in the community, a high tax rate must result because of inadequate sanitation, need for enlarged schools, and lack of industry.

Union City gets Hearing:

The Union City vs. Treeview dispute was the sixth case on the calendar of the District Appellate Court in San Francisco today. At issue in the case, which is calendared as "Frank Borghi vs. the Alameda County Board of Supervisors," is 2,400 acres of industrial land south of Hayward's borders. Hayward proposes to annex the area and the residents of Alvarado and Decoto want to incorporate into Union City.

The action involves the board of supervisors because its members decided last month that they could not accept Union City's annexation petitions because, in the opinion of their legal counsel, Hayward's annexation had priority.

Irvington Looks to Incorporate:

Members of the Irvington Chamber of Commerce last night approved the chamber incorporation committee's recommendation to initiate an immediate survey to determine the practicality of a tri-city incorporation of the communities of Irvington, Warm Springs and Mission San Jose.

Patrick Henry, budget analyst for the Alameda County Taxpayers Association, was asked if he thought incorporation here (Irvington), either on a township-wide or a tri-community basis was premature. He replied, "It is not premature, you only have a limited amount of time in which to do something. The subdividers will be moving into Alvarado this year. How much time there will be before they completely engulf the town (Alvarado) is uncertain.

Fire District:

The Alvarado Fire Commission has asked the County Board of Supervisors and the District Attorney's Office to "initiate immediate action to test the validity of Hayward's (Treeview) annexation proposal.

In a letter to the board, chairman of the commission, A. A. Lee said, "three-fourths of the Alvarado Fire District will be lost to Hayward if the Treeview annex is successful. On the district's twenty cent tax rate, this would mean that revenues would be cut to $800." It's obvious, Lee's letter stated that the, "department could not operate on that amount and its economically impractical to raise taxes sufficiently to provide adequate for fire protection for what will be left for the rest of the district."

Treeview Vote:

In a heavy turnout yesterday, Treeview residents voted 453-145 to become part of the city of Hayward.

"There was wonderful feeling in Hillview Crest last night within a couple of hours after the polls closed, when word about the results got around," A.J. DeMamiel, Treeview committee chairman for the annex, reported.

The result was a bitter pill to swallow for Alvarado and Decoto residents who had hopes of taking Treeview into Union City.

School District Consolidation:

Trustees of four elementary school districts will study a proposed district unification, but voters must approve ultimate action. This was decided at a meeting last night between school officials and a committee of Washington Township businessmen, industrialists and agriculturalists. Districts participating the study include Decoto, Alvarado, Niles and Alviso.

Reasons advanced in favor of the proposal were economy, greater influence to be exerted by a larger group, and opportunity to extend a larger educational opportunity to the children.

School Redistricting:

Washington Township schools have been promised a redistricting study will be launched in their district by the Alameda County Committee on School District Organization.

Dr. Harold Schoenfeld, Superintendent of Decoto Elementary School District, presented the request of Alviso, Alvarado, Niles and Decoto Elementary Schools for a reorganization study in their areas last night.

Industrialists, agriculturalists and school trustees of the areas agreed unanimously earlier this week to petition the committee for the study on the grounds consolidation of their districts might result in economies of operation.

Schoenfeld also asked trustee boards of Hayward and Washington Union High School districts to get together on a revision of district boundary lines to coincide with school attendance areas. Unless they do this, he said, some students who live within a mile of Washington's new site in Decoto will be walking almost two miles to Hayward's proposed high school in LaVista.

Alvarado Zoning:

A request for "exclusive" zoning from the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce has been referred by the Alameda County Supervisors to Planning Director John Jay Thomas for recommendation. The Alvarado chamber wrote the board requesting that "immediate action be taken to preserve land for use as it was originally zoned, otherwise the zoning plan of any community would have little significance.

The chamber pointed out what "appears to be a weakness in the zoning ordinance" that residential building in a commercially zoned area does not require a use permit.

"By this letter we are requesting emergency legislation which would require a use permit for construction or use other than commercial in any commercially zoned area," chamber officials wrote. "In this way, land reserved for commercial use could be reserved for this purpose."

Alviso School Opts Out of District Consolidation:

The Alviso School District trustees last night spoke against joining the movement to consolidate the Alviso, Alvarado, Decoto and Niles School districts. The stand was taken at an informal meeting called to acquaint voters with the problems of the district and to enlist support for a tax increase election July 12th.

Trustees Ralph Logan said that consolidation would help the other three districts, but not Alviso. He pointed out that Alviso is asking for a tax increase from 80 cents to $1.30 for each $100 in assessed valuation, but the proposed tax for a unified district is $1.42. Therefore taxpayers in the Alviso district would have to pay a higher tax than necessary to operate their school. The other districts would experience a reduction.

James Nunes, principal of the school, said that consolidation required only a resolution by the trustees and not a vote of the people. However any tax increase would require an election.

Trustee Earl Green added, "You know how much our vote would count in such a election."

Water & Taxes in Zone 5:

Next Tuesday voters of the 71-square mile area extending from a line just south of Alvarado to the PG&E Road (Stevenson Blvd in Fremont) will determine in a large measure the future development of their region.

The area is Zone 5 of the Alameda County Flood District. If the zone is to be activated at the cheapest possible tax rate, voters must endorse the proposed $3,989,000 bond issue, which will be on the ballot Tuesday. The alternative to the bond issue will be a pay-as-you-go tax, a financing method that the County Board of Supervisors is empowered to put into operation. It would result in a higher tax rate and, at the same time, would slow improvements to a snail's pace.

Eagles to Unite:

The traditional sanctuary of the American male, Lodge Night, is on its way out. At least in Alvarado where the lady Eagles have voted to hold their meetings on the same nights their husbands meet. Further, the meeting place is right in the room next to the men's lodge room.

In Alvarado lodge night will no longer suffice as a dodge to get out on the town. Mrs. Laura Gallo speaking for the ladies says the men really don't mind the arrangement, since the two groups join in a social hour after the meeting. The men, gentlemen that they are haven't come forward to make any comment on the matter.

Courts Strip Hayward of Treeview:

Hayward and Washington County continued to be rocked by conflicting opinions today in the wake of a court decision declaring Hayward's giant Treeview annexation illegal. Residents of the more than 600 homes in Hillview Crest were assured they would continue to receive fire and police protection. But there were differences of opinion on who provide it.

Many saw the decision as a victory for those who hope to incorporate Decoto and Alvarado and the industrial land north of the township line as Union City. Most predicted more rounds in the legal battle for jurisdiction. This much was known: Unless upset by the court of appeals, the decision strips Hayward of the Hillview Crest subdivision and a vast area of the finest industrial land remaining in Alameda County. The Treeview annex, which was started in February of this year, was the largest annexation project in Alameda County history, covering more than four square miles.

Alvarado:

(From The Tribune's Editorial Pages)

Editor: Shades of the Great Señor Alvarado:

The city of Alvarado in South Alameda County has always held some historical interest. It's a sort of first or a last town on the way to San Jose depending which way one travels. Having traveled it by horse as well as by motor one can over the years call towns like Alvarado old friends.

Now, one can't stand the thought of an old friend getting seedy. For some time now fallen buildings grace the main street and no one seems to want to pick them up. How about it, friend Mayor? How about a "fallen building" bee.

Alvarado School:

Few areas in all of California are feeling more growing pains than Washington Township. In no field is this growth reflected more startling than in education, where harried administrators and trustees seek to keep up with the influx of students. Some districts have escaped the big growth so far, but it will hit them soon. Here is the outlook for the Alvarado District:

Alvarado: The district has no new additions and is planning none. The school, located at 1651 Smith Street, Alvarado, has a staff of nine teachers and an attendance of about 300 pupils. Little increase is expected.

Incorporation Fever:

Incorporation fever has hit the town of Newark and remaining towns in Washington Township outside of Union City. Newark wants to incorporate into its own city and the remaining towns of Warm Springs, Mission San Jose, Irvington, Niles, Centerville and the Alviso district wish to incorporate into the City of Fremont. The battle looms over unincorporated land between the two cities. Newark wants the Eastshore Freeway (I-880) to be the dividing line and Fremont favors historical boundaries.

Cucumber Harvester:

The cucumber farmer may soon see his crops harvested with laborers picking the annual crop on their stomachs. An experimental cucumber harvester with a 12 row picking capacity, employing a crew of 13 men, was placed into operation near Alvarado recently on the Joe Soares ranch. The form implement consists of two wings operated through a hydraulic which lowers 12 men, six on each wing, down to about 15 inches from the ground and the 12 men pick the cucumbers and place them on a conveyor just under them. The machine is capable of picking 4,000 pounds per acre per hour.

Alvarado Yacht Harbor:

Alvarado, down in the Southern Alameda County area between the salt beds and the spinach fields, may come up with the plush trappings of California living yet. There's a move under way to develop a yacht harbor and recreational facilities at the mouth of a big $4,000,000 flood control channel, if the State Park Commission thinks well of the proposition.

Alvarado:

\(From The Tribune's Editorial Pages\)

Editor: Shades of the Great Señor Alvarado:

Congratulations to the enterprising citizens of the town of Alvarado. Recently I wrote about the "fallen buildings" on the main street, but lo' and behold, they've been cleared away and good old Alvarado is joining the march of progress which is so evident in the South Alameda County.

There is a great future ahead for that area. Let's hope a real Master Plan is being evolved and followed while there is still time. We have to look to the present board of supervisors for statesmanship, recent repetitions of mistakes made in the past when place and areas just grew like Topsy.

New Freeway Section Through Alvarado:

The most expensive section of the yet to be completed Eastshore Freeway is the stretch from Jackson Street in Hayward to Warm Springs in Washington Township. This 14.5-mile stretch of freeway is slated to cost $10,500,000 and will finally complete the Richmond to San Jose (*) connection.

The first 5.5-miles of that section, from Jackson Street in Hayward to Beard Road between Alvarado and Centerville, is already in this year's budget for $4,500,000 and will be advertised for bids soon. Planning for the last portion to Warm Springs will be completed this year.

*The freeway completion to Warm Springs ended the freeway and put the traveler on Mission Boulevard. From here the traveler must take the Old Oakland Highway through Warm Springs and Milpitas before ending on 13th Street in east San Jose. In 1958-59 the freeway was extended from Warm Springs to Gish Road, bypassing Warm Springs and Milpitas, where the freeway ended.

Eventually, stretches of the freeway would be added across San Jose and into the Santa Cruz Mountains where the new Highway 17 came to rest in Santa Cruz.

The Oakland Tribune, September 18, 1955

Zoning:

The planning committee designated commercial areas for Alvarado, but Smith Street may ultimately become a residential area because it is planned to be a primary connection with the new freeway. The salt pond and salt works areas along the bay front were left unclassified for want of an adequate classification. Most of the remainder of the area was left in agricultural status.

Union City Petition:

The initial step toward renewed efforts for incorporation of Union City was taken in Oakland yesterday, when intent to circulate petitions was filed with County Clerk Jack Blue. The intent notice was signed by Frank Borghi, as chairman and Leslie Maffey as secretary of the Union City incorporation committee.

Union City's earlier move to incorporate the area, comprising Decoto and Alvarado Elementary School Districts less the subdivision of Hillview Crest, Fairway Park and El Rancho Verde, was stopped by the 2,400-acre Treeview annex to Hayward. Boundaries of Treeview and Union City overlapped and the Alameda County Board of Supervisors ruled that the (Hayward) annexation held jurisdiction.

Treeview, in turn, when industries and ranchers in the annexed area won a judgment from in the court of Superior Court Judge Mosbacher. That judgment was signed October 3rd. The City of Hayward has 60 days from that date to file an appeal.

Meanwhile, the 600-home subdivision of Hillview Crest has filed for annexation to Hayward Boundaries, covering 126-acres, have been approved by the Alameda County Boundaries Commission.

Frank Borghi, of the Union City Steering Committee, last night confirmed that Union City stands ready to begin anew the legal steps leading to incorporation.

Union City Petition Pigeon-Holed:

The Alameda County Supervisors have declined to give official approval to the circulation of a petition for the incorporation of the controversial territory of "Union City." The board simply acknowledged and receipted a notice of intention to circulate a petition presented by a group advocating incorporation. Thus the board did not file the papers formally with the county clerk, which would have given the group the go-ahead to circulate a petition leading toward a hearing for an election.

Asst. District Attorney Douglas Dunning, board counsel, told the supervisors that the notice was "premature" in so far as an appeal has not yet been taken by the City of Hayward to a Superior Court decision declaring Hayward's annexation of the Treeview section "null and void."

Judge Cecil Mosbacher found on behalf of American Pipe & Foundry, Holly Sugar and 10 other property owners that the spring annexation was of no effect because only nine and not twelve qualified voters lived in the undeveloped area west of the populous Hillview Crest subdivision, which also was included in the annexation.

The area west of the railroad tracks (western Whipple Road) is prize industrial land and is coveted for inclusion within city limits. "Union City" advocates filed notice of intention to circulate a petition immediately after Judge Mosbacher's findings were signed, but a statutory time still exists for the filing of an appeal to the state Appellate Court. The city has indicated it will appeal.

Union City Incorporation Must Go Forward:

Union City's incorporation must be pushed, members of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce declared last night. The movement, born as a stopgap measure to halt the planned Treeview annexation by the City of Hayward, must now become a reality.

Members discussed Fremont's encirclement of Newark, which was likened to Hayward's annexation of Treeview. "We said we didn't like Hayward's annexation move," a member of the group said, "well, Fremont's encirclement of Newark is the same thing, and I think we ought to dislike that too. I don't know if Fremont or Hayward is worse, but I think I prefer Hayward."

City-County Tax:

The collection of a record $66,499,107.67 will begin here November 1st when the first installment from Alameda County's 225,000 taxpayers becomes due, according to County Tax Collector Edwin Meese Jr. (U.S. Attorney General from 1985-1988 in the Reagan White House Cabinet).

The final date for paying these taxes will be Monday December 12th at 5:00 p.m. This is an extension of two days because December 10th falls on a Saturday. Meese will collect combined city-county from five cities: Oakland, Emeryville, Hayward, Pleasanton and San Leandro.

The total assessment is broken down into $57,586,503.80 for the county's real and personal property tax roll and $8,912,603.79 for the public utilities roll.

Hunter Caught with 23 Ducks:

J.M. Joseph, Protection Supervisor at the C&H Sugar Refining Corp.'s Crockett plant, faces arraignment November 18th on charges of having 23 ducks in his possession despite his statement that he did not shoot the birds and was merely about to turn them over to a duck club official.

Joseph was cited by federal and state authorities at a duck club near Alvarado for allegedly having 13 ducks over the legal 10-duck limit. He maintained that he gathered the ducks, which he said had been shot by other hunters, and was taking them to the clubhouse caretaker.

After yesterday's conference, Deputy District Attorney Glenn Forbes said the complaint against Joseph would not be dropped and that the investigation will continue.

Henry Patterson Dies:

Henry H. Patterson, whose father laid the foundation of the famous Patterson Ranch in 1851, died last Friday in the family home where he was born 77 years ago. Patterson's father, George W. Patterson came to California in 1849. He settled in Southern Alameda County two years later and began acquiring property, including the Spanish Land Grants that became the keystone of the many thousands of acres Patterson held in this area.

The ranch owned by Patterson and his brother William, is believed to be the largest still held by its pioneer owners in Alameda County. Mr. Patterson was instrumental in the opening of the Bank of Alvarado and was on the Board of Directors for many years. He is survived by his wife Sarah, whom he married in 1913.

Annexation Fight Continues:

The planning commission's zoning proposal for Northern Washington Township, in the hopper since last May, ran into a heavy barrage of protest when they reached the Board of Supervisors yesterday. The board reacted after a four-hour battle, set to reconnoiter next Tuesday afternoon with the planning staff and bring the matter to a decision at 10:00 a.m. Wednesday.

Robert Nahas, Chairman of the Alameda County Land Development Committee, fired the first blast, and then wheeled up the heavy artillery of South County industrialists, ranchers and the Chamber of Commerce. They directed their fire at 2300 acres bounded on the southwest by the Alvarado Niles Road, on the southeast by Dry Creek, on the east by the Southern Pacific railway, on the west by the new Eastshore Freeway, and on the north by the common Washington Township and Eden boundary.

The Planning Commission said this area should be zoned for agriculture, as a "holding" action, until the commission is able to determine from a comprehensive viewpoint what is the best ultimate use for this acreage.

The Land Development Committee and its cohorts maintained that it should be earmarked for immediate industrial use.

The Daily Review, November 18, 1955

PTA:

A dance, with proceeds earmarked for the United Crusade Fund in Washington Township will be sponsored by the Alvarado PTA tonight, it was announced today by Mrs. Shirley Banworth, President. The dance will be held at the Alvarado Elementary School, beginning at 9:00 p.m. The Pinto Brothers Orchestra will supply the music. PTA members and their guests are invited to attend.

The Daily Review, November 18, 1955

Local Zoning Questioned:

Industry is being zoned out of the county, the Board of Supervisors was told yesterday. The best industrial sites in the county are in the neighborhood of Decoto, Alvarado and Alviso, and unless they are set aside for industry, it will go elsewhere, the supervisors were warned.

Most of the area sought by industry has been designated for agriculture by the commission. It can be rezoned for industry when the time comes, the commission contended.

This, the protesting group held to be impractical. Industry will turn aside and look elsewhere for sites if the land has to be rezoned before industry can use it, its spokesman said.

Eagles Auxiliary:

A potluck dinner "family night" for November 28th was planned at this week's meeting of the Alvarado Auxiliary of Eagles No. 1695, according to Mrs. Laura Gallo, publicity chairman. The dinner will precede the regular meeting at the Alvarado F.O.E. Hall.

Also announced were plans for a visit to Parks AFB Hospital Monday and a Christmas party to be held December 12th. Members agreed to a suggestion that they undertake as a community service project the visitation of a local rest home. Selection of the rest home to be visited will be made at the November 28th meeting.

The Daily Review, November 18, 1955

Chamber of Commerce:

More information and more public meetings are needed on Union City, members of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce declared at last week's meeting. To assure information on progress toward city hood, the chamber approved the appointment of a special "prodding" committee to elicit public action from the Union City Steering Committee. Members of the Alvarado committee are Warren Silva, Henry Leidsen and Leslie Maffey.

Widespread violation of the county fire prevention ordinance in Alvarado, as concerns Monday burning and burning in the afternoon, was reported. It was suggested that the chamber sponsor box holder reminder notices to all Alvarado residents, citing provision of the ordinance.

More complaints were voiced about the speed of trucks passing central Alvarado. It was agreed, however, that the completion of the East Shore Freeway would relieve the problem.

Decoto-Alvarado Zoning Set:

The Decoto-Alvarado area of Alameda County has been precisely zoned by the Board of Supervisors in accordance with the recommendation of the County Planning Commission.

However, the board immediately moved to start an action to rezone the area generally north of Whipple Road from the railroads on the east to the Newark Southern Pacific line on the west for heavy industry.

This was in accord with demands of industrial leaders who again appeared before the board yesterday to insist that suitable lands be set aside in the county for their purpose.

Chamber of Commerce:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce last night went on record in favor of a joint installation of new officers with the Decoto Chamber of Commerce "sometime in January." "The Alameda County Board of Supervisors will be invited," President Henry Leidsen told chamber members meeting at the firehouse.

He said the invitation would be extended to the supervisors "to show them the two chambers are working together toward the realization of Union City." The joint installation was recommended by the Union City Steering Committee as a step toward merging the two chambers into a single body to be known as the Union City Chamber of Commerce.

Leidsen said the two chambers would remain separate for the time being, but would meet together "every two or three months."

The Alvarado chamber's board of directors and officers with one exception will remain the same for another year. The only change on the slate will be the replacement of William Gianella, alternate director, with Joseph Lewis who is also chamber vice-president. Other directors include Leidsen, Mabel Rogers, John Ratekin, Susie Lemos, Manuel Borges, Warren Silva, Damaso Diaz and Leslie Maffey, who is also secretary-treasurer.

Flood:

Flood control engineers kept a minute-to-minute watch on Niles Canyon gauges of Alameda Creek at noon today, and every man in the sheriffs department was alerted to stand by for an order to evacuate 500 families from Alvarado. The creek, rising steadily in Niles Canyon, had already overflowed Hiway 17 between Alvarado and Centerville, at the "Four Corners." There were minor levee breaks near Holly Sugar Company, and dykes were weakening along Nursery Road (Alvarado-Niles Road), reports from the area said.

The Daily Review, December 23, 1955

Flood:

Some 100 people from the Southern Alameda County town of Alvarado awoke this morning to water as the pounding tides opened a 50-foot hole in the levee built to protect the community from the Bay. The flood, which reached depths of four feet minutes after the levee broke, came less than 16 hours after water swept though 100 homes in the nearby Niles area causing the evacuation of the area.

While the flood in the Niles Area hit unexpectedly that at Alvarado had been feared since early last evening. Residents had spent the night waiting to see if the levee would hold, with most of them packed up and ready to leave on a moments notice. Sheriff's officers reported the evacuation was orderly, with most of the flood victims leaving in their own cars.

The south part of Alvarado, south of "V" Street and west of Highway 17 was covered with water. Highway 17 was reopened at noon as the floodwaters receded.

The Oakland Tribune, December 24, 1955

Flood:

Nothing but the tan muddy water moved yesterday over a fifteen-square mile stretch of flooded farmland close to the Bay in Southern Alameda County. From the air only orderly ranks of utility poles and an occasional fence line marked much of what had been rich farmland in the Alvarado area.

Miles-long fingers of the muddy water that poured through at least three breaks in the levee system reach as far east as the foothills at Niles. Many miles of access roads were flooded and dozens of farming community families were evacuated by the Alameda county sheriff's Department.

Flood:

The cause of the record-breaking floods of last weekend was simply record shattering rainfall, experts agreed today. Launched by almost 2½ inches of downpour in four days, the near catastrophe got its real impetus from a 3-inch cloudburst Thursday night and Friday morning. Alameda Creek rose nearly 20 feet. By mid-afternoon Friday it was touching the underside of the 1937-model concrete bridge, which carries Highway 9 (Mission Boulevard) south of Niles.

Friday morning about 10:00 o'clock, the levee which separates the creek from the Pacific Coast Aggregates gravel pit at Centerville gave way. The pit is 80 feet deep. It filled up in four hours, and then started spilling toward Machado's Corners (Decoto Road & Alvarado-Centerville Road) and Crandall Slough (Patterson Ranch near the end of the old Marsh Road), following the slope of the ground.

Watermen believe this may have saved Alvarado and other down-stream communities from even worst fates. When the levee broke, the water level at imperiled Bell Ranch Bridge (near today's Decoto Road & Paseo Padre Parkway), a mile downstream, dropped two-feet.

Duck Poacher Fined:

J. M. Joseph, 58, a Crockett sugar refinery protection supervisor, was fined $100 today for possessing 23 ducks, 13 over the legal limit. Joseph was found guilty by Judge William Gile Jr. of Pleasanton in the Niles Centerville Judicial Court.

Two game wardens testified they saw Joseph throw a sack under the clubhouse of the Carquinez Gun Club near Alvarado on October 30th. They said the sack contained 13 ducks.

Joseph told the court he was the last hunter to leave the pond. He had 10 ducks he had shot in his bag. He said he picked up the other 13 ducks, which had been left behind by other hunters because he didn't want them to spoil. He said he was taking the 13 extra ducks to the clubhouse to give to the caretaker.

Flood Relief:

More than 100 families in Southern Alameda County have registered for flood relief with the American Red Cross. Locally, notices in Spanish and Portuguese have been posted at the Alvarado Elementary School to inform those who do not understand English.

The Oakland Tribune, January 1, 1956

Flood Control:

The Alameda County Board of Supervisors today gave flood control engineer Herbert G. Crowle a "blank check" to finance removal of debris from Alameda Creek. The supervisors had already approved $10,000 for debris piled up around the now repaired levee break near Niles. The work will include Zone 5 in Niles Canyon and Zone 3A around Alvarado.

The Oakland Tribune, January 5, 1956

City of Fremont:

The City of Fremont was born today as the 12th city in Alameda County. This incorporates the towns of Niles, Centerville, Irvington, Mission San Jose and Warm Springs (It also included the Alviso District, which along with Alvarado formed much of the original "Potrero de los Cerritos" Mexican land grant). Fremont is the second city in Washington Township, joining the City of Newark. Alvarado and Decoto remain as unincorporated towns.

The Oakland Tribune, January 5, 1956

Flood Damage:

There was a sharp upturn in the outlook for Alameda Creek flood victims today with twin promises of immediate Federal aid out of Washington and the county's pledge to clear timber and debris from danger spots in the creek between Niles and San Francisco Bay.

At the same time farmers damaged by the recent flood became eligible for Federal loans as the Agriculture Department designated Alameda County as one of 37 California counties in an emergency loan area. Property owners along the creek must sign agreements to make minor levee repairs and maintain them in the future as a condition to the Army Corps of Engineers taking over major repairs.

Alameda County Agriculture Commissioner Edward K. Strobridge said this morning that farmers would be referred to the Farmers Home Administration for relief. He said he has already referred several local farmers to the administration. He mentioned specifically Warren Hayashi, Alvarado nurseryman, who had 250,000 azaleas plants "literally buried in the mud."

Hayward Man Beaten & Robbed:

A 45 year-old Hayward man told Washington Township sheriff's deputies, late last night that two men who followed him into the restroom of the New Manila Café, Alvarado, robbed him of $25 after attacking him. Clarence R. Vaughan of Hayward, said the two men, "Latin types," in their early 20's struck him several times, knocking him to the floor.

Alvarado-Decoto Into Fremont:

Possible annexation of Alvarado and Decoto to giant, newly formed Fremont was slowed today by a spokesman for Union City. Attorney LeRoy Broun, legal advisor for the twin city, said Union City is still the goal of Alvarado and Decoto. There is no truth to the rumors Union City plans will be abandoned for annexation to Fremont.

Broun said Union City has no choice, at present, but to continue its action for incorporation. "We are still awaiting the outcome of the appeal filed by the City of Hayward on the Treeview annexation," the attorney said. "We have no other course of action until that appeal is settled."

Union City was formed by the citizens of Alvarado and Decoto when Hayward undertook to annex land lying between the two towns. Although Union City was declared invalid, a fight to stop Hayward's annexation won its first round in the Superior Court. Hayward has appealed the decision to the court of appeals.

Alvarado News:

Mr. & Mrs. Joe Maciel and Mr. & Mrs. Joe Goularte spent the New Year's weekend in Pasadena with Mr. & Mrs. Bill Juenemannia. On Monday they saw the Rose Bowl Parade, which they enjoyed very much. Later they visited Mr. & Mrs. Don Clark, the former Barbara Maciel of Alvarado, Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm and Santa Anita Racetrack. They also went to Monterey to visit Captain and Mrs. Harry Huston, the former Margie Silva of Alvarado.

S.P.R.S.I Council 21 of Alvarado will have the annual dinner and revealing of pals on January 19th at Onstead's in San Leandro at 6:30. Reservation should be made before January 16th with Helen P. Gularte, Anne Hendricks or Helen Perry.

Happy birthday to Danny Rose who celebrated his thirteenth birthday Saturday.

LeRoy Broun New Fremont City Attorney:

LeRoy A. Broun, Centerville Attorney, last night told Fremont city council members that he would accept the appointment of city attorney. Broun, a very successful and busy Washington Township lawyer, is also the legal advisor for the Union City movement in Alvarado and Decoto.

The Daily Review, January 13, 1956

Flood Control:

Repair of broken levees from Niles to Alvarado along Alameda Creek, will begin Monday, weather permitting, James Vivrette told a citizens flood control committee last night. Even as he spoke, the weekends newly arrived storm had caused flood warnings along the Alameda Creek as the water level inched upward.

The Daily Review, January 14, 1956

Flood:

Alameda County and the rest of Northern California got set for possible new floods today, but no definite threats had developed in the local area by noon.

The U.S. Weather Bureau, which earlier warned of a possible recurrence of the disastrous December (1955) floods, reported the current storms would not be as serious as those that caused the earlier floods.

Flood control officials said San Lorenzo Creek would be above normal from 2:00 a.m. today to 2:00 a.m. Sunday, and Alameda Creek would be up from 2:00 a.m. Sunday to 2:00 a.m. Monday. The two creeks went over their banks during the last storms on December 22nd and 23rd, causing heavy damage in the Cherryland, San Lorenzo, Niles and Alvarado areas and causing hundreds to flee from their homes.

Flood:

Fair skies with no rain today and tomorrow brought welcome news to Alvarado residents. But even with the good news, additional hardships hit Alvarado as the levee on Alameda Creek broke west of Marsh Road this morning sending water splashing over the western area of the community. The levee break measured 35-feet.

Leslie H. Maffey:

Leslie H. Maffey, superintendent of the Alvarado School District was awarded an honorary life membership in the Alvarado PTA at last week's Founders Day program. Maffey was the second to be accorded the honor in Alvarado. Last year, the membership's tribute went to Manuel Goularte, former district trustee.

The Daily Review, January 16, 1956

Water Rates:

Money spent "judiciously when needed and where needed, with no increase in the tax rate" was good enough for the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce last night. The Chamber unanimously endorsed the Alameda County Water District's proposed $4,290,000 bond issue for distribution system improvements after listening to T. C. Binkley, consulting engineer for the district. He explained, unlike a school bond issue, the water bonds would be self-liquidating "as long as water remains at an adequate level."

The Daily Review, January 17, 1956

Alvarado Mass Meeting:

Citizens of this rain-soaked community have called a mass meeting for 7:00 p.m. today at the Riverside Hotel to explore ways to keeping water out of their land. A spokesman said, "We are calling this meeting because the county doesn't seem to be allowing any money to build levees here. We're getting tired of having our yards full of water all of the time." The spokesman urged residents of Smith Street, especially, to attend. One of the plans that are expected to be put forward involves property owners putting up their own money to rebuild the levees.

The Daily Review, January 17, 1956

C of C Joint Installation:

Earl Strathman, County Administrator, was guest speaker following a joint installation of Alvarado and Decoto Chamber of Commerce members held last night at McIntyre's Restaurant in Niles. Mr. Strathman told of the challenges facing Union City and stated they are the same problems that were faced by Newark and Fremont in their bids for incorporation. He promised county assistance whether the decision in Union City is for incorporation or annexation.

LeRoy Broun, acting Master of Ceremonies, also served as installing officer. Seated in Office for Alvarado were Henry Leidsen, President; Joseph Lewis, Vice-President; and Leslie Maffey, Secretary-Treasurer.

Taking office for Decoto were Frank Borghi, President; Kenneth Garcia, First Vice-President; Jesse Perry, Second Vice-President; S. Robert Infelise, Secretary; Bernard Joseph, Financial Secretary; Jack Faletti, Treasurer; and Harold Schoenfeld, Parliamentarian.

Flood Control Meeting Canceled:

A scheduled citizen's meeting here last night, called to discuss raising an emergency fund for levee repair along the Alameda Creek, was canceled.

Alvarado-Decoto Incorporation:

Proponents of the Union City incorporation today submitted a new notice of intent to circulate petitions for incorporation election. Territory proposed for the incorporation is the large Alvarado-Decoto area, minus the Hillview Crest, El Rancho Verde and Fairway Park subdivisions, which led to hot controversy last year when Hayward tried to annex the same territory.

LeRoy Broun, attorney for the Union City Steering Committee, told The Daily Review this morning that submission of the intent notice has no significance in connection with a possible choice between incorporation and annexation to the new City of Fremont. "It is simply a holding operation to keep everything in status quo," Broun said.

(Definite incorporation action is tied up while Hayward fights an Alameda Superior Court ruling, which nullified the successful Treeview election designed to bring territory into Hayward.)

Frank Borghi, steering committee chairman, said last week that a decision on incorporation vs. annexation to Fremont would have to wait on research. He said the Alameda Taxpayers Association would be asked to do a study on comparative advantages and disadvantages.

Alvarado Disaster Warning Successful:

A disaster warning system initiated in Alvarado prior to Sunday's levee break proved very successful, Lt. Joseph Sheehan of the Washington substation said today. He said the warning system would be used to notify residents of all impending disasters except air raids. Patrol cars are sent to the disaster area to circle the blocks with sirens blaring. Through a public address system the officer will notify residents of the impending disaster. All who hear the warning will be asked to warn neighbors and friends.

The City of Newark:

George Silliman is the Mayor of Newark, a community surrounded by 99 square miles of Fremont, which in turn may some day be adjacent to Union City (if Alvarado and Decoto merge). So the Alvarado and Decoto Chambers of Commerce were holding joint installation ceremonies and someone, noting that Newark is an island community, asked Mayor Silliman for a few words.

"I feel very much among friends." beamed the mayor, "In fact, I feel surrounded by friends." Yes, any day now Newark will name its theme song, "Stay as Nice as You Are."

The Oakland Tribune, January 20, 1956

Flood Control:

Another resolution asking Congress to appropriate $100,000 for completion of a flood control survey report on Alameda Creek by the U.S. Corps of Engineers will be sent to Senators William Knowland and Thomas Kuchel.

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce took the action last night in its first meeting of the year. A similar resolution was adopted Tuesday by the Washington-Eden Farm Center.

Mabel Rogers, chamber member, said people whose lands have been flooded by the creek, but do not live alongside the stream could help the situation by aiding property owners who do. She lives on the Alvarado-Niles Road and commented, when her husband is busy building up our levee, all he gets is, "What's the matter Rogers, expecting a flood?" followed by a horselaugh.

Union City: An Unimaginative Name:

(From the Daily Review Editorial Page)

Establishment of California's third largest city (Fremont) in this end of Alameda County brought newsmen running to the south county to report on this municipal phenomenon. Unfortunately this brief glimpse of Washington Township seems to have lured one San Francisco newspaper out on the thin ice of scanty knowledge. At this point the expected happened: the San Francisco journal fell in, up to its editorial neck in icy cold error.

The subject was Union City, the name proposed for a city to include Alvarado and Decoto. "Union City is a wooden and unimaginative kind of name if we ever heard one, and entirely without euphony or California flavor," according to the metropolitan daily.

Union City had already established itself as a flourishing farming and business center in 1851, 14 years before the San Francisco daily itself went to press. Indeed its existence was of considerable import to the Bay's queen city because it furnished fresh fruits and vegetables for San Francisco.

Union City, according to south county historians, was established on Alameda Creek when that considerable stream ran to the Bay. Sailing vessels and the steamer "Union," after which the town was named, carried cargoes to and from warehouses located on the creek bank. A busy community built up around the commercial district and furnished many stalwart pioneers citizens of Alameda County.

To our compatriot's statement "Union City means nothing," we must point out that in the 1850's it was Union or nothing. The fervor of pro-Union men in California left the name through out the state, particularly in the Mother-Lode country.

Union City historically has earned itself a niche among California place names. If Alvarado and Decoto citizens should create Union City, then they can do so knowing its name is linked strongly with California's early days.

Union City:

A decision to incorporate Alvarado and Decoto into Union City or be annexed to Fremont was tabled last night until August 1st. Meeting at the Alvarado Fire House the Union City Steering Committee heard Attorney Del Jacobs say, "Nothing would be more desirable than to have Union City." He said he was speaking for J. A. Ratekin, Superintendent for the Holly Sugar Mill, as an individual and not for the Holly Corp. Jacobs said, "Union City would provide Alameda County with an unsurpassed location for what it needs, an industrial area." Action by the committee was held up pending a high court decision on the controversial Treeview annexation.

Shestack Award:

A prominent Alvarado clubwoman and her family have been awarded a total of $23,877 damages for injuries sustained when her car was hit from behind by a truck while she was waiting for a passing train. The crash pushed Mrs. Shestack's automobile into the moving train.

A Superior Court jury returned the verdict yesterday in favor of Mrs. Laverne Shestack, her husband, Joseph Shestack, and two children, Randolph 8, and Douglas 4. They live at 1021 Granger Avenue.

Mothers March on Polio:

Mothers in Hayward and surrounding communities were preparing today for next Tuesday's March on Polio, the biggest single activity of the 1956 March of Dimes.

The Washington Township coordinator is Mrs. Graydon Spurlock of Alvarado; the Alvarado team leader will be Mrs. Norman Silveira.

The Daily Review, January 27, 1956

Alvarado School:

Trustees of Alvarado Elementary School and members of the Citizen Advisory Committee will meet at 7:30 p.m. at Alvarado School today. Purpose of the meeting, according to Leslie H. Maffey, district superintendent, is to consider costs of a proposed expansion program. Alvarado School is overcrowded, and trustees are considering a building program to increase classrooms and to add a cafeteria at the present school site.

Flood:

Today, on the Bay Area storm front, the danger of further flooding seems to be subsiding, although an early-morning high tide backed water into the yards of several resident in the town of Alvarado.

Fremont Chamber of Commerce:

The associated Chambers of the towns that make up Fremont discussed whether to merge into one Fremont Chamber of Commerce. A committee was appointed into bringing all of Fremont together.

Talk turned towards the Washington Township Chamber of Commerce (now dormant) and of Alvarado, Decoto and Newark. Some members advocated breaking away from a union with the three other communities, in favor of an independent Fremont. "Who wants Union City anyway?" queried one. "I think they would just be a millstone around Fremont's neck."

Bruce Michael, Fremont Councilman demurred. "We are studying, and looking forward to, the possibility of including Alvarado and Decoto, and someday Newark in Fremont," he declared. "Let's keep our minds and our arms open. Wait until we have analyzed this problem."

Ace Handa and Yosh Hisaoka will be official delegates of the Southern Alameda County Chapter; Japanese-American Citizens League, at a Northern California-Western Nevada district meeting in Richmond Sunday.

The Daily Review, February 3, 1956

Union City High School:

A bond issue to finance construction of a second high school in Washington Township will probably be placed on the fall ballot. Washington Union High School Trustees last night authorized Falk and Booth Architects, to begin a preliminary study for the school, expected to be constructed in the Decoto area.

J. V. "Pop" Goold, district superintendent, suggested a timetable, which will fix the bond election for early, fall. Once approval of the bond issue is won, he recommended immediate steps be taken to locate and purchase a site.

A celebration of Valentine's Day is planned by members of the Alvarado Eagles Auxiliary No. 1695. At the regular meeting to be held at 8:00 p.m. tonight at the F.O.E. Hall in Alvarado, there will be an exchange of Valentines. At the social hour following the meeting, members of the F.O.E. Lodge No. 1695 will serve refreshments.

Maffey Honored by PTA:

Leslie H. Maffey, Superintendent of Alvarado Elementary School District, was awarded an honorary life membership at last week's Founder's Day program. Maffey was the second to be accorded this honor in Alvarado. Last year the membership went to Manuel Goularte, former district trustee.

Honored guests at the program were Mr. & Mrs. Wilbert Hendricks, Mr. & Mrs. William Machado and past presidents of the Mothers Club and PTA. The program was planned by Zola Smith, was based on the theme "This is your Life, Alvarado PTA." Its purpose was to show members and guests the accomplishments of the Alvarado PTA for the benefit of district school children. A candle light ceremony was conducted by Mrs. Smith and Bernice Silveira, PTA President.

Helping to plan the program were these committee members: Bernice Silveira, Josephine Tenorio, Mary Fontejon, Helen Boetel, Marie Falkowski, Antoinette Pinto, Renee Stiarwalt, Mary Gastelum, Dorothy Vargas, Eldora Pinto, Kay Silva, Mary Silva, Wilma Silva, Margaret Cardoza and Marie Rose. Decorations were planned by Isabel Bond and Mae Santos.

Fremont Chamber of Commerce:

Establishment of a Fremont Chamber of Commerce was approved unanimously by a 25-member committee, which met at the International Kitchen in Niles last night. The committee includes a five-member delegation from each of the local Chambers of Commerce: Niles, Centerville, Irvington, Mission San Jose and Warm Springs. An advisory committee will meet at the law offices of Quaresma and Rhodes Saturday to sign articles of incorporation.

In other business, the new chamber has invited Frank Borghi, President of the Decoto Chamber of Commerce and Henry Leidsen, President of the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce to attend next Saturday's chamber meeting as special guests of the advisory committee.

The Daily Review, February 16, 1956

Flood Control:

Formation of an enlarged committee to seek an expedited federal flood control program for Alameda Creek is underway here. A flood control committee formed some weeks ago, but now considered limited in scope, is being disbanded in favor of an area wide organization.

Speaking before the group, L.E. Bailey, Alvarado rancher, called for cessation of further development of the area until Alameda Creek is improved from the foothills to the Bay. He advocated joint action with the Livermore area.

The Oakland Tribune, February 16, 1956

Chamber of Commerce:

At the suggestion of Warren Silva, the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce passed a resolution urging the Alameda County Board of supervisors to give Alvarado at least one voting precinct in future bond elections. Alvarado residents had to go to Alviso to vote in the January 31st hospital bond election.

In other chamber business, secretary Leslie Maffey will write the commissioner of the California State Highway Patrol in Sacramento requesting increased measures against speeding through Alvarado.

Voted to support the Delano Chamber of Commerce in resolving that the state speed limit be upped to 65 MPH with rigid enforcement.

Appointed Mrs. Mae Santos as representative on a committee planning a breakfast for June graduates at Washington Union High School following the Senior Ball.

Fremont Chamber of Commerce Meeting:

By-laws establishing the New Fremont Chamber of Commerce, as a nonsectional organization were unanimously adopted at a delegates meeting last night. The meeting, attended by nearly 50 persons, including a large representation from the Alvarado and Decoto Chambers of Commerce, was held at the International Kitchen in Niles.

Henry Leidsen, of the Alvarado Chamber and Frank Borghi, of the Decoto Chamber were asked if they were empowered to commit their memberships to affiliation with a Fremont chamber. Leidsen replied that the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce was in a position to go along with the Fremont Chamber at the present time.

Frank Borghi said he was in attendance to study the Fremont proposal, but action to join or remain separate must come from the members of the Decoto Chamber.

Alvarado Rejects School Realignment:

The Alvarado School Board of Trustees this week voted unanimously to oppose a school district reorganization study in Washington Township "at this time." It was conceded that there will be a need for the study, probably within the next two or three years. Trustees felt there must first be a settlement of pending municipal actions, particularly with reference to Union City. It was explained that until Union City is either created as a corporate city, or until the area is annexed to another city, a school reorganization plan would be unrealistic.

Five persons, one of them a seven year-old girl, were killed in a spectacular two-car head-on crash less than two miles south of Alvarado on Marsh Road last night. Four of the victims were from Oakland and one was from Oklahoma.

The Daily Review, February 27, 1956

Carnage on the Highways:

The appalling highway slaughter over the weekend contains a lesson from which we should all profit. Eleven persons were killed in Northern California, five in a single collision near Alvarado. The slight surcease in rainfall from heavy rains no doubt prompted many persons to take automobile trips but, even so, that is no excuse for the heavy toll, especially in view of the safety campaigns that have been conducted this year.

Flood Damage:

Alvarado nurseryman, Warren Hayashi, has sent a letter to the Alameda County Board of Supervisors chiding them for delays in repairing the Alvarado levee one and one half miles upstream from the Smith Street Bridge on the Alvarado-Niles Road. Mr. Hayashi's azalea plantings "suffered untold damage" in the flood of December 23rd, he told the board, and he was subsequently assured the levee would be repaired. One January 15th and 16th and again on January 26th, 27th and 28th water poured through the break, flooding his nursery.

"I believe the Board of Supervisors should be held as one of the responsible persons for not having the levee break repaired by this time," Hayashi wrote. Flood Control District Engineer, Herbert G. Crowle, said Army Engineers completed repairs to the Alvarado the levee on February 10th.

New Phone Directory Promotes Discord:

The Central Fremont Businessmen Association members yesterday took a strong stance against listing Fremont telephone numbers under the general Hayward heading. The businessmen asked that Fremont receive a separate listing if any major telephone directory changes are made. If that is not agreeable to the telephone company, the Fremont group would have the present Washington Township listing system retained.

The telephone company pointed out that the company could not avoid taking Alvarado and Decoto from the Washington Township section and putting it in with the Hayward listing.

Sanitary District:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce will urge a merger of the Alvarado Sanitary District and the Union Sanitary District. Joseph Lewis asked last night that a letter to that effect be sent to President Elvin Rose and Secretary-Treasurer Fred Joyce of the Alvarado District.

In other business, Mrs. Mae Santos said, "taxpayers should get behind a movement to improve the appearance of Alvarado and attract people to buy in the area." Mrs. Santos then mentioned, "the lack of sewage facilities as possibly an even more important aspect."

"I'm glad she broke the ice," said Kenneth Garcia of Decoto. "If new homes were to come in, you couldn't take care of them. Now is the time to join the Union Sanitary District, before Union City gets here."

Frank Borghi, Chairman of the Union City Steering Committee and President of the Decoto Chamber of Commerce, said improved sewage facilities are a necessity in attracting industry.

Mrs. Santos was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate town improvements in the way of street repair, painting of buildings and a raising of the standard of living in certain sections.

"I know it's a big job that will take a long time," said Mrs. Santos, and Henry Leidsen, chamber President assured her the committee would be a "standing one."

Annex Move is Hit:

The Union City Steering Committee last night decided to take a course of active opposition to annexation by Hayward of the city's fluoridation plant site in Decoto. The decision came in a special meeting following adoption by the Alvarado Chamber of Commerce, in an earlier meeting, of a resolution expressing similar intent.

Attorney LeRoy Broun told the steering committee a statute of the California State Legislature, in effect since September 7, 1955, permits a city to annex its property even though it may not adjoin city boundaries. Hayward owns a half-acre south of the intersection of Decoto Road and Highway 9, where it is building the plant.

The steering committee decided to arrange for a special meeting to discuss thwarting the annexation attempt when it comes before the Board of Supervisors. Since the Alameda County Planning Commission disapproved the site, Hayward cannot get a building permit. The commission action technically cannot forestall construction and the city is erecting the plant anyway, and, in addition has drawn up a resolution of annexation, according to Broun.

"The plant goes up whether we like it or not," said Kenneth Garcia. "The one thing we can do is stop annexation to Hayward. With new boundaries for Union City, we would have to start the incorporation movement all over again."

The incorporation petition of Alvarado and Decoto is being held in abeyance pending a court decision on another Hayward annexation, which would include a portion of the territory claimed by Union City. There are 2,400-acres in dispute.

New Alvarado School:

The Alvarado Chamber of Commerce last gave its unanimous endorsement to the May 18th $169,000 bond issue to build a new Alvarado Elementary School. Leslie Maffey, School Superintendent, told members "not a single piece of reinforcing steel" is present in the brick walls of the present structure. He also pointed out that the roof merely sits on top of those walls. "We'll have to pray hard that no severe earthquake comes along until a modern school is built," said Maffey.

Principal's Message:

Leslie H. Maffey, Alvarado School District Superintendent:

I wish to express my sincere gratitude for the wonderful cooperation and help I have received during my years as principal and superintendent of the Alvarado School District from the various boards of trustees, all faculty and other school personnel, the numerous school organizations, local service organizations, from the students themselves, the Mother's Club, from our PTA and from all the other citizens of Alvarado.

I do hope that our splendid citizens of the Alvarado School District will keep up the fine work by giving their trustees and teachers a vote of confidence in the school bond election on May 18th. A "Yes" vote has been recommended by the Citizens advisory Committee of Alvarado. Alvarado School has grown to a point where three more classrooms will be needed next year.

The citizens of Alvarado will be pleased to learn that a recent series of achievement tests administered to the children and charted impartially show our boys and girls working diligently at or above their expectant grade level. This is very gratifying to the teachers, the trustees, the parents and to the children themselves.

Hillview Crest:

If Hillview Crest votes to annex to Hayward Tuesday, its homeowners will gain tax savings from $30 to $33.10 on an average home ($10,000) City of Hayward City Manager S.D. Smith said today. Some 900 persons are eligible to vote in the Tuesday election at the Niles Highway (Mission Boulevard) subdivision just north of Decoto.

This will be the areas second annexation election. The first was on May 17th of last year when, as part of the 2,400-acre Treeview annex, Hillview Crest voted 455-137 in favor of joining Hayward. But that election was contested by Union City, a proposed city joining Alvarado and Decoto, and the Superior Court invalidated the annexation. Hayward has appealed the decision and it is now before the District Court of appeals.

Crooked Marbles:

Operators of the "sure thing" marble game in the carnival attraction at the Holy Ghost festival in Alvarado are in for more trouble. Alameda County Sheriff's officers, who arrested an operator of a concession in the Ross United Shows last weekend after one man lost $450 were informed that Yolo County is holding a warrant for the arrest of the show's manager, James Ross.

Ross is now in custody at Santa Rita Prison Farm. The concession operator, Archie Long, 33, was booked for running a game of chance, is now free on bail. The carnival was sponsored by the S.D.E.S. club, a Portuguese fraternal order, as a side attraction to the Holy Ghost festival. The lodge stated that it had booked the carnival but had banned gambling concessions and was not aware of the violations. In the Yolo County warrant Ross was cited for running and illegal gambling device, described as a "sure thing" for operators. It consists of a board with numbered holes and cup to roll eight marbles on the board. Different points are given for the various totals rolled.

Manuel Pinto Jr., in the meantime, moved to clear up errors in earlier reports. He pointed out that the show was not a "church carnival" and was not sponsored by or for the benefit of St. Anne's Church. He added that the carnival was not conducted on church grounds.

Parade of the Past:

Thirty of Washington Township's historic landmarks and old homes will be opened to visitors May 9th as part of a "Parade of the Past," sponsored by the Humpty Dumpty Play Center. Among the sites to be visited in Alvarado is the site of the county's first courthouse in 1853 and the Eagle's Hall, formerly a Civil War Armory and home to the "Alvarado Hundred" in the early 1860's. The Holly Sugar Mill is also on the tour, the site of the first commercially successful beet sugar mill in the United States.

Mrs. Nina Dyer Washburn Dies:

Mrs. Nina Dyer Washburn, 77, whose father, Ephraim Herrick Dyer, helped establish the first commercially successful sugar beet processing mill in the United States at Alvarado, passed away Tuesday. Nina was born and raised in Alvarado, but attended High School in Oakland. She married Fred Washburn and moved to San Francisco.

(Editor's Opinion: Miss Dyer was part of the turn of the century Alvarado young society Misses that included family names such as: Harvey, Riley, May, Nauert, Beebe, Ralph, Jackson, Teuscher, Joyce, and Allguire (among others). These young ladies were the pride of Alvarado, and were collectively known as the "Young Ladies of Alvarado." They attended balls, dances, and social gatherings throughout the Bay Area. Some, like Miss Dyer, married persons outside of Washington-Eden Township and moved from Alvarado. This may have been the golden age of Alvarado young society)

Chamber of Commerce:

Spring-cleaning activities started the dust flying at the Chamber of Commerce meeting in the firehouse last night. Mrs. May Santos, in her first sweep hit at the Washington Township Garbage Company, which is parking its trucks behind its offices in Alvarado, and complaints are being made about the odor and the insects. County Supervisor Chester Stanley informed about the condition and asked to have the garbage trucks removed, declared, "It'll take 30 or 40 days to get an ordinance through, but we'll do it."

Mrs. Santos' second swipe was aimed at Alvarado in general. Heading the Chamber's beautification committee, Mrs. Santos presented a map with all the unsightly areas and buildings marked with red. It was thickly measled. She was pessimistic about the clean up campaign. "We can't do anything with a group like this. We need power behind us, the clean up is impossible"

One of the buildings designated as unsightly is an old livery stable on Hiway 17. The Chamber decided to write a letter to the unnamed owner and tell him to remove the building, "or we'll do it for you."

Union City Steering Committee:

The Union City Steering Committee's attorney came under fire last night from one its own members. The attack came at an Alvarado Chamber of Commerce meeting and was made by Wilbert Hendricks, Alvarado School trustee.

Committee attorney LeRoy Broun was stoutly defended in the exchange by Chairman Frank Borghi Jr., and Kenneth Garcia, both of Decoto. Hendricks' attack on Broun followed his warning, "If we do not get on the ball, one of these day Hayward is going to gobble us up." Although Hendricks' attack was not specific, observers believed he referred to Broun's position as Fremont City attorney and rumors that annexation petitions have been circulated to join Alvarado and Decoto (which form the proposed Union City) to Fremont.

Hayward Plays Nice With Union City:

(From an Editorial in The Daily Review)

PROOF that Hayward's wish to improve its public relations is a matter of policy rather than a promise was gratifyingly displayed last night by the (Hayward) city council. It voluntarily abandoned any attempt to annex the property (one half-acre) on which its fluoridation plant will be located south of Decoto.

The proposed annexation was an issue of emotional importance rather than financial importance. If it were carried to completion, the city would have to pay taxes on the property. By remaining politically outside the city, the property will be subject to taxes payable to the county if the area remains unincorporated or to "Union City" if that municipality is formed. The tax will amount to about $18 a year in either case.

However, the annexation had taken on significance beyond its tax worth. It had become a matter of pride, or jurisdiction, of that nebulous but powerful emotion traditionally summed up by "it's the principle of the thing."

Residents of Alvarado and Decoto foresaw that annexation of the fluoridation site would mean an island of Hayward would be within Union City boundaries if an incorporation there was successful. That would be an affront to municipal authority.

The City of Hayward, on the other hand, found justification in a recent state law that specifically permitted the island annexation of property it already owned. It was prepared to be affronted if its legal rights were challenged. Situations like that becloud the lens through which good neighbors can be viewed.

That is why Hayward City Council's voluntary capitulation deserves praise even though the practical issues involved were small. Indeed, it is the constant settlement of small differences that form the bond between neighbors. As in a successful marriage, occasional avowals of love do not influence good public relations unless they are based on the constant and amicable adjustments necessary to achieve a happy companionship.

It is to be hoped that the Hayward council will continue the course it has set for itself, not always with capitulation, but with respect for the city's neighbors and consideration for their feelings.

Treeview Annexation:

Hayward has filed its brief in the appeal of the Treeview annexation. It was the first action in the case, involving annexation to Hayward of 2,400 acres south of the city, since the annexation was overruled by the Superior Court last year. The filing ended speculation that Hayward might not act on the appeal. It dimmed hopes of Union City backers for early incorporation of Alvarado and Decoto. No action can be taken until the Treeview case is resolved, since the annex and Union City boundaries conflict.

Union Sanitary District:

Fremont City Councilmen last night put consideration of a Union Sanitary District survey and investigation on the agenda for next week's agenda. Mayor Jack Stevenson said it was his hope that the survey would embrace the entire sanitary district, including Fremont, Newark, Alvarado and Decoto. The survey, Stevenson said, should be financed by the sanitary district and the cities.

Stevenson's motion was seconded by Councilman Bruce Michael, who called for the survey two months ago. Since that time the Union Sanitary District has been called a "millstone around Fremont's neck," and the sanitary district has replied that 95 percent of the allegations are false. The Daily Review, June 20, 1956

It is another unit of the Alvarado protection levee on which construction began last year. The Daily Review, June 20, 1956

Flood Control:

Some 50 members of the Fremont Taxpayers League were told yesterday that swollen water from the Alameda Creek would flood their land again next Christmas. The Alviso School gathering shot anxious questions at Herbert Crowle, Alameda County Flood Control District Engineer, Supervisor Chester Stanley and County Surveyor Wallace Boggs. Louis Amaral served as chairman of the meeting.

"We can't do a 100 percent flood control job," said Crowle. "That is going to cost $5,000,000, appropriated by Congress. What we can do is improve the carrying capacity of the creek." He said the present channel clearing of trees and debris from the "splits" north and Alvarado upstream to Niles should be completed by the rainy season, but that will only improve the carrying capacity of the creek by 10 percent.

"Only a Federal project will completely prevent flooding", declared Stanley. "You'll get wet again before you get dry." "To widen and straighten the creek yourself would cost $1.75 or $1.80 on your tax rate. You can't afford it," Stanley emphasized.

Incorporation Petition:

Union City proponents filed a new notice of intent to circulate incorporation petitions with the county clerk late Friday. This is the fourth such notice submitted by a Union City incorporation steering committee this year as a legal maneuver to maintain continuing jurisdiction over the proposed Union City area. The notice was signed by Frank Borghi Jr. president of the steering committee, and Leslie H. Maffey, one of its members.

The committee is stopped from actual circulation of the petitions by the city of Hayward's appeal of a Superior Court ruling, which nullified the 2,400-acre Treeview annex to the city. The Treeview annex and the proposed Union City overlap. Union City boundaries roughly coincide with boundaries of the Alvarado and Decoto school district.

Bedroom Fire:

An Alvarado man barely escaped death by asphyxiation early Sunday when a cigarette started a fire in his bedroom and he was overcome by smoke. George D. Roderick, 56, of Alvarado-Niles Road, was reported recovering at Fairmont Hospital, on Monday.

Vincent Deas, who lives at Roderick's home, told sheriff's deputies he smelled smoke about 2:50 a.m. Sunday and went into Roderick's room. Deas said he found Roderick unconscious on his bed, with fire burning only a few feet away. He promptly doused the blaze and called deputies.

Deputy D.E. Walsh, the first to arrive, succeeded in restoring Roderick's breathing by artificial respiration. Decoto firemen arrived soon afterwards and administered oxygen to the victim, who was then taken to the hospital.

Deputies believe Roderick was smoking in bed and fell asleep, dropping the cigarette onto a pile of clothes. The fire destroyed the clothes and burned a hole in the floor.

Tricky Transmission:

A dead end street and a gear shift that "works if you know how," put Robert Garcia Ruiz, a transient back in Santa Rita Jail to await trial in Alameda County Superior Court on a charge of auto theft. Ruiz, 30, was charged with stealing a car September 23rd in Alvarado.

Owner of the car, Mrs. Helen Ross, 1170 "W" Street, Alvarado, told the police she parked her car on Maiden Lane about 7:00 p.m. and went into the store. She returned a few minutes later to find it gone.

A witness, Manuel Vasquez, 1024 Maiden Lane, Alvarado, testified he heard a crash in front of his home and went out to investigate. He said he found Ruiz, apparently drunk, sitting behind the wheel of a car, which was wedged against a neighbor's car. Vasquez says that he tried for fifteen to twenty minutes to help Ruiz get the car into reverse gear, but was unable to do so.

Since he could not turn the car around in the dead-end street, and without a reverse gear, Ruiz left the car and walked away. Mrs. Ross told the court that the reverse gear "works if you know how."

The committee's decision, announced last night was precipitated by a petition from Fairway Park and El Rancho Verdi residents. The homeowners recommended the committee consider realignment of the boundaries of the three districts along the Eastshore Freeway. Trustees of La Vista and Decoto districts will explore the problem tentatively tonight and will invite a meeting with the Alvarado board soon.

Telephone Service:

The telephone company thinks it is misunderstood in Washington Township. For internal clarity it is trying to do away with the names of old exchanges now combined in the areas of south of Hayward. So far it has lumped Mission San Jose, Warm Springs and Irvington, the old OLiver 5 into a thing it calls South Washington.

The only time this became confusing was when people were asked to accept collect calls from "Joe Doakes caller, in South Washington." They'd growl, "I don't know anyone in South Washington," and then hang up. The company now gets around that by not giving a town name at all unless the called party asks for it.

But Washington Townshippers are grumbling again. There's a PUC meeting coming up in Centerville to hear PT&T's petition to lump Niles, Newark users, and Alvarado and Decoto phones into another overall designation, North Washington.

Fires Everywhere:

Just because of a drizzle yesterday morning farmers got out early, ex-city slickers in the suburbs got panicky, and every fire truck for miles around chased out on calls, "There's a ranch on fire."

All they had, firemen reported after getting back to the barn, were dozens of rip-roaring fire flaring up predawn as farmers lit off the huge piles of tree prunings they'd been stacking up to burn before the first rainy day.

Telephone Service:

The proposed establishment of a "North Washington" telephone exchange will be aired in a public hearing at 10:00 a.m. December 19th in the county building on Fremont Avenue. Conducting the hearing "because of widespread area interest" will be Commissioner F. Everett Emerson, of San Francisco, acting as examiner for the State Public Utilities Commission.

Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company filed an application with the commission to consolidate the now separate Centerville, Alvarado, Decoto, Niles and Newark exchanges into one "North Washington" exchange.

Questions have been raised by Fremont city officials and civic leaders as to whether such a designation would prove to be confusing to persons mistaking it for Washington D.C. or the state of Washington.

Commissioner Emerson estimated a one or two month delay before a commission decision could be expected.

City of Fremont:

The City of Fremont has set aside $750 for a survey of effects on the possible annexation of the Union City area. Funds were voted last night over the protests of Councilman Winifred Bendel who called the move "an insult to Union City."

The action followed Monday's meeting of the Steering Committee, which challenged Hayward's claims of goodwill with a request that the northern city withdraw its annexation appeal. This appeal has stopped attempts by Alvarado and Decoto citizens to incorporate the two towns as Union City.

Accident Douses Lights in Alvarado:

Electric power in large sections of Fremont and Hayward was out for more than an hour early today when a truck-trailer rig crashed into a utility pole in heavy fog.

The State Highway Patrol said the big truck-trailer driven by George Long, 28, of Fresno, was northbound on Hiway 17, just north of Vallejo Street when the driver apparently failed to see the curve because of the dense fog and headed towards a fence in the backyard of a store at 1090 Levee Street. Long veered sharply and the rig overturned, skidding into the utility pole. The driver was partly thrown from his cab and was trapped on top of the wreckage when first aid arrived.

Manuel Priego, 29, who lives above his grocery store, called the sheriff's office and the Highway Patrol. The impact sprung a main line loose, shutting off lights in Alvarado, parts of Centerville and Niles, and in Hayward near the airport.

Opposition to PT&T Changes:

A letter expressing disapproval of the proposed "North Washington" telephone exchange designation for this region has been forwarded to the Public Utilities Commission by the Washington Township Industries Committee. The PUC has scheduled a public hearing on the matter next Wednesday. The vote of disapproval was made at this week's meeting of the committee.

At the same time committee members heard Harry Goodridge, Union Sanitary District engineer, outline industry's role in district activities. Goodridge stated that there is a "good chance" the Alvarado Sanitary District will join the Union District.

The committee also approved a letter be sent to county supervisors urging construction be started on a bridge where the freeway will cross the new flood control channel.

Fremont Annexation:

A $1,000 study to explore the possible effect of annexing the Union City area of Alvarado and Decoto to the city of Fremont is being undertaken by the Public Affairs Research Inc. of Oakland. The study along with the appropriation of funds was authorized by separate actions of the Fremont City Council and the Fremont Chamber of Commerce, the city contributing $750 and the Chamber contributing $250.

Dale Isenberg, Chamber manager, said member of the Union City Steering Committee, headed by Frank Borghi, asked the study be made after Borghi's group heard Hayward City Manager S.D. Smith explain possible effects of annexation to Hayward. Chamber participation in the financing of the study is not tantamount to approval, but merely a "neighborly gesture" of "friendly public relations." He said the Chamber neither espouses nor divorces itself from the proposal.

Fremont City Manager F. Robert Coop said he was recently approached by Union City representatives to conduct the survey but explained to them his staff did not have time.

Alvarado School Expansion:

Some 420 registered voters will be eligible to cast ballots from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Friday, January 25th, to decide the fate of a $700,000 school bond election. A two-thirds majority is required for passage.

Alvarado Elementary School District Superintendent Leslie Maffey explained today that the board of trustees has authorized the election to "catch up" on construction to house the 350 students expected next fall.

If voters approve, construction on an 11-classroom school, administration and multi-purpose building, estimated to cost $452,000 could begin early next summer. At present, Maffey said, 145 of the school's 300 pupils are housed in three temporary classrooms and the school auditorium.

School Study Agreed:

Alvarado, Decoto and La Vista School Districts superintendents have agreed at a special meeting last night to study possible boundary changes in their districts. The pledge came in answer to a petition submitted by the Alameda County Committee on School District Organization. It was signed by 14 petitioners and asked for the study.

For some time the residents of El Rancho and Fairway Park Schools have been dissatisfied with the attendance boundaries which find two thirds of their children attending Decoto School District and the other third La Vista School District.

Need for a common boundary which would keep neighbors in the same district, rather than having them in different districts, was underlined in terms of new subdivisions, the Oakland to San Jose freeway extension, new industrial growth and the manner in which the boundaries were set.

The petitioners claim that the present boundaries, established in the 19th century, were set up in an arbitrary fashion by the county assessor. During the meeting, Dr. Verne Hall, consultant with the Bureau of School District Organization, said taxpayers are faced with ever-increasing school costs and the only solution is the unification of districts. Unified districts, he said, have proven the most effective solution by giving taxpayers their full dollar's worth of education.

(Editor's Note: According to the Thomas Brothers Map of Alameda County, copyrighted in 1957, the Eden/Washington Township line runs just slightly south of Rosseau Street in Fairway Park and heads directly east through the foothills. Thus the problem lies not with the county assessor but with the builders of Fairway Park and El Rancho subdivisions who built their homes one-third in Eden Township and two-thirds in Washington Township).

Fremont Annexation Meeting Delayed:

A meeting scheduled Thursday night to hear why Fremont believes the Alvarado and Decoto area should be annexed to the City of Fremont has been postponed until a date to be announced.

Chairman Frank Borghi of the area's annexation or incorporation group said the meeting would be re-scheduled next week or the week after.

However, Fremont City Mgr. Robert Coop, who was to speak before the committee outlining what Fremont has to offer, said he is awaiting results of a survey authorized by his city council. Last month the city of Fremont earmarked $750 for the survey to be done by Public Affairs Research, Inc., of Oakland Calif.

The survey was to entail information on what an independent Union City would mean and also advantages and disadvantages to annexing to the city of Fremont.

Leslie Maffey, Superintendent of the Alvarado School District and a committee member, said he will send out post card notices when the meeting is to be rescheduled.

The city of Hayward also has cast an eye toward the Alvarado-Decoto area, entertaining hopes that if they merge they will do so by annexing to the largest and northernmost city – Hayward.

Chamber of Commerce:

Another election of Union City Chamber of Commerce directors will take place at a special meeting at 8:00 p.m. January 30th in Barnard School, Decoto. Kenneth Garcia, chamber co-chairman, announced the present board of directors' recommendation for another election at Wednesday night's chamber meeting in the Alvarado Fire House. Approximately 60 members present Wednesday night went along with the board's suggestion based on the belief "an insufficient number of ballots were cast during the December 12th election," Garcia stated today. Forty-three votes were cast at that time for the 160-member chamber, which combines the former Alvarado and Decoto chambers.

Vote on New School:

Residents of Alvarado will vote Friday on a $30,000 bond issue to allow construction of a second Alvarado Elementary School next summer. Polls will open at 7a.m. and close at 7 p.m. at the present school, 1651 Smith Street. Voters also will be asked to authorize school trustees to sell up to $100,000 in bonds, if the district's assessed valuation warrants.

The third question will be to approve acceptance of a maximum $800,000 in state aid funds. This figure would be based on district-bonded indebtedness, since the district must be within five per cent of its bonding capacity before state assistance is available.

If the issue receives the necessary two-thirds majority vote, construction could begin this summer on a $452,000 11-classroom school, according to Leslie Maffey, district superintendent. Next fall it could accommodate 350 students, many of whom are now housed in temporary auditorium classrooms, Maffey stated.

Alvarado Decoto Unification:

Residents of proposed Union City hope to hear a pitch on annexation to Fremont's 99-square mile area during a February meeting with Fremont City Manager F. Robert Coop. The meeting date is still contingent upon completion of a $750 annexation study being prepared by Patrick Henry of Public Affairs Research, Inc.

Fremont City council hired the Oakland consultant firm at a December meeting following interest expressed by the Union City Steering Committee, which represents segments of Alvarado and Decoto areas.

Both Fremont City Manager Coop and the consultant's office indicated today the study should be finished for the committee's regular meeting February 11th and will be subsequently explained to the Fremont City Council on February 13th.

Teacher's Pay:

Teachers have requested a $550 a year beginning salary raise from the Alvarado School Board. Trustees indicated they will "follow the pattern set by neighboring districts," according to Leslie Maffey, schooled district supt.

The proposed salary schedule starts at $4,500 for teachers with a credential and increases to a maximum of $7,500 for those holding an AB degree, 60 semester units outside study and ten-years experience.

Alvarado's present salary range is from $3,950 to $5,750, Maffey said. Mrs. Evelyn Griffin is chairman of the salary committee representing Alvarado's 11 teachers. Their request is in line with a salary schedule recently proposed at a Washington Township school superintendent's meeting in Niles.

Alvarado teachers received a $150 raise last year and had another increase the previous year when the district's first salary schedule was adopted.

New Phone Service for Washington Township:

Some 10,200 Washington Township PT&T customers will be able to reach each other by direct dialing in a few months. New installations, due for completion in May, at the main Decoto exchange will provide direct dialing between the following points:

Alvarado to Centerville
Niles to Centerville
Newark to Centerville
Centerville to Newark
Centerville to Niles
Decoto to Niles
Niles to Decoto

Currently Decoto residents can get Hayward by dialing 6 and then the regular number. All other calls outside the exchange must be made through the operator. The new service, which will not involve any rate change, will provide faster service and free trunk lines for other traffic.

At the same time the telephone company is getting growls from residents of Hillview Crest, Fairway Park and El Rancho Verde. They want out of the Decoto exchange and into the Hayward system.

Union City Annexation:

A report on Alvarado-Decoto annexation to the City of Fremont was discussed yesterday by Fremont City Manager Robert Coop. Coop met with Public Affairs Research, Inc., and Oakland firm hired for $900 by Fremont to study the pros and cons of the proposed Union City annexing to this city.

PAR officials outlined a draft of the report for Coop. The city manager will review the study with city councilmen in their work session Friday afternoon and they will formally consider it at the regular council meeting next Tuesday night.

Alvarado Sanitary District:

The Alvarado Sanitary District is considering broad expansion plans. Elvin Rose, board member, told the Daily Review last night that the district is considering an expansion program to include all of the Alvarado-Decoto area not within the Union Sanitary District boundaries. The district, 390 acres, has an assessed value of $662,000.

The Alvarado district recently turned down $75,000 in federal aid. Rose said this was prompted by plans to expand. He said the district will have enough assessed valuation to service the area adequately after expansion. The district could not raise sufficient money to make it worthwhile to seek the federal aid this year, Rose explained.

The board has no plans for annexing to or merging with the Union Sanitary District, Rose stated. These possibilities faded when Union Sanitary District failed to include any projects for Alvarado-Decoto area in its $8 million expansion program, he said.

Union Sanitary District was also criticized by the Union City Steering committee for failure to propose any projects for the industrially zoned Whipple Road area near Decoto.

Alvarado-La Vista-Decoto School Districts:

The Alameda County Committee on School District Organization has scheduled a hearing at 8:00 p.m. Wednesday, February 27th, on a proposal to realign boundaries between Alvarado, Decoto and La Vista School Districts. The petition for study of the three areas, signed by 14 residents, came to the committee last November.

After sampling public opinion in the hearing, the committee may decide on a study limited to the boundary lines, broaden the area for study, or may restore the Alvarado-Decoto sector to a current study of re-organization possibilities for Hayward Union High School District. After hearing, committee members will continue their meeting to re-organize and elect officers.

Fremont Woos Alvarado-Decoto:

Fremont City Councilman pulled all the stops yesterday in a drive to woo the Decoto-Alvarado area into sprawling Fremont. Councilmen endorsed a sales campaign advanced by Councilman Michael Overacker that Fremont would try to: (1) Increase the city council from 5 to 7 representatives to accommodate each of the sought communities. (2) Change council member selection from at large to district so each of the new communities and the five towns that already make up Fremont would be equally represented in the Fremont City Council.

Both of these moves, however, would be contingent on how Fremont's desire to annex the proposed Union City area is received by residents of Alvarado and Decoto.

Those sales points and the promise of lower taxes will be advanced by Fremont City Mgr. Robert Coop before proponents of Union City, Monday at 8 p.m., in Decoto's Barnard School. The area of 24 square miles between Fremont and Hayward had 1,830 registered voters at last September's count. It has an estimated $12 million property valuation and about 6,750 people.

The area faces four alternatives; annexing to Fremont, annexing to Hayward, forming Union City on its own or staying the way it is.

If Fremont gets the area, that would make Fremont 123 square miles with an estimated 40,000 people and an assessed valuation of $65 million. Coop will present the Fremont case Monday by outlining aspects of a $990 Public Affairs Research, Inc. report on an annexation move that would benefit both Union City and Fremont.

Coop says figures show Union City residents would have only a 76-cent property tax rate under Fremont, but would have to pay an 87-cent tax rate if Union City incorporated. This 87-cent figure has grown from the 78-cent tax found necessary to support an incorporated Union City in PAR's earlier survey for the Union City Steering Committee.

Costs of governmental administration, policing and fire services have caused the estimated incorporated tax rate to rise almost 10 cents since that earlier report, Coop pointed out. This would hint that it could go as high as 90-cents or $1 within the next six months, he warned.

Fremont Pitches for Annexation:

Fremont last night offered Alvarado and Decoto residents a rosy future, and little else, if the area would annex to Fremont. The rosy future was the main theme of City Manager F. Robert Coop's annexation presentation before the Union City Steering Committee and other interested observers.

About 50 persons gathered at Barnard School heard Coop extend the Fremont City Council's "warm invitation" to residents of the Decoto-Alvarado 24-square mile, 7,000-population area to annex to Fremont's 99-square miles.

Hayward's Open Letter to Union City:

Hayward has opened a bid for annexation of Alvarado and Decoto with an open letter to leaders of the two communities. Emphasizing services and facilities Hayward has now, the letter has gone out to the five-member committee Union City Steering Committee studying the alternatives of annexation to Fremont or Hayward, or incorporation, the Decoto and Alvarado Chambers of Commerce and the Decoto's Homeowners Association.

No specific boundaries are mentioned. The Union City Steering Committee has been working toward incorporation of Alvarado, Decoto and a large area of surrounding land. The surrounding land, amounting to some 1,900 acres, was included in the Treeview annexation to Hayward, which was nullified in Alameda County Superior Court and is now tied up in appeal litigation. Decoto and Alvarado themselves were not included in the annexation.

Hayward's letter point to 280 municipal employees performing city services, fire stations, police station and other municipal plants now available and the current property tax base of $55,400,000, due to go up $20,000,000 in the next two years.

The present Hayward tax rate is $1.61 per $100, the letter points out, but sections of the two communities with their own water and sewers would have to pay only $1.24. Fire District tax rates would be eliminated. The average Decoto resident would pay only $23.25 per year in city taxes, the average in Alvarado resident only $31.

The newly adopted charter gives Hayward home rule, the letter says.

Looking to Hayward's future, the letter cited the master plan for a balanced community, with industrial development being encouraged, commercial development already large and residential development 'phenomenal.'

Hayward Courts Union City:

The Hayward City Council is off wooing again. Not long ago, on the morning after Hayward certified an election, which by a two slim votes, annexed the Harder-Tennyson section to the city, they sent a task force of officials into the new area to celebrate Annexation Day.

Now they're sending mash notes to voters in the unincorporated Alvarado-Decoto areas. People in this chunk of green land between the end of Hayward and the beginning of Fremont having been studying the merits of either joining Fremont or forming a city of their own.

But Hayward is going to be heard. They've sent off three pages of propoganda to the Alvarado-Decoto Committee, the Decoto Homeowners Association, and the Decoto and Alvarado Chambers of Commerce advising that Hayward is planning a "Balanced Community."

"Becoming a part of the City of Hayward is highly desirable..." goes their almost-singing commercial.

Alvarado to Hayward Annexation:

Today the Hayward City Council referred to City Mgr., S.D. Smith, a letter from an Al Silvey of Alvarado, asking for a survey on possible annexation of Alvarado to Hayward. Smith said his office has been unable to locate Silvey, but now thinks it has identified him and will contact him today.

Sugar History:

The first successful factory refining of sugar from sugar beets in the United States occurred in Alvarado in 1869. In that year, using machinery from Germany, the Alvarado factory produced 50 tons of sugar from beets. Despite the $125,000 in machinery, most of the work was done by hand. Beets were packed from nearby fields to the plant on the backs of Chinese coolies.

The success of 1869 followed eight years of disaster and quickly led to new troubles. Within four years the company, which ran the plant went bankrupt. In 1889 a new group bought the operation, put it on a paying basis and ran it successfully until it sold out to Holly Sugar Co. in 1927.

Holly has since replaced the old machinery with new, although the basic process remains much the same. The operation employs up to 300 persons during the season and produces a million 100-pound bags of sugar.

Merger of School Districts:

Possible merger of Alvarado, Decoto and La Vista school districts will be discussed by district trustees with in a few weeks. The hearing was prompted by a petition asking for a study of school district boundaries in the South Hayward-North Washington Township area.

Superintendents from the three districts reported on schools, enrollment, and finances, leading to a suggestion of a merger study. Consolidation of the three districts would pool their tax wealth to offer better educational opportunities to area children. The committee took the reports under consideration and agreed to call a meeting in the near future of trustees from Alvarado, Decoto, La Vista Elementary Schools, and Hayward and Washington Union High School district to discuss consolidation implications.

The superintendent's report indicated that La Vista raised only $84,000 in local school taxes last year for 3,000 students ($28 a student), while Alvarado received $51,000 for 300 students ($170 per student), and Decoto raised $142,000 for 2,000 students ($71 a student).

Another point of discontent is Fairway Park and El Rancho Verde tracts. Children from the tracts are split between La Vista schools and Decoto schools.

Hayward Begg for Funds:

Alameda County Supervisors will hear an appeal from Hayward tomorrow for $50,000 from state gas tax funds earmarked for hardships. Hayward City Manager S.D. Smith will ask for an appropriation from the hardship fund to rebuild Sycamore Ave. from Castro Street to Jackson Street.

The city has already been forewarned that the appropriation is unlikely out of this year's fund. The remaining hardship money must go for a bridge over Hiway 17 near Alvarado as part of a flood control project.

Road Hardship Funds Explained:

The city of Hayward has appealed to the county for emergency road funds for Sycamore Street. County Surveyor Olof Anderson reported only $179,593 remains in the hardship fund. He emphasized that the county has to have at least $80,000 of that itself because of a hardship on a bridge replacement at Alvarado. This bridge is tied in with the flood control project and the state refuses to build it because when the freeway (Nimitz Freeway) is completed it will turn the highway (Old State Hiway 17) over to the county.

Treeview Annex:

Hayward's appeal of the Treeview annex nullification will be argued at 10:00 a.m. April 9th in Division 2 of the State District Court of Appeals in San Francisco. The city filed its appeal late in 1955 after Alameda County Superior Judge Cecil Mossbacher ruled the big annexation was invalid because most of the territory was uninhabited. Initiated by the residents of Hillview Crest, the annexation covered 2,400 acres, much of it in Washington Township.

Voters approved the annex 453 to 145 on May 10, 1955, but U.S. Pipe and Steel, Holly Sugar and nine other large property owners went to court for nullification, claiming that 1,987 of the 2,400 acres were uninhabited. The annexation has been conducted under procedures outlined for inhabited territory, they asserted.

Hillview Crest has since joined the city of Hayward through a separate annexation election. The Treeview annex territory includes much choice industrial land.

Hayward stirred up a Hornet's nest when it accepted the annexation proposal. Washington Township rang with cries of "larceny" and the pace of incorporation activity in that area was stepped up. Newark and Fremont have conducted successful incorporation campaigns since the Treeview controversy began.

Decoto and Alvarado leaders organized for an incorporation of their territory known as "Union City." They have been tied up, however, by the fact that Treeview, which they include in their proposal, is under litigation. Recently they decided to look into other possibilities and are currently studying the relative advantages of incorporation, annexation to Hayward or annexation to Fremont.

Protestants Protest Fund Drive:

St. Rose Hospital fund drive officials had no comment today on Washington Township Ministerial Association's protest against a phase of the fund drive. The association of 21 Protestant pastors in Hayward, Newark, Fremont, Decoto and Alvarado said they objected to the participation of mayors in the drive.

Association President, the Reverend Elliot Paulsen, pastor of the Fairway Park Baptist Church, said he and his fellow pastors also considered it "deceptive" to call the proposed hospital non-denominational and a community project. He said that it was neither, that the hospital would be under the control of the Roman Catholic Church. The Protestant ministers, he said, will tell their congregations from the pulpit Sunday their views on the fund drive.

The Rev. Paulsen said the ministers do not object to the fund drive or the hospital, only the "deception" in calling the hospital non-denominational. Naming by certain mayors of the fund drive committees gave the impression of city governmental participation, which "violates the concept of separation of church and state, the association charged.

St. Rose fund drive officials said they want to study the protest statement before commenting. Newark Mayor George M. Silliman said he certainly didn't anticipate being involved in a religious controversy by endorsing what he understood to be much-needed hospital. He said he appointed a committee as requested, but that neither city facilities or city employees were involved.

When told he and Hendricks had been ousted by chairman Frank Borghi Jr., Chairman of the Union City Steering Committee, Garcia retorted, "He can't kick us out, we quit! The reason we filed the petition was because the Union City group wasn't doing anything and we thought we would expedite matters.

Garcia said he and Hendricks are "not interested in the Treeview annex. We just want to preserve what we have," Garcia said.

Backroom Boys Beat a Quick Retreat:

\(From the Editorial Page of the Daily Review\)

Running Scared? Now that everyone is back from Oakland and the dust has settled some, let's take a closer look at that City of New Haven deal. New Haven, you remember, is a city proposed to include Alvarado and Decoto, but exclude Hayward's 2,200-acre Treeview annex, now in the courts.

It all started when the Union City committee found its neighbors were mighty interested in joining Hayward. A quick glance at the map showed Treeview and more acreage might annex north, even if Hayward lost the court case.

So the boys in the backroom (at the steel plant) got busy and came up with a little scheme. That's how New Haven was born, to stop Alvarado and Decoto from joining Hayward.

Two staunch Union City men were selected to carry the petition to Oakland, and then were fired from the Union City committee. All part of the window dressing. Having retreated to a new line of defense, Union City forces are waiting to see what the Hayward forces will do.

The Daily Review, April 5, 1957

City of Fremont:

Fremont City Councilmen decided yesterday to stop "knocking at the door" of Decoto and Alvarado residents and ask them to decide now whether they are interested in annexing into Fremont. Asserting they should "rise above all this petty bickering," councilmen agreed to send a letter to the Union City Steering Committee asking for a decision.

The committee will meet at 8 p.m. Monday in Barnard School in Decoto and may receive the letter by that time. Fremont Council's letter will renew their warm invitation for the combined Alvarado-Decoto area to join the city.

At the same time, it will say they city wants to proceed with its own growth and development plans. If Union City is considering become part of this program, the councilman want to include it now; if it is not they will drop the entire idea.

"We are not in competition with Hayward or any other special interest that want to cut up the pie," City Mgr. Robert Coop said.

Mrs. Winifred Bendel, council member, said the committee probably could not reach a decision until the Treeview annexation suit is settled. The suit involves some 2,400 acres Hayward is attempting to annex and is on the State Appellate Court docket next Tuesday in San Francisco.

City Attorney Le Roy Broun said it will take at least six to eight months to straighten out the litigation. He added the recent application to incorporate a "New Haven" city in the Decoto-Alvarado area was filed only to test the Union City petition's legality and will further delay a decision.

"It would be a tragic mistake for Union City to incorporate on its own," according to Councilman Bruce Michael. He said the Council's letter may provoke comment from some of the many people not represented on the Union City committee. "We may find some interested in joining Fremont and others favoring Hayward," he said.

Michael said there may be a "logical plan and boundary," which could take the two areas in both directions.

The Daily Review, April 6, 1957

Court Decision Due:

Hayward's long legal battle to regain the Treeview Annex is coming to its climax. The city's appeal of an Alameda County Superior Court ruling, which nullified the huge Treeview Annex, is set for oral arguments at 10 a.m. Tuesday before Division 2 of the District Court of Appeals in San Francisco.

Hayward's City Council in February 1955 gave permission for the initiation of proceeds to annex the area called Treeview, 2,400 acres of industrial and potential industrial land plus one residential area. The petition came from residents of the residential section of Hillview Crest, a 600-home subdivision.

The rest of the proposed annexation was open land plus the property of two established industries, the Holly Sugar Corporation and United States Pipe and Foundry Co.

The rest of Washington Township, apparently to forestall further Hayward annexations to the south, stepped up incorporation movements, which resulted in the formation of the new cities of Fremont and Newark.

The Treeview annexation election was held May 10, 1955, annexation won, 452-145. The annexation survived a legal attack when the District Court of Appeals upheld the Alameda County Board of Supervisors in its refusal to take action on a Union City (Alvarado-Decoto) incorporation election petition. Grounds for the ruling was that Hayward had prior jurisdiction.

Another suit had been filed before the election, however. U.S. Pipe & Foundry, Holly Sugar and nine owners of ranch property in the area claimed Hayward had no right to annex 1,987 of the 2,400 acres (the portion west of the Western Pacific tracks). They said that while Hayward was proceeding under a law covering annexations of inhabited territory, their land came under the legal definition of uninhabited territory.

Alameda County Superior Judge Cecil Mossbacher in August 1955 found for the plaintiffs and on October 4th, after certain legal steps had been followed, ordered the annexation nullified.

Hillview Crest has since had a separate annexation election and joined the City of Hayward. Hayward filed a note of appeal with district court December 1, 1955. It is this appeal, which will be argued Tuesday.

The city will contend that the Superior Court ruling was in error, that the annexation was valid under the act for annexation of inhabited territory and that the court was in error in finding that part of Treeview fit the uninhabited act definition and part the inhabited act definition.

Union City has submitted to the county several notices of intent to petition for an incorporation election for Decoto and Alvarado and the Treeview area while it has been tied up in litigation. None of the notices brought the group jurisdiction, however, as the Supervisors did not order them filed.

Last month two Union City Steering Committee members pulled out and filed an intent notice of their own for Decoto and Alvarado, in other words, Union City minus Treeview. The Pair, Wilbert Hendricks of Alvarado and Kenneth Garcia of Decoto, were drummed out of the Steering Committee.

If Hayward wins its appeal, the result will be simple (barring further appeal by the original plaintiffs). The 1,987 acres will be part of the city (Hayward).

If Hayward loses the appeal, some observers feel, there may be a free-for-all scramble for jurisdiction.

Sanitation:

Alameda County has formed a public agency committee to get underway an engineering study on sewage and factory waste disposal in the south county. The move is in line with a program of sanitary development in the area.

Six cities, four water districts, the town of Alvarado, three sanitary districts, the Port of Oakland and three U.S. agencies are to be asked to name citizens to serve on the committee.

Fremont Annexation:

Annexation of Union City area to Fremont would not cause any major shake-up in Fremont's Master Zoning Map. The Decoto and Alvarado shopping areas would be treated much in the same way as Fremont's present five communities are being studied for "little master plans" as commercial centers. This was the opinion expressed by planning consultant Sydney Williams at last night's sixth public hearing on the new zoning ordinance with Fremont Chamber of Commerce and agricultural landowners.

City of New Haven:

Promoters of New Haven incorporation stated flatly today they wanted no outside help in planning the city of New Haven.

The Fremont Chamber of Commerce and Planning Commission was told last week that if Alvarado and Decoto annexed to Fremont they could be included in the master plan without any major shakeup.

Today Kenneth Garcia, of the New Haven Steering Committee, which is moving to incorporate all of the Union City area with the exception of the 2,300 acre Treeview annex said: "We're not interested. We are very well satisfied with the way we have planned our city. We don't need or want any outside help."

Hayward to Annex 1132 Acres:

Hayward moved back into the disputed Treeview area today as it acted to annex 1132 acres south of the city. Hayward yesterday posted with the County Boundary Commission a map showing the proposed annex bounded by Southern Pacific tracks on the east, Whipple Road, the Eastshore Freeway and Alquire Road. The area, described as prime industrial land by city Manager S.D. Smith and called the South Hayward Industrial annex, is assessed at $487,910.

Smith said the action was taken after several landowners asked to have their land annexed. Although Smith refused to name them, the landowners include Western Pacific railroad, which has bought land along its tracks that cut through the area. Another landowner and the only industry in the proposed annex is American Pipe and Construction Company, whose manager, Earl Jackson, heads the Hayward Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee.

Left out of the proposed annex are U.S. Pipe Co. plant on Whipple Road and the Holly Sugar Co. at Alvarado. Both were included in the original Treeview annex and were opposed to joining Hayward. The 2400-acre Treeview annex was started in 1955, was invalidated by the Superior Court and is now on appeal by Hayward in the appellate court.

Hayward Annex Benefit:

Alvarado and Decoto residents could save 10 years and millions of dollars by annexation to Hayward, according to City Manager S.D. Smith. Speaking to members of the Hayward Chamber of Commerce Planning & Development Committee yesterday, Smith said that Hayward could provide facilities for the two communities at a much lower cost than if they were to remain independent.

He cited a report prepared by the city staff at the request of the city council to prove his point. He and his staff prepared a report on Hayward expansion based on an approximate population of 150,000 at the end of ten years. Cost of providing expanded highway, sewage, water, fire, police, airport, civic, library and recreation facilities would be $12 million.

Smith said Alvarado and Decoto could be annexed without increasing the cost of facilities, because, much of the proposed expansion would take place in that general area.

New School:

The Alvarado School District has won its fight to enlarge the new school and abandon an old barracks now in use. The victory climaxed months of debate between Alvarado School trustees and the State School Finance Department. The state has maintained for six months that Alvarado should spend $90,000 to rehabilitate the barracks. The building now houses three classrooms and a cafeteria.

Even when the state department admitted the rehabilitation was unfeasible, it attempted to force Alvarado to continue use of the barracks. With the aid of Carlos Bee (D., Hayward) and Donald Doyle (R., Lafayette), the state finally agreed to include the three classrooms and cafeteria in the new building.

Hayward Loses Appeal:

The City of Hayward lost its appeal to keep the two-year-old 2,400 acre Treeview annex. The city has 15 days to refile for a rehearing, they could also take this to the Supreme Court, but this is deemed not likely to happen. Union City forces that want to form a new city in the area indicated the belief that the City of Hayward would continue the fight "to tie up the land." They face a new annexation of 1,132 acres proposed within the same Treeview annex.

A petition from the Hillview Crest 600-home subdivision led to a vote of 452 to 125 on May 10, 1955, for the 2,400 acres to come into Hayward. But owners in the farm and industrial lands west of the Western Pacific Railroad tracks went to court contending their section was illegally included in the annex. Hillview Crest has since been separately annexed into Hayward.

Alvarado-Decoto Warned to Incorporate for Business:

Two "disinterested" spokesmen last night used what sounded like scare tactics in urging Alvarado-Decoto residents to incorporate into what would amount to a city of smokestacks. The men asserted high property taxes would result if the area does not "take care of industry." Some of the figures quoted brought gasps from some 50 persons at a meeting called by the backers of the proposed city of New Haven.

One of the men, Maurice Cox, said he thought a well-planned community of 80% industry and 20% residential would be a good thing. Cox, an Oakland investment banker, claimed he qualified as a disinterested outsider and had appeared before the group because "I am civic minded" and looking out for the good of the whole county. He added, however, that a group of us have considerable land in the area, which could be sold to industry or gotten rid of in an "unplanned, hodgepodge community." Both Cox and Abe Doty, an Oakland industrial realtor who lives in Orinda, said large residential developments are a drain on the community. Cox said that each family that moves in is a "liability" and causes increased taxes with its demand for schools and city services. Both men lashed out at Hayward as a community with too many homes and not enough industry.

Sheldon Glatt of the Western Pacific Railroad told the group his firm owns property in the area and has been looking toward Hayward. He said Hayward city officials have promised to service the land with water and utilities. Glatt added, however, that if Western Pacific could get a commitment from New Haven on water and sewage, the company might reconsider and go along with the proposed city.

Steering committee Secretary Kenneth Garcia promptly informed Glatt he would try to arrange a meeting with Union Sanitary District directors to see what could be done. Elvin Rose, Alvarado

Sanitary District director told the audience his district was preparing to launch an engineering survey of the industrially zoned area to determine what it would cost to service it. He said the survey would also determine the assessed valuation of the area and give the district a basis for future planning.

Union Sanitary District of No Help:

Union Sanitary District directors have cleared away an obstacle to Hayward's proposed annexation of 1,132 acres south of that city. Despite opposition from Union City and New Haven forces, directors of Union Sanitary District said that they cannot sewer a key 150-acre segment of Hayward's proposed annex owned by the Western Pacific Railroad.

Frank Borghi Jr. and Kenneth Garcia, Union City and New Haven representatives, said the action, if repeated, would allow a "vulture-like" Hayward to grab industrial land near Decoto and Alvarado. The 150-acre piece lies north of Whipple Road between Alvarado and Decoto. Borghi and Garcia asked the district to annex the land to keep it from Hayward, but directors said servicing the area would be too costly.

Alvarado's Bronze Plaque:

A bronze plaque beside a service station wall is all that remains of the first home of Alameda County government. It marks the spot in Alvarado (then known as New Haven) where the Court of Sessions to govern 3,500 people opened up for business on June 6, 1853, on the second floor of a frame building. But this location of the county seat was short lived.

The following year when the owner of the building presented a $200 bill for rent of the single room over his store, the people's indignation was aroused.

There was no jail and facilities were generally inadequate so it was decided to move the county seat to San Leandro. An election to authorize the move was held in December 1854 and was approved by a margin of 234 votes.

But a legal technicality arose as the government began to settle in to its new San Leandro courthouse. No one could explain who called or authorized the election. So the state legislature ordered the county seat to be moved back, bag and baggage, to Alvarado until a decision could be made on the legality of the election. Finally, in 1856, the move was ruled legal and the county seat was once more moved to San Leandro where it remained until 1873.

From San Leandro the county seat was moved to East Oakland until 1875, and thence to Fifth and Broadway until 1936. The portable county seat finally came to rest at 12th and Fallon Streets, where it remains today.

The old Alvarado courthouse and several other buildings were destroyed by fire in 1890. On June 6, 1953, a bronze plaque was donated and dedicated by the Native Sons and Daughters of the Golden West to commemorate the spot where the county had its humble beginnings 104 years ago.

Sugar:

If Ebenezer H. Dyer were to return today he would be surprised indeed. Dyer is the man who built the United State's first commercially successful beet sugar factory in Alvarado in 1879. Today the factory turns out more sugar in two days than he produced in an entire season. This year it will produce an estimated 65,000,000 pounds of sugar plus a variety of by-products. Ten thousand trucks, two thousand rail cars and a fleet of barges will haul the crop to and from the plant. The factory will consume enough natural gas in one day to supply a good-sized city and will use 160,000 pounds of lime rock and impressive amounts of other raw materials.

Dyer, the first local sugar manufacturer to show a profit, would find that the granulated product which was the mainstay of his business today comprises less than half the factory's output. Sixty-five per cent of production is now in liquid form. His factory was taken over in 1927 by the Holly Sugar Company, which still operates at the original site.

Bank Robbery:

A bank manager who kept cool after bandits locked him and five others in the vault was credited with saving six lives, including his own, after the robbers fled with $40,000. Walter H. Oakey II, Manager of the Alvarado Branch of the First Western Bank, was preparing to dismiss his three employees and close for the day Friday when two bandits, armed with a .32 automatic and a nickel plated revolver, entered. They forced Oakey at gunpoint to empty $6,000 from three teller windows. Then they herded him, his three co-workers, and two customers into the vault. After rifling the vault of more than $30,000, the bandits slammed the door. The six victims faced the prospect of remaining there over the Labor Day weekend with only 10 hours of air.

Oakey pulled two alarm switches inside the vault he had been able to reach while under the close scrutiny of the bandits. Half an hour later Donald E. Mayers, Manager of the bank's Niles Branch nearby, arrived. Oakey, shouting at the top of his lungs gave him the vault combination number by number through the locked vault door.

Sugar:

The historic sugar mill at Alvarado, which made Alameda County the birthplace of the nation's beet sugar industry and one of the leading producing centers was busy today turning out sugar at a rate of better than 400 pounds a minute.

Before the end of this year's operations, shortly after December, sugar production is expected to reach a total of 65 million pounds, a figure the man who started it all would have found almost unbelievable.

His name was Ebenezer H. Dyer, a transplanted Yankee who settled in Alameda County exactly 100 years ago and took up farming. Somehow Dyer became interested in sugar beets, then a virtually unknown crop in the United States, and in the manufacture of sugar. Though the beet sugar industry had flourished in Europe since the time of Napoleon, attempts to establish it in America had for one reason or another proved uniformly unsuccessful.

Undismayed by the dismal record, Dyer persuaded some of his neighbors to join him in raising sugar beets. He started processing his crop in a factory he built on a corner of his farm in 1879 (Mr. Dyer had initially started a beet refinery in 1870 but it failed). During that first sugar-making campaign the factory turned out 600 tons of sugar and similar amounts were made in following years. Small as this figure is by modern standards, it represented the total annual beet sugar production for the entire United States.

Hunt for Bank Robbers:

Federal agents and sheriffs deputies fanned out in a widening search tonight for two gunmen who calmly looted the Alvarado Branch of First Western Bank & Trust Co. of $35,000, then vanished into heavy holiday traffic.

Authorities have not ruled out that the bandits may be hiding nearby, but that belief waned as the hours waned. A small army of investigators made almost a door-to-door search but failed to find a trace of the robbers or their getaway car.

The Oakland Tribune, September 1, 1957

Recalls Old Days:

Old-timers recall the roaring-twenties when the notorious "Thirty-Strong Gang" roamed Northern California, robbing and gunning down its victims, including police. The $35,000 holdup of the First Western Bank branch here yesterday refreshed long-dimmed memories.

It was the 1920 robbery of the same bank (then called the Bank of Alameda County), which led to a nation-wide manhunt, three raids on Oakland and San Francisco hangouts, and the final roundup of the band.

At noon, October 13, 1920, three of the gang armed with shotguns and revolvers took $23,000 from the Bank of Alameda County. They shot twice and seriously wounded August May, the bank president, and manhandled a woman employee.

That was Alvarado's last bank robbery until yesterday. It was the third time the same bank had been held up in 45 years.

The Oakland Tribune, September 1, 1957

Bank Bandits Trail Gets Colder:

The trail grew colder today behind two gunmen who held up the First Western Bank & Trust Co. in Alvarado late Friday and escaped with $35,000. Sheriff's deputies and FBI agents, who launched an immediate search for the pair, continued to comb the area for traces of their old model car or any other clues to their whereabouts. All Bay Area police are also assisting in the search.

Alameda County Sheriff H. P. Gleason has appealed to the public to report any abandoned automobile. The getaway car was believed to be either a 1946 Chevrolet or Plymouth.

Alvarado School:

Some 325 children are expected to report to Alvarado Elementary School tomorrow. Although this is only a few more than last year's peak enrollment of 310, double sessions will probably be necessary in the First, Second and Third Grades. Grades Five and Six will meet in the school auditorium, which Supt. Leslie Maffey says will hamper other necessary auditorium activities. The old school was built in 1924, and condemned recently by the state, but will have to serve for at least another year.

The Daily Review, September 2, 1957

Bank Robbery:

The cool operators who robbed the Alvarado Bank (First Western Bank) last Friday still aren't match for a pair predecessors according to Sheriff H. P. Gleason.

Gleason's recalls that a bandit duo of 20 years ago, after filching cash from the same bank, took off in a northerly direction. Pursuing police were of the opinion the escape route had been carefully planned in advance. They became convinced of it when the robbers whisked across a set of railroad tracks and went merrily on their way while fuming cops waited for an intercepting freight train to pass.

Sanitation District:

(From the Editorial Page of the Daily Review)

During the last two weeks, residents in Washington Township have been bothered by offensive odors from inadequate treatment of industrial sewage. The Alviso City Manager has appealed to Governor Knight to have something done. An engineer for the Water Pollution Control Board says the south end of the bay is in "bad shape" from the sewage. In past years, caustic winds from dump areas have changed the colors of houses in the Fremont region.

These conditions dictate that steps be taken to correct the situation and that every care be taken to see that it does not become worse.

Especially to be deplored then, then, is the plan of the Alvarado Sanitary District to expand its "disposal plant." The plant gives primary treatment to sewage. In layman's language, primary treatment consists of septic tanks. Solids are periodically removed from the tanks, liquids carrying a quantity of suspended solids are discharged into the bay or a channel, and odors are discharged into the atmosphere. In the case of the Alvarado Sanitary District, the liquid is discharged into Alameda Creek.

The district's plan to expand its facilities will change none of these details, except that additional raw sewage liquids will be dumped in the creek, and more gases will arise. If the Alvarado

Sanitary District makes its proposed annexation, it will deliver a crippling blow to potential development of the area. It will have brought tremendous disadvantage to residents, both by property tax and air pollutants. And it will be smack against the problem of additionally heavy investment when the Water Pollution Board says it can no longer dump primary treated effluent into Alameda Creek or the Bay. The plan should be abandoned.

You can't keep a good man down, especially a crop duster pilot; and pilot Wes Leneville, 38, of San Jose is living proof of this. Early today his plane's engine conked out while he was dusting crops along Fair Ranch Road in Alvarado. When he tried to land, the plane struck soft dirt and nosed over. While police and ambulances rushed to the scene to pick up the pieces, Leneville calmly got out, enlisted the aid of spectators to help right his undamaged plane, and nonchalantly took off to resume his dusting.

Alvarado-Decoto Incorporation:

Planning director Robert L. Williams yesterday presented to the County Planning Commission the preliminary work program outline for the development of the Decoto-Alvarado Plan. This is an intense study of a specific area designed to supplement and strengthen the overall County Master Plan.

The Planning Commission technical staff is surveying and studying the area and will, on dates not yet determined, hold public meetings within the area involved, similar to the recent meeting in Castro Valley on the Castro Valley Plan.

The Decoto-Alvarado area contains the largest amount of land along the bay plain that remains unincorporated. The major portions of the lands are currently non-urban, Williams told the commissioners, and are being used for agriculture and salt ponds.

However, as soon as the area is no longer subject to flooding, flood control and reclamation will solve this problem Williams said, the area will become suited to "intensive development."

The Daily Review, October 31, 1957

Flood Control:

Like the cop on the corner, The Alameda County Flood Control and Water Conservation District has its eye on the approaching winter rainy season and the floods it sometimes brings. But the district, just short of its eighth year of work, is better prepared than ever to control floodwaters streaming out of the hills.

Alameda Creek, the major source of trouble in the 1955-1956 floods, has always been a potential threat for flooding. So district planning and construction has provided greater capacity through the main outlet channel west of Alvarado.

In the same areas levees have been built been set up to protect adjoining properties and provide areas to take flood flows and drainage south of Hayward.

Truck Collides with Train:

An Alameda man is in "fair condition" today after his truck collided with a freight train south of Alvarado. James F. Tobar, 47, was northbound on Highway 17 this morning when his empty flatbed truck slammed into the side of a Southern Pacific freight train and was hurled 150 feet. The train's engineer said the train was doing about 50 MPH. California Highway Patrolmen said the flashing signals at the crossing were working properly.

U.C. Chamber of Commerce:

The Union City Chamber of Commerce will hear a progress report Wednesday on Alvarado's Sanitary District expansion plans. District directors are expected to outline steps necessary for annexing some 3,800 acres to the existing 360-acre district. The expansion program calls for spending $1,095,000 for an additional 11.6 miles of sewer mains and new treatment facilities.

Kenneth Garcia, a Chamber of Commerce Director, said his group probably would be called on to circulate the petition for the annexing some six square miles to the district. The chamber will also select a nominating committee at the Alvarado Fire Station.

The State Water Resources Board will accept the city's (Pleasanton) of the Alameda County Water District's request for water from the Arroyo del Valle. Arguments supporting the city's protest will be made at a week long hearing of the board in Oakland beginning December 2nd. The Pleasanton County Water District filed a similar request.

The water district, which supplies water for Fremont, Newark, Decoto and Alvarado, seeks 69,000-acre feet of surplus water from Arroyo. Both districts have discussed building a multi-million dollar dam on the Arroyo del Valle to capture so-called surplus waters. It has been estimated the state board will need 15 years to determine which waters on the stream are surplus.

Alvarado Sanitary District:

Expansion of the Alvarado Sanitary District to more than nine times its present size has the full backing of the Union City Chamber of Commerce. Chamber members, meeting with district directors last night, endorsed the $1,095,000 expansion program outlined last August by District Consultant Harry N. Jenks.

A spokesman for the chamber said members would circulate annexation petitions among property owners of practically all the unincorporated land between Fremont and Hayward. If successful, the annexation would add a total 3,840 acres to the 400-acre district and increase its assessed value from $680,000 to $3,850,000.

Union City proponents believe the expansion will clear the largest hurdle blocking their move to incorporate the Alvarado-Decoto area into a new Southern Alameda County city.

Sanitary District:

The waste disposal problem that has impeded industrial development in Southern Alameda County appeared no nearer to a solution today than it did a year ago. That was the opinion expressed by various sanitary engineers yesterday following a hearing before the Board of Supervisors in the county's Hayward office building.

Nearly a year ago a committee was named to conduct hearings and evolve a plan whereby all government entities could share in cost of a survey to decide how to solve the common problem. Yesterday another committee was formed to study a similar problem. Members of the committee will include representatives from San Leandro, Hayward, Livermore, Pleasanton, Fremont, Ora Loma Sanitary District, Alvarado Sanitary District, and the Union Sanitary District.

No date was set for a completion date.

Alvarado Sanitary District:

\(From the Editorial Pages of The Daily Review\)

Yesterday Hayward won an important legal battle that will save property owners in the region of Decoto and Alvarado thousands of dollars. The victory came when Superior Court Judge Chris B. Fox ruled that backers of the proposed Union City had no right to interfere in Hayward's annexation area.

The ruling not only undercuts the Union City proposal, but also deflates the illogical plans of the Alvarado Sanitary District to expand to nine times its present size at the same time keeping the level of service it has maintained in the past. That level of service has been pretty low. It consists of primary treatment of effluent by running it through settling tanks and dumping the liquid into Alameda Creek whence it flows into the Bay.

Union City proponents have announced they will appeal yesterday's decision. Their chances to get a reversal are extremely slim, but an appeal could seriously hamper industrial development of the region. For that reason, it is hoped they will abandon the appeal route and hasten the day when the entire region will benefit from industrial developments that are already in the planning stage.

Alvarado-Decoto Unification:

The Union City Steering Committee will huddle tomorrow night to decide the next step in its incorporation and annexation battle with Hayward. Superior Court Judge Chris B. Fox Tuesday ruled favorably on Hayward's annexation of 1,132 acres of choice industrial land bounded roughly by Alquire and Whipple Roads, the Eastshore Freeway (I-880), and Castro Street (Mission Blvd).

Union City backers trying to incorporate the Alvarado-Decoto area are faced with four courses of action; appeal, annex to Hayward, annex to Fremont or stay unincorporated as long as possible.

Committee Chairman Frank Borghi stated several months ago that success of the incorporation movement hinged largely on the success of the Alvarado Sanitary District expansion that would service the industrial area.

Tomorrow's meeting will be held at 8:00 p.m. at the Fire Station on Smith Street.

Incorporation Fight Pushed:

Union City proponents voted last night to appeal the Superior Court victory of Hayward in the tussle for 1,132 acres of potential industrial land in the backdoors of Alvarado and Decoto. But there was a definite note of pessimism among the dozen members of the Union City Steering Committee that met in a strategy session at Alvarado's Fire Station.

Members generally painted this picture facing the movement to make an industrial city out of Alvarado, Decoto and surround farmland. A lot of the residents are losing interest in incorporating the area in a separate city.

If Union City loses the 1,132-acre generally bounded by Alquire and Whipple Roads, the Eastshore Freeway and Castro Street, it will likely doom the proposed expansion of the Alvarado Sanitary District, desperately needed to attract industry. Fremont would accept the area by annexation, but Fremont with its industrial development miles south of Union City wouldn't be interested in increasing the Union City industrial potential in the foreseeable future. Besides that, many members speaking from the floor asserted that Hayward, persistently and aggressively moving south, has Union City on the ropes.

Hayward is coming closer and closer, in the opinion of one large landowner, is jockeying into position to take the area piecemeal with a possible near future move running a 100 yard corridor right between Alvarado and Decoto all the way to the Fremont City limits.

Two steering committee members, Wilbert Hendricks and Dr. John Bettencourt, advocated giving the fight for incorporation and try to make the best possible deal to annex to Hayward. But others, led by Oscar Dowe, of Pacific States Steel, advocated an appeal and a look a little longer attitude.

So the steering committee merged with the New Haven Steering Committee for a united front. This eliminates New Haven, which tried to salvage Union City incorporation under a different name. Committee Chairman Frank Borghi appointed Dowe, George Hocking, Keith Whipple and Elvin Rose a subcommittee of four to supervise the court appeal and to draw up boundaries of Union City to present to the Board of Supervisors.

The new boundaries would delete about 350-acres of the 1,132-acres Hayward now has under its thumb in Washington Township and in the proposed Union City boundaries. New boundaries, steering committee members theorized, would tend to stop Hayward from further annexation if Hayward won the appeal.

The Daily Review, December 14, 1957

Decoto Abandons Union City:

The death knell of the dying Union City incorporation movement was sounded last night with a petition to annex 8.6 square miles of the Decoto area to Fremont. The parcel is bounded roughly by the Hayward City limits and Whipple Road on the north, Fremont City limits on the south, the Eastshore Freeway on the west and extended Fremont boundaries on the east, running north into Eden Township behind El Rancho Verde.

The annex excludes the contested 1,132-acre Hayward industrial annex that received a favorable nod from the Superior Court on December 10th. It also left out some 13-square miles in the Alvarado area originally included in the Union City incorporation movement.

Union City Steering Committee Chairman Frank Borghi Jr., who presented last night's annexation petition, said the Alvarado segment of the committee would meet today to decide on a course of action. He said he would appear at this meeting and submit his formal resignation from the committee.

In presenting the petition to the council Borghi asserted that Decoto and Fremont are tied together economically, historically, geographically and traditionally. The Fremont Planning Commission, called into an unannounced special session, consented to the annexation, and the committee unanimously passed a resolution accepting the annexation petition.

Borghi said he only started circulating the petition early last night. But planning commissioners were advised yesterday at 2:00 p.m. to expect the petition.

The Union City incorporation has received two telling blows recently. Besides Hayward's industrial annex taking away prime industrial to the north, an expansion program of the Alvarado Sanitary District appeared economically unfeasible and left the area virtually without the ability to attract industry. Included in last night's 5,500-acre proposed annex is a population of approximately 7,000 people and three major industries, the U.S. Pipe Co., the PG&E Pipe Yard and Pacific States Steel Co. Borghi estimated the assessed valuation of the area at $8 million. The petition was filed this morning with the county boundaries commission. This commission is required to make its report to the city within 20 days.

If the boundaries are acceptable the next step will be for 35 percent of the voters to sign a petition calling for an election to approve or disapprove the annexation.

Those signing the petition presented last night were George Swartz, Joe Castro Jr., Mrs. Elva Mae Borghi, Frank Borghi Jr., Mrs. Vivian Peixotto, Manuel White, Manuel L. McClenathon and Carl F. Zwissig, all of Decoto.

Frank Borghi, who as head of the Union City Steering Committee, petitioned to have 8.6-square miles of Decoto annexed into the City of Fremont said he would appear at the next meeting of the steering committee and submit his formal resignation from the committee.

In presenting the petition to the Fremont City Council Borghi explained that Decoto and Fremont are tied together economically, historically, geographically and traditionally.

The Daily Review, December 18, 1957

Unification Meeting Crashes:

The Union City Steering Committee fell to pieces here last night as Alvarado and Decoto residents' raked Frank Borghi Jr. with a hot verbal crossfire. Borghi, who Tuesday petitioned Fremont to annex 8.6 square miles of the Decoto area, Borghi promptly resigned and Vice Chairman Keith Whipple soon followed. The stormy meeting finally broke up after a unanimous vote to end the committee and call a mass meeting January 8th to decide what to do next.

Borghi squirmed uncomfortably as the head of the table to charges of "sellout" and "compromising the committee until it has become useless." Representatives of both towns told him in blunt terms that he had no business circulating an annex petition and carrying it to the Fremont City Council while chairman of a committee acting for both Alvarado and Decoto.

Fred Brown of Alvarado charged Borghi with acting "in poor faith, especially since three of the nine names on the petition had your family (Borghi) name."

Oscar Dowe, Pacific States Steel Executive said Borghi's action was not a decision of the committee. Dowe told Borghi he should give up his chairmanship of the organization. When Borghi said he planned to do it immediately, Dowe scoffed, "Hell it's too late. The damage is done. If the annexation petition holds, Union City and its boundaries are dead."

J. A. Ratekin, Holly Sugar Co. Executive told the gathering his firm had been fighting Hayward for two years and, "you people here still don't know what you want to do."

Wilbert Hendricks, head of the Alvarado School Board declared, "It looks like a sell-out to me."

Elvin Rose, President of the Alvarado Sanitary District, said his community had been "railroaded" and "left in the lurch."

Indications are that Alvarado and Decoto residents will drum up support at the January 8th mass meeting to fight boundaries set up by Borghi's annexation petition.

End of the Union City Farce:

\(From the Editorial Page of the Daily Review\)

The verbal free-for-all, which rang down the curtain on the Union City Steering Committee, was a perfect ending for an attempt to con the people of Alvarado and Decoto. The show was a flop because of the deceit, which marked most of the group's activities.

Organized to halt Hayward's tactless 1955 attempt to annex most of the area's industrial land, the committee spoke commendably of providing leadership in assaying the future. Instead of that, however, it retired to secret meetings in smoke-filled backrooms and proclaimed itself spokesman for the Alvarado-Decoto area.

Nothing could have been further from the truth. Much of the committee's work was unsubtly manipulated by several big industries, which wanted only to maintain the status quo. They displayed no interest incorporation, annexation or the area's needs. Union City, therefore, was a fraud, a legal gimmick set up to keep any form of city hood away from Alvarado and Decoto. The fraud became a laughing stock during the farce of creating yet another, New Haven.

The people of Alvarado and Decoto recognized the fraud and avoided the committee's "mass meetings" like the plague. Not one of them drew a crowd to equal a PTA bazaar. Even members of the committee began to realize they were being hoodwinked.

For the first time in two years something like the voice of the people penetrated the mental smog of Union City meetings when Wilbert Hendricks suggested both towns bargain to see what they could get if annexed. Alvarado and Decoto have major maintenance and public safety problems to be met, problems, which would cost cities, which might annex them more in funds, expended than would be returned in taxes.

Thus while Alvarado and Decoto still have industrial land around them to help in the bargaining, they should talk annexation to Fremont and Hayward. Such impotent annexation actions as that of Frank Borghi will wait. These two towns have broken through the chains of deceit with which the Union City Steering Committee have bound them. They should demand an honest appraisal of their future, and seriously consider every opportunity for meeting it.

Hayward Files for Largest Annex:

Hayward initiated steps for its largest annexation in history. The city, acting on a petition by the Leslie Salt Company and other owners, filed boundaries of Leslie Annex No. 3, consisting of 11-square miles, within the Alameda County Boundaries Commission.

City Manager S. D. Smith said the annexation is possibly the largest ever undertaken in Alameda County. The area is bounded on the north by Leslie Annex No. 2, which recently became part of the city (Hayward), and on the west by the San Mateo County line, the southern boundary touches the City of Fremont and follows along Coyote Slough to the Leslie Salt Company line near Marsh Road, but does not include Alvarado.

Smith said that under the annexation Hayward's boundaries would touch Fremont's for the first time. He said that Hayward's area six months ago totaled 11-square miles. Additional annexations and those pending will bring the city's area to approximately 33-square miles.

The Oakland Tribune, December 23, 1957

Freeway Ends Alvarado Congestion:

The end of bumper-to-bumper traffic on Alvarado's main streets has brought mixed reactions from local businessmen. Some say that not only cars and trucks but the dollars on which the merchants depend for a livelihood are bypassing the town on a new link to the East Shore Freeway (I-880 today) one mile to the east of downtown Alvarado.

Most of Alvarado's 20 business establishments are taverns, service stations, restaurants, and small grocery stores on Levee Street, Smith Street and Alvarado Centerville Road. Two are sections of Hiway 17, and form the main road between Oakland and San Jose. Traffic now speeds past Alvarado on four lanes of freeway.

Antone Santos, 71, who opened his service station in 1927, said he pumped 800 gallons of gasoline a day until the freeway opened up last month, now he pumps 300 gallons a day.

John Matchitelli, operator of a service station on the original site of our county's first courthouse, said he now pumps only half as much gasoline.

Ambrose Loyola also said his gasoline volume is cut in half, although his auto repair business has not been affected.

Elmer Andrade says his gasoline sales are down 30 per cent, but sales are up at his little grocery store, bar, and soda fountain attached to his station.

Matchitelli, Loyola and Andrade's service stations are all within a stone's throw of each other at the bend in Hesperian Boulevard as you enter Alvarado from Mt. Eden. Mr. Santos' station is next to the Silver Dollar leaving town toward Centerville.

Fernando Paredes at the Alvarado Hotel says restaurant and bar sales are way down, but not nearly as bad as during the depression. One tavern owner is thinking of selling out, others say that they have not noticed much difference.

Walter Oakey at the bank says he has not noticed much difference (a few years later First Western Bank closed their Alvarado Branch and moved next to Logan High in Decoto).

Quan Yut's meat market sales have gone down, but Manuel Priego's little store on the corner of Levee Street and Hiway 17 has seen business improve, bucking the general trend. Mr. Priego remarked that it is now much easier for locals to cross the street to do their shopping (from "V" Street).

Other local grocery stores are suffering. J. Jacinto's at the corner of Vallejo Street and Hiway 17; Sam Dinsmore at the corner of Vallejo Street and Smith Street; and Tony Lee's at the corner of Watkins and Smith Street have all seen grocery sales drop.

Ben Matsumoto's Japanese specialty grocery store near Alvarado School has not been affected as other small grocery stores have because his customers still come to his store.

Alvarado Petitions to Join Fremont:

Alvarado moved to join Fremont today, the latest in a series of proposed annexations, which if successful, will wipe out the last unincorporated territory between Hayward and Fremont. A notice of intent to circulate petitions for a vote on the annexation of 4.4-square miles of Alvarado was filed yesterday with the Fremont City Council. A few minutes later a map and a notice of the proposal was filed with the Alameda County Boundaries Committee.

Signers on the petition to annex Alvarado to Fremont were included in two documents, one included the names: Bessie C. Harvey, Flora McKeown, Nancy McKeown, and Dorothy W. Hill. None of these people live in the Alvarado area and are assumed to own property there.

The second petition contained the names: M. P. Rose, Doris E. Paredes, Mr. & Mrs. Joyce, Margot A. Arenchild (former Mrs. T.P. Harvey), G. B. Gualco, and Rosie Gualco, all listed as Alvarado residents except for the Joyce's who gave no address.

The Fremont City Council yesterday also received approval from the Boundaries Commission of a proposed 8.6-square mile Decoto annex to Fremont.

Annex Appeal Grows Cloudy:

There was a big question today whether Hayward's December 10th superior court victory in the 1,132-acre annexation suit will be appealed by Alvarado and Decoto forces to a higher court. The suit to stop Hayward was filed months ago in the name of four individuals by Attorney Stacy Dobrzensky with the Union City Steering Committee paying the legal and court fees.

The steering committee was scattered to the four winds by two separate moves to annex Decoto and Alvarado areas to Fremont. Two of the four individuals, Frank Borghi Jr. and Keith Whipple stepped out of steering committee officialdoms, with Borghi, a signer of the petition to annex Decoto to Fremont. Whipple says he favors annexation.

Two other officials haven't commented publicly. They are Christina M. Anderson and Leslie Maffey, Alvarado School District Superintendent. Attorney Dobrzensky said the last word he had from his client was to go ahead with the appeal. He said his clients have until the second week of February to make up their minds.

In the meantime, two leaders of the Union City incorporation movement, Wilbert Hendricks of Alvarado and Kenneth Garcia of Decoto, said they consider continuation of the court suit against Hayward as futile. Union City is a dead issue they asserted.

And in Hayward, City Manager S.D. Smith said the Alvarado move Friday to annex to Fremont came as a "surprise." But the move, Smith said, further weakens the appeal case of Union City in the opinion of Hayward officials. As to Alvarado's petition to annex to Fremont, Smith said Hayward has no quarrel with Fremont. If the Alvarado people vote to go into Fremont that is their choice, he said, but if they want to come into Hayward City, officials will be happy to welcome them.

Fremont-Hayward to Cut Off Union City from the Bay:

Fremont, Alameda County's newest and largest city, and Hayward, its fastest growing one, are stretching their municipal limits toward each other. Proposed annexations to each seem destined to result in a common Fremont-Hayward border.

The process is absorbing into city hood 24-square miles of rich farmland, industrial land, and Bay tidelands that have been unincorporated since Alameda County was created in 1853. The same annexations could signal the end of the unrealized dreams of some Alvarado-Decoto residents to incorporate their towns under the historic name of Union City, taken from an almost forgotten early-day town near Alvarado.

And, if proposals pending receive voter approval, a three-year court fight between Hayward and Union City backers over valuable industrial areas will dissolve into an academic argument unless reopened in appellate court.

Fremont Faces Sewer Task in Annexation:

Fremont will be in the sewer business if Alvarado's petition to annex to Fremont goes through. Fremont City Attorney LeRoy Broun this morning said the 360-acre Alvarado Sanitary District would be dissolved automatically when and if annexation of the 4.4-square mile area becomes effective.

Hayward and Fremont officials were also at the meeting giving the reasons why Alvarado and Decoto residents should choose annexation to their cities.

There will be another mass meeting held in Alvarado this coming Wednesday to discuss incorporation issues.

Fremont City Manager Robert Coop called for a meeting with Holly Sugar to "state our case" and warned the audience that court appeals involving Hayward annexations that overlap proposed Union City territory "can drag on for years."

Hero or Bum:

Only time will tell whether Decoto dairyman Frank Borghi Jr. will be remembered as a hero or a bum in his own hometown. Frank was the chairman of the now defunct Union City Steering Committee hoping to weld Decoto and Alvarado into a new city before Hayward gobbled up their land.

Frank came up with a new solution, presenting a petition asking Fremont to annex Decoto, and set off a howling catfight. Within a few minutes at a public meeting the other night, Frank was called a "turncoat, a Benedict Arnold," and a "Messiah, leading the people of Decoto out of the wilderness."

Hayward Annexes More Land:

The Hayward City Council has doubled its meetings this week, with the first at 8 p.m. tonight and the second at 8 p.m. tomorrow night. The council tonight will set hearings for annexation, including the 11 square mile Leslie Annex #3. Newest of the annexation moves is toward the Stanley McCosker property between Hesperian Boulevard and the freeway, directly north of Alvarado.

A hearing will probably be set February 25th on the annexation which McCosker has petitioned. It is a part of the territory currently being considered for annexation to Fremont. McCosker's property, potential industrial land, is along the route of the proposed Hayward Industrial Highway.

A hearing may be set for February 25th for the Leslie Annex #3, north and west of Alvarado. The Tennyson-Alquire Annexation, the only inhabited territory of the three, will go to a hearing January 28th. The council tonight will consider a resolution of intention to call a special election.

By resolutions, the council probably will withdraw the South Hayward Industrial annex from the Alvarado Fire District, Decoto Fire District and the Tennyson Fire District. The annex became part of the city on December 17th.

Decision Time in Alvarado & Decoto:

Wooed by municipal salesmen, Decoto residents Friday night showed they will be tough customers to sell on annexation. They also showed they are interested in their town's future when an honest attempt is made to present all sides of the question. More than 200 persons turned up to hear arguments for annexation and status quo, a sharp contrast to the sparsely attended "mass meetings" of the backroom Union City committee.

For the most the audience gave impartial applause to the speakers. Obviously it was not ready to buy immediately the offerings of either Fremont or Hayward, but wanted to hear what they had to offer.

Neither Alvarado nor Decoto can afford to delay in seeking annexation information and making a choice. The time for decision has arrived.

In the middle of a potential industrial area, both towns are in a position to bargain on annexation. But a time limit has been set by annexation actions started by small groups in both towns and the fact the industrial land may be annexed without the towns if their citizens do not act.

Townspersons, therefore, should move swiftly to find out which city will be able to improve services now received by Decoto and Alvarado in small quantities from the county. They should which city can increase these services the soonest.

Decoto and Alvarado citizens are less interested in promises of seats on city commissions (which have no power to provide services) than in the city's ability to do something concrete to help their towns.

The Decoto Homeowners Assn. is to be commended for arranging Friday's meeting. It should be the first step by that group to help people in both Decoto and Alvarado get the information need to decide their future.

Appeal Filed for Annexations:

A big question mark today obscured Hayward and Fremont annexation proposals in this area with filing an appeal to the recent Hayward Superior Court victory on 1,132-acres of potential industrial land. Attorney Stacy Dobrzensky told The Daily Review this morning he had filed an appeal, the outcome of which places in jeopardy the 11-square mile Leslie Salt annex to Hayward, the proposed 8.6-square mile annex to Fremont and the proposed 4.4-square mile annex of Alvarado annex to Fremont.

The Daily Review, January 7, 1958

Leslie Salt Annexation:

The Hayward City Council is set to meet at 5:00 p.m. today on the proposed annexation of 197-acres between Hesperian Boulevard and the freeway just north of Alvarado and the giant 11-square mile Leslie Salt Annex No. 3, which extends into the Bay and down to Fremont.

The council officially withdrew the 1,132-acre South Hayward Industrial Annex from Alvarado, Tennyson and Decoto Fire Districts. That would take the area off the Fire District rolls July 1st if Hayward's court victory ruling annexing the area stands future fights.

The Daily Review, January 8, 1958

Holly Sugar's Anti-Annexation Battle:

Decoto and Alvarado residents will meet at 8 p.m. tonight at Alvarado Elementary School and are expected to decide whether to support Holly Sugar Company's anti-annexation attitude, lean toward Hayward or continue with their annexations to Fremont.

Annexationists got a setback yesterday when Attorney Stacy A. Dobrzensky filed with the Superior Court an appeal to a court ruling Dec. 10 giving Hayward 1,132 acres of choice industrial land in the Decoto area.

This legal action not only places this annex in doubt but also subsequent proposed annexations by Fremont and Hayward that closed the gap between the two cities and put an end to thoughts of incorporating the area into Union City.

Out of four signatures on the appeal, two persons have stated they are pulling out of the fight. One said he will decide tonight and the other promised to fight to the end.

Mrs. Christina M. Anderson, who owns 8.32 acres in Hayward's industrial annex, said she was approached by three men last week who said they would carry on the fight for her and that she wouldn't have to do a thing.

Fremont City Mgr. F. Robert Coop said yesterday he would meet with Holly Sugar officials this week to try to talk them out of fighting the annexations. He would make no prediction of the outcome of the meeting. Coop said elections to annex the 4.4 square miles around Alvarado and the 8.5 miles around Decoto would go on in spite of the legal hassle. However, nothing can be finalized until a ruling is handed down on the appeal.

The Fremont City Council will meet at 1:30 p.m. tomorrow to receive a report from the county boundaries commission and take over jurisdiction of the Alvarado annex.

Decoto/Alvarado Industry Backs Union City:

Backed the area's major industries the Union City incorporation sprang back to life last night, when some 180 Alvarado and Decoto residents turned thumbs down on annexation. Fremont Mayor John L. Stevenson and City Manager F. Robert Coop were unable to soothe and woo the crowd that was definitely in the mood for a fight to incorporate.

Representatives of Pacific States Steel Corp. and Holly Sugar Company pledged the money to fight Hayward's 1,132 industrial annex.

A large round of applause went up when Fred Brown of Alvarado attacked Frank Borghi, former chairman of the Union City Steering Committee. He charged, "You, Borghi, are guilty of the greatest breach of faith anyone could be accused of. Let's get this whole matter out of smoke filled backrooms and into the open."

Letter to the Editor:

Editor:

We appreciate your interest in this week's special election in the La Vista School District. However, we object to the manner in which the issue was presented in Jan. 2's edition of The Daily Review.

Your reporter states that the outcome of Tuesday's special election would provide a temporary solution to the school boundary dispute in the Hayward section of the El Rancho Verde tract. Quoting "a school official," he implied that the outcome of the election doesn't matter because school boundaries will eventually be realigned along city limits.

We cannot believe the writer and "school officials" fail to recognize the threat to such realignment plans posed by efforts to transfer our neighborhood into the Decoto School District. In view of the zealous behind-the-scenes efforts made by Decoto district officials in support of the transfer proposal, we doubt that Decoto would agree to any new boundaries set up along city limits once they have us under their control.

We caution you as we have cautioned our neighbors, not to be lulled by the "it doesn't matter anyway approach." It does matter.

We realize that El Rancho Verde is an island outpost in the Hayward city limits, but we are a Hayward oriented community. We bought our homes in Hayward for specific reasons and we want our children to attend Hayward school for those same reasons.

Recently, we have been encouraged by the effort of the La Vista School trustees to work out some sort of a merger agreement with the Hayward Elementary School District.

In view of this, we cannot see that anything would be gained by casting our lot with the Decoto-Alvarado area. In closing, allow us to express our gratitude for previous articles, which have been written, about our problem. The coverage in these earlier cases was fair, accurate and timely

Alvarado Annexation:

Fremont City officials have suffered two set backs in their plans to lure Alvarado into the bounds of the 99-square mile Fremont. The latest obstacle appeared at yesterday's special council meeting called to take jurisdiction over the 4.4-square mile annex. Councilmen were told that Hayward had beaten them to the punch by taking jurisdiction over the 197-acre McCosker Annex Wednesday. Fremont and Hayward will have to iron out the boundaries before Fremont can proceed.

Fremont City Manager F. Robert Coop and City Attorney LeRoy Broun were instructed to meet with Hayward officials to see what can be done to solve the problem of overlapping boundaries.

A report from the County Boundaries Commission also recommended that a new line be adopted in the Fremont and Hayward annexations of Alvarado. It was suggested that Hayward take all of the land north of the new Alameda Creek channel, which would include the McCosker property but give Fremont two-thirds of the 11-square mile Leslie Salt Annex, which has petitioned Hayward for annexation. Hayward officials had no comments this morning.

Officials were given an earlier rebuff Wednesday night when a mass meeting of Alvarado and Decoto residents turned a cold shoulder on annexation and called for a fight to incorporate. Councilman yesterday acknowledged a much more hostile attitude at the Alvarado meeting than they had received at an earlier meeting in Decoto. They indicated they would proceed with plans to take in Decoto but were hesitant and undecided on steps to be taken in Alvarado in view of the opposition.

Councilman Pond stated, "We don't want to be in a position of pushing something down someone's throat. We can be a great city without Alvarado but we would like them to have them join us."

Where There's Smoke:

In a dual role as a Fireman and President of the Union City Chamber of Commerce, Kenneth Garcia greeted the crowd, which gathered in Alvarado School's auditorium Wednesday night to discuss the annexation-incorporation issues, then ruled there'd be no smoking during the meeting. The reason for refraining, as courteously outlined by Mr. Garcia, included the advanced age of the building, problems of ventilation, and the danger of marring the well-polished floor.

This said, Mr. Garcia suddenly became aware of smoking curling roofward from a cigarette held in his very own hand, glanced around, eyed the floor briefly, then, shrugging his shoulders resignedly, stuffed the cigarette into his own pocket.

Rising From the Ashes:

Rejuvenated Union City took another step on the comeback trail last night with the formation of the Alvarado Area Steering Committee. Headed by Wilbert Hendricks, this group announced it would oppose Fremont annexation of Alvarado, Fremont annexation of Decoto and strive instead for incorporation of the two communities into Union City.

At last night's meeting of 10 citizens (the Alvarado segment of the defunct Union City Steering Committee) hope was expressed a similar fighting unit would be formed in Decoto and the two could merge.

Before accepting the helm, Hendricks declared, "This committee won't be run like the Union City Steering Committee. Everything is going to be open and the public will be kept informed on what's going on through the newspapers and mass meetings."

Joe Lewis of Decoto charged that, "Frank Borghi set himself up as a czar from the beginning and took the attitude of 'to hell with the people'."

Lewis said he personally will circulate a petition to sign up owners of 51 per cent of the assessed valuation of the property to defeat the Decoto Annex, and attorney is preparing the petition now, he stated.

Alvarado & Decoto Are Being Duped:

(An Editorial from The Daily Review)

Wednesday's meeting in Alvarado, on the future of that town and its sister community, Decoto, turned out a large crowd, which cheered for Union City. But it was a meeting run by big business, not by the people of Alvarado. When the 180 persons present voted for Union City, they voted for something most of them knew little about.

The main points in the meeting were the same old points in the Union City Steering Committee has been making in smoke-filled back rooms for three years: "Stop Hayward," and "Don't desert to Fremont."

But what about Alvarado? What about Decoto? Was the big spokesman who demanded "representation with his taxation" speaking for the citizens of the towns? Certainly not. No matter what happens to those two towns, big business will always have its representation. So big business wants to keep the status quo. Its taxes will only rise slightly if it ended up in Fremont or Hayward, but it would find itself more closely checked on water and air pollution, for one thing. That is why they are footing the legal bill for fighting Hayward in the courts. All it asks is that the people of Alvarado and Decoto stick with it and don't ask questions about annexation.

Wednesday night's meeting was fun. One of Union City's fallen heroes was derided (Frank Borghi?) and the speakers tilted with the familiar old Fremont and Hayward boogies. But when it was all over, no questions about the future of Alvarado and Decoto had been answered. No one explained how Union City could finance sewer water line expansion necessary for the city's industrial growth. No one explained how the communities might better themselves, obtain better services. No figures were given so that listeners might compare taxes they would have to pay if they incorporated or joined a neighboring city.

Wednesday night was mainly a big business show, and big business didn't answer many questions. Its only advice seemed to be: sit tight, don't make a move, and everything will be all right. Someone should have asked for proof.

Decoto to Form Union City Unit:

Union City Chamber of Commerce President Kenneth Garcia said today that two chamber directors will try to form a Decoto steering committee to work for Union City incorporation. They are Oscar Dowe and Joe Lewis. That news came out of last night's Chamber of Commerce director's meeting.

Alvarado has formed a new steering committee. If Decoto does so, the two will likely merge into a replacement for the incorporation steering committee that fell apart in the past two weeks. Garcia said he appointed three C of C members to meet with the Union Sanitary District on the subject of annexing the Alvarado Sanitary District to Union Sanitary.

Meantime, City Manager S.D. Smith of Hayward and Robert Coop of Fremont lunched together yesterday to talk about a County Boundaries Commission proposal that the cities could reach agreement on what Alvarado-Decoto area territory each city would try to annex. Smith said no decision was reached. Coop said Fremont would not try for the McCosker property. Hayward got to the County Boundary Commission with the McCosker property.

Pacific States Steel:

Rumor has it that Vern Stedtman will join John Pihl to seek Fremont City Council seats now held by Jack Stevenson and Bruce Michael. Were they to win, Pacific States Steel would have two of its own boys on the city council. Stedtman works at PSS, and is president of the Steelworkers Local. Pihl is Vice-President of the company. Who would do the quarterbacking for the labor-management team?

All of which finds the steel company playing both sides of the board. While those two are running for the Fremont City Council, Pacific States mogul Oscar Dowe is busy working to stop Fremont from annexing Decoto and Alvarado.

Alvarado Street Names Changed:

Because of many conflicting names of streets in Southern Alameda County some street names were changed in Alvarado. In the adoption of the new names, names with local historical significance were given priority. The changes are:

Beard Street to Tay Avenue
Granger Road to New Haven Street
10th Street to Veasy Street
17th Street to Bulmer Street
18th Street to Brooklyn Street
19th Street to Brier Street
"V" Street to Horner Street
"W" Street to Marsten Avenue
Alvarado Street to Fredi Street

An unnamed road adjoining Baker Road will now be known as Baker Road

Whipple Road (the dog leg) will be changed to Amaral Court and Amaral Street

The Mt. Eden-Alvarado Road from the Hayward City limits to the Alameda Creek will be Hesperian Boulevard.

Hop Ranch Road (unofficial) will be Hop Ranch Road (official)

The Alvarado-Centerville Road from Vallejo Street in Alvarado to the East Shore Freeway (I-880) Interchange will be Alvarado Boulevard.

The Oakland Tribune, February 26, 1958

Alvarado Street Names Changed:

Street names changed after 1958:

Mt. Eden-Alvarado Road to Union City Boulevard from Alameda Creek to Levee Street.

Levee Street to Union City Boulevard

Marsh Road to Union City Boulevard

Hall Ranch Road to Dyer Street (between Alvarado Boulevard and Union City Boulevard).

Alquire Road to Dyer Street (between Industrial Blvd and Alvarado-Niles Road).

Fair Ranch Road originally ran from Alvarado Blvd east over the SP railroad tracks to the levee of Alameda Creek, along the levee on the south bank, under I-880 and continued east to the old Baker Road. Now it ends just before the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks. The portion between the end of today's Fair Ranch Road used to cross the SP tracks and line up with Santa Susanna Way at Dyer Street. Santa Susanna Way and San Rafael Way were also parts of the original Fair Ranch Road. The Fair Ranch Road, which runs west off of Alvarado Boulevard, never existed prior to the road changes in the 60's.

Harry Lorensen, 73, is a trap-shooting sharpshooter from Hayward California. At the age of 73 he bettered a record he set in 1918, shooting 96.59 per cent out of every 100 targets when he was 33 years old. At 73, he is shooting 96.72 per cent, showing he is getting better with age.

"Mt. Eden and Alvarado were a shooters paradise," recalled Lorensen. "Thousands and thousands of ducks, hardly any duck clubs, no limits, and a box of 25 12-gauge, black powder shells cost 45¢, a 12-gauge model '97 Winchester pump gun sold for $19.50."

School Unification:

Washington Township is taking its second shot at a study of school district unification, this time without those threats that marked the first attempt two years ago.

Ten districts have been included in the study: Washington High School District and the nine elementary school districts within its boundaries. For several districts there is considerable urgency in launching the study. Newark wants its own unified city district, with its own high school, so it is pushing the study. Some Decoto elements favor a unification study, believing it will call for a merger of Alvarado and Decoto School Districts and perhaps further the uncertain future of Union City.

Within Fremont, at least three districts have evinced strong interest in unification. That interest has been spurred by Fremont's actions in planning its future. The Fremont master plan specifically designates areas for industrial development. This will benefit two elementary school districts within the city and leave the other four high and dry with only homes and a sprinkling of retail stores for tax support.

Thus, taxpayers in one part of the city will be unfairly burdened, and education in those schools might be limited by financial ability. All taxpayers would pay for planning, streets and utilities to serve industry, but only some would benefit by those industries.

Discussion of unification will be resumed on a more specific basis next month when superintendents of the 10 districts report their proposals for meeting this Washington Township dilemma. Decision will not be easy due to the unsettled future of the northern part of the township, but decisions must be made to meet the challenge of municipal complication and the need for more effective communication.

The Daily Review, March 17, 1958

Union Sanitary District:

Newark, Decoto and Fremont officials last night demanded inclusion of the Alvarado area in the overall sewer expansion plan to be financed by the Union Sanitary District's forthcoming bond issue. At a joint meeting to thrash out policy decisions, USD officials indicated the idea would meet with their approval if further study shows the 10-mile area can be sewerred within the $6 million under consideration.

District Manager F. Raymond Boege said a main trunk sewer running from Nilas to a new treatment plant near the present Alvarado Sanitary District plant at a considerable savings to the one now proposed. Fremont City Manager F. Robert Coop suggested that USD take over leadership and "show these people the way" into the district.

Campbell Chain:

The Campbell Chain Co. of York, Penn. Plans to build a $2,000,000 chain plant in Alvarado. Their site will be on a nine acre plot of land on Alvarado Boulevard one half mile north of Alvarado, just south of the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks.

Union Sanitary District:

The $6 million sewer bond issue Union Sanitary District placed before voters will include a 1,400-foot line and new treatment outside the district in the Alvarado area. This was decided last night by directors after Manager Raymond Boege presented figures showing Fremont official's contention would be right that this would be cheaper than by staying within present boundaries.

The Alvarado line can legally be laid without a merger of USD and Alvarado Sanitary District or annexation of outside lands, because the line will carry sewage from the Nilas area and the eastern part of the district.

Flood:

With no electrical power or water, Alvarado this morning faced a crisis, although the town itself was not flooded. However, with levees threatened all around the town and peak tide expected, emergency crews worked at high speed to channel the muddy floodwaters towards the Bay. One levee broke at mid-morning, but emergency equipment was rushed to the scene.

The Daily Review, April 3, 1958

Flood:

In Southern Alameda County careful watch was being kept of the levees and banks of the swollen Alameda Creek, which has spilled out to cover 50-square miles of low lying farmland between Alvarado and Newark. The waters have isolated the Coyote Hills NIKE Anti-Aircraft Missile installation and prevented delivery of food to the troops.

Water service was restored to 425 Alvarado residents today. They were without fresh water for six hours yesterday after a water pipe across Patterson Slough, an arm of the Alameda Creek, was carried away by high water.

The Oakland Tribune, April 4, 1958

Flood:

The Bay Area braced itself today for a new Pacific storm expected to pound flood-ravaged areas in Northern and Central California tomorrow.

With more than an inch of rain predicted between 2 a.m. and 8 p.m. tomorrow, County Surveyor Olof Anderson said his department's 160-man force expects more "trouble".

Meanwhile the Army rushed soldiers to meet a threatened levee break on Alvarado-Niles Road between the Eastshore Freeway (I-880) and Alquire Road (today's Dyer Street at Alvarado Landing). Alvarado proper is not threatened by the break, but farm homes in the area are in the path of the break. The Nike base south of Alvarado, its water lines cut, is completely cut off by a mile and a half lake of water.

Alvarado Fire:

A fire at Smith & Alvarado Sts. thoroughly gutted the home of Jesus F. Arriola. Fire Chief Elvin Rose said the fire broke out in the residence about midnight. The fire had a good start before it was turned in and the firemen controlled the blaze to keep it from spreading to other nearby buildings. Smith and Alvarado Streets are across from the Alvarado Grammar School.

The Daily Review, April 7, 1958

Federal Aid Sought:

The Alameda County Board of supervisors dispatched off a telegram requesting Federal flood relief funds to Congress today. Locally, $15,000 was appropriated to place rock surfacing and riprap on the levees of the channels in the area between Hayward and Alvarado.

During the 1955 floods the county collected some $60,000 in Federal aid to defray costs of the huge cleanup program. Since that time, however, the Federal Civil Defense Administration has changed its policy and now provides only "emergency" funds, that is, money needed to fight the high waters, not clean up after them.

Home Falls Two Feet:

An expectant mother "got the scare of my life" when four water-weakened supporting timbers gave way and dropped her home two feet.

Mrs. Jennie Marin, 37, 1144 Marsh Road Alvarado, was at the kitchen table setting her hair when the one-story frame house dropped. "I thought it was an earthquake," she declared.

Mrs. Martin suffered no injuries but was obviously shaken by the experience that partially collapsed a rear portion of the house, jammed a floor furnace through the linoleum and broke up the floors between rooms. Porches and the roof also were damaged.

Mrs. Emily Sacramento, 38, owners of the home who lives nearby at 813 Watkins Street told deputies the house was probably a total loss. She estimated the damage at possibly $4,500.

Mrs. Sacramento theorized that past floods in the Alvarado area and water standing even now below the house caused four supporting timbers to rot over the years resulting in the collapse.

Decoto Annex Death Blow Hinted:

Annexation of Decoto to Fremont may have been dealt a deathblow last night. A very confident Oscar Dowe, leader of the forces against the 8.6-square mile annex of Decoto to Fremont, estimated he had signed up and turned in property with an assessed value of $1.06 million. If this adds up to 51 per cent of the assessed land value in the annex, then it is dead. City Clerk Howard Reese today refused to be pinned down as to Decoto's assessed value, but did say it was in the $1.5 million to $2.0 million range.

Alvarado Rezoned:

The Alameda County Planning Commission yesterday clearly set the future pattern of development for Alvarado, heavy industrial. It also ordered a long-range study with a view of changing the Master Plan, which calls for keeping the community a residential area.

Commissioners rezoned a 60-acre area at Hesperian Boulevard and the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks, between the 15-acre site of Campbell Chain and Alvarado. Commissioners commented that "this will decide the fate of Alvarado," and that "the die is cast in favor of heavy industry.

The Daily Review, May 15, 1958

Industrial Park:

Work is in progress on the $2 million Campbell Chain plant just north of Alvarado on Hesperian Boulevard and the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks. The 150,000 square foot plant, first in what may become an integrated heavy industrial park, is scheduled for completion early next year.

A group headed by Abe Doty has purchased the 160 acres on each side of the railroad and has gathered capital to lease or sell plants. A.S. Holmes and Son of San Leandro, is handling the contracting and Robert Holmes, of the firm, has been spending considerable time in the eastern states endeavoring to interest large firms in the Alvarado area.

Alvarado Pains Fremont:

Alvarado is proving to be a thorn in Fremont's official side at this time. Fremont City Manager F. Robert Coop reported he is having a little trouble reaching an agreement on division of assets in the Alvarado Fire District. When Fremont incorporated it took 17 per cent of the Fire District and the city is now asking for 17 per cent of the assets, which would total $7,000. Alvarado officials feel this figure is too high and are failing to go ahead with the plan.

Commercial Advertisement:

Direct Dial Is Here:

Starting tomorrow you can dial your own long distance call from Alvarado, Decoto, Centerville, Newark, and Niles Telephones.

Tomorrow is the big day, the day nationwide Direct Distance Dialing comes to the five exchanges above. After the change, if you have one or two party phone service, you'll be able to dial your own telephone calls direct to hundreds of cities throughout the nation. And, of course, low station-to-station rates will apply for this fast new service.

Here's how it works. Suppose you want to call ACademy 3-0399 in San Diego, California.

First dial 714, the Area Code for San Diego.

Then dial the San Diego number, AC3-0399, that's all there is to it!

Many of the Area Codes you'll need are listed in the Direct Distance Dialing booklet we sent you. It's a good idea to read it carefully and keep it near your phone, for it tells where you can dial and how to do it.

No Area Codes will be necessary when dialing cities like Hayward, Oakland, San Jose, and San Francisco.

Remember phone numbers change tomorrow, too.

As part of the change to nationwide Direct Distance Dialing, all customers in the Alvarado, Decoto, Centerville, Newark, and Niles exchanges will get new telephone numbers. Be sure to use your new directory after tomorrow.

Sewer District:

If the Union Sanitary District's $6,000,000 sewer bond issue is passed by voters next month, the district will build a sewer line and treatment plant in Alvarado. Justification for the main line sewer, which will cross Alvarado area farmlands for 14,000-feet outside USD boundaries is that it is the best way to serve the Niles and Decoto districts.

School Pay Dispute:

"We're not going to sit down with teachers and discuss administrators pay!"

This was the flat statement made to the Daily Review today by Wilbert Hendricks, Clerk of the Alvarado School Board. The rhubarb between teachers and administrators and trustees developed this week over pay hikes for Vice-Principal John Bond and Principal-Superintendent Leslie H. Maffey. Teachers have refused to accept the $200 (a year) across the board increases unless increases are also forthcoming for Bond and Maffey. Hendricks charged "Maffey is supposed to be taking orders from us (the board). But it seems like the teacher are ones that are giving him the orders."

"Instead of coming in and sitting down with the board for a discussion of their salaries as we requested, Maffey and Bond preferred to go sit with the teachers," Hendricks declared. "Bond is governed by the teachers salary schedule and will get the flat $200 pay hike, plus a $200 increment this year," the board clerk continued. "But if we went along with the teachers, the administrators would be getting almost $1,000 increases and we felt that the size of the school and the number of students doesn't warrant that kind of increase." The Alvarado School District has 11 teachers and 300 students.

Hendricks indicated the board might be willing to review Bond's salary which is now $6,000 a year, but Maffey is getting $8,400 a year plus $500 travel allowance, "which to my way of thinking is enough," concluded Hendricks. Hendricks explained that Maffey got a $900 increase last year and if "we granted him a $1,000 raise this year the taxpayers would hang us from the flagpole."

On Monday the board did adopt a salary range for teachers of $4,400 to $7,400. They were getting $4,200 to 7,200. Maffey said the district is in good financial shape and could pay higher salaries if it wanted. He said that the teachers were none to happy about their increase since they are still among the lowest paid in the township.

A driver who walked away from an accident scene in Hayward on Wednesday night was arraigned yesterday in Hayward Municipal Court. Ysidro Jimenez, 25, of Alvarado, was ordered to appear on June 23rd to enter a plea on felony drunk driving. He is being held on $1,500 bail.
The Daily Review, June 20, 1958

Union Sanitary District:

More than 16,000 voters in the sprawling Union Sanitary District are eligible to vote on a special $6 million sewer bond proposal tomorrow. Polls in 24 locations throughout the district, which most of Fremont, Newark and Decoto will be open from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. To be decided is whether USD directors will be authorized to sell $6 million in bonds to finance long range expansion plans in the fast growing district.

If the bonds are successful, the money would also fund a trunk line to carry sewage from the Niles area to a new treatment plant outside the district's present boundaries in Alvarado.
The Daily Review, June 23, 1958

Dance Permit Issued:

The application of Julia Mora, et al, for permission to conduct dances every day at 1045 Levee St. has been granted.
The Oakland Tribune, June 25, 1958

USD Sewer Bond Vote:

Union Sanitary District voters overwhelmingly supported a $6 million sewer bond issue in a special election yesterday. Although only 18 percent of registered voters turned out, the margin was 2,968-696 in favor of the bond issue to finance sewer line and treatment plant expansion for the next twenty years. Only Alviso District and Warm springs District voted against the bonds.

Planned are main line sewers throughout Fremont, Newark and Decoto and eventually into the unincorporated area of Alvarado, presently outside the district. Treatment plants at Irvington and Newark will be improved and a new plant will be built in Alvarado to handle sewage from the Niles-Decoto area.

Neighbors Feud:

Sheriff's Deputy Eugene Saper of Eden Township substation won't be able to close the strange case of Mr. Titus' tires until 1960. Until then, he is hoping he won't have to referee another match between Titus and David Doyal Jr. 39, of 519 Alquire Road.

Saper was called to that address yesterday morning. Doyal told him that for the past six or eight months, Titus has been burning tires on property on back of the Doyal's home. The prevailing wind invariably blows the smoke towards him, Doyal says.

Saper talked to Francis Dewayne Titus, 34, 525 Alvarado-Niles Road. Excerpts of the report: "Titus says he does have a permit to burn the tires. Mr. Titus has a problem. He bought two acres along Alquire Road for his business but about 1,000 worn out automobile tires came along with the deal."

"Now he is faced with disposing of the tires and no one will take them off of his hands. He can only burn two tires at a time and at this rate he figures he will be rid of them by 1960. He stated he would move the tires and try to get along with Mr. Doyal."

New Incorporation Petition:

Union City forces have filed a new Incorporation petition with the County Supervisors excluding the court contested South Hayward Industrial Annex. The proposed city is only nine-square miles in size, compared with the original 23-square miles. Also excluded from the new filing are the 11-square miles Leslie Salt annexed to Hayward, which cuts off Union City from the Bay and Hayward's 190-acre McCosker Annex and the hill area behind Mission Boulevard.

The Union City action followed the Tuesday failure of a move to annex the Decoto area to Fremont. The petition was signed by 41 persons headed by Elvin Rose. "This time we mean business. We're going ahead with incorporation, providing people want it," J. A. Ratekin said today. Ratekin heads the Alvarado plant of the Holly Sugar Company, which has backed the previous moves.

Crossed Wires:

A man up a pole had sheriff deputies up a tree this in a morning scurrying for what, if any, bank had been robbed. An "intermittent" alarm, too faint to be pinpointed, sent the law dashing in at least seven directions, checking banks in Irvington, Centerville, Newark, Niles and Alvarado. It was deputy Walt Cordon who discovered the source of the alarm; a lineman on a pole behind the Bank of America (First Western Bank?) in Alvarado had his wires crossed.

Alvarado Filipino Community:

In a two-day celebration opening tomorrow, the Filipino community of Alvarado and vicinity, and some 2,000 people will commemorate the 12th anniversary of the Philippines Independence and the 182nd anniversary of the U.S. Independence. Mrs. Isabel B. Loyola, chairman of the queen contest, which preceded the festival, said today that Durlyn Mangiben, Oakland, won the title as Queen of the festival and will receive her crown at 5:00 p.m. Friday from Consul Dominador B. Amor of the Philippines. Site of the ceremonies will be the S.D.E.S Hall on Smith and Watkins Street in Alvarado.

School District Unification:

Washington Township school districts are jockeying for position as the unification battle heads for a July 23rd showdown. As matters now stand it appears that the nine elementary districts that make up Washington Union High School will be split up into more than one unified school district unless something drastic happens between now and then.

Although high school trustees have gone on record as opposing any move for unification, except one that includes the whole area, bids for "home rule" by individual districts are gaining strength.

On the local front, Decoto and Alvarado Trustees have indicated that they may combine to seek an Alvarado-Decoto unified district within the boundaries of the unincorporated Union City area.

The Future of Washington Union Schools:

Whether Union City will go for its own unified school district or throw in its lot with Fremont could be decided at a joint meeting of the Alvarado-Decoto School Boards tonight. They will seek public reaction to unification at the town meeting type session. The decision of the trustees will become apparent tomorrow when the county committee on school district organization convenes at Washington Union High School.

This is the last date the committee, augmented by the trustees of Washington Township Districts can act and still meet the deadline for the 1959 unification. Later action will delay the unification until 1960. Newark school officials have already announced they will press for a vote in favor of a Newark Unified school District tomorrow. If Alvarado and Decoto also decide they want to unify, Washington Union High School would be trimmed to only six Fremont Districts. High school trustees have already declared they favor the unification of the township, which would change the legal structure but leave the present high school boundaries intact.

Petitions are being circulated here again to incorporate Decoto and Alvarado in to Union City. A mass meeting is set up for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at Decoto School to bring residents up to date and outline some plans for the future city.

Rumors had started that the new city would allow legal gambling within city limits to augment the tax base, but this rumor was quickly squelched by all leaders as totally false.

Two committees have been formed for circulate petitions for Union City, one in Alvarado headed by Elvin Rose and the other in Decoto headed by Manuel Bolivia.

To qualify for an incorporation election, Dowe said, they would have to sign up 25 per cent of the areas estimated 5,100 citizens and 25 per cent (roughly $700,000) of the assessed value of the land, figured at $2.8 million.

Union City Tax Rate:

Alvarado-Decoto residents can incorporate into Union City with minimum services and a minimum 48-cent tax rate. This was told to some 50 residents last night by Oscar Dowe, Pacific States Steel Executive and one of the incorporation leaders.

But a drawback to this financial picture is the fact that Alvarado and Decoto Fire Districts will continue to function as separate taxing agencies. The Alvarado Fire District has a 28-cent tax and Decoto has a 35-cent tax rate. This means a minimum total tax rate of 76-cents for Alvarado and 83-cents for Decoto.

Dowe stressed that the 48-cents would be a figure for a minimum government. If the people want more services they will have to pay a higher rate he declared.

The archway and bell tower is the next thing on the wrecker's crew to bring down. While wreckers are busy, construction men are hard at work putting up new quarters for Alvarado students. The $340,000 school will have 13 classrooms and will open in September.

Township Schools:

A battle of figures has started in the wrangle over Washington Township school unification. Union City Chamber of Commerce President Kenneth Garcia yesterday took on Centerville School District Supt. Tom Maloney for "misrepresenting the facts" in comparing basic tax rates.

Maloney last week hit the proposed township unification by claiming it would mean Centerville taxpayers would have to up their $1.13 tax rate if it merged with the higher priced districts like Decoto, which will charge a rate of $2.15 for elementary education this year.

Garcia added in the rate charged by Washington Union High School and other school taxes and came up with $3.17 per $100 assessed valuation as Centerville's total education tax compare with $3.98 for Decoto. Technically this is true because the tax paid by a unified school district would probably top the total rate paid for all education.

But whether you use a basic tax rate or the total rate, the difference is the same, in this case Decoto pays 80 cents more than Centerville and will pay about $1 more next years because of a tax increase. Garcia also maintained that Decoto resident's pay more taxes because they offer a better program such as music, shop, recreation and the like.

Maloney on the other hand charges that Decoto residents want to have Fremont residents help support their schools through unification, but are unwilling to help pay city taxes by annexing to Fremont.

Decoto trustees with Alviso, Niles and Washington Union High School voted in favor of unification. The other six township districts, Newark, Centerville, Mission San Jose, Warm Springs, Irvington and Alvarado have banded together to beat the proposal.

She admitted being the woman who approached Leon Potter on a downtown street in Watsonville Tuesday and that she has spoken to him. Potter, a 66-year old, dapper dressing eccentric part-time dish washer, rode the rails back into Watsonville Tuesday to sign papers that will net him $15,000 in back pension from the Veterans Administration. Potter told reporters that he didn't recall ever being married and didn't know of any children.

Washington Township School District:

Protests against unifying Washington Township's 10 school districts are expected to come thick and fast at a public hearing tomorrow night. County committee members could not change their July 23rd vote if they wanted to, since legally their authorization has already been taken and this will only be a procedural meeting.

At a meeting on Tuesday Trustees changed their minds and said that while they still favor unification they will go along with the six districts currently fighting it to force a delay. Newark, Centerville, Alvarado, Irvington, Mission San Jose and Warm Springs Elementary Districts all voted against unification and have joined forces to gain at least a year's delay.

Company Town in the Making:

\(Editorial comment from *The Daily Review*\)

Union City has more than a 50-50 chance of incorporating, according to news reports drifting out of the area. Proponents say the new city could have minimum services with a 48-cent tax rate.

The 48 cents would not include the fire district tax, water district tax or sewer tax. Addition of those items would boost the total in Alvarado to $1.95 and in Decoto to $1.51. The minimum services to be secured through the 48-cent tax would be for police protection and roadwork.

Since minimum services are available now under county jurisdiction, it is obvious that the incorporation movement is for some other purpose. Two questions arise: What is the purpose? And, would the average homeowner serve his own best interests by voting to help that purpose?

It has long been evident that the sparkplugs of the incorporation movement are affiliated with the areas big industries. It has been hinted, also, that the area should have "protection" from Fremont and Hayward. Union City voters have already rejected annexation to Fremont, and their civic stance has suggested a cold shoulder would be turned to Hayward should the occasion arise. So protection is not the issue; voters are amply able to protect themselves from outside encroachment.

That leaves the question of whether encroachment from inside is lurking under the camouflage of reasons that have been advanced. In short, is an effort being made to incorporate Union City as a "company town" with the idea sold to voters by reasoning that doesn't stand up?

There is nothing wrong with a company town if voters establish it with full realization. But careful avoidance of the subject in Union City and the straw man characteristics of the reasons that have been advanced suggest that the whole story hasn't been told.

Dekidos Fights Back:

Union City Tow Company operator, A.B. Dekidos will file suit against the city of Fremont to back up his claim he doesn't need a (Fremont City) business license. This is the second step in the action that started last Friday when the (Fremont) district attorney's office issued a criminal citation against Dekidos for continuing to operate in Fremont without a business license.

The citation was never served because Dekidos' attorney made a last minute contact with Dep. District Attorney Bill Ahern and had the arrest warrant recalled. His attorney, Harold Abram of Oakland, said the counter action would be filed in the "very near future."

Dekidos, long at odds with Fremont Police and deputy sheriffs over the "rotation system" on accidents, declared he is no longer interested in having his name on the rotation list.

He charges the system "never did work out for me. I've monitored the radio and can prove there were several times my turn came up and I wasn't called."

DeKidos contends that he is licensed by the state and that he operates his business from his Veasy Street home in Alvarado, which is outside Fremont city limits and jurisdiction.

"All I want is the right to pick up and deliver cars in the city and be able to respond when someone involved in an accident specifically asks for me," he asserts.

Dekidos added that he stopped taking out business licenses this year "because I was paying $50 and it wasn't doing me a bit of good."

Boundary lines dividing students between the Centerville and Decoto High Schools will be discussed by Washington Union High School Trustees at 8:00 p.m. tonight. School administrators proposed that students in the Alvarado, Alviso, Decoto and Niles Elementary School Districts attend the new James Logan High School in Decoto, which is scheduled to open in September 1959.

They also recommended allowing seniors to finish out their terms and graduate from the Centerville school. This would leave only freshman, sophomores and juniors at the new James Logan High on opening day. Trustees noted that this step would put Decoto at only two-thirds capacity and the Centerville school would continue to operate over capacity.

City of Fremont & DeKidos Do Battle:

A. B. (Deke) DeKidos, fiery operator of the Union City Tow Co., on Veasy Street in Alvarado, isn't the kind to be pushed around. Last month the City of Fremont had the district attorney issue a criminal complaint against the Alvarado tow operator for refusal to take out a Fremont Business License. DeKidos got an injunction against the arrest warrant and has now started a lawsuit against the City of Fremont. DeKidos claims he does not need a Fremont business license since his base of operations is outside of Fremont. Meantime, DeKidos trucks continue to be a familiar sight chugging around Fremont's streets.
